Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal

'Lucifer' means Light-Bringer,
Cosmic Adam, firstborn Son to our cosmic
Father, Man. Proprietor of primogeniture.
Lucifer is the cosmic name of the firstborn Son.

We know practically nothing about Lucifer, the Bringer of Light. Initially, he opposed certain Gods who lacked sufficient knowledge, in a mistranslation he was called the Devil. There is no reason to call him that, but the mistranslation is still in use. There are only negative fantasies surrounding him, fantasies which are symbols of Evil and are directed to target group Ignorants (note that the picture above is symbolic).

In due time, Lucifer left the best and most powerful place in his Father's body (see picture #1) and ended up in Father's testicle and eventually in our galaxy, the Milky Way. The process is a top secret.

In the galaxy interior a human world is created, a world in which human totality (soul, power, energy) dominates. This totality is called Son of Man, the only-begotten son. Via so-called natural cloning this human totality partitioned itself and this small unit, the soul, chose the solar system Lyra around 600,000 years ago. More info at Industry, Conquering Space II, page 43 and Conquering Space III, final, page 69. That is when he got the name 'Lucifer', 'Bringer of Light, Cosmic Adam. He was the most knowledgeable character, chaos and ignorance ended there. Knowledge was spread in the galaxy. There he started his family and family tree. Ten or eleven thousand years ago he left the Pleiades and went with his family and other individuals to the Earth. More info at Science, Dark Matter and its Existence, pp 13-14. There was no Moon close to the Earth at that time, it probably orbited the neutron star AN (Nemesis).

God is a title awarded to very few characters in our galaxy. God – King of Wisdom/top-level knowledge.

When Cosmic Adam/Lucifer, his family and followers finally decided to stay on our globe, in Sumer, the Earth was governed by An/Anu, the Father of all Gods.

An/Anu, God of Heaven (Ahura Mazda)
Father of all Gods, Sumer
King of Wisdom

Falcon Enlil,
God of wind, air, earth and storms. Nippur
Son of An/Anu
Ki, Sumer, Mother Earth,

Scorpion man Enki
God of wisdom and water
Son of An/Anu, and
Nammu, Sumer
Mother of the Ocean

Deity Azazel/Jehovah
From the Pleiades
Scapegoat King of wisdom,

At that time, the Father of all Gods, An/Anu dominated the Earth, He had two sons with two women, Ki and Nammu. We do not know who was the firstborn son, Enlil or Enki? We know this: his first child was Tiamat, she was called Goddess of the Sea and Mother of Life (her nickname was 'Dragon') More info at Industry, *Obscure Magyar, pp 1-2, The Falcon does not Fly Anymore, page 18, Deity, page 1, and The Ark, The Cosmic Global Flood, pp 10 and 45 - 57.

We know that Enki was also called Earthly Adam, his wife Ninhursag was called Eve. In this context, Deity Anu was the Father who begot Adam. Eve's provenance was probably the Pleiades, while Adam, Cosmic Adam, was outside with his family. The whole world was inhabited. Adam's/Enki's firstborn son was Cain. Adam's second wife, Lillit, gave birth to Abel. Cain's family tree (up to Lamech) is described in the Bible. Abel, on the other hand, had no family tree. Who was he? Was he a reincarnation of Apsu, God of fresh water and life? We must remember that in those days, in the ancient world, people lived for around 1,000 years, and the Earth was missing the Moon. In 1,000 years, you could be born/reincarnated a couple of times, if your lives were short. Culture was well established, and technology flourished, spacecraft were constructed. After the death of Cain, Marduk was born, a reincarnation of Cain. Then Inanna was born, a reincarnation of Apsu and Tiamat who was Enki's grandchild. It all culminated when neutron star AN (Nemesis) approached the solar system. Then the Father of all Gods, AN/Anu decided to leave our world and move to planet Nibiru, which orbited AN. A number of his followers accompanied him. A question: who took over after Anu on this planet? Enlil or Enki? Who was the firstborn? Enki was already Earthly Adam.

In the history of ancient Sumer, we often encounter a so-called Birdman. It was often depicted together with birdlike attributes.

It is interesting, that there is a character looking like Anunnaki on a rock painting in Lascaux, France, a painting emanating from B.C 16,000. There is a deep shaft with a fantastic representation on the wall: An enormous bull-like creature next to a Birdman. A character with a bird's beak.

We know that Enlil was God of the air. There is a falcon in the picture. Maybe the falcon is God of the air, which means that Enlil was the powerful Birdman? Can Enlil have been Anu's firstborn son. Yes, it is possible.

Who is this Birdman in the Lascaux Cave in France? Its beak looks like a raven's beak. Can this birdman be Raven Utu/Shamash, Nanna's son, Enlil's grandson, Inanna's brother? Follower of wisdom, warlord. Sun God of Sippar. He also had some limited power.

Assumption of power. Who seized power after God Anu? We see a family tree next to Anu. In the foreground is a very, very young woman, Inanna? Behind the family tree: Enki has one leg on the footstool, Enlil watches from behind. Unfortunately, this representation does not point to whoever took over after God Anu. But we can see that Inanna was in fighting trim and rough as a very young woman and demanded power after Anu despite the fact she was not qualified. The firstborn son assumed power, probably the Falcon God Enlil.

Finally, the culmination. After the Father of Gods Anu had left the Earth in a spacecraft with some of his followers, something strange and interesting happened on this planet. Some species of extra-terrestrials settled down here and everything gradually became worse. Knowledge decreased substantially, criminality increased and there was almost chaos. We can ask ourselves what Enlil and Enki did? Why did everything suddenly start to fall apart? God Azazel of the Pleiades followed the development from a space station parked in space and decided to stop this negative spread. The group consisted of 200 followers. They arrived at Ardis, the peak of Mount Armon, from a large spacecraft. Samyaza, their leader, headed the mission to restore humanity and knowledge to the planet. Samyaza was probably a reincarnation of Marduk, probably murdered by Inanna. More info at Industry, Deity, with information by Enoch, Lamech's only-begotten son who briefly tells us how it ended.

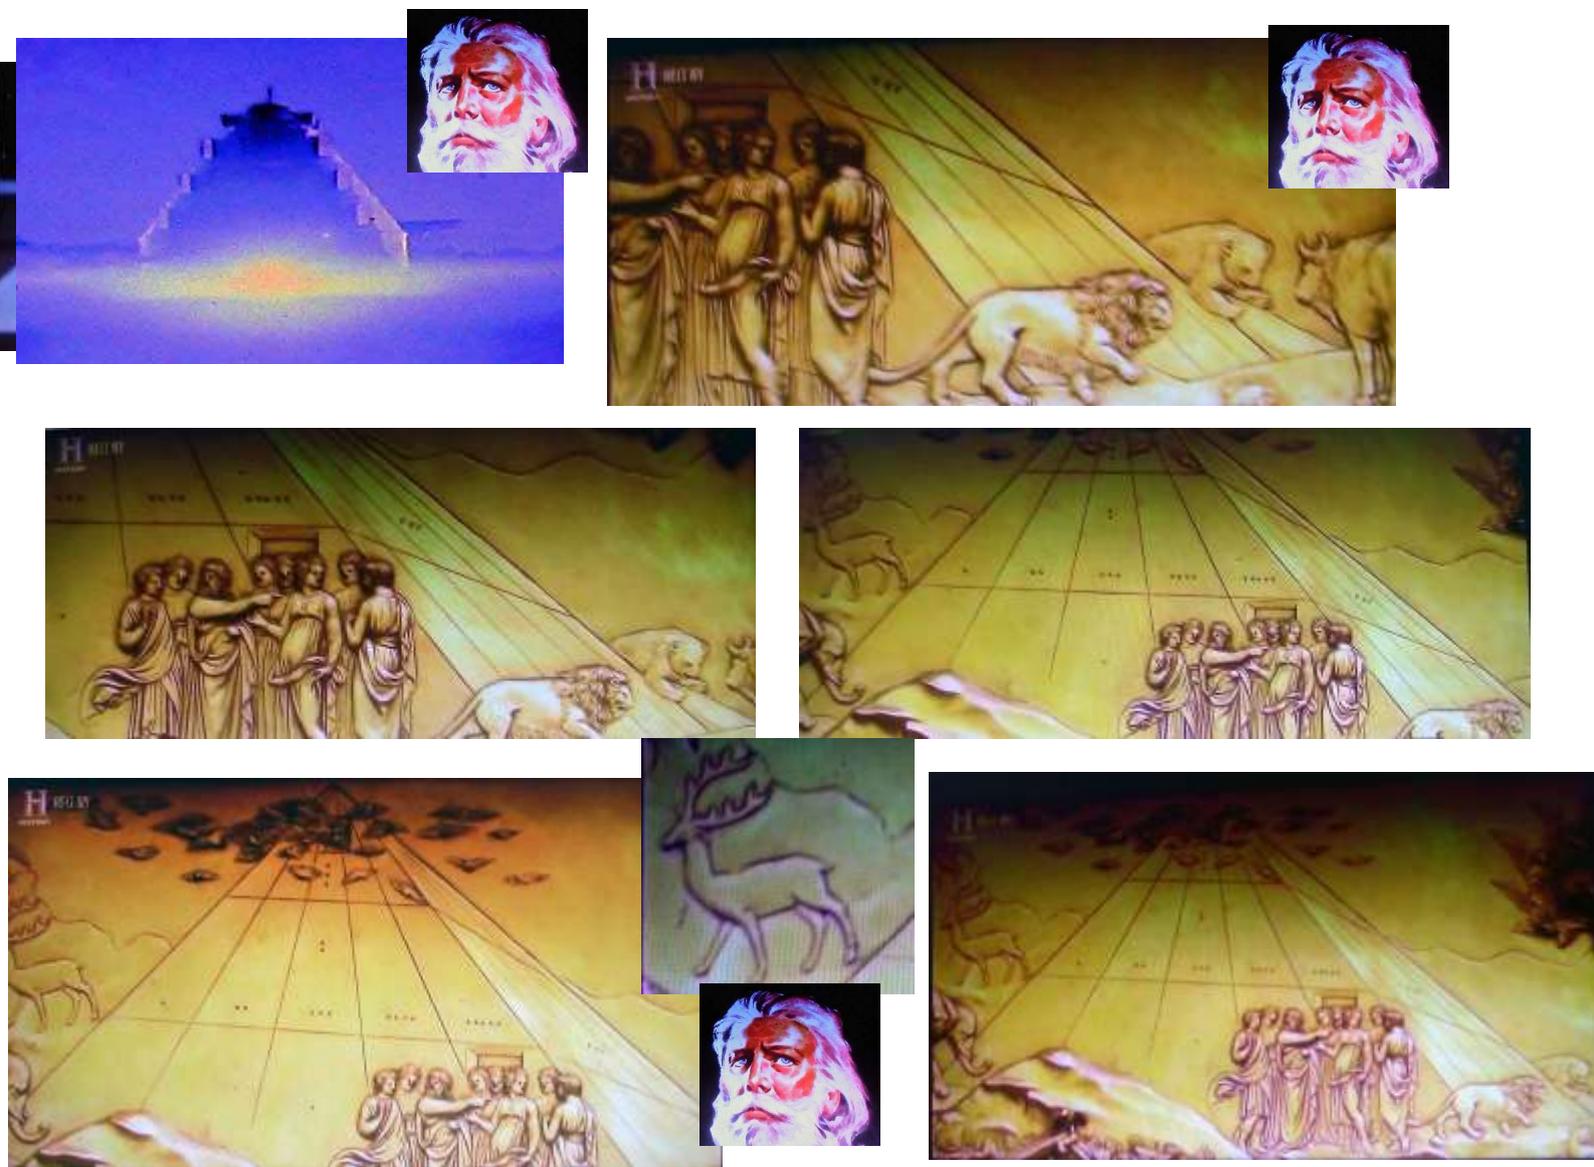

The next step in this context was Lamech's family in the town of Shuruppak. More info at Industry, The Ark and the Global Flood.

Lamech, Cosmic Adam: Lamech lived in the town of Eridu with Bat-Enosch (probably a reincarnation of Ninhursag). According to the Book of Lamech, he was not Noah's father. In Book of Lamech there is a story about the birth of Noah, which cannot be found in the Bible. Noah's head is said to be whiter than snow, his hair whiter than the whitest wool, his eyes were brighter than the Sun. Lamech was sure that Noah was not his son. He told his father and paternal grandfather about this. His grandfather said that Noah came from another world, a Son of Heaven. I believe that Noah's real name was Lamech Jr, a reincarnation of Samyaza. I will write Lamech Jr/Noah. Time passed and Lamech Jr/Noah married two women called Ada and Silla. He became the father of seven sons and one daughter.

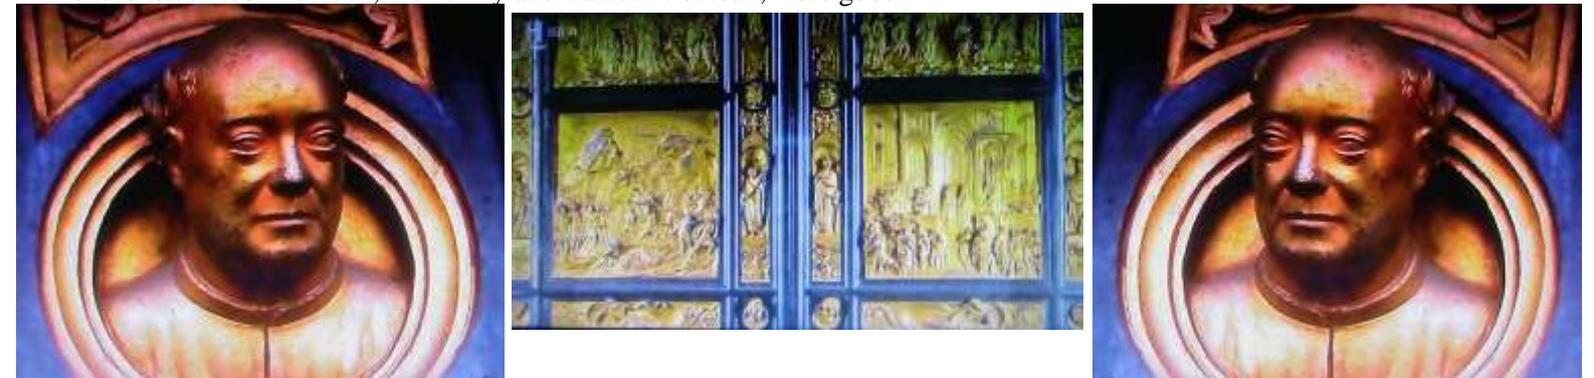

Members of the Lamech family and the ruling elite became aware of the fact that neutron star AN was on its way with natural catastrophes such as floods and global warming.

Lamech Jr/Noah was ordered by God Azazel to prepare a state-of-the-art Pyramid to be used as a laboratory.

As far as I understand, Lamech Jr/Noah lived outside Shuruppak with their families when God Azazel arrived with the message about the construction of a pyramid. In those days certain members of the public knew that being an animal will not allow you to reach the finishing line when the end is near. It was important to try to transform animal blood into human blood. This is why the pyramid was a state-of-the-art biological laboratory. Its base was around 160 metres, its height around 68 metres. I have a very strong feeling that this pyramid was a spacecraft which landed outside the town of Shuruppak where Lamech Jr/Noah lived with their families. He took over the pyramid and was the first individual to undergo the blood transformation process towards the end of his life, before the last period of 7,000 years. He got all the help he needed from extra-terrestrials and was in continuous contact with God Azazel. As we can see in the pictures, there were animals and animals in human bodies outside the pyramid. This means that if he was successful in receiving human blood, it would be possible for others to undergo the same blood transformation process. This would be the ultimate salvation. Thus, the very first pyramid on our globe belonged to Lamech Jr/Noah.

Relations between Lamech, his family and Lamech Jr/Noah, were good.

In the 15th century the Italian Lorenzo Ghiberti created his masterpiece, ten tables with scenes from the Old Testament. They adorned the doors of the new cathedral in Florence, II Duomo.

The doors are called the Gates of Paradise. The remarkable item is that he depicted Noah's Ark as a pyramid resembling the pyramid of Cheops at Giza. Is it possible that Lorenzo, while working for the Church, really knew what the Ark looked like and drew it?

You, the reader, ask yourself if there is further evidence concerning the exterior of the Ark.

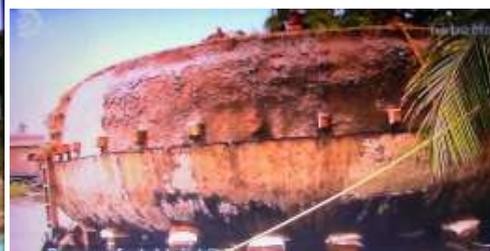

Jerusalem, 2016. Israeli scientist who study the Dead Sea Scrolls make a significant discovery. Aided by new technology they find a paragraph which earlier had not been visible. They found a text which stated that Noah's Ark was not at all a ship, it was shaped like a pyramid. Strange to say, the Ark had already been depicted as a pyramid.

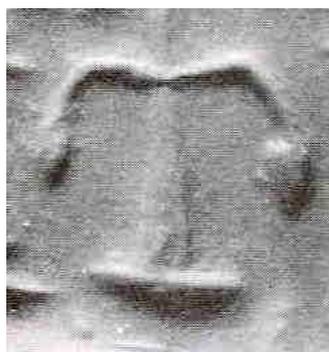

Lamech and his family made preparations for future natural catastrophes such as global floods and warming. Lamech did not build a pyramid. There was no need, humans do not need a pyramid with a top-modern laboratory to transform blood, just because they are human. Lamech and his Ark. He built it together with his son Enoch/Utnapishtim, the Ark was round.

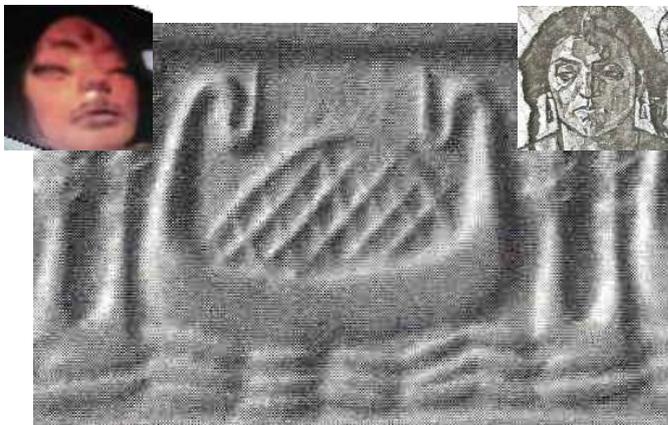

Lamech's Ark, round, safe construction. Lamech was a jack-of-all-trades. He easily constructed the Ark, assisted by his son. The intention was to build several arks. It symbolised human blood, O, already known at that time.

Lamech had a quiet life with his family, but he was known as a jack-of-all-trades. He knew Enki, probably also Enlil. When Lamech built the Ark, Lamech Jr/Noah and his family lived outside the town of Shuruppak and took care of the pyramid. He had many visitors and interest in the pyramid was huge. Nobody knew why the Lion Lamech Jr/Noah had a pyramid. He used to say that he worked there with biological issues and had anonymous guests, even Enki and Enlil. There was one critical voice, Serpent Goddess Inanna, who wanted to be Lamech's son and take over his family tree.

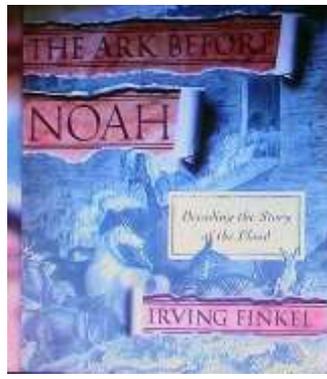

This is an illustration of the family tree, the cosmic tree of life Huluppu with a wiggling serpent between seated Inanna and her husband Dumuzi. Behind Inanna is the symbolic serpent, both Inanna and Dumuzi regard the Serpent as the centre of life and the world. In other words: she wants to state that the cosmic tree of life, Huluppu, is her family tree, despite the fact that she was a virgin and an animal. Lamech's secret name was Huluppu.

This ship, named The Ship of Heaven, was constructed outside the town of Eridu, where Enki and his family lived. It was built for Inanna, who was called 'Queen of Heaven' (Heavenly and Earthly Virgin). We can see that both fore and aft close upwards in the form of a wiggling Serpent which shows the letter U = Uruk. We do not know the size of the ship, but there is some likeness to the Biblical Ark. The ship was called 'Ship of Heaven' and was built for the Queen of Heaven, Inanna. More info at The Ark, The Cosmic Global Flood, pp 16 - 17. Note, that on page 16 there is one more representation of the ship, which Enki send home to Inanna, but it is not The Ship of Heaven Serpent goddess Inanna and her ship The Ship of Heaven. In other words: Spacecraft. Enki built the spacecraft for his granddaughter Inanna outside the town of Eridu, assisted by extra-terrestrials. Was this the spacecraft which corresponded to Lamech Jr's/Noah's pyramid? There were rumours saying that Serpent Goddess Inanna/Noah went to the Moon. Lamech Jr/Noah died and left behind his two wives with the children, his wife ADA with his sons Jabal and Jubal, SILLA with his daughter Naama and his sons Tubal-Cain, Sem, Ham and Japhet. Lamech died almost at the same time. There were rumours that Serpent Goddess Inanna/Noah was behind the events, she, too, also disappeared. Inanna wanted to grab Lamech's family tree, but she did not succeed. There was another master who was involved: Gilgamesh the Bull.

Dr. Irving Finkel, one of the world's foremost experts on cuneiform and curator at the British Museum, published his book The Ark Before Noah. The book became an instant global success. In the book, Finkel translated a 3,700-year-old Sumerian clay tablet and rewrote the story of Noah and the Flood Myth. Finkel: 'When I received the tablet, I understood how valuable it was. My heart almost stopped. Everybody is interested in the Flood Myth and its origin, it is very big. According to the Bible, since Man was so sinful and evil, God decided to annihilate everything. At the last minute he grew soft and warned Noah that he must construct a ship, gather all animals, and close the doors. In that way life could go on after the flood. But the tablet is at least 1,000 years older than story in Genesis. That of course means', he says, 'that the story's origin demands a totally different explanation.'

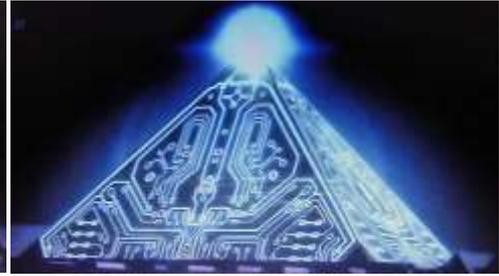

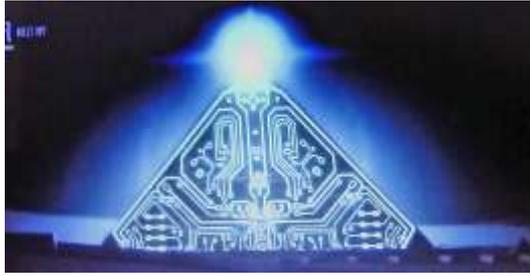

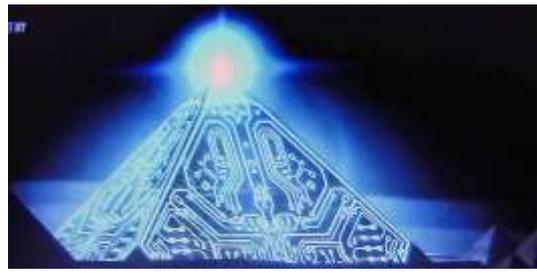

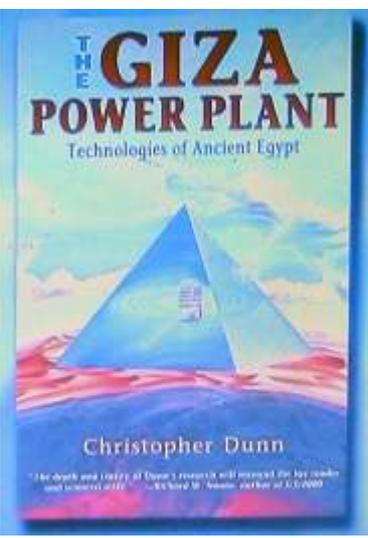

Dr Alessandro Ghidoni is an expert on ancient ship construction methods. He and other scientists plan to follow the tablet instructions and create a copy of the ark. The instructions are clear, it will be built of reed. Reed is hollow it has buoyancy, it is easy to handle, you can construct whatever you want. The clay tablet only mentions two other materials. Wood for beams and bitumen to make the ship waterproof. Bitumen is a thick oil which comes from the ground, it has been used for different purposes: shipbuilding, on walls, glue. Ghidoni and his team managed to build a round ship, its size 20% of the clay tablet's size. And it floats. A great step forwards for the search of evidence confirming the Ark.

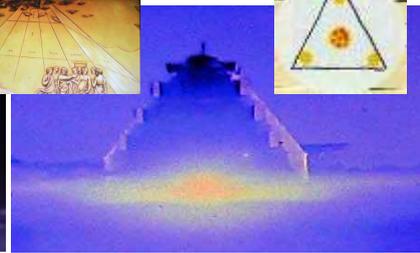

Last spring I watched a tv documentary, Mysteries of the Deep by Jeremy Wade. It was about the Ark which was built in Sumer prior to the global flood. When I saw the round Ark floating on the water, my reaction was immediate. It seemed very familiar. I recognised the ark which was built in Shuruppak. It was a fantastic idea to try to recreate the round ark. As far as I understand, this round ark was constructed by Lamech, his son Utnapishtim/Enoch was also involved. More info at Industry, Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 276-281

There is now proof that the Bible has been re-written in this context and that the real, original story about the global flood is unknown to the people. They lived, and still live, in a world of fairy tales.

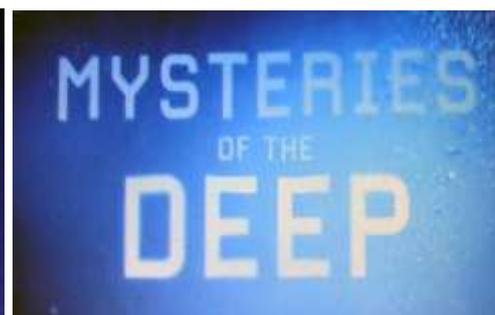

It was some time before life started again after the global flood and various catastrophes. The secret research and activities surrounding the transfer of animal blood to human blood was moved to Egypt, later called the 'Country of Pyramids.' In China pyramids were constructed for the same purpose.

In his book The Giza Power Plant from 1998, the engineer Christopher Dunn stated that the shape, the location of the chambers and the availability of underground water tell us that the Giza pyramids in fact were powerplants. 'I believe the pyramids served as generators of power,' he stated. – A direct hit!!!

The Giza pyramids are in the same context as the Sumer pyramid outside the town of Shuruppak, which belonged to Lamech Jr/Noah. The pyramid was a UFO in the form of a modern biological laboratory and power plant, a so-called triangle UFO.

As evidence I put forward sources like Ancient Aliens, The World Before Time and Mysteries of the Deep. These two projects highlight the Earth with evidence of high-level knowledge which supports me. If you propose something, you will need evidence, but without knowledge there is none. More info below.

After the global flood and natural catastrophes life started to come back to this planet. It took years. In order to continue the realisation of the blood transformation process after Sumer, the extra-terrestrials agreed to go on with the vital biological process in silence, in secrecy, in Egypt. Some Sumerian Gods and Goddesses appeared in Egypt: Enlil, Inanna, Gilgamesh.

Uraeus/Cobra wore the crown of Lower Egypt, the Red Crown. A reincarnation of Inanna

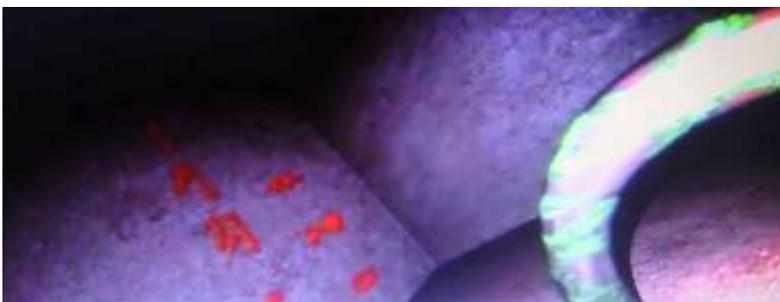

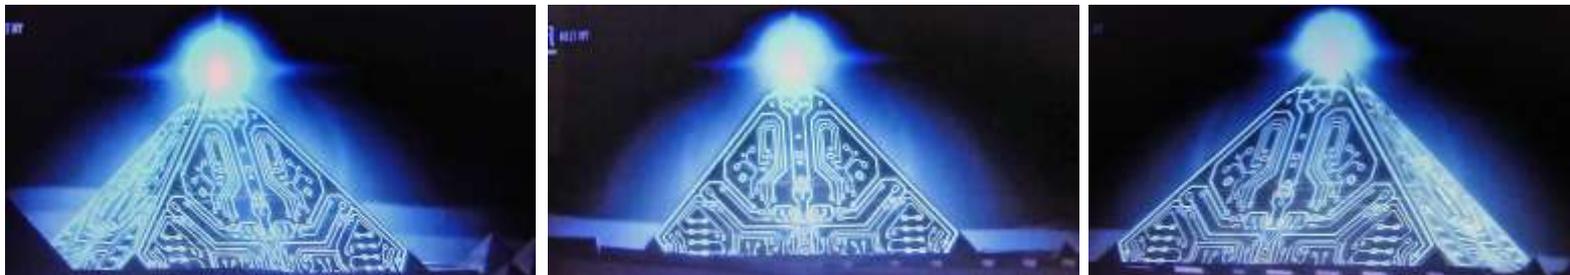

Horus (RA) wore the Red and White Crown. A reincarnation of the Air Deity Enlil.

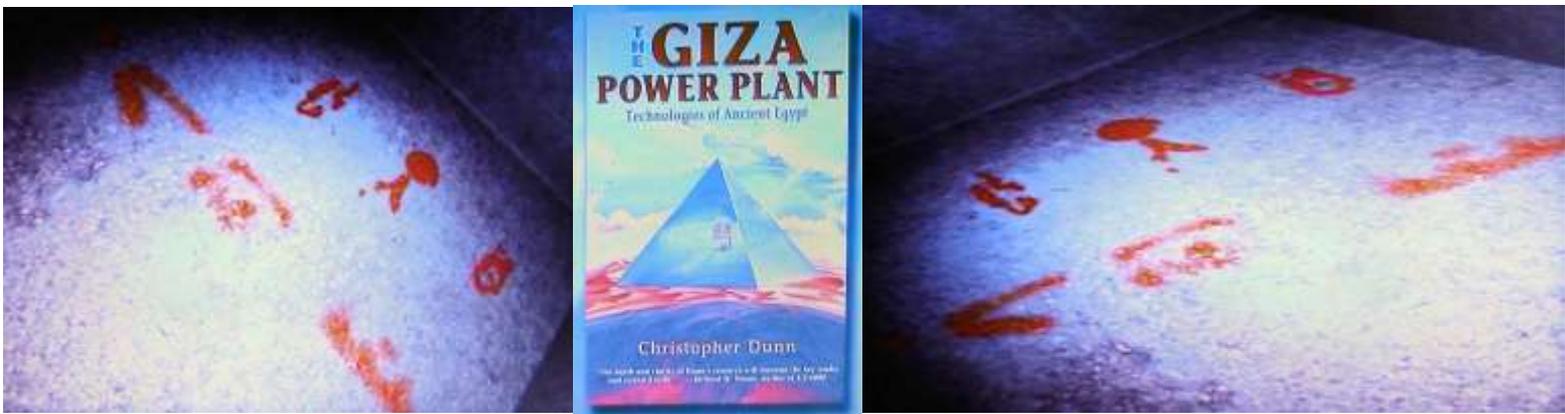

Deity of Death Osiris, with his beloved White Crown, the Atef. A reincarnation of Gilgamesh

The start of the greatest biological research and development concerning the blood transformation of animal blood into human blood was at some time during Dynasty 0 and Dynasty 2. As early as that, some individuals tried to undergo the transformation process. More info at Industry, *The Crowns of Egypt and Their Secrets and Dynasty 0 in Ancient Egypt, pp 1 - 27. The final stage was supposed to take place between Dynasty 3 and Dynasty 4, see also pp 28 -37. The whole context is described in The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 1 - 12, the collapse of the blood transformation process.

Now I have several, final items of evidence stating that all relevant pyramids were contemporary state-of-the-art research laboratories Modern research tells us that pyramids were used as powerplants. In order to run and use a research laboratory you will need electricity. Research carried out by Ancient-astronaut theorists suggests the pyramids also served as powerplants.

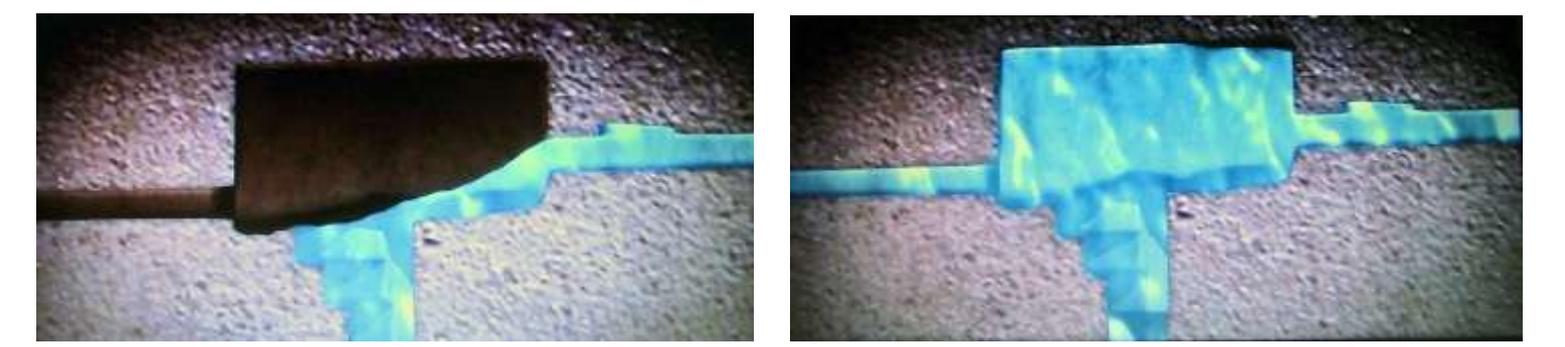

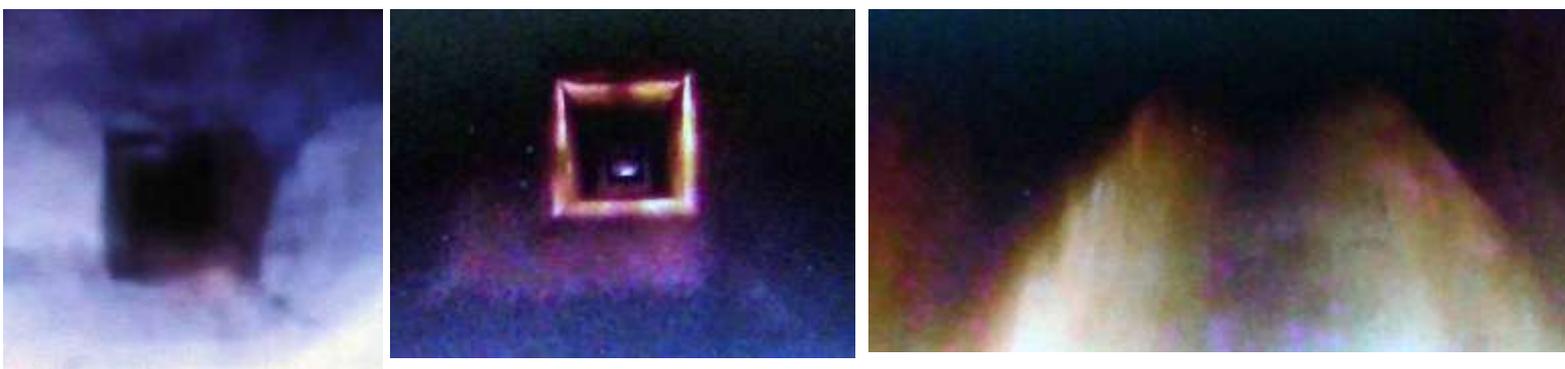

In 2011 other scientists wanted to investigate the blocked air culvert in the queen's sepulchre. A robot camera was used to reveal what was behind the door. On the other side of the door they found a secret room and copper fittings. There was corrosion on the reverse side of the fittings. The camera also filmed the floor, where there were red marks, probably electrical symbols. But why were they there? The question is whether this may prove that electricity was involved. Dynasty IV.

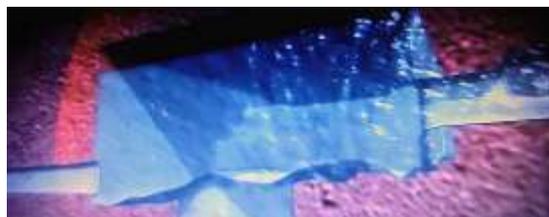

Some scientists argue that the Cheops pyramid was not a tomb but a powerplant. If we disregard the tomb theory and take a look at the pyramid as such, we can see something that present-day engineers can understand. It is a very precise construction, we are talking about millimetres. This is remarkable and not typical of a simple agricultural society. It is almost like a machine. If the pyramid was a sophisticated machine which could produce energy, how did it work?

Some people believe there are clues below the building. In 2000 marine scientist John Cadman suggested that the Egyptians pumped water into a chamber under the pyramid.

The pump could produce hydraulic pressure which made the pyramid vibrate.

In the chamber there was evidence saying that it was filled with water, there was water erosion on the floor and higher in the narrow area. It was a hydraulic pulse generator, a cyclone wave hit the ceiling. Splinter fell from the ceiling when compressional waves hit it. If Cadman's theory is correct, what about its purpose?

SSSSSS

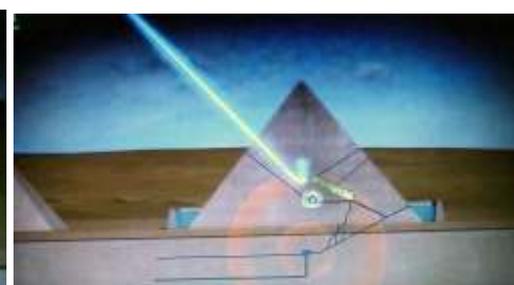

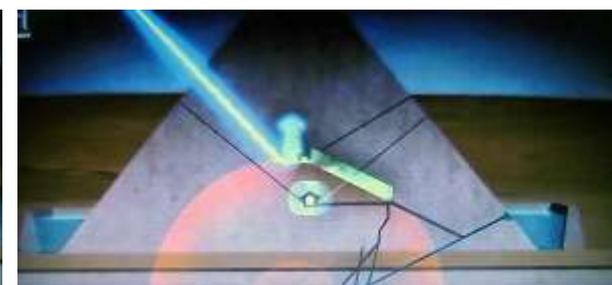

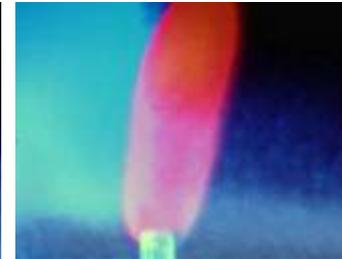

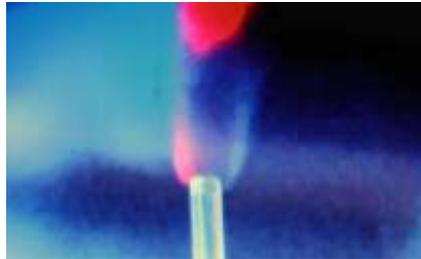

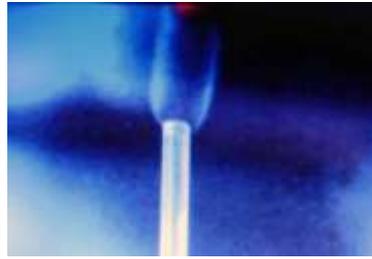

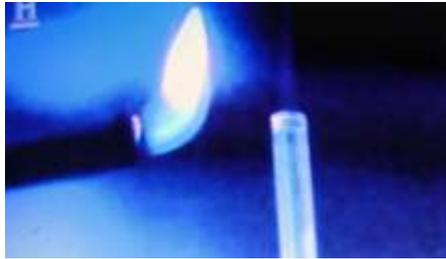

Engineer Chris Dunn believes the answer can be found in the air culverts inside the queen's chamber, where zinc and hydrochloric acid have been found. It was probably hydrated zinc which seeped through the northern air culvert. Chemicals seeping through the southern air culvert was probably a weak form of hydrochloric acid. You can find it on the walls.

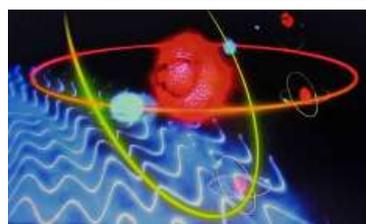

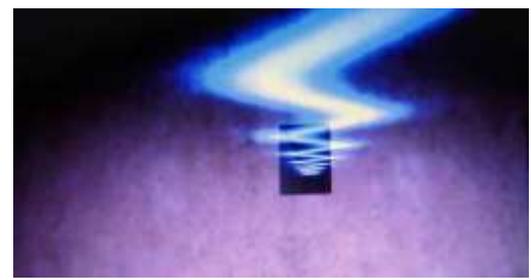

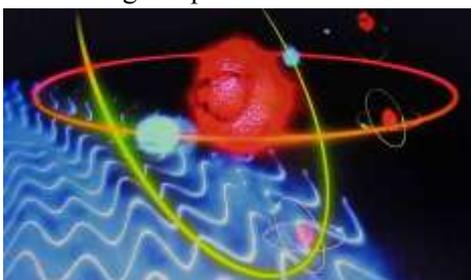

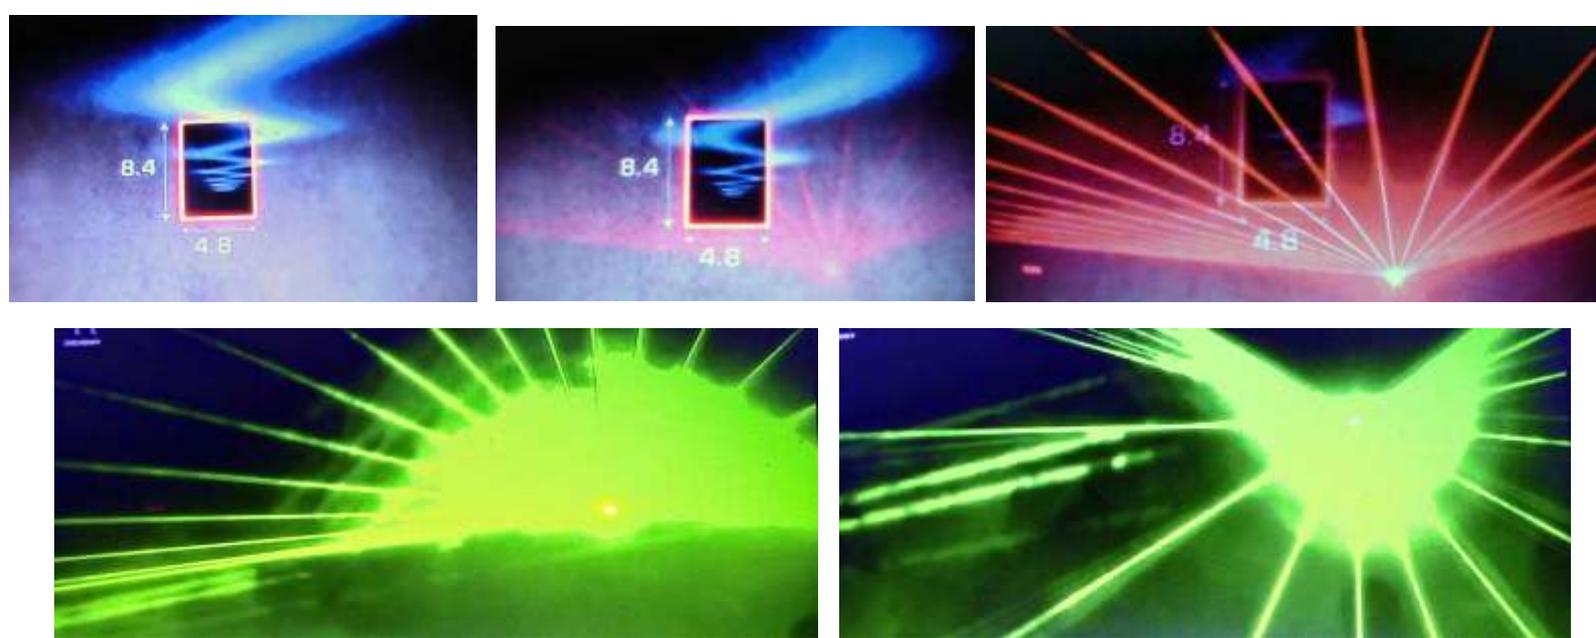

Dunn suggests that the chemicals were poured into the air culverts and were mixed together in the sepulchre in order to achieve combustion.

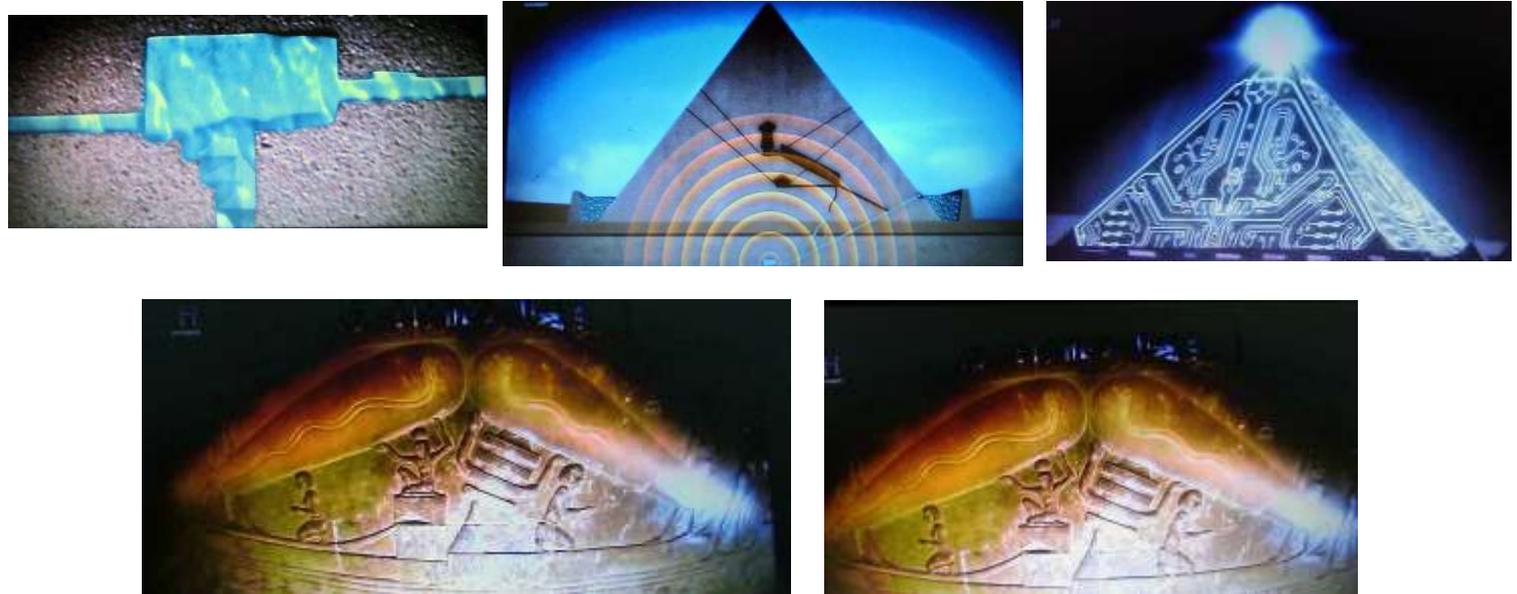

Engineer Chris Dunn: 'The container represents the sepulchre. I add hydrated zinc and hydrochloric acid. When we mix the liquids, we get a chemical reaction, the end product is hydrogen. The vapour tells us that the hydrogen disappears via the chimney. You can see the reaction here. I believe that hydrogen was transferred from the queen's sepulchre to that of the king. The vibration from the subterranean basin transformed the hydrogen atoms to a microwave beam. There is evidence of hydrogen in the king's sepulchre.'

There is a drum measuring 12x12 centimetres. This is a good size for a waveguide or microwave reinforcement via stimulated emission. We can suggest its purpose.

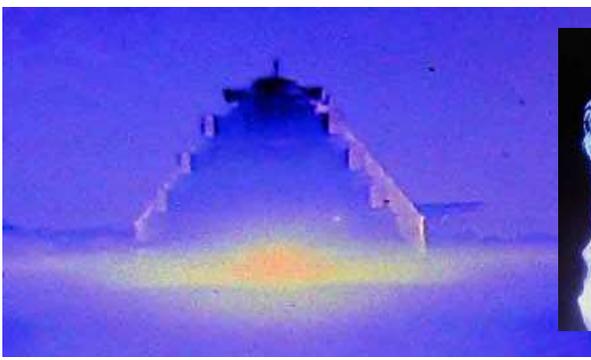

Imagine that the Cheops pyramid could produce energy! Is it possible that the energy could have operated a device such as the Dendera light? There are other devices, from simple gadgets to advanced spacecraft.

The projects Ancient A biological research liens, The Ultimate Evidence, and Alien Power Plants try to prove that the Cheops pyramid was a powerplant. In other words: the pyramid was built to serve top-level biological research, and a test laboratory in the context of blood transformation at Giza.

It is time to go back to the Cheops pyramid, Dynasty IV, and introduce unknown parts of the biological research- and test laboratory belonging to Cheops/Khufu, who was a reincarnation of Lamech Jr/Noah. He already had a pyramid in Sumer, prior to the global flood, se pp 4 – 6 and 10 above.

Lamech Jr/Noah with his pyramid in Shuruppak in Sumer around 7,000 years ago.

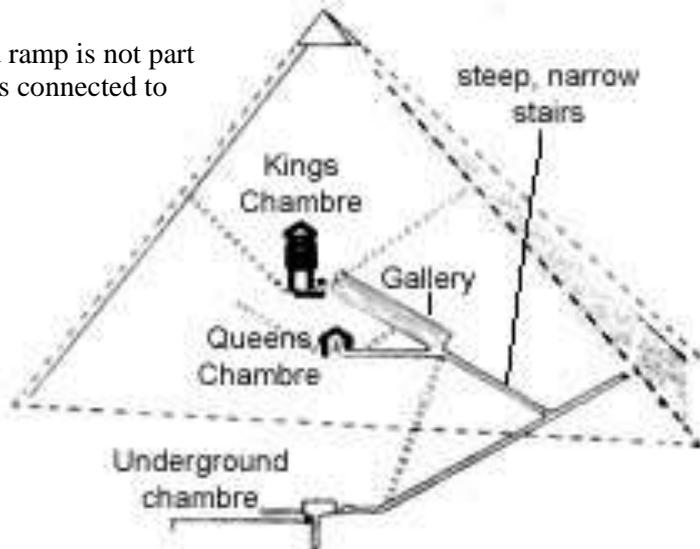

An internal spiral-shaped ramp, according to Jean-Pierre Houdin.

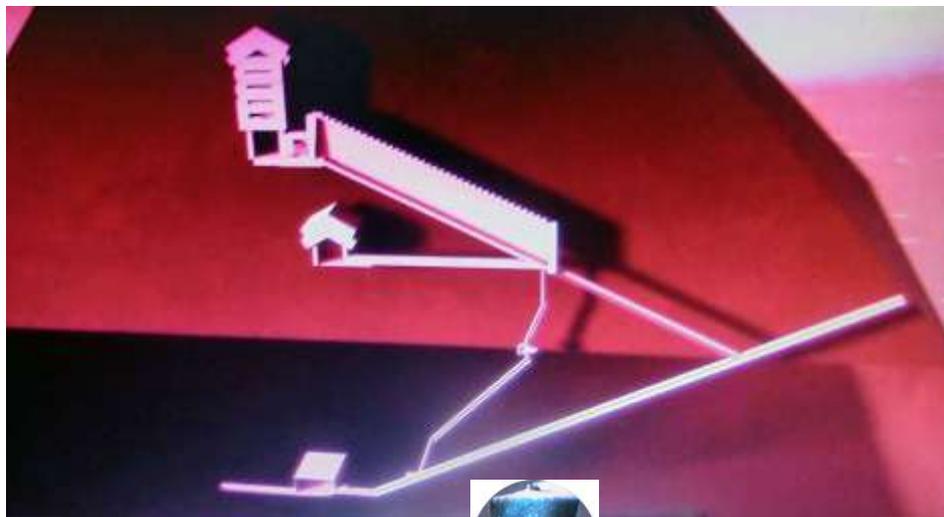

Jean-Pierre Houdin and his French colleagues can prove that the internal spiral-shaped ramp exists.

More info at Industry, Pyramid of Cheops and its Secrets, pp 9 - 12.

An internal spiral-shaped ramp is not part of the construction. It was connected to the king's sepulchre.

Cheops, Dynasty 4, built the largest and most modern biological test-and research laboratory for the blood transformation process. The actual construction was well-planned, partly by extra-terrestrials in his group. The pyramid was personal, it was only for him. Cheops probably lived with his family in the so-called Gallery. The queen's 'chambre' was an outstanding control centre, part of the Gallery was used for research and tests. The blood transformation process was the most important and most secret biological issue for the involved Gods and Pharaohs.

The actual tests connected to the blood transformation process were carried out in the final days of Cheops's reign. He spent his last days in the chamber which was called 'a place for life.' I believe that a UFO motor was installed in the underground chamber. This motor produced an extra-terrestrial circuit system which was used for the process. They also used the well-known terrestrial circuit. Extra-terrestrials in Cheops's group were fully involved in the project.

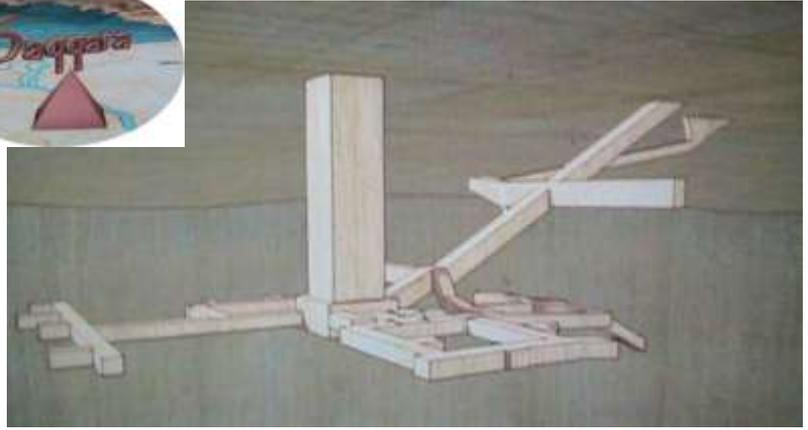

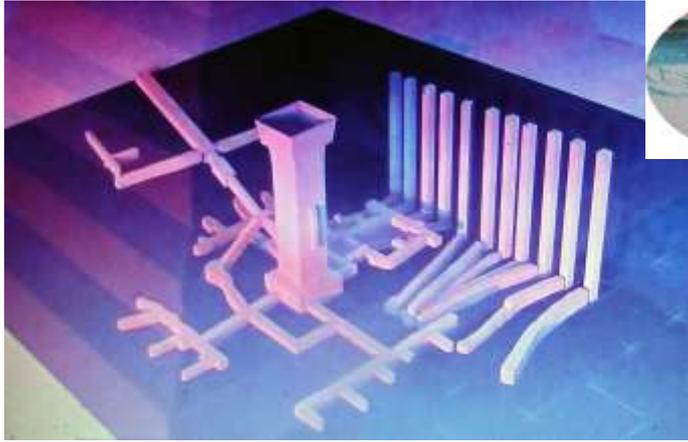

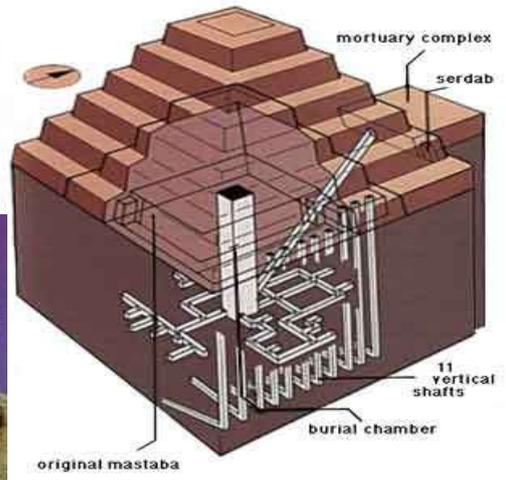

Cheops pyramid was connected to the star Alnitak, where there were also extra-terrestrials from Cheops's group. Read more about this in Pyramid of Cheops and its Secret, pp 17 - 18. We do not know how or when Cheops died, there was chaos and bloody reality in the Pharaoh court at that time. As far as I understand, Cheops almost succeeded, but his enemies wanted to stop him. Read more about this in The Fourth Pyramid Which Disappeared, pp 1 - 13. I do not know how time-consuming the process was, but anyone who takes part in process will die, that is why, symbolically, Pharaoh is in his sepulchre. Whether it succeeded or not, everything that concerned the process was removed, finally nothing was left inside the pyramid, even the dead pharaoh was taken away. I have already written about the blood transformation process, e.g. in Dynasty 0 in Ancient Egypt, pp 32 - 34, about Cheops. We now have evidence that the pyramid was also a biological laboratory. To be able to prolong your life or to have eternal life, you need to be a human being.

Amun told the Egyptians about what Universe and our galaxy really is and from where he came. It was possible for all Gods and Goddesses to become human again. More info at Conquering Space III, final, pp 120 - 121.

The pharaoh who started to build a pyramid for the blood transformation process was in fact Pharaoh Djoser, Dynasty-3. Djoser's father was Khasekhemwy, Dynasti-3, he reigned between B.C 2667 - 2648. At that time Egypt flourished. Pharaoh Djoser built his pyramid at the necropolis of Sakkara, south of Kairo.

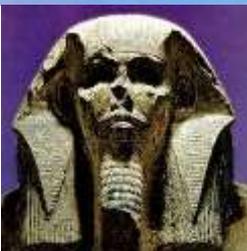

Khasekhemwy

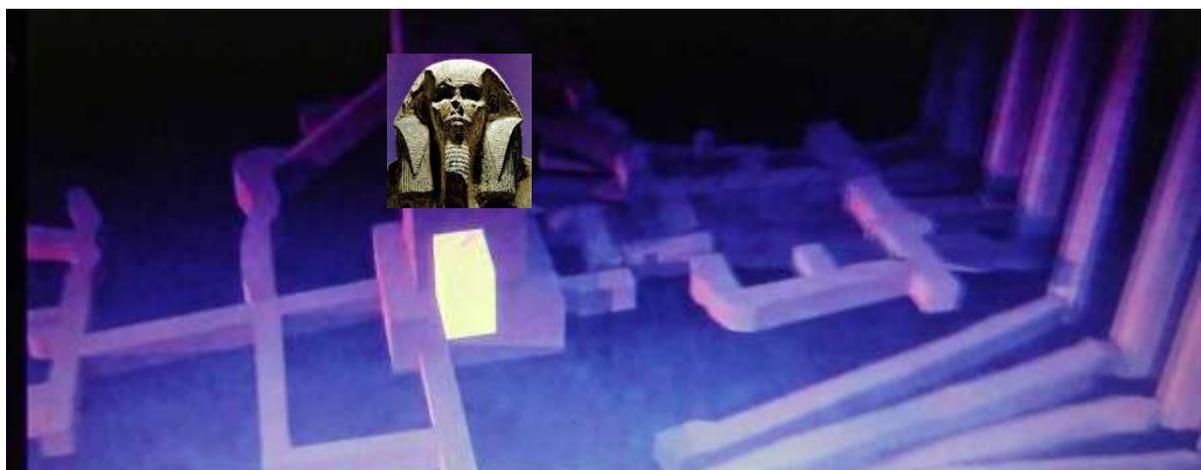

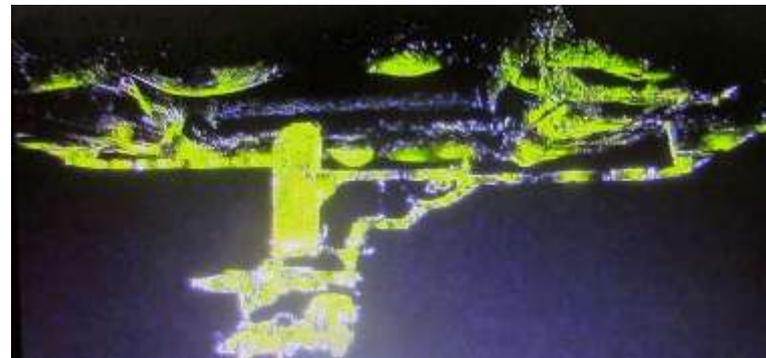

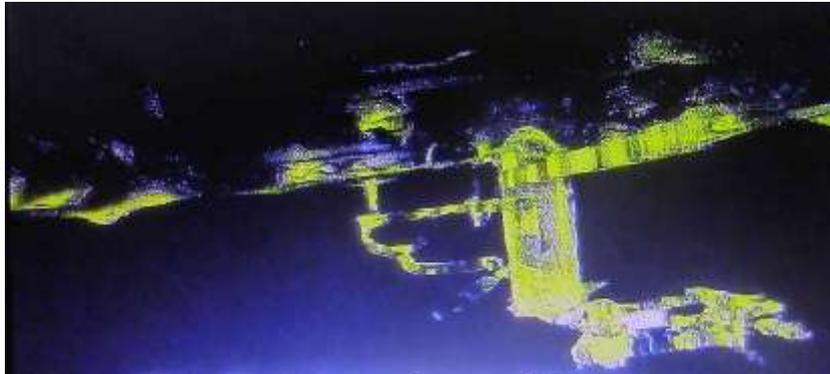

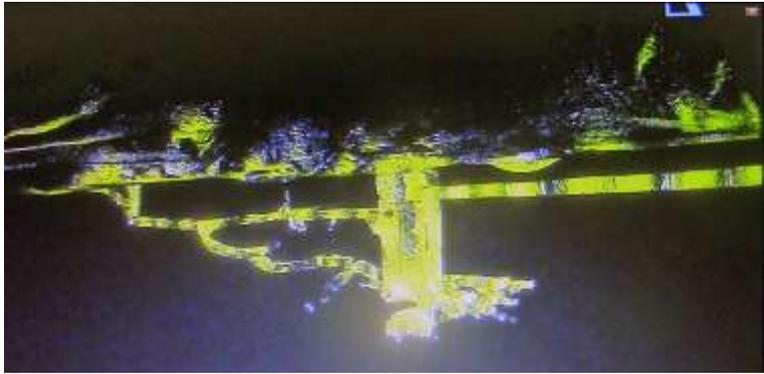

Djoser's step pyramid. Below the pyramid were several kilometres of tunnels, an area of 15 hectares. The rectangular base measures 121x109 metres, height 60 metres. The external wall has a length of 1,645 metres.

All buildings were inside a wall. The entrance and a grave were in the south, there were two eastern palaces and one in the south, another one in the north and several small temples. In the north, close to the pyramid, an additional temple for tombs. There was also a secret and hidden town, see below.

The pictures above depict the hidden town below Djoser's pyramid. This is where the extra-terrestrials lived during the construction of the pyramid. We can see that the system of tunnels had its centre around Pharaoh's tomb. There is also a tunnel 1.5 metres below Djoser's tomb.

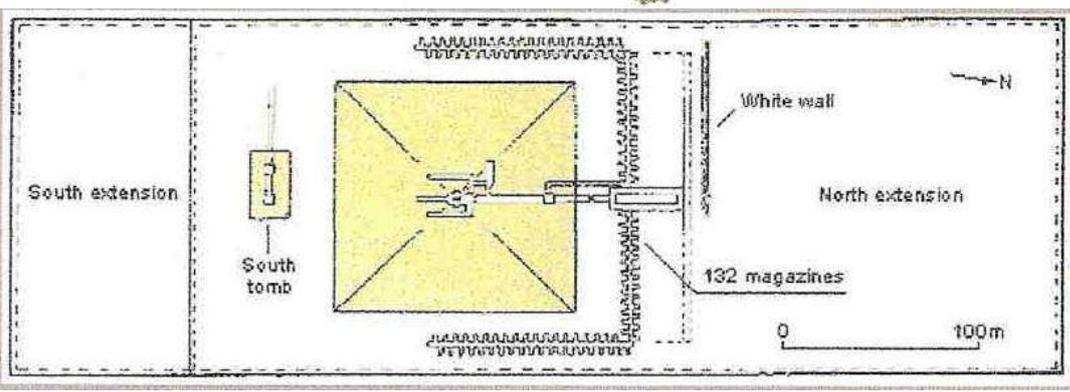

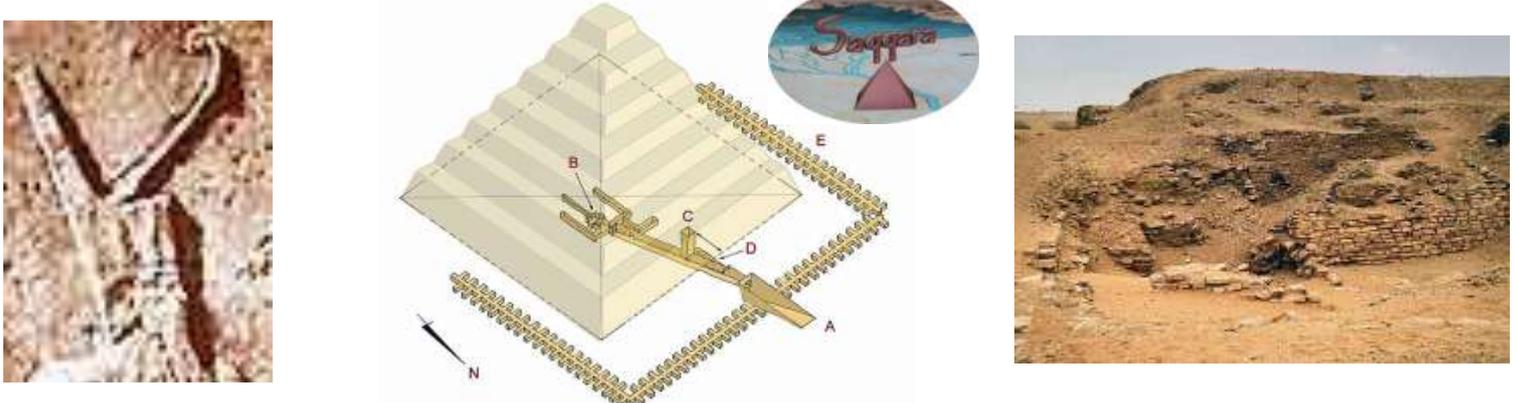

Djoser's tomb, a magnificent granite mausoleum: height 4 metres, length 3 metres, width 2 metres. This is core of the pyramid.

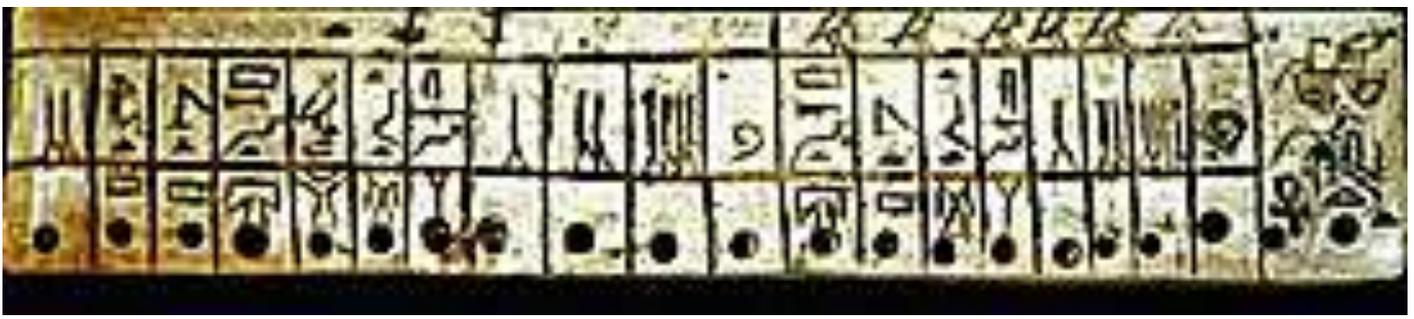

These 3D photos point out the tomb's dimensions: a 7x7 metre square at the bottom of a shaft, depth 22 metres. It took him 19 years to finish the construction, His sarcophagus was never found.

A brief summary tells us that Djoser's step pyramid was the first real biological test laboratory where animal blood was transformed into human blood. Djoser was a reincarnation of, among others, Enki. Extra-terrestrials constantly assisted in planning and building. His father Khasekhemwy also assisted in the early days of the project. The project was a top secret, which explains the variations of the information on Pharaoh Djoser. This enormous project demonstrates that Djoser took part in the blood transformation process when he was dying. We do not know when or how he died. The process was probably not successful and his son, probably Sekhemkhet, did not try to build a second pyramid. After Djoser's death everything was removed, the whole project was kept by the family for further studies. The step pyramid and the underground city were exclusively built for Djoser. The extra-terrestrials temporarily left the city below the pyramid.

The next pharaoh to build a pyramid was the son Sekhemkhet, Dynasty 3 (some sources claim that he was Djoser's brother). He built a step pyramid.

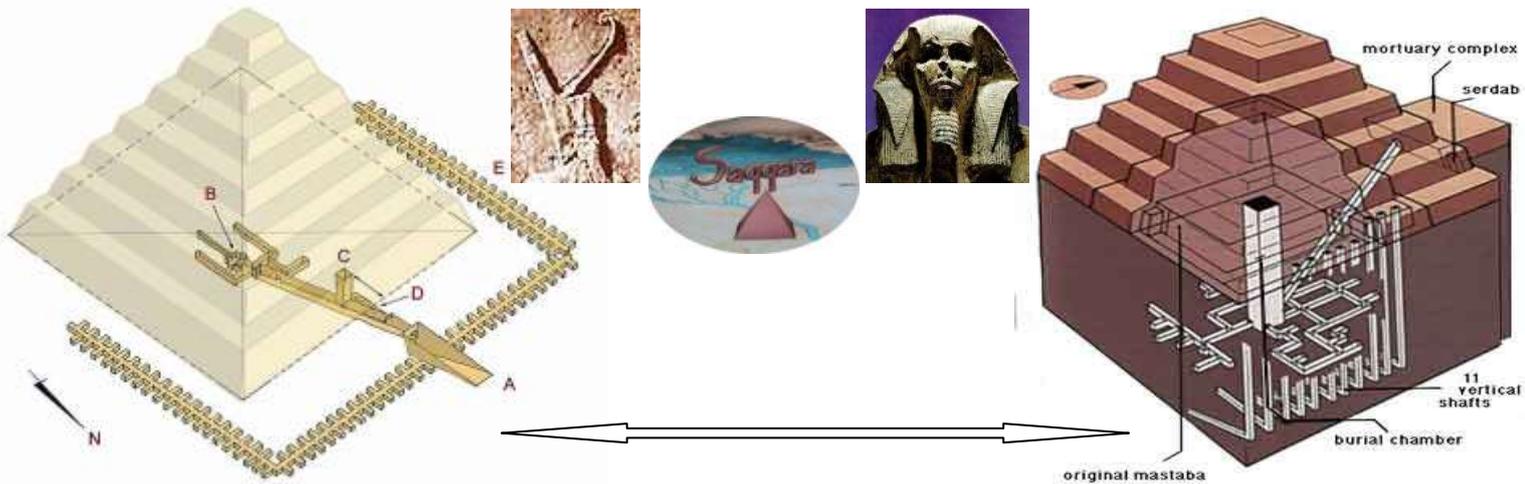

Sekhemkhet's pyramid complex, Dynasty 3 in Sakkara, around BC 2650. Below is his coffin, which was empty when opened.

Pharaoh Sekhemkhet, who was probably Pharaoh Djoser's son, built his step pyramid (6 – 7 steps) in Sakkara during his seven-year reign. Its base was 378x378 feet, its height 240.5 feet.

The pyramid was never finished, Pharaoh Sekhemkhet died young. Why was his sarcophagus placed into a pyramid which was not finished? Later on, when it was opened, it was empty.

As far as I understand, he had a complex pyramid construction with six or seven flights of steps. Its interior was re-constructed, the whole sepulchre and everything that belonged there was placed in the pyramid's interior, cf. Djoser's pyramid. The extra-terrestrials were also active here. According to sources his reign lasted only seven years, a very short period of time. What happened to him? The blood transformation process was not for everyone, it was decided as early as before birth. My view is that Pharaoh Sekhemkhet died when he passed through the process. The basis for this is that his sarcophagus was found inside the pyramid and that it was empty when opened. A deceased pharaoh was not placed in a non-finished pyramid. Since his sarcophagus was found there, it might tell us that that he really passed through the biological process. After his death everything was removed, and extra-terrestrials took his body for further investigations. I do not know for how long a process like that went on, maybe between a couple of hours or days.

When I study Sekhemkhet's step pyramid with a 51-degree gradient, I can see that such a biological process was possible. The pyramid was a top-modern biological test laboratory which had been created for Pharaoh Sekhemkhet in person. It is a very difficult process, you will need exact accuracy, knowledge and patience. Strangely enough his step pyramid is in ruins, was posterity not allowed to see it? His sepulchre is inside the pyramid.

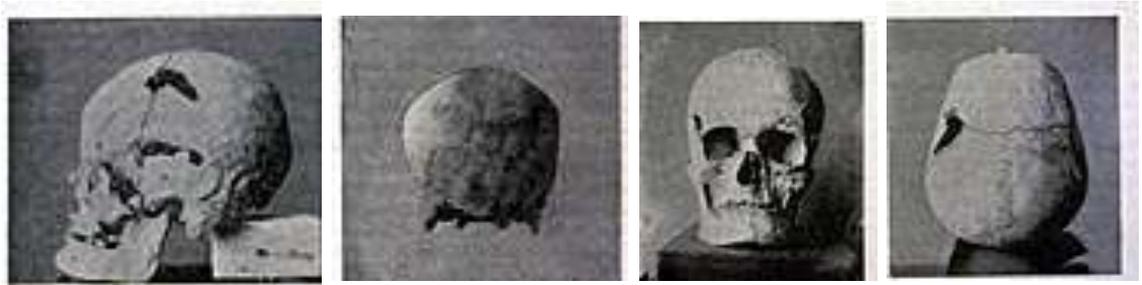

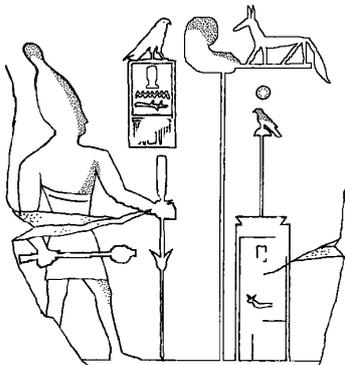

The next Pharaoh to build a step pyramid, Khaba, Dynasty-3, was maybe Sekhemkhet's son. He built his step pyramid at Zawyet el'Aryan, around 8 kilometres south-west of Giza. The construction was typical of Dynasty 3. There were plans to reach a height of 45 metres, a bit smaller than Sekhemkhet's construction. He was buried inside the pyramid, but there are no indications that he was the one who built it. In nearby Mastaba Z500 his name was found: Hor-Khaba. What happened during his reign? Where is he buried? In the pyramid at Zawyet el'Aryan or in Mastaba Z500 at the same location? His government and the duration of his reign are not known. His name Hor-Khaba was found at Mastaba Z500. This confirms that he lived at that time. No remains were found at Mastaba Z500.

Khaba's proper name, according to an inscription was 'Khaba's Horus'. Was he a reincarnation of, among others, the Falcon Deity Horus? Khaba, too, took part in the blood transformation process in his own step pyramid. This opportunity was not for everyone.

The mysteries surrounding Pharaoh Khaba are extensive, different information from different sources. We know that he lived at that particular time. He built his pyramid at Zawyet el'Aryan. The picture of the pyramid confirms this. The problem is that his name does not appear when it comes to pyramid construction at Zawyet el'Aryan. Was the pyramid built in secrecy? There is almost nothing left about him. Did they want to erase him from history? He is officially buried in the pyramid. Not far from there, at Mastaba Z500, his name as found, but not any remains. Is it possible that someone erased his name in the pyramid's sepulchre and used it at Mastaba Z500? Khaba ruled around BC 2670.

Khaba probably carried out his biological project, as did his father Sekhemkhet.

Almost simultaneously, around BC 2650, another pharaoh ruled. His name was Pharaoh Sanakht, Dynasty 3. He is also connected to Pharaoh Khasekhemwy, a relative of Pharaoh Khaba's. Sanakht is a Horus name. He did not build a pyramid, he is buried at Mastaba K2, Beit Khallaf. His cranium is preserved at Mastaba K2.

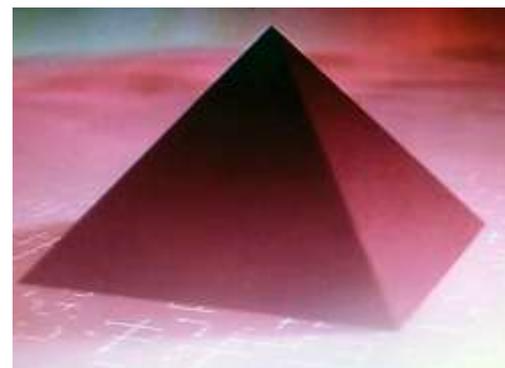

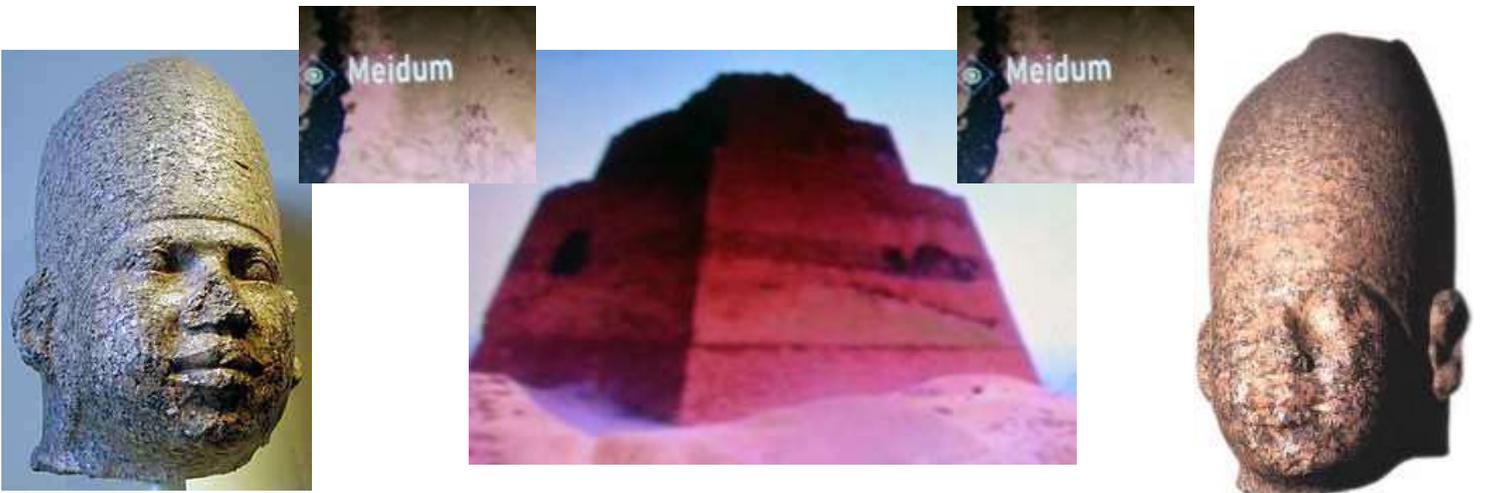

Pharaoh Sanakht did not build pyramids, that was a job for Khaba. Was he not jealous of his family, cousin Khaba, and tried to cover up his skills as a constructor of pyramids? It is not easy to handle secrets in a large family. Was he the man who fixed the inscription regarding the name Khaba's Horus at Mastaba Z500?

Pharaoh Qahedjet, Dynasty 3. This is also a Horus name. It is unclear how long he reigned. He was probably also a member of Khaba's family. He did not build pyramids. There is no information about his funeral at Mastaba.

There is only one discovery connected to Qahedjet's name: a stele, like the one above, origin unknown. It seems as if Dynasty 3 was an epoch. The biological blood transformation project was so secret that nothing about it leaked. There was jealousy in the large pharaoh family, a secret jealousy that hit pyramid constructor Khaba. I can only add that Falcon Deity Horus was then the most powerful God. If he was reborn, he was allowed to build a pyramid. That happened to Pharaoh Khaba-Horus around 5,000 years ago.

The following Pharaoh, Huni, Dynasty 3, built pyramids. Huni was Khaba's son. Some Egyptologists and archeologists suggest that the pyramid at Meidum was actually built by Pharaoh Huni. I agree, supported by a lengthy study. Huni built his step pyramid at Meidum 80 kilometres south of Cairo. His reign lasted 24 years around BC 2613.

Pharaoh Huni's pyramid complex. Some Egyptologists and architects state that the pyramid was finished. I agree. Its height was around 93 metres, its gradient 52 degrees.

3D pictures place the sepulchre inside the pyramid. This is an important difference compared to Pharaoh Djoser's first pyramid. We can compare Huni's pyramid at Meidum to Djoser's pyramid at Sakkara. Djoser's pyramid has underground chambers, at Meidum, Huni's pyramid chambers are part of the actual pyramid. 3D pictures tell us that there is a number of tunnels in the pyramid, connected to the sepulchre. Djoser's pyramid was the first 'real' pyramid, he was assisted by extra-terrestrials who lived underground during the project period. In Djoser's pyramid the sarcophagus is in a shaft 22 metres underground. The planning and construction of Huni's pyramid, continually assisted by extra-terrestrials, was faster. As far as I understand, Huni carried out his mission in total secrecy.

The photos depict Huni's sepulchre. Some people suggest that it is a memorial, a working place, rather than a tomb. Others believe that the sepulchre is yet to be found. Gilles Dormion, architect: 'You get the impression that the sepulchre is a place for work. There are remarkable wooden beams which may have been used to handle objects. The balks are in front of the northern wall of the chamber. The northern wall is special, not built like the other ones. The king's tomb may be found behind these walls. Maybe the king's name can be found there, too. Meidum was built far from the Cheops pyramid and is still mysterious.'

Today we write 2021 and we understand that certain Egyptologist and architects have used modern technology to analyse the step pyramids of Djoser, Sekhemkhet, Khaba and Huni. This might confirm that the sepulchres were more than just funeral sites. In those days, the pyramids were state-of-the-art and you do not build a top-modern pyramid in order to finally bury the king's dead body inside.

The inscription was not found inside the sepulchre, the inscription which was to prove that Huni really build the pyramid. This could be due to the fact that that he did not want to write his name for posterity. Someone can have erased his name.

We do not know where to find Huni's tomb. Some Egyptologists suggest Mastaba L6, Mastaba M17 or Mastaba AS 54, but his remains have not been found. We are familiar with the situation from Khaba.

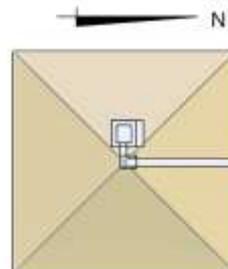

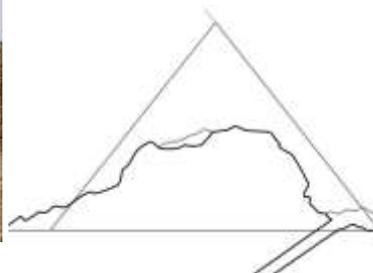

Bent pyramid

Dahshur

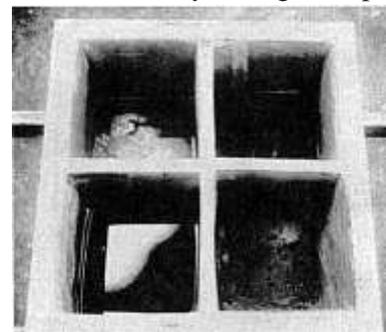

Red pyramid

The next pharaoh in line is Sneferu, Dynasty 4. He built his pyramids at Dahshur, 40 kilometres south of Cairo, the bent and the red pyramids. Both of them hide their secrets. Concerned Egyptologists, archaeologists and architects try to find out in which pyramid Sneferu was buried. A sarcophagus belonging to a pharaoh was never found, Pharaoh Sneferu's sarcophagus does not exist. There are sepulchres in both pyramids, but which one was planned and built for Pharaoh Sneferu? One thing stands out: you do not need two pyramids to bury one pharaoh. As I have already mentioned, the pyramids were built to serve as modern biological test laboratories for the blood transformation project, to transform animal blood to human blood before the death of a pharaoh. What happened in this case, the pyramids are very different? Only one of them was built for Pharaoh Sneferu. What about the other one? No step pyramid, in this case it is a mystery. As far as I understand, the red pyramid was planned for Pharaoh Sneferu, but the other, the bent pyramid, for whom? We can see that the red pyramid looks like all pyramids built by male pharaohs, but the bent pyramid is unique. Is it possible it was built for a woman? In that case, who was she? Two queens are possible: Queen Meresankh I, Sneferu's mother and Queen Hetepheres I, Sneferu's wife, Cheops's mother. As far as I understand, Meresankh I was a reincarnation of, among others, Isis and Hetepheres I was a reincarnation of, among others, Mut.

A closer look tells us that Queen Hetepheres I had a pyramid called 'G1a' at Giza.

Hetepheres I's pyramid at Giza, Dynasty 4, pyramid 'G1a'. According to the pictures her sepulchre was inside the pyramid, which is now a ruin. The question is who built the the pyramid, Sneferu or Cheops? It has a height of 25.30 metres and a width of around 50 metres. It could have been a working biological laboratory for Queen Hetepheres I. It was built early during Cheops's reign and it is possible it was finished.

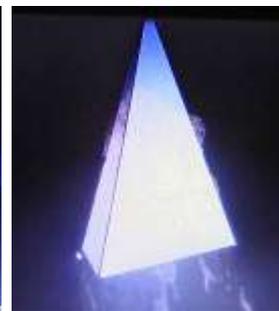

Hetepheres I's sepulchre is primarily located in pyramid G1a, the second option is at Mastaba G-7000X. Her sarcophagus has been found, but not her remains, she disappeared without a trace. Hetepheres I was a reincarnation of, among others, Mut, and Cheops a reincarnation of, among others, Khonsu. It is possible that she took part in the secret biological project concerning blood transformation. Extra-terrestrials from her or Cheops's group assisted.

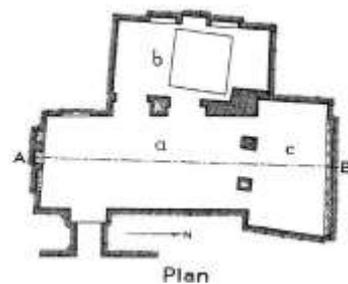

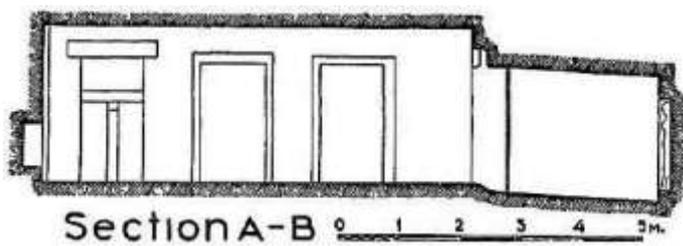

Meresankh I

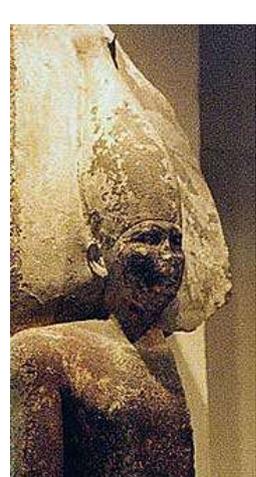

The bent pyramid at Dahshur

Can this be Queen Meresankh I's sepulchre from Dynasty 4? She was Pharaoh Sneferu's mother. The actual sepulchre looks like a pyramid. We can see an interior space which has been adapted to the shape of the pyramid. The exterior of the pyramid was triangular, but also the interior. This is also an indication that the sepulchre was planned for a woman, the pyramid in which the sepulchre looks like a pyramid. It is possible that Sneferu's mother got an opportunity to carry out the blood transformation process before she died. The bent pyramid was also a modern biological laboratory for a woman, probably for Queen Meresankh. After her death the extra-terrestrials removed her body for further investigations. Everything that was secret was removed, after 4,500 years the pyramid looks rather dilapidated. Its gradient is 54 degrees, it is a pyramid complex.

There is one more burial site, at Piza, Mastaba G7530. She was not there. This also demonstrates how secret and obscure the Old Kingdom of Egypt was.

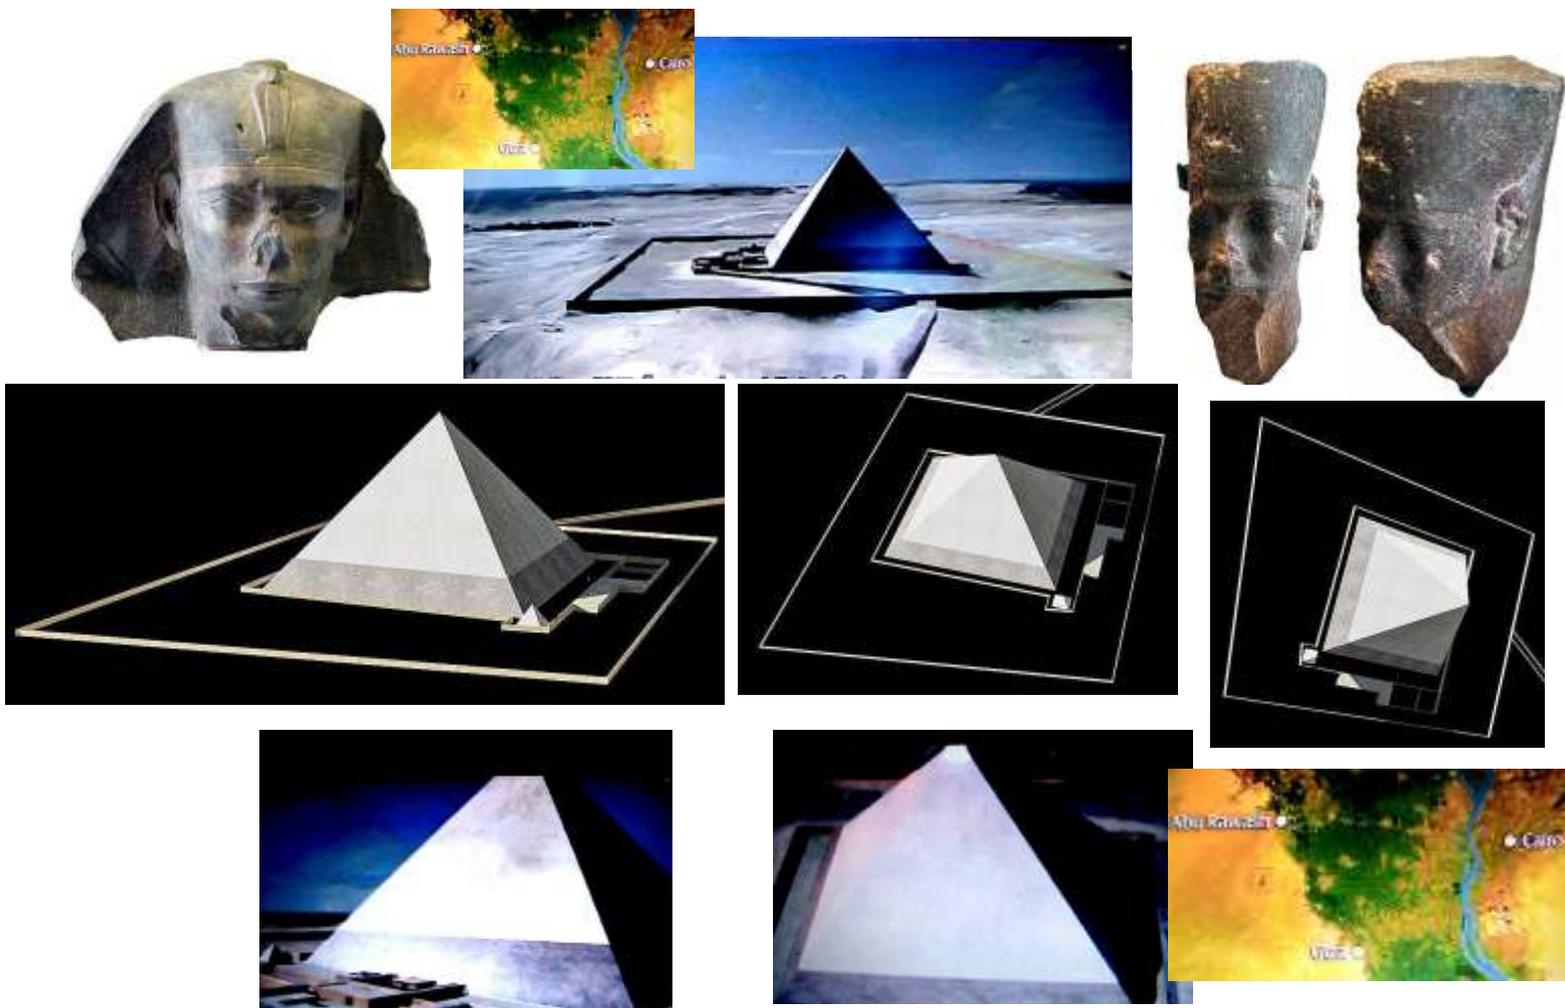

The red pyramid is not a pyramid complex.

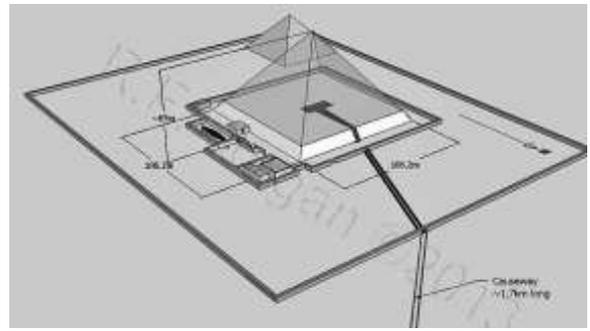

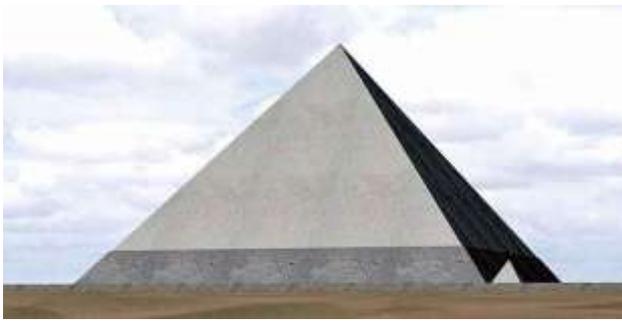

It was evident that no pyramid complex was necessary, the equipment of the interior chambers was modern. The pyramid was built to house laboratories and the actual sepulchre was at the centre of events. They wanted results. The whole pyramid was a powerplant.

Pharaoh Huni built the Meidum pyramid to himself. Sneferu built the pyramids at Dahshur, the first one was the bent pyramid for his mother, the red one was for himself. As I have already mentioned, the extra-terrestrials removed everything that had anything to do with secret activities including Pharaohs Huni and Sneferu and Queens Meresankh I and Hetepheres I. They left a mystery behind, a mystery concerning the extensive scientific levels of knowledge in the Old Kingdom of Egypt.

The next pharaoh in line was Djedefre, Cheops's son, around BC 2580. He reigned around 20 years, Dynasty 4. We do not know much about him either. He built his pyramid at Abu Rawash eight kilometres north of Giza. He had two sons, probably Baka and Setka.

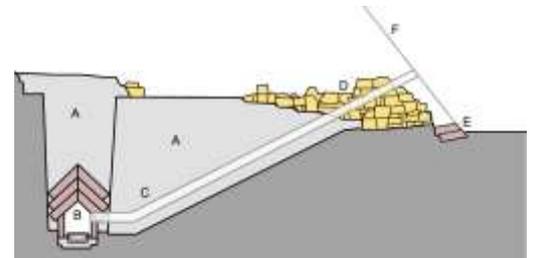

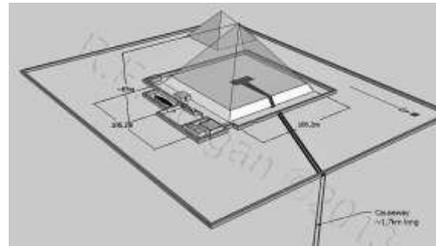

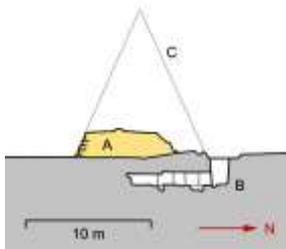

A reconstruction of Djedefre's pyramid at Abu Rawash

The foundation of the pyramid with a 52-degree gradient.

According to the blueprints, Djedefre's sepulchre looked like Djoser's, whose sepulchre was below the pyramid.

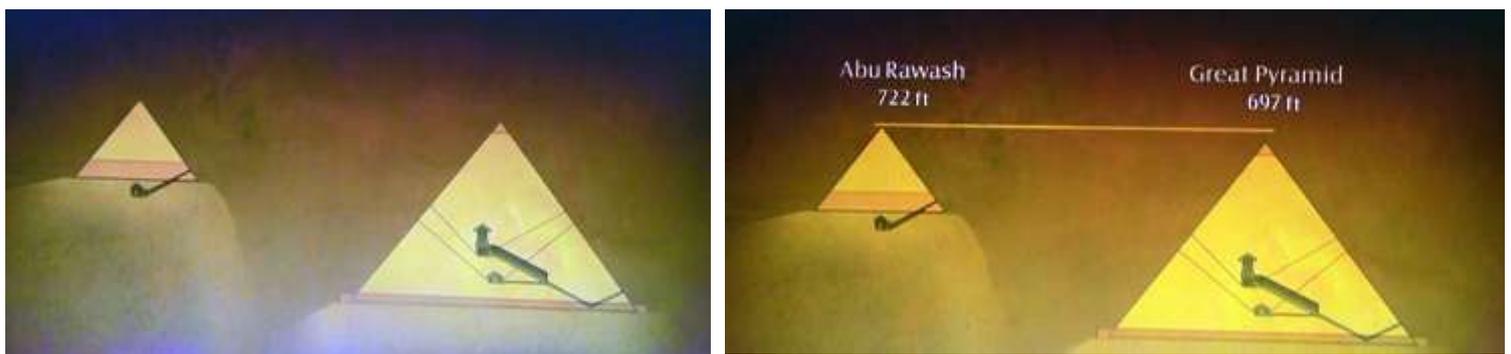

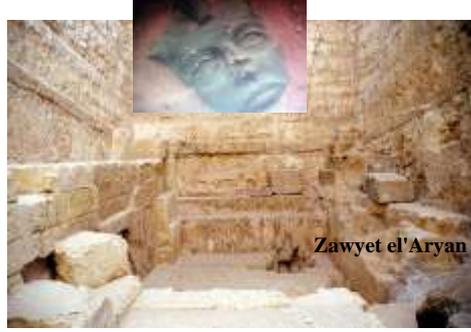

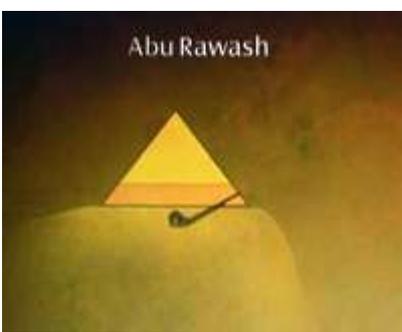

Egyptologists and archaeologists have used Djedefre's pyramid ruin as a starting point for a reconstruction of his pyramid. They concluded that the pyramid was built by Pharaoh Djedefre and that it was a pyramid complex.

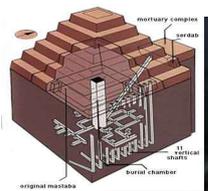

Abu Rawash is a mountain area and Pharaoh Djedefre used a large hill for his construction. Its pyramid is higher than Cheops's pyramid, 67 metres on a 120-metre hill. At the top electrum, sides of smooth, white limestone and at the foot a stripe of polished granite from Aswan.

This makes the Abu Rawash pyramid higher than Cheops's pyramid. Djedefre's sepulchre is below the pyramid, his father's is inside.

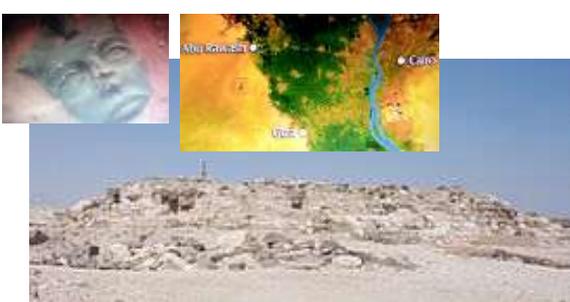

The sepulchre is straight below the peak of the pyramid, no sarcophagus. Egyptologists suggest that the pictures above depict the king's sepulchre. Below the pyramid are several tunnels. The Abu Rawash sepulchre looks like Djoser's sepulchre at Sakkara.

The sepulchre at Sakkara. The ceiling has collapsed, but despite this it stretches 30 metres across the site where the king's sarcophagus once was. This sepulchre is similar to the one at Abu Rawash. A long chamber, cut out below the pyramid, illustrates the same idea. There is a similar chamber at Abu Rawash. There is no roof, it is a 20-metre-deep cavity. This is how Egyptologists compare the pyramids at Sakkara and Abu Rawash.

As far as I understand from Egyptologists' and archaeologists' excavations and research during many years, the pyramid was finished by Djedefre during his reign around BC 2566. It is possible that he carried out his blood project despite unrest at the court. Who destroyed his Abu Rawash pyramid, and why? I will return to this.

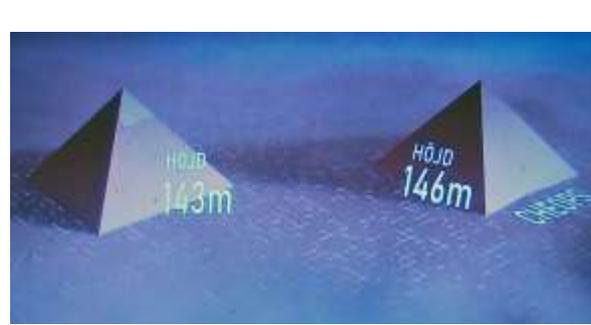

Zawyet el'Aryan

Pharaoh Djedefre's pyramid at Abu Rawash, Pharaoh Sekhemkhet's pyramid at Sakkara and Pharaoh Khaba's pyramid at Zawyet el Aryan, all three were destroyed, the question is why. These three pyramids were solidly built, just like all other pyramids which are still there.

The next pharaoh was Cheops's third son, Chephren. His reign, around BC 2870, lasted for about 26 years, Dynasty 4. He succeeded his elder brother and built his pyramid next to that of his father's at Giza, which is world-famous.

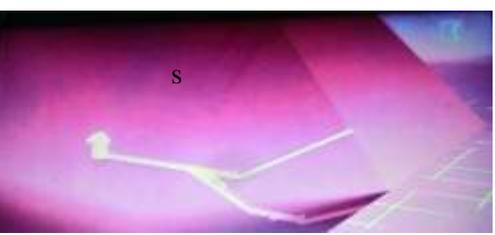

Chephren and his Giza pyramid.

Chephren and his pyramid at Giza. The pyramid has a height of 143 metres. This pyramid was also a powerplant, i.e. a test laboratory. The pyramid was built for Pharaoh Chephren in person, its purpose was blood transformation.

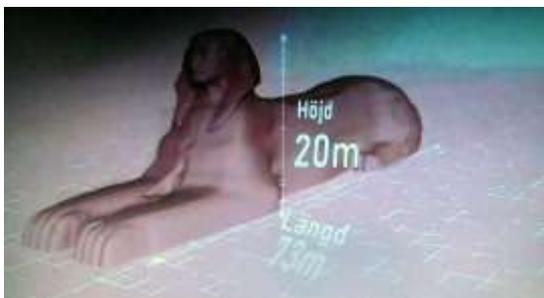

Chephren, his sepulchre and empty sarcophagus.

3D pictures allow us to have a look at Chephren's sepulchre, he only had one. Material from his reign points to the fact that he carried out his blood project. After a total blood transformation process, the extra-terrestrials immediately removed him, the sarcophagus was left behind without a body. The body was thoroughly examined, they could estimate how close they arrived at what they were aiming for and adjust possible deviations before the next blood transformation process. Chephren was the first Pharaoh to call himself Son of the Sun Deity.

The pharaoh who succeeded Chephren handled his own blood project. But before we approach him, we should linger for a while at Piza and take a closer look at the sphinx located between Cheops's and Chephren's pyramids. This sphinx is still a mystery. We do not know who built it, why it was built and who it depicts. It has been watching over the entrance to the plateau for thousands of years. The sphinx is one of Egypt's most famous and puzzling constructions.

It has a length of 73 metres, height 20 metres. Stone analyses reveal that it was built in BC 2500 during the reign of the Giza pharaohs. It was probably built by the same men who built the pyramids, according to Egyptologists. Today we know much about the most famous sculpture in Egypt, but the sphinx is still a mystery, Egyptologists still discuss if it is a representation of Pharaoh Cheops or his son Chephren. During many years Chephren was (and still is) the best option, the sphinx is located in front of his pyramid. The sphinx is to the left of the road leading up to Chephren's temple. The sphinx seems to be part of Chephren's valley complex.

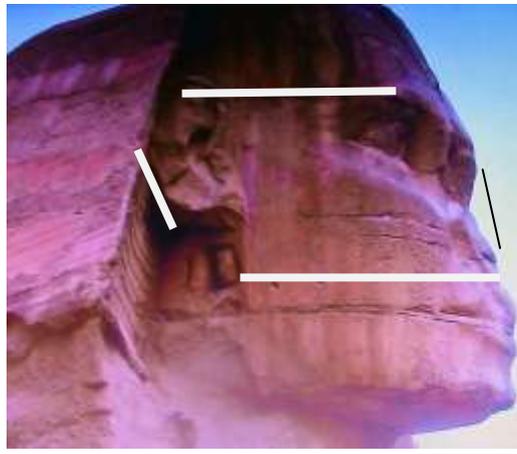

There are only two options: Cheops or Chephren. Egyptologist Vassil Dobrev does not agree. When you arrive from Cairo in the east, the sphinx is in front of Cheops's pyramid, so it should be a representation of him. But Egyptians in those days came from the south, from Sakkara, 20 kilometres away. Then you see the profile of the sphinx and behind it is the Cheops pyramid, which makes the sphinx part of the pyramid. Dobrev believes that sphinx has something in common with Chephren and refers to the photogrammetry pictures.

Photogrammetry shows the position of the sphinx compared with the Chephren pyramid. It is evident that the road to the pyramid leads around the sphinx. 'This picture confirms my theory', he says. When Chephren built his road for processions, the sphinx was already there, and they had to pass south of it. Chephren's pyramid was built after Cheops's pyramid. The road encircles the sphinx, which suggests that the sphinx was built before Chephren, it is connected to Cheops.

Readers ask the question if there are more clues which can finally prove that the sphinx depicts Cheops. Yes, there are, so-called anthropological analogies.

If we compare the profiles of Cheops and the sphinx, we notice a curve of the nose in proportion to the eye. We can see this despite the fact that the nose of the sphinx is damaged. If we look at the ear, we can see that it, too, becomes part of the total picture: the curve of the ears and the ears compared to the nose. An important explanation to why the Lion is associated with the Sun. Cheops was also called the Sun Deity and he was associated with two animals. The Lion was the most important part of a human-like body. Everything points to the fact that the sphinx is a representation of Cheops.

After Cheops's death, his son Djedefre became the new pharaoh, and it was he who started to build the sphinx at Giza in memory of his father. The construction was interrupted because of a frightful incident.

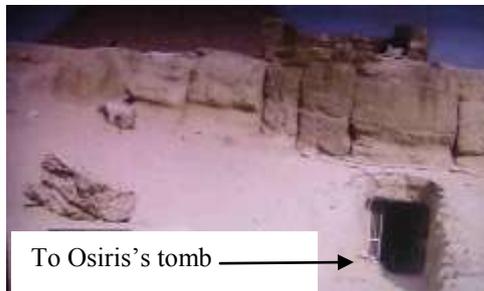

Chephren and the Falcon Deity Horus. The picture above shows the Falcon Horus on the back behind Chephren's head. In those days, Falcon Deity Horus dominated in Egypt. When Cheops's third son Chephren became the pharaoh, he finished the construction of the sphinx. Thus, the sphinx is a family issue.

Giza Writing Board (also called the Giza Kinglist) Osiris's tomb

On the list of buried kings at Giza there are kings such as Osiris, Horus, and Geb. In the tunnel behind the sphinx is the tomb of Osiris which was excavated 20 years ago. It is called pir wasir nib rastaw, which means Osiris's house and Deity of the underground tunnel.

Osiris the King of the Underworld. His name means immortality, he is the most important deity of the Kingdom of Death.

His tomb is divided into three levels. It is an archaeological mystery at Giza. It was excavated towards the end of the 20th century, forty metres below the surface of the Earth.

From the start, this was filled with water.
First floor, first level

This is the second floor.

Third level, the floor is filled with water.

Osiris's coffin under water

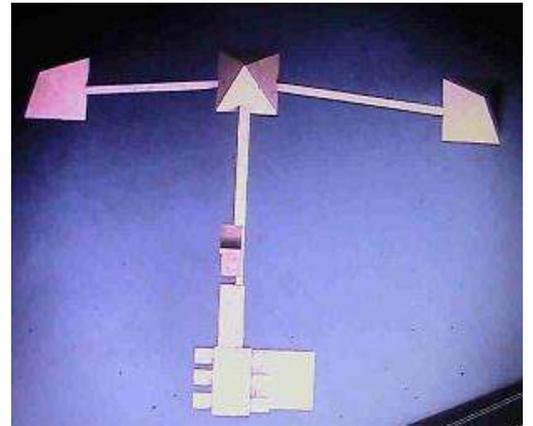

The sarcophagus

Here we can also find Horus's sarcophagus, in addition to that of Osiris.

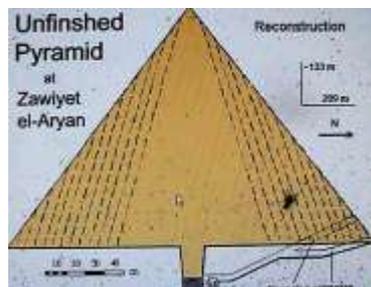

An important question: How did Cheops know that Osiris's tomb could be found at the Giza plateau? He built his pyramid immediately behind this tomb. Then Djedfre started to build the sphinx close to Osiris's tomb.

The sphinx is connected to the pyramids. Chephren's pyramid is straight and connected to the sphinx via an underground tunnel, where we can find Osiris's tomb. We notice that Osiris's tomb is at the centre of events. More info at Industry, Conquering Space III, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 126 - 128.

Who succeeded Chephren after his death? Information varies. Cheops's second son Djedfre had two sons: Baka and Setka. Pharaoh Baka reigned around BC 2530, Dynasty 4. There is little information on him.

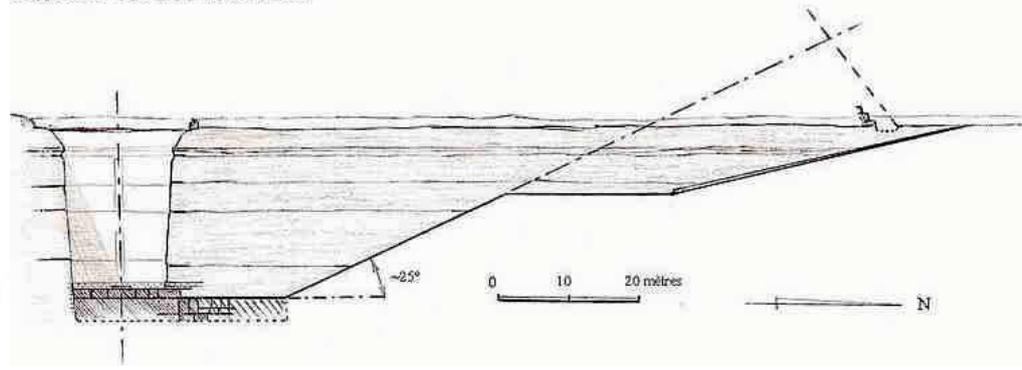

Pharaoh Baka and his pyramid at Zawiyet el-Aryan, 10 kilometres south of Cairo.

Pharaoh Baka was Pharaoh Djedefre's son. He built his pyramid at Zawyet el-Aryan near Cairo. One question to ask is why he built his pyramid at Zawyet el-Aryan, where earlier on Pharaoh Khaba had built his.

Baka's name: cartouche

Egyptologists have recreated Baka's pyramid. At the centre of the picture we can see Baka's sarcophagus. The ruin is located in a deep cavity.

Pharaoh Baka and his pyramid at Zawyet el-Aryan, ten kilometres south of Cairo. The sepulchre is below the pyramid, similar to the arrangements surrounding Djedefre. According to the reconstruction its height was 133 metres, its base 209 metres and its gradient 52 degrees. He reigned for between 8 and 22 years.

The question is why his pyramid, too, was destroyed. Who had a vested interest motivating Pharaoh Baka's failure with the secret blood project? There are important questions waiting for answers

The next pharaoh was Menkaure, a cousin of Pharaoh Baka. Dynasty 4, around BC 2510.

Pharaoh Menkaure and his pyramid, also known as Pyramid of Mykerinus. Menkaure was a mysterious person who secretly reigned at the centre of events. As early as in Cheops's days, the court experienced a dark period. A group consisting of a few individuals behaved strangely at the court. Destruction, vandalism, even murders frequently occurred in obscurity. Someone must have known about the secrets surrounding the blood transformation project and tried to sabotage it. It must have been a member of Cheops's family. Menkaure, whose origins we know nothing about, fits the description.

Kawab probably had three sons and one of them, Duaenhor, was his father's favourite. He held the titles King's son of his body and Companion of his father. Duaenhor means 'praising Horus.' He died and was buried at Giza, Mastaba G 7550. He was really declared dead and lived on with a different name. His family knew nothing about this. Is there any clue which can confirm this?

Giza, Mastaba G 7550. The temple of Mastaba was supposed to house his family, but instead of his family there was a number of butchers at work. In the tomb there is a fake door. This might mean that someone else was put into the coffin, which was empty. A fake door can also tell us that no Duaenhor was laid to rest at Mastaba G 7550. There are many ways to organise an embalming in secrecy in order to hide the identity of the corpse.

After many years, Duaenhor appeared at court with a different name, Menkaure, and he managed to join the Chephren family. (Menkaure was probably a hybrid. He was an excellent communicator and mastered several languages. He could adapt to both the male and female role, here he was outstanding).

Pharaoh Chephren had many children, sons and daughters, with different women. The source does not mention when the children were born, nor when they died. Sources also suggest that Menkaure was the pharaoh who succeeded Chephren. He became a member of Chephren's family, but he still lived in obscurity. Egyptologists also state that he was different. As far as I understand, he was reincarnation of, among others Inanna. In Egyptian history of religions he is called Deity Uraeus/Cobra.

 Giza

It was Mykerinus/Menkaure who built the third pyramid at Giza. After that things slowed down. We get the impression that nobody was in charge, that they were short of money. The whole process was idling they are beginning to fold up, say the Egyptologists. There are four chambers inside the Pyramid of Mykerinus.

Chamber 1

Chamber 4

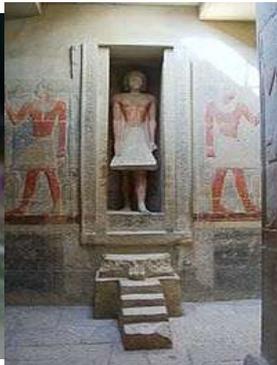

The 3D pictures confirm that the Mykerinus system of tombs has nothing in common with neither Cheops's nor Chephren's models. It is very advanced. Thanks to photogrammetry we get a good overview. But one mystery concerning Mykerinus's system is that no sarcophagus has been found, despite the fact that preparations have been made.

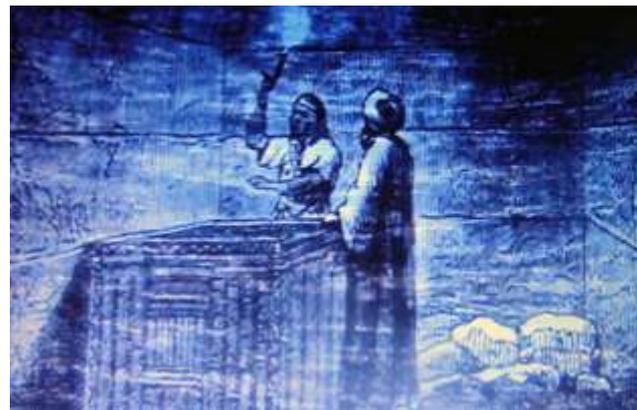

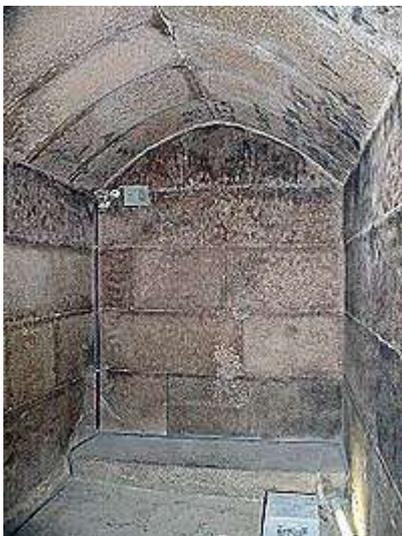

We can study the different rooms, which are far apart.

Back to Chamber 4, Menkaure's sepulchre according to Egyptologists. If we take a look at the ceiling we can see a text and above it there is a serpent looking down at the text. The Serpent Deity is Uraeus/Cobra, a reincarnation of Inanna.

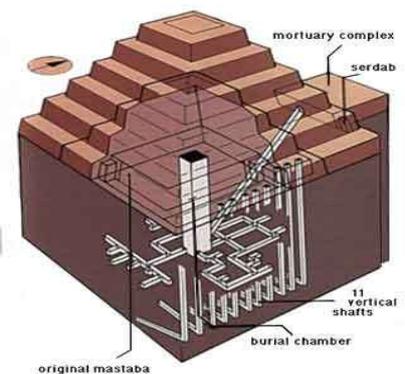

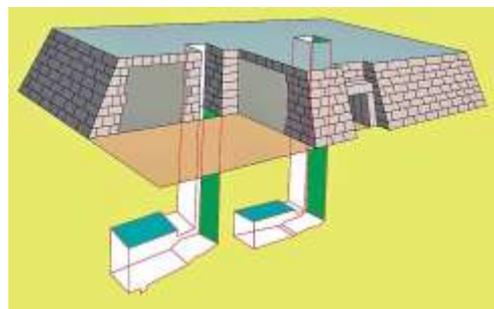

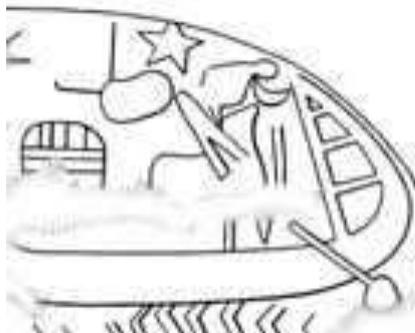

In this sepulchre there is a fake door through which Pharaoh Menkaure appears, saying: 'I have done my duty, here come the consequences.'

But when explorers arrived here in 19th century, there was a sarcophagus here. It was found in the 19th century and he who found it decided to secretly take it to England. Unfortunately, the ship sank and the sarcophagus disappeared into the Mediterranean Sea. Before it disappeared, it had been opened. It was empty.

Let's return to Menkaure and analyse his words 'I have done my duty.'

In those days, around 1,000 years between Dynasty 0 and Dynasty 4, the world's most secret research was in full swing. It was about transforming animal blood into human blood. From the start Mastaba housed a research institute and laboratories connected to burial grounds from Dynasty 0 to Dynasty 3. From Djoser to Dynasty 4 there were pyramids. The goal in this context was to transform ABRh- blood to ORh+ and was connected to the contemporary pharaoh. This process was very difficult to carry out, but if you knew the code it was easier. The issue was most popular during Cheops's reign. Then some individuals in secret group sabotaged the process, they disturbed Cheops's blood project. One example is that Crown Prince Kawab was killed. There were rumours in court families that Cheops might possess the necessary process code. As everything was secret, at least one in the family must have known the code. He who knew was Menkaure, strong clues point to him. He probably killed Kawab. My point of view is that he probably opposed all the members of the Cheops family and wanted to stop Cheops from being a human being again. Simultaneously, neutron star AN (Nemesis) had already appeared in the solar system and the result of the blood transformation would come out. Djedefre chose the Abu Rawash area because of earthquakes on the hill, his pyramid was safer on the mountain. Blood transformation was an important issue. Each time a pharaoh carried out the process in his specially designed pyramid, the whole process was carefully investigated and in then adjusted for the next pharaoh. That was why each pyramid was exclusively built for the current pharaoh, assisted by extra-terrestrials. The group of assistants who supported Cheops, among others, came from the Pleiades. Earlier, I asked why Djedefre's pyramid at Abu Rawash was allowed to become a ruin. Neutron star AN was supposed to be behind an earthquake in Cairo. The Giza Plateau pyramids were also damaged, as were the pyramids at Abu Rawash, Sakkara, Zawyet el Aryan, Meidum and Dashur. A powerful earthquake destroys almost all buildings in the actual area. Who destroyed the pyramid at Abu Rawash, Queen Hetepheres I's pyramid at Giza, Sekhemkhet's pyramid at Sakkara and Khaba's and Baka's pyramid at Zawyet el Aryan? – Here we only have Menkaure and his extra-terrestrials from planet Venus. Pharaoh Cheops was a reincarnation of, among others, Samyaza, Marduk, Noah/Lamech and Khonsu, while Menkaure/Mykerinus was a reincarnation of Inanna. Kawab, Cheops's son, was a reincarnation of, among others, Enki and Djoser. We often say that history repeats itself. Before the global flood in Sumer, Inanna was against Samyaza and Lammech/Noah because high-level knowledge would be implemented on our Earth as well. It was probably a UFO from Menkaure/Inanna's group which destroyed the above-mentioned pyramids by starting an artificial earthquake. More info at Industry, Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 147-150.

I read in a magazine that the majority of pharaohs in Egypt belonged to blood type ARh-. If individuals from the Cheops family had succeeded with the blood transformation, they would have helped others with blood group A, B and AB. More info at Industry, The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 1 - 13.

Menkaure and his pyramid are mysteries. The pyramid was a state-of-the-art powerplant/laboratory. He probably got his equipment from the pyramids of Cheops, Djedefre and Baka. He could use their equipment, he did not belong to the same type of blood. Menkaure was the actual sly Serpent. He did not take part in the blood transformation process, he used another individual for that. We will never know the name of that person, only Menkaure knew. He was not sure that the process would succeed despite the fact that he knew the secret. But it seems as if Cheops and his family knew even more about it.

When time was ripe, Menkaure left the Earth in a UFO. Did he go to the Moon or Venus?

Menkaure was familiar with the blood transformation process, he had earlier on carried out a number of processes, one example is as Inanna on the Moon. The Apollo 20 astronauts Rutledge and Leonov found her, called EBE Mona Lisa, inside a pyramid or triangular spacecraft/UFO. The astronauts found her well-kept body which seemed to have been subject to some kind of biological process, similar to the blood transformation process. On her face was material in the form of a double triangle. The body was both alive and biologically dead, which indicates some kind of biological process. More info at Industry, Conquering Space III, Ultimate Time and Goal, page 78, the story about EBE Mona Lisa/Inanna.

Before Menkaure left Giza, he chose his successor, Shepseskaf, in a chaotic period. He banned him from building more pyramids. The new pharaoh created Mastaba.

The new pharaoh's name was Shepseskaf and according to sources he was Menkaure's son. He must have been adopted since a hybrid cannot beget children even if several women are near him. Anyway, he became the new pharaoh. He built Mastaba at Sakkara.

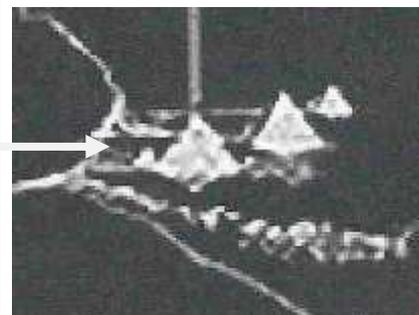

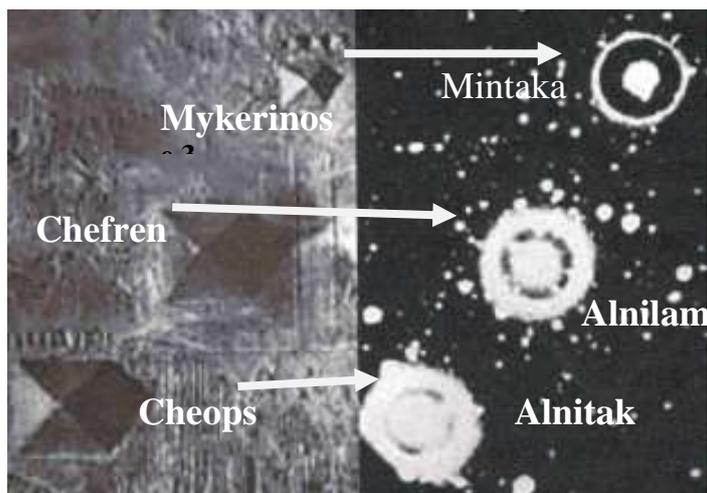

According to Menkaure's will, his successor Shepseskaf (Dynasty 4) stopped building pyramids. The last real pyramid built as powerplant and laboratory was in fact Menkaure's pyramid. Pharaoh Shepseskaf dealt with the burial ground Mastaba. The blood transformation process was finished, stopped by Serpent Menkaure.

We do not know much about this Shepseskaf and his reign. But sources suggest that his reign was short, turbulent and unpleasant. After Shepseskaf's death there was even worse turbulence, chaos and disagreement in the Royal Palace. Some sources state that Thamphthis became a new pharaoh, but not for a long period of time. Maybe he was murdered.

We do not know who he actually was. Who were his biological parents and how did he become pharaoh? We do not know. Even his origin is obscure.

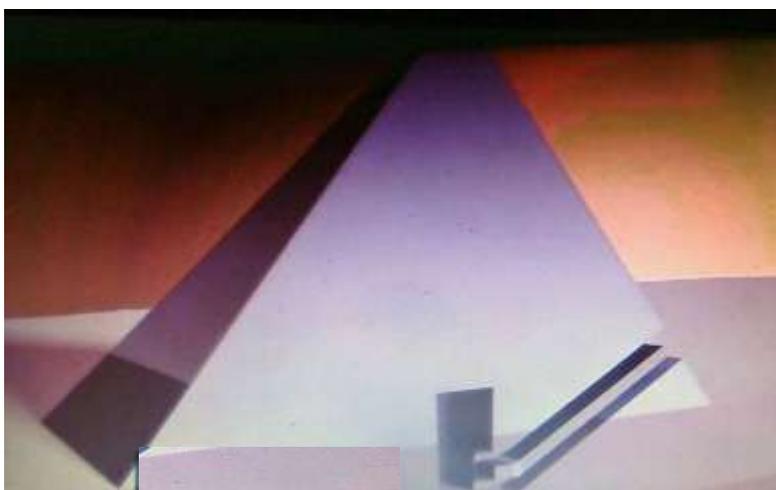

Blood Transformation Assistance Provided by Extra-terrestrials Dynasty 3 and Dynasty 4

The Belt of Orion reflects the Giza Plateau and the pyramids. Extra-terrestrials. Contacts with them far beyond the Earth.

Extra-terrestrials took part in pyramid construction at the Giza Plateau. Levitation technology was used to transport and lift heavy stone blocks.

When, in 2000, they explored Abu Rawash, Egyptologist Michel Valloggias estimated an entrance gradient of 27 degrees. This is a symbolic number for Egyptians. A 27-degree gradient points to the North Star, a circumpolar star which is always visible. The dead king wished to be connected to the North Star, according to the team. Extra-terrestrials, too, were involved.

Userkaf and his new royal crown, Dynasty 5, around BC 2504/2454 – 2347/2297.

This is a Userkaf statue depicting the fact that he, during Dynasty 5, introduced a new type of crown. This crown can support Manetho's notes that Userkaf came from Elephantine in the south and that he had nothing to do with Dynasty 4. He must have been a very, very rich man. He entered the Royal Palace and, via bribes and murder, he became pharaoh and the most powerful man of the dynasty. He started to build a pyramid and a Sun Temple. His Bull soul was powerful, a soul of Osiris. The soul of the Death Deity.

Sakkara

Userkaf's predecessor Shepseskaf abolished the building of pyramids, but the new pharaoh did exactly the opposite, he built the smallest pyramid at Sakkara, where Pharaoh Djoser during Dynasty 3 built the first really large pyramid. We can ask ourselves what happened to the Secret Doctrine and its instructions concerning pyramid construction in connection with blood transformation. The pictures above confirm that Userkaf finished the pyramid. It seems as if Userkaf did not heed Menkaure's instructions in his will. He even built a Sun Temple for himself. We know that Cheops the Lion was called The Sun, the Lion is a symbol of the Sun. His son Djedefre called himself Son of the Sun Deity. A pharaoh was also called God.

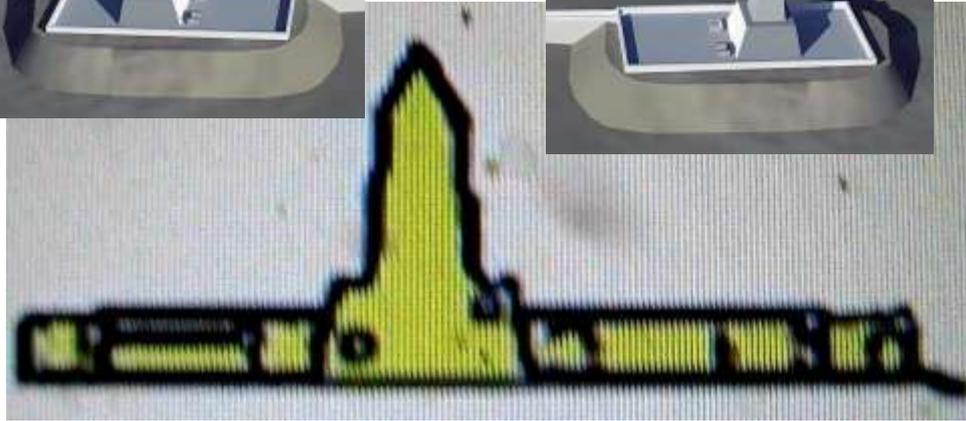

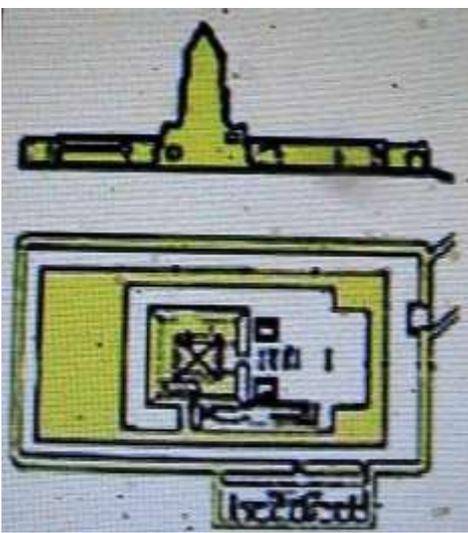

Pharaoh Userkaf, founder of Dynasty 5. Reconstructions point out that his Sakkara pyramid was a complex. The pyramid looks modern, a powerplant, a laboratory and a research institute.

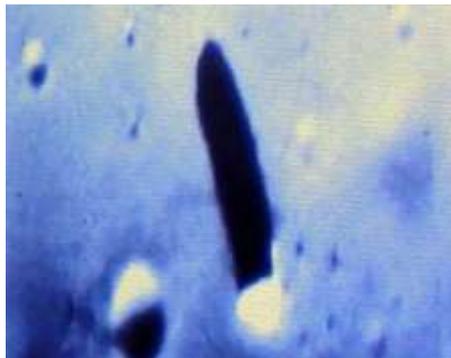

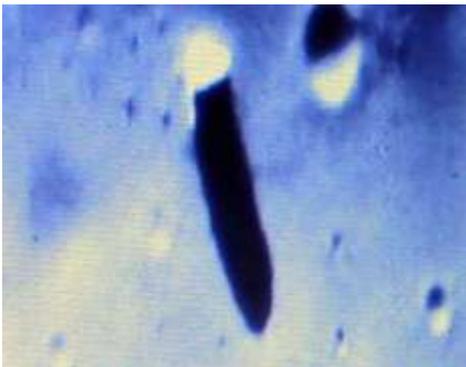

A reconstruction of the ruins of Userkaf's pyramid. The sepulchre is located inside the Sakkara pyramid.

A reconstruction of Userkaf's Sun Temple at Abusir, Temple and Obelisk. It was probably Userkaf who built the first obelisk. It is a symbol of the male genitals, the testicles, in one of them is our Universe. If we study his pyramid and obelisk, we notice that Pharaoh Userkaf was not anybody, he was a reincarnation of, among others Gilgamesh from Sumer and the Kingdom of Death Deity, Osiris. He knew exactly what he wanted to achieve, and he also knew the absolute secrets of Dynasty 3 and 4. The obelisk is a symbol of masculinity, of propagation, he wanted to become the Son of the Cosmic Father. Then you need to be a human being and he probably underwent the blood transformation process when dying. He was, of course, assisted by extra-terrestrials, the group which supported and helped Osiris and his family in Egypt.

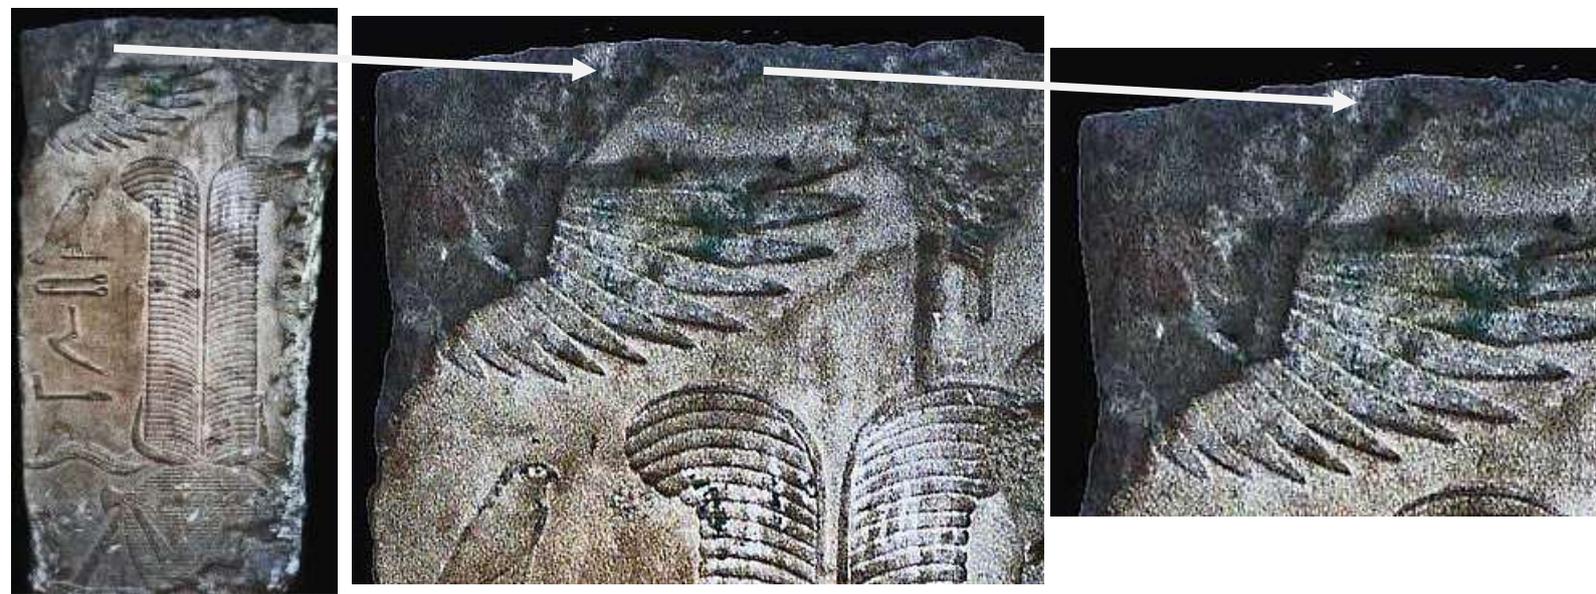

We know that Sun Temples served as centres for knowledge/science and other important issues. Their religion was a pro-knowledge movement, see Osiris's Temple and Pyramid above. I understand that the combination sun temple/obelisk was a development of laboratory and research in a context of blood transformation from animal to human blood.

NASA 1998. The Mars Global Surveyor takes photos of what seems to be a monolith/obelisk at Phobos, one of the moons orbiting Mars. At Phobos there is an interesting obelisk/monolith, called the Phobos monolith. To Buzz Aldrin, astronaut, Apollo 11, it was an important phenomenon, he said it was artificial. Is it really possible there is an obelisk at Phobos? (Remember that during the third flight to Mars in 1978 with Columbus 3, the crew discovered the obelisk when they passed Phobos and took the photo. Aldrin is convinced it is artificial, which is his right). Could the Userkaf obelisk in some way be connected to the Phobos obelisk. It might be possible via extra-terrestrials. More info at Industry, Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 132-135.

The contacts between Userkaf's obelisk, the Earth, and the Phobos obelisk orbiting planet Mars might lead us to the conclusion that the extra-terrestrials also assisted in Userkaf's blood project – a matter of life and death. As far as I know, his blood project collapsed.

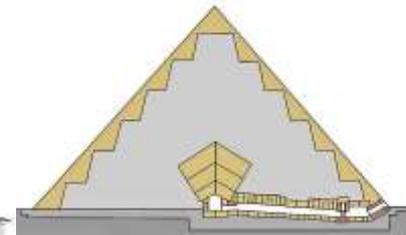

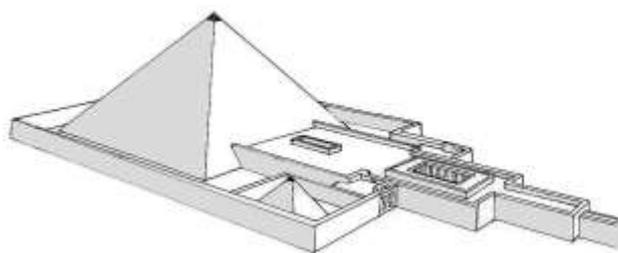

Userkaf, as I have already mentioned, built the first obelisk which is a symbol of our Cosmic Father. Userkaf/Osiris also wanted to be his son. In those days they did not think about the Kingdom of Death and its ruler.

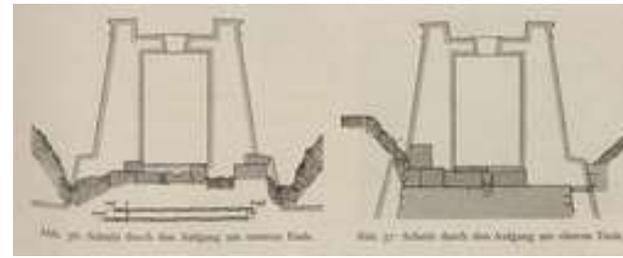

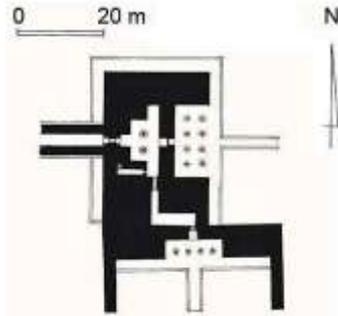

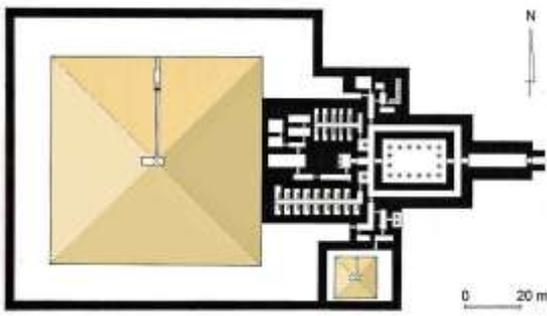

Userkaf's relic. In the pictures above we can see a flying eagle at the top. The eagle was probably one of Userkaf's emblems, not the Bull. Now Userkaf's eagle challenges the Falcon Deity Horus/Atum, who at that time was the highest-ranking Deity in Egypt. His reign lasted about 10 years..

Pharaoh Sahura, son of Userkaf, Dynasty 5, reigned between BC 2490 – 2475, around 15 years. He built his pyramid at Abusir. He took over the secret blood transformation doctrine from his father. He was number two of Dynasty 5 to undergo the blood project.

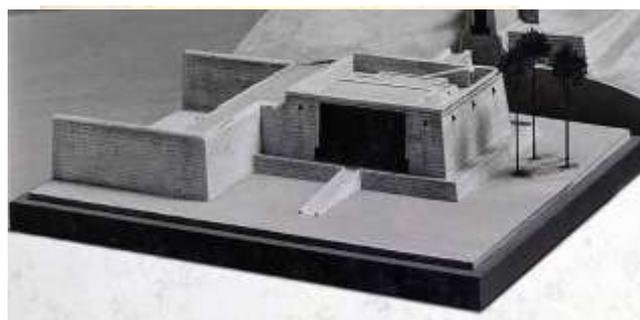

Pharaoh Sahura's pyramid at Abusir, around 10 kilometres south of Cairo. Base: 78.78 metres, height 47 metres, gradient 50 degrees. He built a pyramid complex. His sepulchre was inside the pyramid, as was his father's. His pyramid was reconstructed, see pictures above. Today, it is a ruin. His sarcophagus was never found.

Pharaoh Neferirkare Kakai was Pharaoh Sahura's son, the third Dynasty 5 pharaoh. He built his step pyramid at Abusir, as did his father. He ruled for about 10 – 20 years.

Pharaoh Neferirkara Kakai's step pyramid at Abusir. Reconstruction and blueprints tell us that the pyramid was an active scientific powerplant serving objects such as laboratories. Pharaoh Neferirkara Kakai was the first pharaoh of Dynasty 5 who built a step pyramid at Abusir south of Cairo.

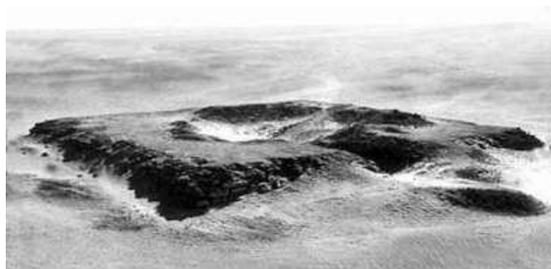

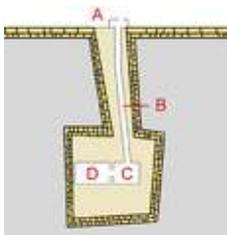

Pharaoh Neferirkara Kakai's temple at Abusir without the obelisk. He, too, was an active pharaoh.

Pharaoh Neferefre, Neferirkara Kakai's son. His reign was short, around two years. He built his step pyramid at Abusir. He managed to accomplish the very first step. He probably died during the construction of the pyramid. Was he murdered?

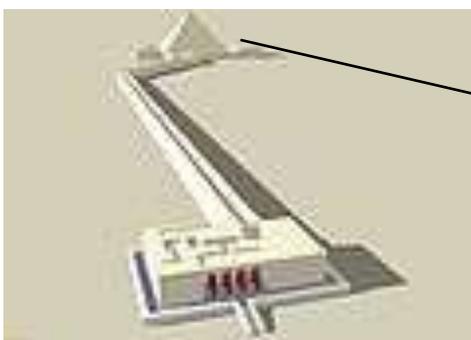

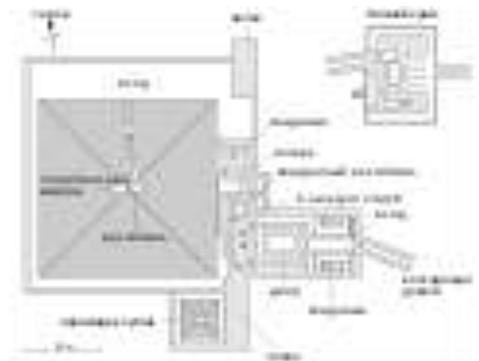

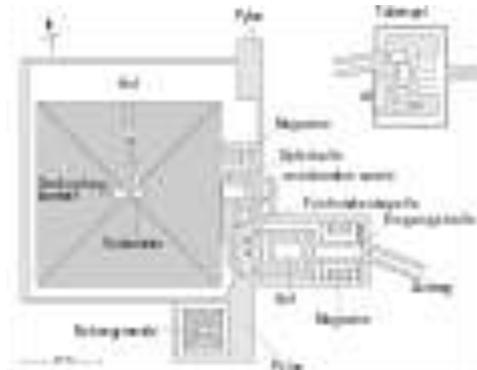

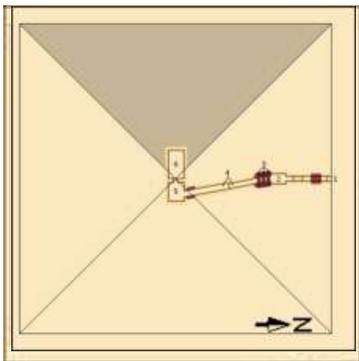

Pharaoh Neferefre's pyramid had a height of 7 metres and its base was 78 metres. The sepulchre, where he was buried, is below the pyramid, his sarcophagus has not been found. There is not much information of him. He died early and fast.

Pharaoh Nyuserre, probably Pharaoh Neferirkara Kakai's son, reigned for about 25 – 35 years BC. He built his pyramid at Abusir. According to the source, his reign was long, and he had time to build a pyramid complex and a sun temple at Abu Gurab. He reigned between BC 2445 and 2422.

Pharaoh Nyuserre's pyramid at Abusir. Base 79 metres, height 52 metres, gradient 51 degrees. His pyramid is located next to that of his father's. His sepulchre is just below the pyramid. He was a Dynasty 5 pharaoh, around BC 2420 – 2389.

Pharaoh Nyuserre's sun temple and obelisk at Abu Garab. He was the second pharaoh of Dynasty 5 to build a sun temple and an obelisk. He modernised and developed Userkaf's sun temple in the blood transformation context. Large pyramids were from now not necessary for the process.

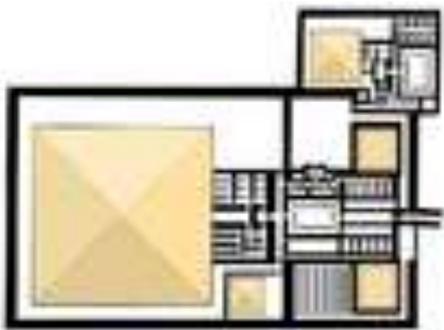

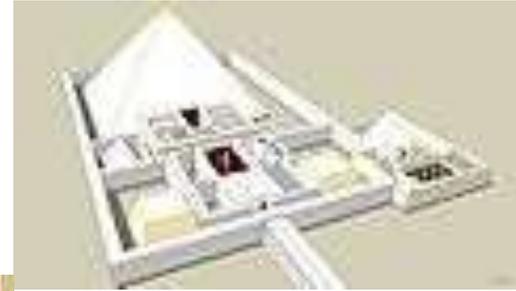

Pharaoh Nyuserre's temple. His ambition and drive make us understand that he had much in common with Pharaoh Userkaf when it came to knowledge. The so-called Secret Doctrine was only applicable in a family environment. I believe he, too, underwent the blood project, assisted by the extra-terrestrials.

Pharaoh Djedkare, probably Menkauhor's or Pharaoh Nyuserre's son. He ruled for about 30 years during Dynasty 5, BC 2414 – 2375.

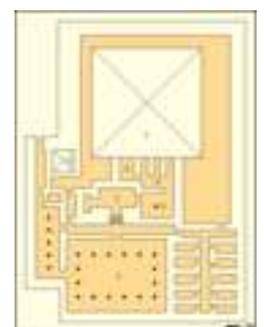

Pharaoh Djedkare built his pyramid complex at Sakkara, Base 79 metres, height 52 metres, gradient 52 degrees.

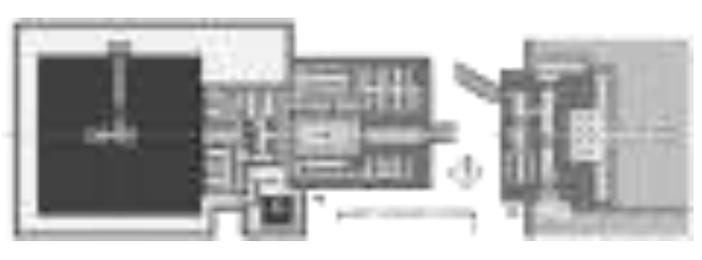

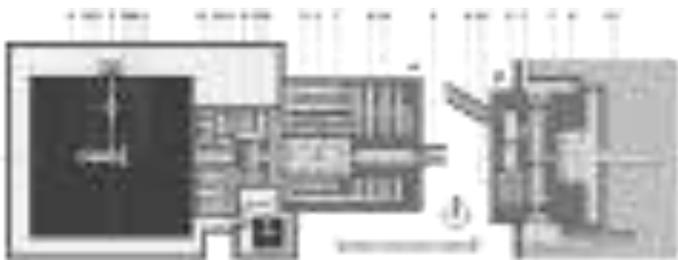

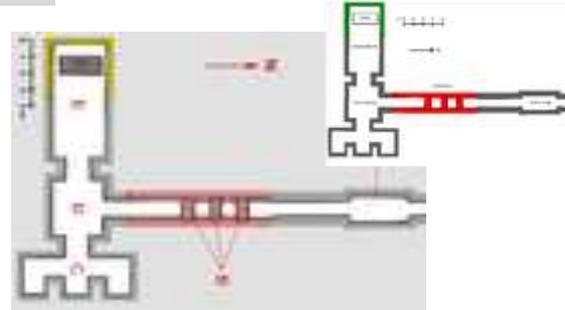

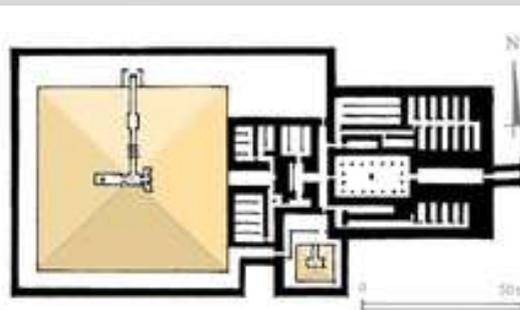

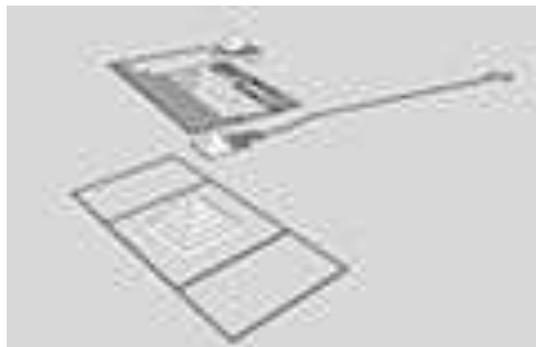

Pharaoh Djedkare also built temples, he was very active. He spread good rumours about Osiris and launched the Osiris cult in Egypt.

King Djedkara was followed by his son Unas.

Pharaoh Unas was the last Dynasty 5 pharaoh, around BC 2375 – 2345. He was probably Pharaoh Djedkare’s son. He built his pyramid at northern Sakkara.

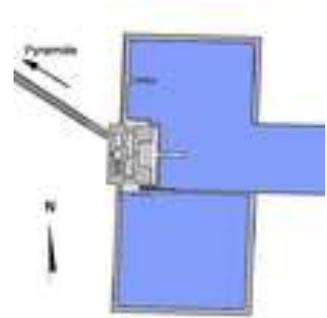

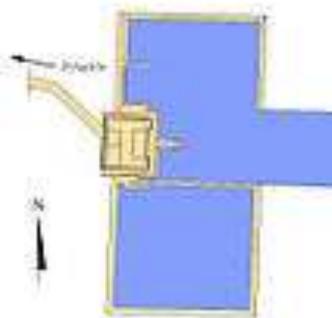

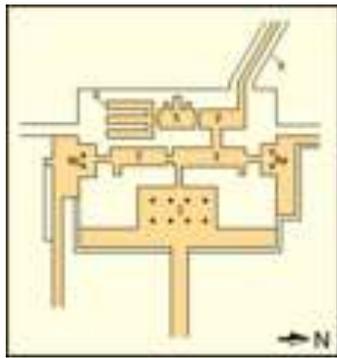

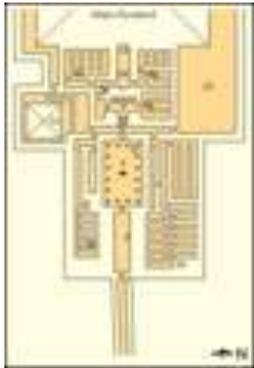

Pharaoh Unas’s pyramid complex at Sakkara. Base 58 metres, height 43 metres , gradient 53 degrees. This was probably the last real powerplant which was used for a scientific laboratory and test facility for the blood process. He ruled during 15 – 30 years. His pyramid was the smallest one. Unas was one of the two pharaohs who were close to Osiris. He supported Osiris and Ra: Userkaf – Nyuserre – Unas.

Unas’s two sons died before him. He had a number of daughters but no male heir.

Pharaoh Unas's sepulchre. His sarcophagus was empty when found.

Unas's Solar ship

Pharaoh Unas's pyramid temple at Sakkara. He closed Dynasty 5 with a high level of technology and knowledge surrounding the blood process, but it failed. Each pharaoh who carried out the process underwent a thorough examination and analysis by extra-terrestrials. That why Osiris's group, too, possessed a high level of knowledge about the blood transformation from animal into human blood. A summary reveals that Dynasty 5, secretly, was part of the world's greatest biological project around 4.500 years ago. I should add that data and sources of information regarding Dynasty 5 vary in this context.

Unas's Solar ship

Remarkable things happen during Dynasty 6. Pharaoh Teti was murdered by his son Userkare and the great secret is revealed and becomes public. The Old Kingdom starts to crumble, as does the blood transformation process.

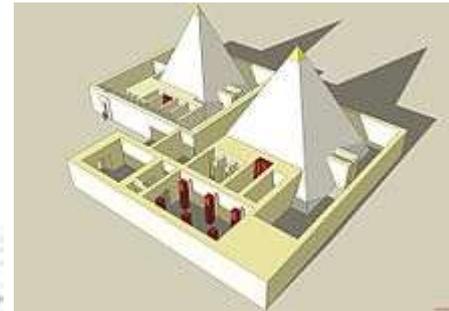

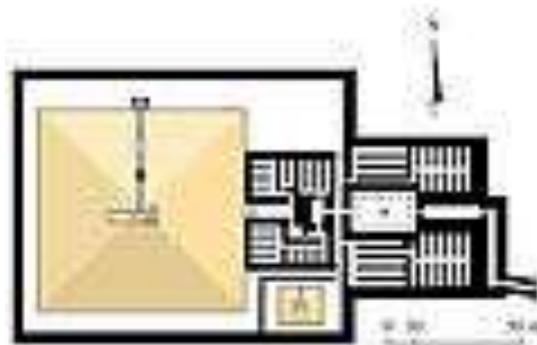

Pharaoh Teti, founder of Dynasty 6. Teti married Pharaoh Unas's daughter Iput 1.

Teti grabbed the power by marrying the daughter of Unas, the pharaoh of Dynasty 5. His parents were probably Shepsipuptah (father) and Sesheshet (mother). It is possible he had a brother called Mehu. Besides Iput, Teti had at least two more wives, Chuit and Chentkaus III. There are rumours that one of the two might have been Userkara's mother.

After Teti's death, Iput also became Pharaoh Pepi I's wife. Teti also had three daughters, whose mothers are anonymous: Sesheshet Watetchethor was married to Vizier Mereruka, Inti and Nebtinubkhet Sesheshet was married to Vizier Kagemni.

His Horus name 'Both countries are satisfied' implies that he managed to consolidate the realm.

Pharaoh Teti built his pyramid complex in northern Sakkara. Base: 79 metres, height 52.5 metres, gradient 53 degrees. Reign: BC 2323 – 2291. It seems as if the blood project was passed on by Unas's daughter Iput, Teti was introduced to the secret. His pyramid complex tells us that he knew what was at stake and devoted his time for it during his reign.

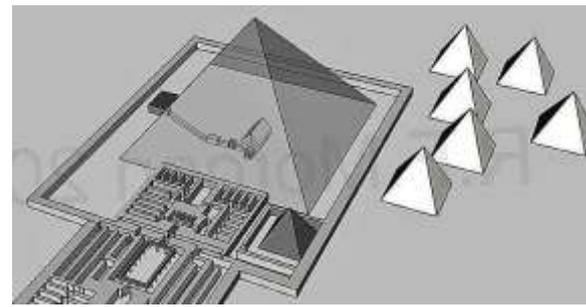

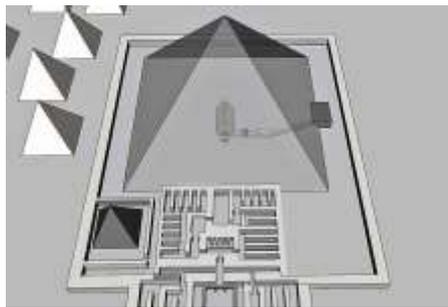

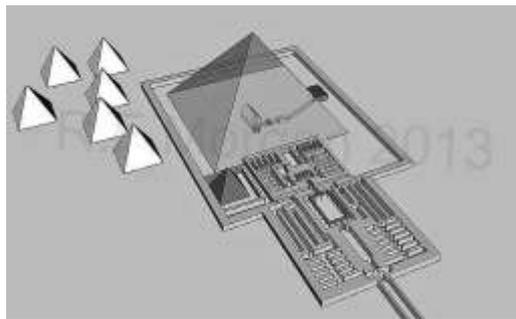

Pharaoh Teti's sepulchre is there, it was empty when found. He was buried in this sepulchre after he was murdered.

Reign: Teti's highest date is his Year after the 6th Count 3rd Month of Summer day lost (Year 12 if the count was biannual). This may be possible because the number of viziers who surrounded him was large: Kagemni, Mereruka, Chnumneti, Nefersekhemre, Nefersekhemptah, Ankhmahor and Chentikai. During Teti's reign, high officials were beginning to build funerary monuments that rivalled that of the pharaoh. In other words: The secret of the blood project was leaked outside the court and other rich officials started to build their sepulchre pyramids. Something happened to Teti when the most secret issue landed beyond the family and the court.

According to Manetho, Teti was killed by his bodyguards in a conspiracy probably instigated by his successor Userkara, who managed to ascend to the throne. Teti's legitimate successor, Pepi I, did not ascend to the throne until Userkara had been removed. Teti was buried in his pyramid at Sakkara. The secret blood project was leaked by Userkara who started to destroy the project, it was not a secret anymore. Userkara was, Teti had many wives, see above.

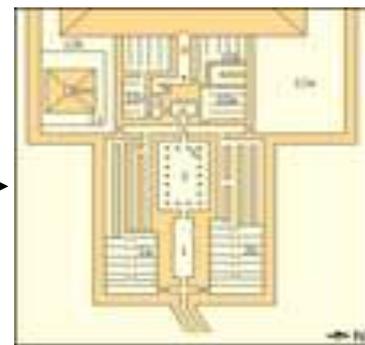

Pharaoh Pepi I, son of Pharaoh Teti's, BC 2332 – 2283. He built his pyramid complex at southern Sakkara.

Pharaoh Pepi I's pyramid complex at Sakkara. Base 78.78 metres, height 52.5 metres, gradient 53 degrees. Pepi I was buried in the sepulchre.

Pharaoh Pepi I. During the reign of Pepi I, his influence increased in Nubia, trade with Lebanon and other far-away places developed. The Nobility of the country became more powerful and became wealthier at the king's expense. This resulted in the fact that their influence started to negatively affect the state which finally collapsed, which led to the First Intermediate Period. Maybe the Nobility helped Pepi I to defeat Userkara and were rewarded by continued influence. It seems as if Userkara's patricide and the revelation of the secret blood project strongly influenced the financial situation. Userkara was probably the family's black sheep. His aim was to stop the blood project and the construction of new pyramids.

The question is whether he could carry out his personal blood project at that turbulent time. The pyramid was finished, the secret was no more and many outside the court knew this.

Pharaoh Merenre I was Pepi I's son, around BC 2283 – 2278. He built his pyramid complex at southern Sakkara.

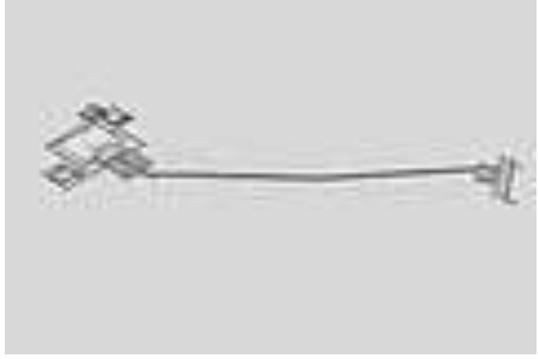

Pharaoh Merenre I built his pyramid complex at southern Sakkara. Base 78.6 metres, height 52.6 metres, gradient 57 degrees.

Pharaoh Merenre I was buried in the sepulchre of his pyramid. When the pyramid was initially explored in the 19th century, well-preserved mummy was found next to the violated and plundered sarcophagus. During transport to Cairo, it was broken into two pieces, then stored and forgotten. After World War II it had disappeared, no further investigation could be carried out.

Pharaoh Pepi II was probably Pharaoh Merenre's son, around BC 2278 – 2184. He built his pyramid at southern Sakkara.

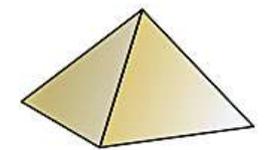

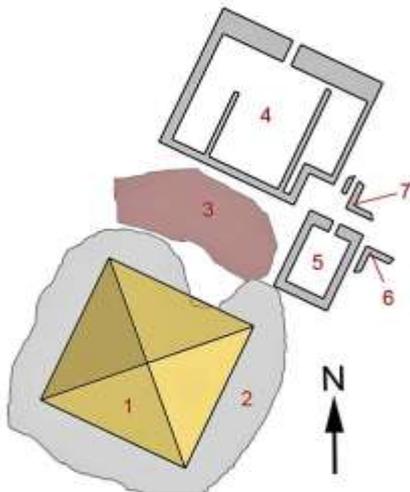

Pharaoh Pepi II built his pyramid complex in southern Sakkara. Base 78.5 metres, height 52.5, gradient 53 degrees.

During his long reign many expeditions were launched to many other countries, among them Nubia, Punt and Jam. Towards the end of his reign, when he was probably very old, 94 years, most of these contacts were abolished, a sign that the central power of the state was getting paralysed. This gradually led to the collapse of the Old Kingdom, only decades after the death of Pepi II. He was buried in his pyramid (the goal for Neferkara was eternal life) at Sakkara. Pepi II was the last pharaoh to build a pyramid for the blood project. The project was secretly and continually updated during Dynasty 5. Pharaoh Unas, the last pharaoh of Dynasty 5, had no successor to the throne and terminated the family dynasty. But activities continued via the daughter Iput I, when she married Teti. An anonymous family entered the centre of events during Dynasty 6 and the secrecy surrounding the blood transformation project was revealed. Then there was chaos instead of eternal life. As far as I understand there were groups among the extra-terrestrials who also disagreed. That explains the situation.

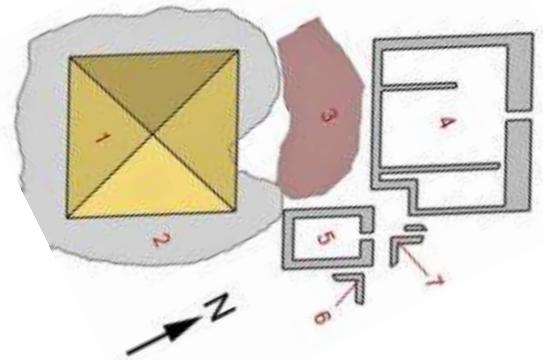

During Dynasties 8, 9, 10, 12 and 13 pyramids were built, but probably not to serve the blood project. However, it turned out that the actual idea, aim, survived as construction of pyramids. During these dynasties Neutron Star AN left the solar system and headed for a shorter orbit around the Sun. It returned during the New Kingdom. The last pharaoh to build a pyramid was Pharaoh Ahmose I, Dynasty 18 at Abydos.

The last pharaoh to build a pyramid was Pharaoh Ahmose I, the New Kingdom, founder of Dynasty 18, around BC 1539 – 1514. He was Seqenenre Tao's son, Dynasty 17.

Ahmose-Pyramide

Pharaoh Ahmose I built his pyramid at Abydos. Base 52.5 metres, height 40 metres and gradient 60 degrees. The pyramid lacks a sepulchre but there is a pyramid temple. Pharaoh Ahmose's pyramid confirms the fact that the blood transformation project that was started in the Old Kingdom had finally come to an end, the pyramid was not even used as a burial facility. Ahmose's mummy was found in 1881 at TT320, close to Deir el-Bahari. Brief summary: the blood project tests and development reached its peak in the Old Kingdom, a time when human results were important.

Pharaoh Ahmose supported the Osiris cult during his reign. The obelisk remained as a symbol of the Cosmic Father. The extra-terrestrials also supported the obelisk as a secret symbol of the Cosmic Father's world. Today there are obelisks all over the world.

The Old Kingdom saw Falcon Deity Horus as the most important God of Egypt. During his leadership new construction technology for pyramids was developed, one example is levitation. He also stimulated top scientific levels with knowledge about the blood transformation of animal blood into human blood. The involved extra-terrestrials were active during the whole project, from beginning to end.

Deity Uraeus/Cobra placed himself at the centre, between Falcon Horus and Bull Osiris. Serpent Uraeus involved himself in the negative incidents, one example is the blood transformation of the Old Kingdom, i.e. Pharaoh Menkaure's violent activities during Dynasty 4. A similar situation arose during Dynasty 6 with Pharaoh Userkare who finished the whole blood project. Serpent Uraeus appeared as a guardian of the activities of ancient Egypt. After the decay of the Old Kingdom, Osiris's star gradually became brighter until the decline of Egypt.

In the seaport Alexandria in Egypt there is a world famous speulchre which reflects the history and culture of ancient Egypt. Serpent Uraeus watches over the entrance. At the centre is Bull Deity Osiris, in front of him is a servant who is about to hang a memorial cloth around the neck of the Bull: 'You are the God of the Kingdom of Death and Resurrection.'

Osiris's tomb. His tomb is an archaeological mystery at Giza. It was not explored until the end of the 20th century, forty metres below the surface of the Earth. This is his sarcophagus. Pictures from 2019.

This was supposed to be Osiris's sarcophagus.

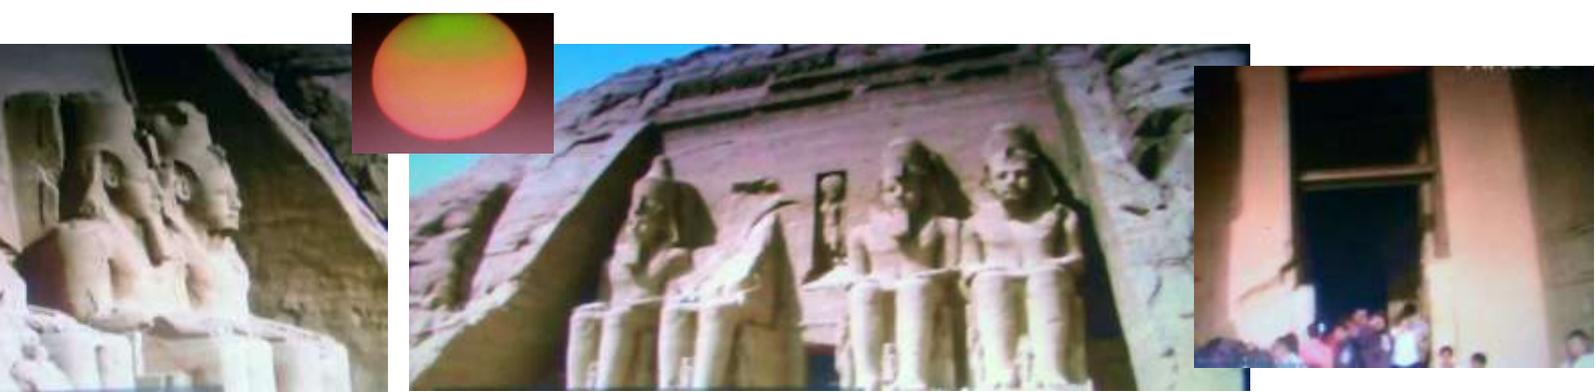

This was supposed to be Osiris's sarcophagus, his mummy and head inside.

The Giza sphinx has the body of a lion, the Sun is a symbol of the Lion. Cheops was called King of the Sun. More information above, pp 34 – 36. Cheops was a reincarnation of, among others, Lamech Jr/Noah, Khonsu and Shu. More info at Industry, Tutankhamun, the Young Lion. Cheops returned later, in Dynasty 18, named Tutankhamun.

Over to Abu Simbel which incarnates Egypt's heyday and Pharaoh Ramesses who reigned for 67 years. It is said that on Osiris's day of birth, a sharp beam of light shines into the temple, straight through the hypostyle to hit the far wall of the innermost room.

The Abu Simbel temple. When the Sun passes the open door, the light hits the innermost wall of the temple and Ramesses II glows with the beams. Again, he demonstrates his divine power, just as he did in ancient Egypt 3,000 years ago.

As far as I understand, Pharaoh Ramesses II was very clever when it came to demonstrating that he was the Deity of the Sun, not Horus, Ra or Cheops. Ramesses II was a reincarnation of, among others, Gilgamesh, Osiris and Userkaf. At that time Ramesses II was the world's richest and most powerful king. He reigned between BC 1279 and 1213.

World famous pictures from Egypt: Amun, Ramesses II, Mut

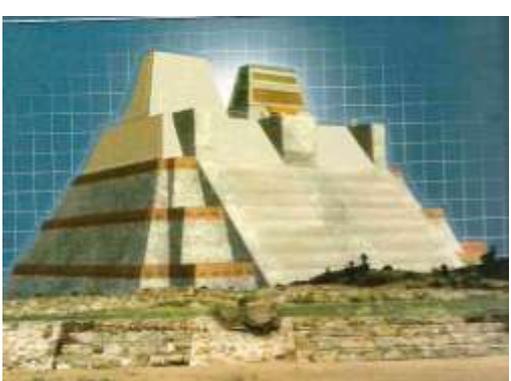

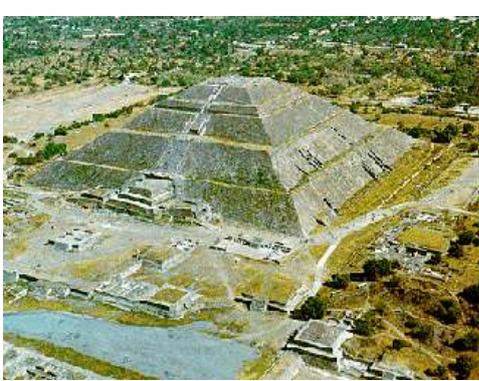

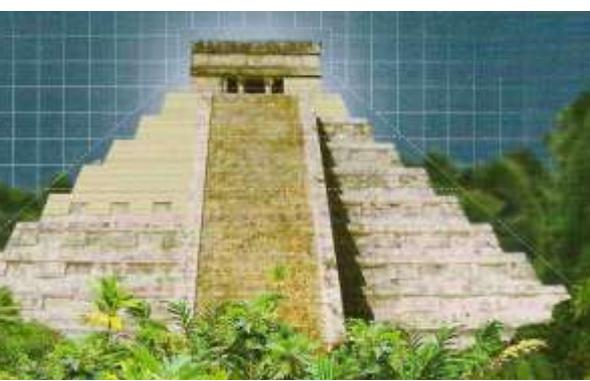

Bb

If we compare pictures A, B and Bb we can see the difference. Pict A has Tutankhamun at the centre, pict B and Bb highlight Ramesses II. He removed the little boy Tutankhamun and replaced him by himself.

According to Egyptian history and culture, almost all pharaohs wanted to be Amun's son, except for Akhenaten. This says a lot about Amun's position in ancient Egypt. – Ramesses II was an excellent builder, he also built obelisks. Some Egyptologists suggest that Ramesses II was the last great pharaoh.

It is of absolute importance to congratulate concerned Egyptologists, archaeologists, architects, historians and others, who around 200 years ago tried to recreate ancient Egypt, a formidable mission. Aided by their knowledge they highlighted ancient Egypt. I am sure most of them had had an earlier life in Egypt and were active in the Land of the Pyramids. They just keep working to bring light to culture and history in ancient Egypt.

But there is one Egyptologist who stands out. He is one of a kind and one of the world's best scientists when it comes to Egyptology. His name is Doctor Zahi Hawass. His way of thinking and exploring is outstanding. He finds what he is looking for even if the leads are vague and he has that extra gift which places him at the right place at the right time. In other words: he has ancient Egypt in his blood. He had earlier lives in ancient Egypt: the Old Kingdom, the Middle Kingdom, the New Kingdom and the final decay. He was almost always at the centre of events, he even had close contacts with pharaohs of different epochs. All these important men and women elevated humanity using their knowledge.

UFO, Extra-terrestrials, pyramids in China

I will now address project Ancient Aliens, January 26, 2011. Sun Shili, who worked for the Department of Foreign Affairs during Mao made a shocking statement which was published in Canada. He said his government knew that extra-terrestrials had visited the Earth. The government's attitude was objective, they implemented research and discussed the issue. They were alert, the military establishment, which often met cases concerning UFOs took active part. Sun Chili also mentioned that extra-terrestrials lived among us, disguised as human beings. His information was dynamite. It highlighted something that might have been going on for a long time in one of the most secret associations on this planet. Shili stated that he had sensitive information about what the government knew about extra-terrestrials during Mao. He also claimed he had personal experience.

Sun Shili: 'In 1972 I was a member of the national government. I worked for the Foreign Office. One evening, at work, we saw a UFO which looked like a small moon.

It moved up and down and disappeared after ten minutes.’ – Initially Shili thought it was some kind of a surveillance device. But many years later, after having served as a top government official, he was sure he had seen an extra-terrestrial vessel.

Nick Pope: 'I met Doctor Sun Shili in 2013 in Washington DC. We both had presentations at Citizen Hearing on Disclosure. I got the opportunity to discuss this with him in person. He was totally frank.'

Nick Pope: 'Imagine if Sun Shili, who worked close to one of the most powerful leaders, actually possessed knowledge of extra-terrestrials who visited the Earth? Some people believe he did. This tells us that China, historically isolated, may have had secret contacts with extra-terrestrials for decades, maybe even longer. Has it anything to do with UFOs? Have they discovered something?'

Some theorists claim that answers can be found 5,000 years ago at the beginning of China and its very first ruler, the 'Yellow Emperor.' The Yellow Emperor is looked upon as a human character but was actually at the beginning a Deity associated with thunder and lightning.

They believed he his abode was in the sky. The Yellow Emperor's realm lasted for 100 years and is said to have been a culmination of Chinese culture and civilization. He is associated with the development of technology such as calendar, mathematics, astronomy, agricultural methods and even the art of writing. Ancient information tells us that he knew much about advanced technology, and he invented mechanical devices, among them a cauldron directed at Syuan Yuan, the star from which he said to have descended.

It was said that the cauldron could make a dragon appear in the sky. At the right moment he made the cauldron and added alchemic ingredients and elixirs. The sky immediately opened, and a dragon appeared. It was a flying dragon with a metal skin and we ask ourselves is it was not an actual machine (he was either communicating with extra-terrestrials or was assisted by them in building a UFO in the form of a dragon).

Could it have been technology reports they did not understand? The Yellow Emperor is said to have arrived in a flying craft.

Sun Shili: 'We in China regard ourselves as descendants of the dragon. In research the dragon is a symbol of a vehicle, i.e. a UFO. Imagine the Yellow Emperor as the alien creature who founded Chinese civilisation 5,000 years ago. In that case, the emperors after him, his descendants, could have been partly extra-terrestrials. In ancient China it was prohibited to look at the emperor. From 1420 to 1912 the emperor was totally isolated in a huge citadel in Beijing, called the Forbidden City. It was built to screen off the emperor from the surrounding world and to be a symbol of Chinese philosophy and religion. The city was seen as a counterpart of an extra-terrestrial city.'

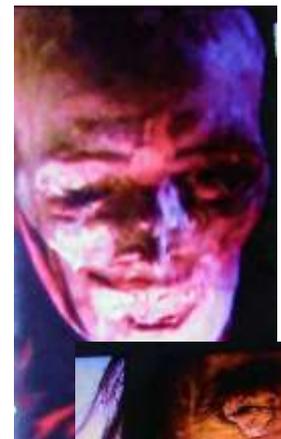

'In June 1994, at a logging camp. Lumberjack Meng Zhaoguo saw what he believed was a helicopter crash in nearby Mount Phoenix. He departed in order to investigate. When he reached the outskirts of the valley he was attacked and woke up several days later at his home. But that day he had a visitor: a three-metre-tall female extra-terrestrial woman with six fingers.

They are floating in the air above his bed. Suddenly she disappears through the wall, and he lands on the bed. And the giant woman was gone. This story sounds like pure fantasy, but psychologists and technicians examined Zhaoguo thoroughly. They used hypnosis and a lie detector and concluded that he was telling the truth.' The encounter which Zhaoguo tells us about was interesting as he was transferred to the same level of frequency as the female giant. In a floating state of mind, he received information from the extra-terrestrial. Zhaoguo is one of thousands of Chinese individuals who have recently come forward to their story about extra-terrestrial contacts.

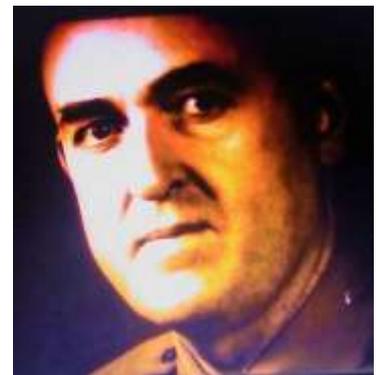

A remarkable archaeological discovery in China, almost 4,000 years old items.

The Taklamakan Desert, also called the Sea of Death. It is a vast unforgiving area marked by myths and oblivion. It is situated in north-western China, with an area of 338,000 square kilometres, a bit larger than the state of New Mexico. It is the second largest sand desert in the world and it is incredibly difficult to explore, climate conditions are extremely hard. There is no life, no food, no water, nothing. The desert is one of the world's most uninhabitable areas, but during the last 30 years archaeologists in the Tarim basin excavated hundreds of graves dated to an early period, BC 1800.

The climate in the Taklamakan desert is extremely dry. It is an inland climate with huge temperature differences between day and night. Salinity is high. The dry climate and the high salt content in the ground have contributed to the well-preserved state of the mummies. This made it possible for the archaeologists to use DNA analyses which indicated that the ancient nomadic people were not Chinese. This result is very interesting. It says a lot about the history of the area. Male individuals must have come from what is believed to be the domestic area of the Indo-Europeans. There were mostly Caucasian individuals in the graves. They were not Chinese, Uyghurs or Turks. They also had characteristics you cannot find anywhere else. The mummies were remarkable. Some of them looked European, which means angular faces, hollow eyes, white skin and tall bodies. They had curly hair which could have been red, blond or dark brown.

When they tested the mummies' mitochondrial DNA they found the haplo groups M and K. They are genetic markers which indicate a western European origin. One problem is that this DNA presents anomalies. There are issues which do not tally with any known remains with genetic information. This might indicate that they could have been extra-terrestrials. – There is no information about how tall the Yellow Emperor was. Was he short or tall in stature, around three metres tall, such as the extra-terrestrial?

The Province of Shaanxi in China, 1947. Colonel Maurice Sheahan, head of Trans World Airlines, was flying above China when he saw a structure with white stones at the top. He thought it was a 300-metre-high pyramid, Maurice Sheahan looked down and saw a gigantic pyramid, larger than the Cheops Pyramid at Giza.

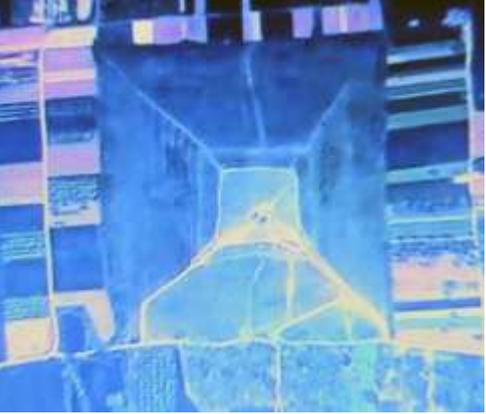

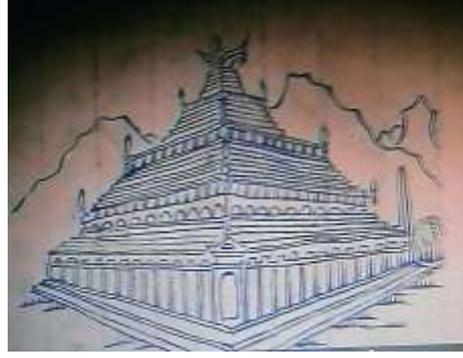

New York Times heard about it and it became a sensation. On March 27, 1947, Colonel Sheahan's stories were published. Two days later, a photo of the mysterious construction was added.

Since then, an additional 37 pyramids have been spotted in the Chinese area, among them the mausoleum of the first Qin emperor and the incredible terracotta army.

This gives the impression that ancient China was packed with pyramid constructions.

Erich von Däniken: 'We have always known there were pyramids in China, but not until now books have been published about them, written by Chinese archaeologists. They are all connected to the original rulers. Theorists suggest that formations that have been discovered in Xian are pyramids and that another structure in the area is connected to the sky.'

Vintage Altar of Heaven
by Spencer P.M. Harrington

Volume 12 Number 2, March 2001

The Altar of Heaven, also known as the Altar of Earth, is a circular, stepped structure located in the center of the Forbidden City in Beijing, China. It is one of the most important religious sites in the city and is believed to be the site where the Chinese emperors communicated with the gods and the spirits of the ancestors. The altar was built in the 15th century and is a fine example of traditional Chinese architecture. It is a circular, stepped structure with a central platform and a series of concentric terraces. The altar is surrounded by a wall and is accessible only by a single path. The altar is a fine example of traditional Chinese architecture and is a must-see for anyone visiting Beijing.

Erich von Däniken: 'In the summer of 1999 the oldest Chinese altarpiece was excavated at Xian by the Chinese Academy of Science. It is estimated that 17 emperors conducted ceremonies at the Altar of Heaven which can be dated to at least AD 581. The Chinese emperors communicated with extra-terrestrials, gods, in the sky, via the so-called Altar of Heaven.'

The same stone construction, with a circle around the altar, can be found in Peru inside the fortress of Sacsayhuaman. The Inca rulers descended from heaven, exactly as in China. It is possible that the structures inside and those surrounding the town of Xian were used by ancient rulers in their communication with alien creatures.

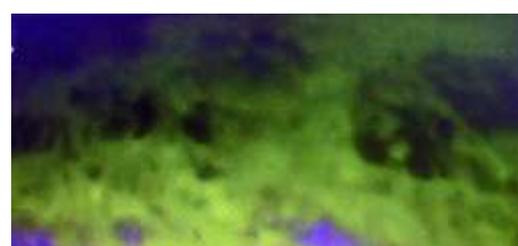

Theorists suggest that an even more mysterious pyramid exists around 800 kilometres south-west of Xian in the province of Qinghai at the peak of Mount Baigong. In 2003 Chinese researchers investigated Baigong at the border of Tibet. They discovered a sixty-metre-high pyramid at the peak of the mountain. There was a system of caves inside with triangular openings. They found various rusty objects inside the pyramid. Baigong seems to be an artificial pyramid with three triangular entrances. Inside there are metal pipes, on the ground there are pieces of metal. It is like a kind of base, a powerplant. Was it some sort of laboratory used for blood transformation? Theorists claim there are pyramids all around the world, from Egypt to Peru and Mexico. Extra-terrestrials taught our ancestors how to build them. If the pipe-shaped objects on Mount Baigong were made by using advanced technology, it might indicate the assistance of extra-terrestrials.

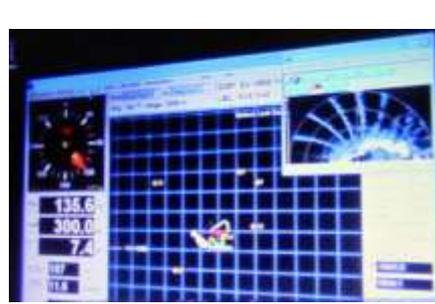

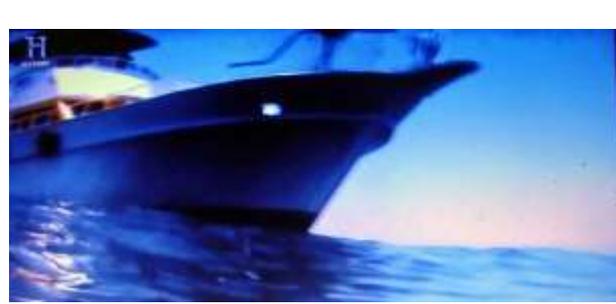

In Chinese mythology, Mount Kunlun was the centre of the Earth. It is said to have been an enormous pillar of jade, jasper and other precious stones, stretching to Heaven. Mount Kunlun is mysterious, an 'axis mundi', i.e. a pillar around which the entire Universe rotates. It connects the Earth with the rest of Universe, where divine creatures, extra-terrestrials, can communicate with earthlings. We can wonder if Mount Baigong is Mount Kunlun, which functioned as a sort of extra-terrestrial base stretching between the Earth and the stars. What if extra-terrestrials visited China thousands of years ago and left behind the remains of an ancient base? Was there a laboratory, a test facility, which would have connected on of the emperors with human blood to our galaxy? Theorists maintain that the biggest secret of China may not be found at its highest peaks.

Fuxian Lake in the province of Yunnan in China, 1992. Diver Geng Wei dived in the lake and discovered something surprising. The bottom was filled with manually made flagstones and other rock relics. The rocks were spread at the bottom of of China's second-deepest lake, a surface covering 260 square kilometres and a depth of 155 metres. He saw manually produced flagstones, roads and buildings. It was as if he had discovered an underwater city with dwellings. It was built before there was a lake at the location. This indicates a period before the global flood around 7,000 years ago and it makes the phenomenon much older than what was suggested.

Geng Wei dived 35 times in Lake Fuxian, they went down with a submarine and found stairs, more flagstones and walls in this lake. We might wonder if, at some point in time, there was an advanced civilisation below the surface of Lake Fuxian.

In 2001 archaeologists from the Yunna museum used sonar technology and cameras in order to carry out the stupendous task of mapping the lake. Their discoveries convinced the archaeologists they had found structures from an advanced civilisation, e.g. something looking like an arena and pyramids. The mysterious city at the bottom of the lake has an area of 2.6 square kilometres. But who built it? And why? The pyramid is very unusual. It is said to be as old as the Egyptian pyramids and maybe even higher than some of them. It is a fantastic discovery. Ancient documents mention a city in the area, Yuyuan. But structural studies of the bottom of the lake indicate that it is much older than the city. Can it be the remains of an ancient, advanced community which was destroyed by the Global Flood? One question asked by the project team.

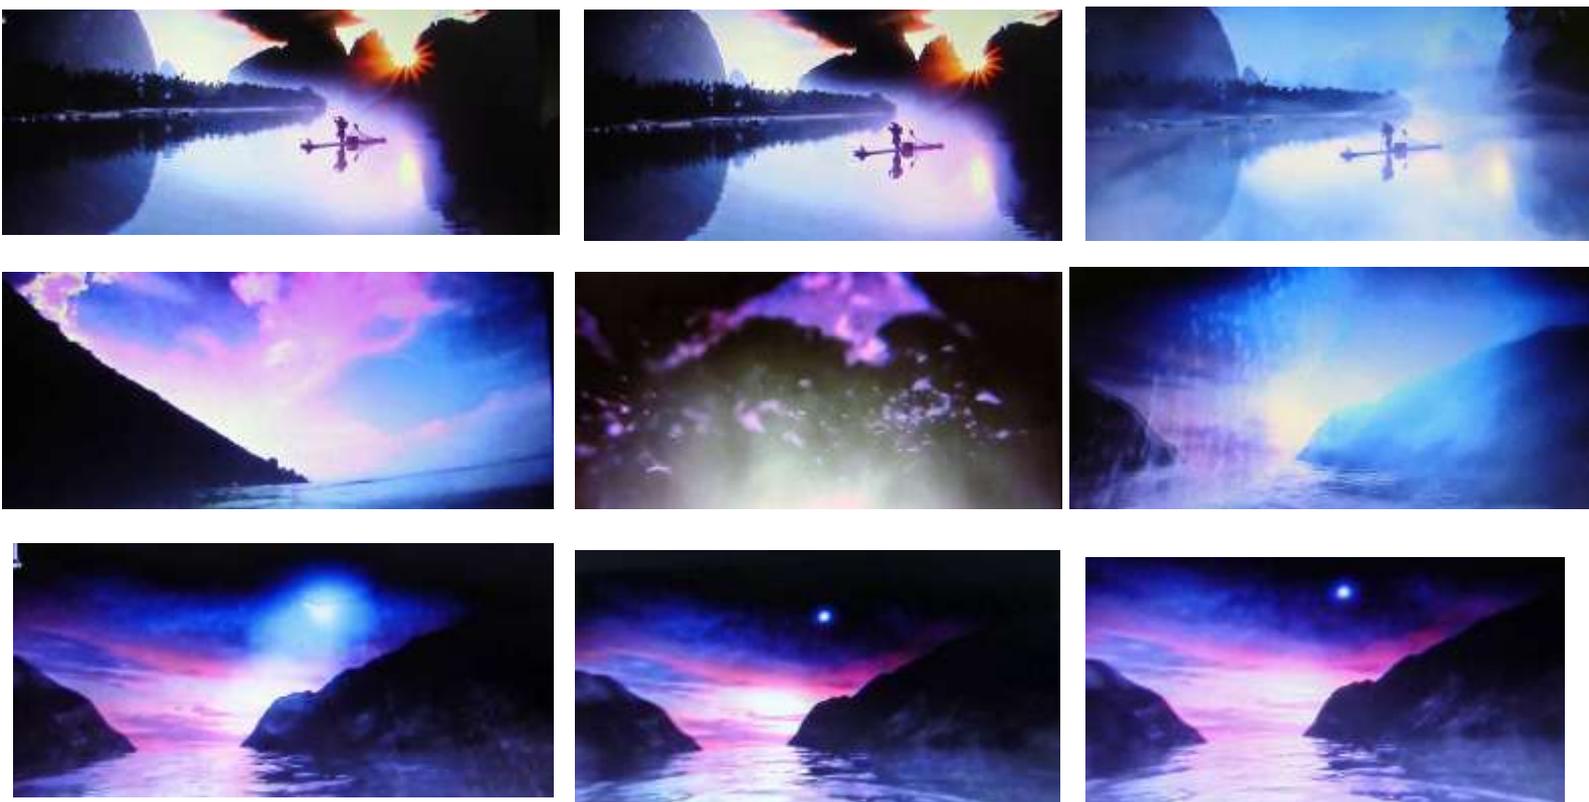

I am of the same opinion. The city at the bottom of Lake Fuxian paralleled the cities of Sumer and was a flourishing city with advanced technology and knowledge. In Sumer lived giants who worked together with Inanna. Some of them may have arrived from this city. They studied the first pyramid which built there and belonged to Lamech Jy/Noah. See pp 4 – 6 above.

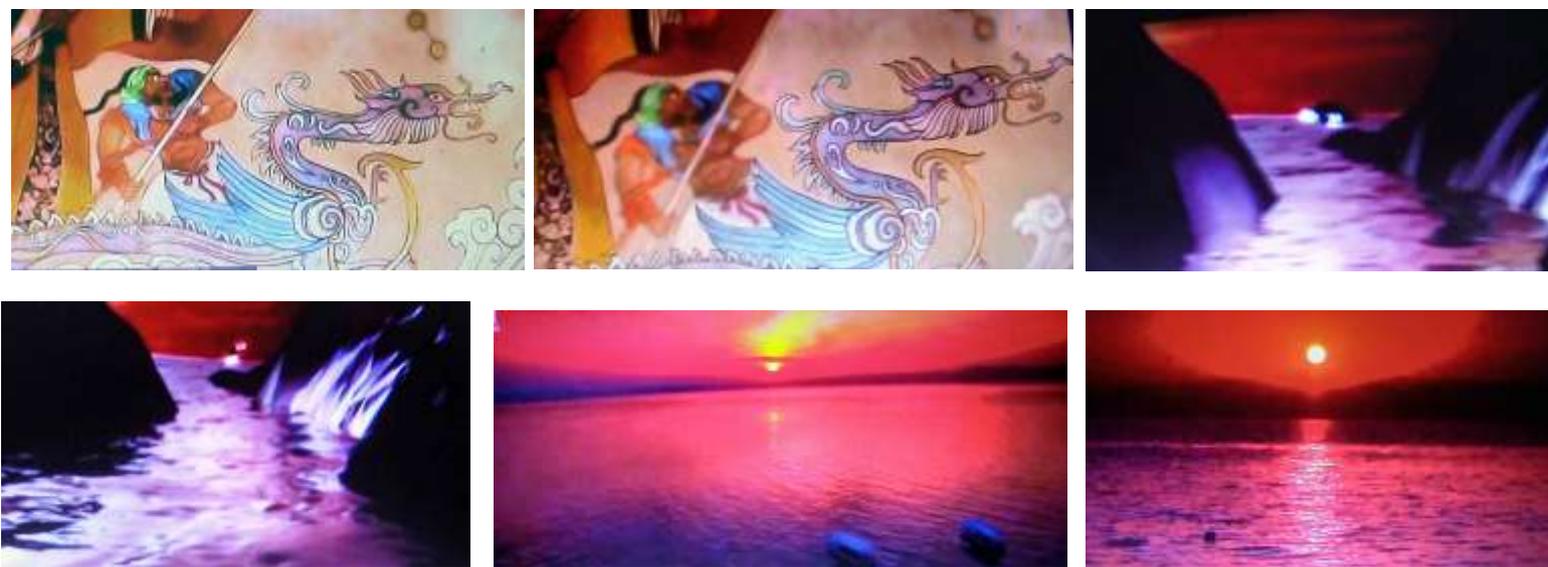

What if there was an extra-terrestrial base far below the surface of the water for USOs (Unidentified Submerged Object)? They are often referred to in ancient Chinese manuscripts.

According to Chen Jang Fu Zhi, a book that was written during the reign of Emperor Daoguang, a horse-like monster lived in the lake. It is described as white with red spots on its back. It was a creature which could leave the water for a flight in the sky, a combination of a USO and a UFO, an unidentified flying submerged object.

In 1991 fisherman Zhang Yuxiang bumped into a USO. The strange vessel came from the water. He described it as a shining disc. It was so close and so powerful that it made the boat move around. Then it quickly disappeared in the sky. Lake Fuxian is evidently a location where many remarkable incidents have occurred.

What if the dragon which carries the Yellow Emperor and what if the USO spotted by Zhang Yuxiang were extra-terrestrial vessels or vehicles. If so, their might exist an extra-terrestrial base at the bottom of Lake Fuxian. Some theorists believe so and maintain that the Chinese observations are so many that we cannot brush them aside any longer.

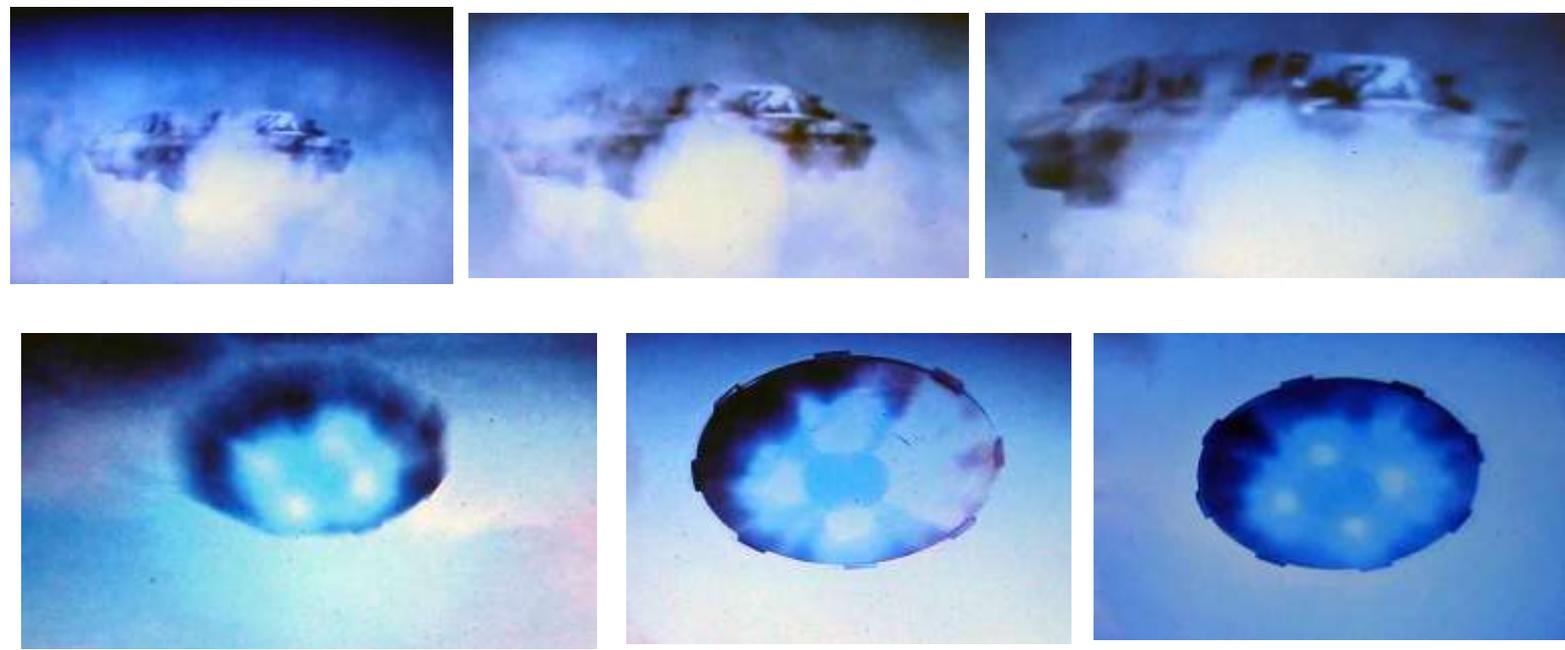

When they saw the UFO, there was chaos. Thousands of Chinese spread pictures of UFOs in the sky above China.

Foshan, China, 7 October 2015. Thousands of inhabitants watched something spectacular above the metropolis. It was a city, hovering among the clouds. The sight of a city, nothing else, was obvious. It remained in the sky for several minutes and was caught by cameras. It was broadcast by Chinese television and shared in social media all over the world. And it really was extraordinary, clouds created a ghost image of the city. Authorities dismissed the phenomenon, called it a bluff, but nobody has been able to prove that the pictures were not genuine. They are verified by numerous eyewitnesses. But some say that even if the pictures are genuine, they can be explained by the optic illusion Fata Morgana.

One theory is the Fata Morgana explanation, a kind of illusion. It is like a mirage where you see something at the horizon, something that does not exist, an atmospheric illusion. I do not think so, it is too high to be Fata Morgana. The argument stating that it was inversion which created the image of a city in the sky is also negligible. It could have been a mothership or something like it. This is nothing new. Some days later, 1,300 kilometres away, the same phenomena occurred. If we assume that the image of a floating city, observed by thousands of people, was an optic illusion, it is remarkable that the same incident took place next day so far away, in the city of Jiangxi, with thousands of witnesses. Is it possible that that thousands of people in China may have witnessed an extra-terrestrial base or a mother craft in the sky? What if extra-terrestrials wanted to be noticed?

What if extra-terrestrials wanted to be noticed? Theorists point out that there have been many incidents where extra-terrestrial phenomena have been spotted in the skies of China, not possible to be ignored by the government.

The Province of Zhejiang, China, July 7, 2010. Around 8.40 p.m. the Hangzhou Xiaoshan airport, which serves 70,000 passengers, was suddenly closed. Outward-bound flights could not take off and arrivals were passed on. The reason for this was an unidentified flying object spotted by a crew preparing for landing. The Xiaoshan airport is one of the largest airports in China, always busy. On July 7, a pilot on a flight about to touch down saw something unusual, a movement. He reported to the airport, which was closed. Something looking like a comet was approaching the airport. It had a tail, a glowing oval object. Many Hangzhou citizens took photos. When they saw a UFO there was turmoil. Flights were redirected. They contacted the armed forces about a possible test, but the answer was negative. This was the third similar UFO incident in five years in China, an incident involving the closure of an airport and subsequent disorder and wonder. This is something the Chinese government wants to play down. Maybe the Chinese have understood that they do not necessarily have full control of Chinese airspace.

Sun Shili: 'The Xiaoshan incident is only one example. The same thing happened in province of Guizhou. They asked the pilots to avoid the UFO, touch down and fly again when it was all over. This might prove that the UFO phenomenon really exists.'

Many people think about the UFO phenomenon as a typical American issue, but around 1.4 billion Chinese are said to believe in UFOs and extra-terrestrial life. Theorists suggest that despite the government's dismissals, leading politicians are interested in alien phenomena. It is popular in China to be member of an association which tries to get in touch with extra-terrestrials. The government knows about this and provides funds for certain research. Has the Chinese government started to look upon extra-terrestrial creatures as something they cannot deny? Can these incidents force the government to work harder with investigating contact reports they have been aware of for years and years? Theorists believe it is so and say that the Chinese venture with the world's largest radio telescope really will be used for searching for extra-terrestrial life.

The Province of Guizhou in China, 2001. An extensive scientific project is launched – the construction of a telescope with a 500-metre diameter, called FAST.

Nan Rendong, responsible for FAST technology: 'A radio telescope is like a sensitive ear which can distinguish radio messages from noise in space.' – They are building the world's largest radio telescope in China. The antenna will have a diameter of 500 metres and will make all other similar facilities look small. This will be the best equipment in 20 – 30 years when it comes to radio astronomy. Theorists regard this as evidence that China shows interest in extra-terrestrials.

China made it very clear that the antenna was built in order to look for extra-terrestrial intelligence. The question is if it is just a follow-up of their history. China, like all ancient cultures, was visited by extra-terrestrials. Why are they interested in outer space? The telescope was ready to use in July 2016 and is regarded as an enormous step ahead with its incomparable precision which allows the China government to scan the Milky Way, but also more distant galaxies, for radio signals or signs of life. Many other countries are building advanced radio telescopes but of less size and capacity.

Wu Xiangping, Director General at the astronomy laboratory: 'It helps us looking for intelligent life outside our galaxy and exploring the origin of the Universe. Somewhere out there civilisations may acknowledge scientific and technical information and the first country to receive it will profit.'

I have now referred to what might be the world's best document about China. China also has a history which dates back to the SUMER era. A nameless city with a pyramid at its centre, a pyramid similar to the ones in SUMER. The city and SUMER existed at the same time. The extra-terrestrials who represented the Dragon were always present and assisted at the blood transformation project which was developed in various secret pyramids. One example is the pyramid located below the surface of the water and the Baigong and Kunlun pyramids. In this context China was secretly involved from the start

Baigong pyramid

Underwater pyramid

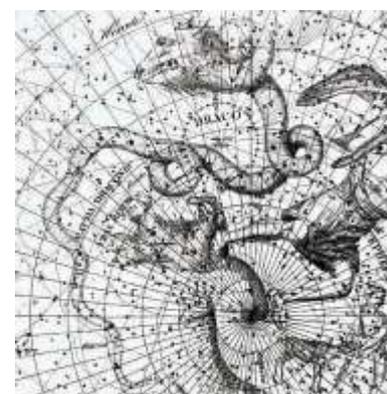

In the Baigong pyramid almost the same sorts of tools and material were found as those on the Moon in a pyramid-shaped triangular spacecraft explored by the Apollo 20 astronauts in 1976. More info at Industry, Conquering Space I, page 78. The pyramid located below the surface of the water should still be a base for extra-terrestrials. Inside the pyramid there should be laboratory with equipment for research processes and test devices. Probably, there are also modern devices in the pyramid.

Floating city in a spacecraft at Foshan. This picture of the hovering city in the sky can be compared with Moon City, a moon base in a spacecraft discovered and visited on the far side of the Moon by the Apollo 20 astronauts in 1976. This is further proof of Moon City in a UFO on the far side of the Moon. More info at Industry, Conquering Space I, pp 69 - 71 and Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 122-124.

Around 5,000 years ago, the Yellow Emperor made a cauldron in order to contact extra-terrestrials from the Draco constellation. The cauldron was directed towards Syuan Yuan, the star he allegedly descended from. This, again, is proof that even ancient China in secrecy harboured advanced technology, knowledge and science.

China's largest and perhaps most modern radio telescope is called the FAST project. It has a diameter of 500 metres to be able to reach out to extra-terrestrials. It is primarily directed towards the Draco constellation. As far as I understand, FAST has developed contacts with the extra-terrestrials, the world of giants. China is space nation number three after Russia and the US, a super nation with doomsday weapons also possessed by the US and Russia. Where can we find the counterpart? The American Area 51 is unknown in China.

A brief summary: China is a modern superstate, run in secrecy by extra-terrestrials who become increasingly visible around the world. A state with extra-terrestrial contacts profits...

The Soviet Union/Russia and UFO/extra-terrestrials

Sergei Korolev, 1906 - 1966

Soviet rocket designer and the brain behind the space program.

More info at Industry, Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 6-12.

Alien, drawing by Korolev

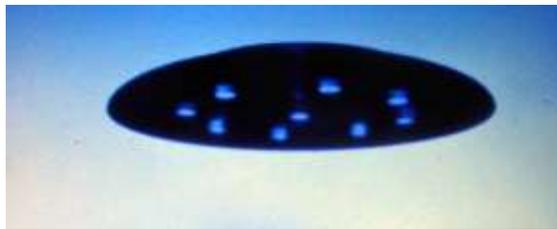

Sergei Korolev was in fact the chief designer and the brain behind the then Soviet space program. One day at the beginning of the 1960s he met an alien, the issue was the Soviet Union and its future space program. Korolev sketched a drawing of the extra-terrestrial. We do not know where and when the meeting took place, but I think it was at Kapustin Jar, where the Soviet Union had a large army base, corresponding to the American Area 51. The base is still a top secret. The meeting was very rewarding, as confirmed by the drawing. In his left hand the alien holds a future version of the Earth, in his right hand he has a stick symbolising extra-terrestrial technology. UFO and extra-terrestrials still influence Russia's space program. I think the alien came from the same UFO group whose UFO crashed at Kapustin Jar in 1947.

Russia's doomsday weapon.

Beam of Death

NASA. Siberia. Scientists are trying to understand a report of 23 Russian soldiers who were transformed into pillars of rock during a battle with space creatures who had a lethal weapon. Energy was supposed to have invaded the human body and transformed it into stone. This incident was witnessed by some soldiers hiding behind some trees and thus not affected by the beam of death. According to the report the rock soldiers and the wreck were taken to a secret laboratory near Moscow. According to the scientist they had been transformed into a lime-like material. Is it possible that the Kremlin now has access to extra-terrestrial weapon technology? This question is asked by the Unexplained Files Team run by NASA.

The story of the extra-terrestrials and the petrified soldiers was found in a classified report. It cannot be dismissed as solely a cover-up. Russian media never reported this publicly and the government classified it. 'Today's Russia is as secretive as ever,' the team writes. The truth about what happened may never see the light of day. 'It is still possible that that the military superpower Russia has a secret weapon which can turn humans into rocks, regardless of it has been developed by scientists or has been found by accident,' says the NASA team.

The reader asks if there is evidence of the petrifying weapon possessed by the Russians. The answer, regrettably, is yes. It is a blend of new and old, a weapon which was used in the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah, described in Genesis 19 – 26: 'But his wife looked back behind him, and she became a pillar of salt.' This was God's work, assisted by the angels. As far as I understand, it could have been the same UFO group in both cases: In Russia and in Genesis. I believe it was test exercise with UFOs in Siberia, they knew about the death beam in advance. See Korolev's drawing above, where the Earth symbolically is exposed to beams from space/UFOs.

SATELLITDÖDAREN

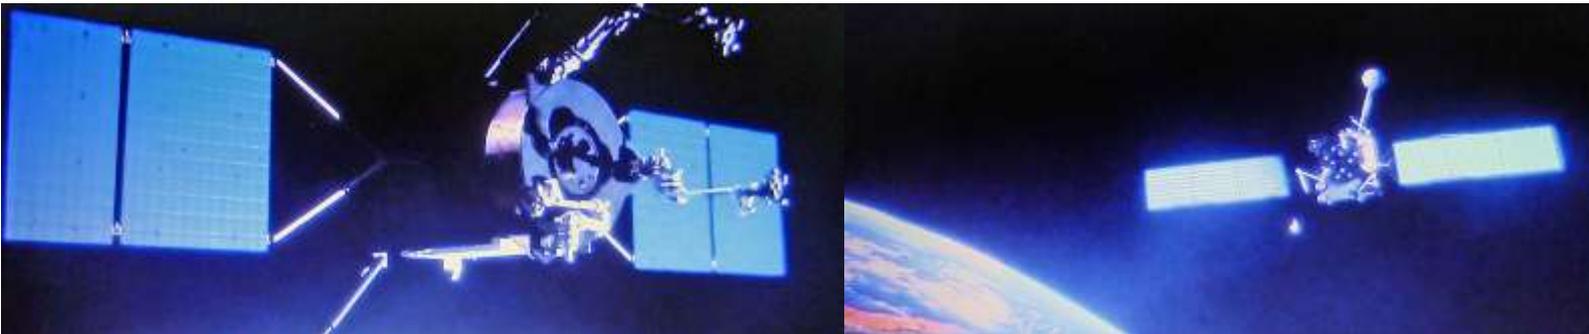

Plesetsk Cosmodrome, Russia

NASA. May 23 2014, Plesetsk Cosmodrome in Russia. Roscosmos lets the world know that it will launch three satellites. This is regular, all nations about to launch space vehicles inform the rest of the world. The satellites, numbered 2496 - 2498 were parts of the Russian Cosmos project, a series of military communication satellites.

Space enthusiasts from around the world who follow the three new satellites suddenly see something quite unexpected: a fourth object which appears in the Earth's orbit. When Russia informs that they will launch three satellites and an object number four appears, it is potentially dangerous. The American Department of Defense starts to track down the fourth object. They are surprised when it starts moving, as if it has a will of its own. It is not a communication satellite, it does not move very much.

When an object appears in space, not controlled by anyone, people start asking questions about what is going on.

The plot thickens when the object seems to encounter other Russian objects. If the Russians have access to spacecraft which can be steered with precision and which can change orbits, there are several options. It may be a repair- or filling station for other satellites according to NASA. Russia normally denies everything and admits to nothing. The Russians are quiet. 'Go home, there is nothing for you here.'

The western world faces a worrying possibility that this might be a new kind of space weapon. The idea of anti-satellite weapons has existed from the beginning of the satellite era, someone else always wants to destroy them. You do not kill satellites with laser, you use other satellites. Objects in orbit move fast. If you wish to destroy something in orbit, all you need to do is to place something in front of something else. If the object is a killer satellite, this could be the start of an arms race in space. The Russian object is named 'Kosmos 2499', its very secret military mission is to kill satellites. Eventually, the Russians have acknowledged the fourth satellite.

Laser weapons

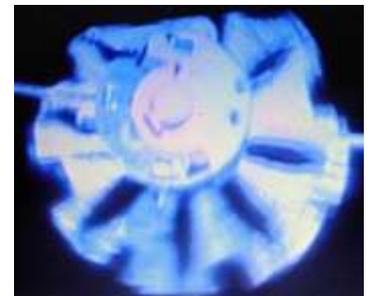

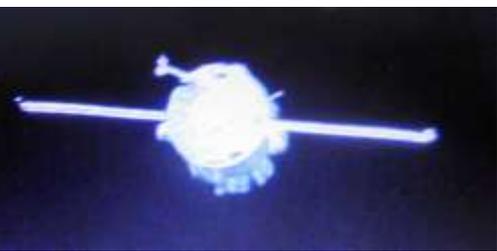

NASA. August 2018. A spacecraft in orbit around the Earth worried authorities in the US. The satellite behaved and moved in remarkable ways. Satellites often have a ballistic orbit, they fall down around the Earth. But if you see a satellite which actually seems to be manoeuvred, something is suspicious. The spacecraft is connected to Russia. They maintain the satellite is not dangerous.

February 4, 1993. A beam of light, 4 kilometres long, sweeps along Europe. It moves fast from France to Russia in about five minutes. Around Europe, people report a strong beam of light in the sky. There is daylight. From where it come? The beam seems to come from space station Mir which makes us ask what the Russians are doing up there. They carried out an experiment, a large mirror in space. A satellite with a mirror which emits light. This reminds analysts of weapons which the Germans tried to develop. Hitler wanted to create a radiation weapon driven by the Sun. He wanted to take advantage of the power and burn his way to victory. A simple idea: launch a large lens into space, direct its beams towards enemy countries and burn targets.

Hitler understood that the Sun was more powerful than any nuclear weapon. Using a lens, diameter 1.6-kilometres, he could take advantage of the solar power. The amount of energy it could direct towards the Earth would not only set fire to objects, it would destroy cities. Communities would be like ants under a magnifying lens. But Hitler lost, the super weapon was forgotten.

In 1993 a Russian satellite sent a beam of light from space. The Russians claimed it had been launched from the space station Mir. It was called Znamya 2. It is not stiff like an ordinary mirror. It is launched in a barrel and is unfolded, a thin material which reflects sunlight with an unfolded width of 20 metres. The Russian government claim their motives are completely innocent. Their aim is to create artificial light.

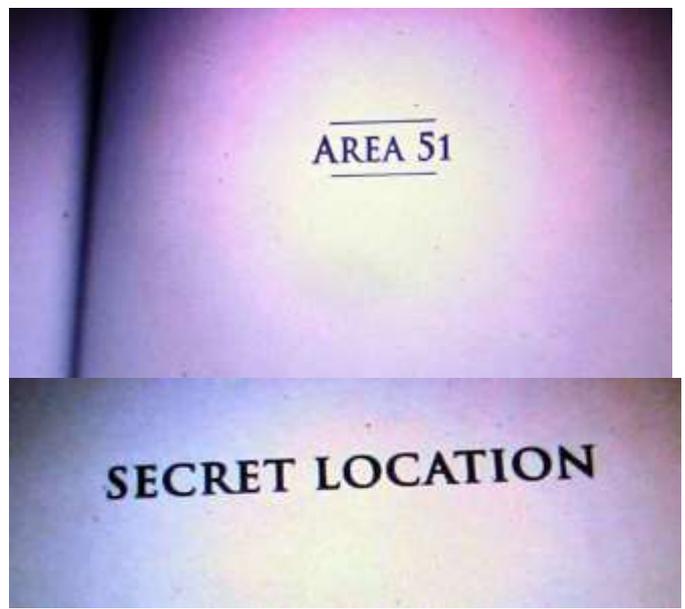

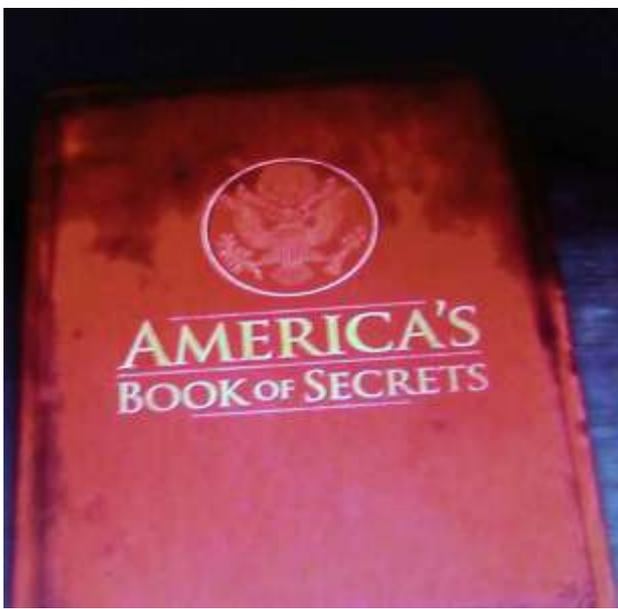

If you change the design of the mirror, it can easily become much more dangerous. By adjusting the focus of the beam of light, you go from a mirror to a weapon which destroy cities. The mirror can vaporize a human being.

If you adjust it, it may emit a 4-kilometre-wide beam of hot death towards the US, large enough to burn down cities. Ordinary power has no defence against this. We will all burn.

I can briefly summarise by stating that this has nothing to do with nature and humanity, they are the tools of death. The US as well as Russia and China have access to extra-terrestrial technology. They all have the possibility to use doomsday weapons against each other and the world.

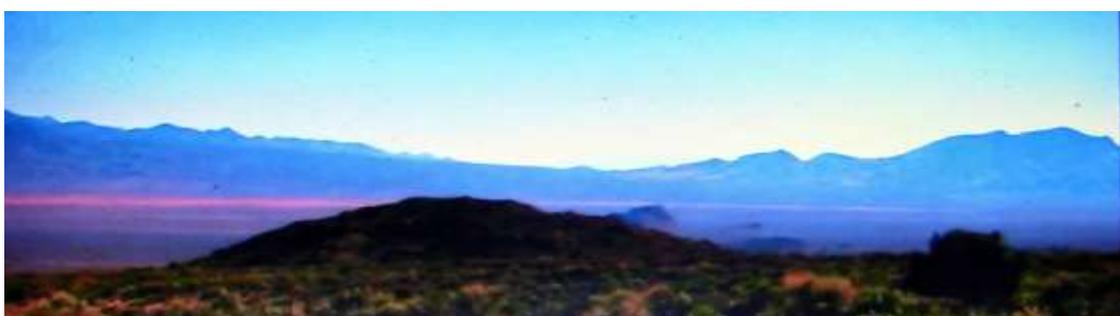

2012. A book whose existence is only known by the selected few. But what is it about? Secret stories? Secret plans? Secret lies? Is there really a book called America's Book of Secrets? Some people believe there is a book about the most strictly guarded secrets in the US. In this case Area 51.

Only 132 kilometres north of Las Vegas, in the middle of the Nevada Desert is the infamous secret site Area 51. It is the citadel of secrets, the Olympus of all secrets. Area 51 is a secret base, its size corresponds to the size of a small state.

The airspace controlled by Area 51 is vast. This means that civilian aircraft are diverted around it. Area 51 is the ideal site for secret projects. It is located in a deep valley surrounded by mountains. It is not easy to spot from the outside. It is at the centre of a 1,600-square-kilometre-airspace housing military activities such as air battles and bombing exercises. Add to this that Area 51 is situated next to the Nevada test area where almost 1,000 nuclear weapons have been tested above and below ground.

There is a zone where flights are banned, the Box. Some people claim that The Box is the centre of the Nevada Triangle, where thousands of planes have crashed or disappeared.

Domesday weapon. Imagine the ultimate weapon, time travel. Imagine a weapon so powerful that you can send troops back in time in order to change history. That is the ultimate Domesday weapon. But is there evidence that the secret projects based on construction-in-reverse of extra-terrestrial technology? In 1984 a document from US National Archives appeared, a document which described a secret group called Majestic 12. It was founded by President Truman in September 1947.

The following information was furnished to SA
 An investigator for the Air Force stated that three flying saucers had been recovered in New Mexico. They were described as being circular in shape with a diameter of approximately 50 feet in diameter. Each one was of human shape but only 3 feet tall, dressed in a very fine texture. Each body was blacked out.

THE WHITE HOUSE
 WASHINGTON
 September 24, 1947.
 MEMORANDUM FOR THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE
 Dear Secretary Forrestal:

Harry Truman

It continues to be my feeling that the matter should rest solely with the President following appropriate consultation with yourself, Dr. Bush and the Director of Intelligence.

According to the documents, the committee consisted of two scientists, army chiefs and government officials. Their mission was to investigate UFO activities. Some individuals believe that Majestic 12 could have been located at Area 51, the documents are known as the Majestic 12 documents. They discuss extra-terrestrial phenomena and UFO from a strictly classified perspective. Everything was created after the National Security Act 1947, which was pushed through only months after the Roswell incident. After months of investigations, the FBI confiscated the documents and declared that Majestic 12 was humbug. The letter mentioned Doctor Bush, was he George Bush Sr?

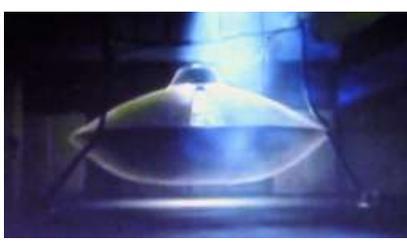

When the documents were released again, they were heavily edited. Why? What did they hide? Some UFO documents were completely covered in black ink, sometimes white ink when they realised that black was a sinister colour. We have a top-secret phenomenon, but it is not addressed in any of the documents. Were the Majestic 12 documents hot potatoes? Did they prove that the government was, and still is, involved in construction-in-reverse of space technology at, and maybe below, Area 51? And if the claims were unfounded, why is the base wrapped up in secrecy?

Bob Lazar, S-4, Area 51
1988 - 1989
Physicist

Jarod-1,
"Jay Rod"

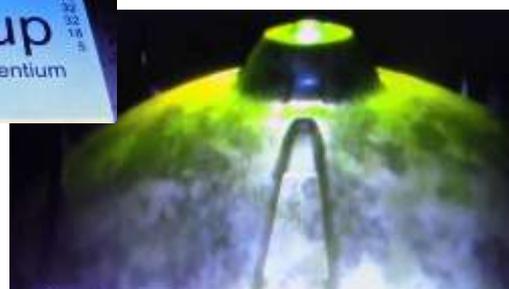

Dan Burisch, S-4, Area 51
Microbiologist

November 1989. In a sensational interview with Reporter George Knapp, Physicist Bob Lazar revealed shocking details at Area 51. We carried out an anonymous interview with Bob. He called himself Dennis, the name of his boss at Area 51. Lazar worked at the base 1988 - 1989 and he claims to have seen nine mysterious discs in an area called Sector Four, S-4. He told us he had been employed by the Navy for work at S-4 south of Area 51 at Lake Papoose, at a hangar facility inside the mountain. In each of these hangars there was a flying saucer.

Sector S-4, south of Area 51 at Lake Pappoose. A facility built inside the mountain.

Lazar said there were no rivets nor screws as used on ordinary aircraft. They seemed to have been cast, it was not possible to understand the material. He said the craft was powered by an antimatter reactor and that the fuel was something called element 115.

He saw one of them being tested above the lake, it was blue and magic. Bob Lazar said he knew when UFOs were flying above the Nevada desert.

In 2004 biologist Dan Burisch confirmed Lazar's sensational claims. Burisch had been a scientist at Sector 4.

He said the facilities did not only contain nine extra-terrestrial craft, but also an alien. He maintains that he is a microbiologist who has worked at the Groom Lake facilities and had handled extra-terrestrial biology (bioweapons, such as new viruses). He also says that he was selected because he had a telepathic contact with the alien he took care of, called Jay Rod. Jay Rod was held in something like safe custody and worked with a group of American researchers, but also with government officials. If they investigated UFOs via construction-in-reverse and had bodies (or living) extra-terrestrials, then it becomes a secret which shakes the world.

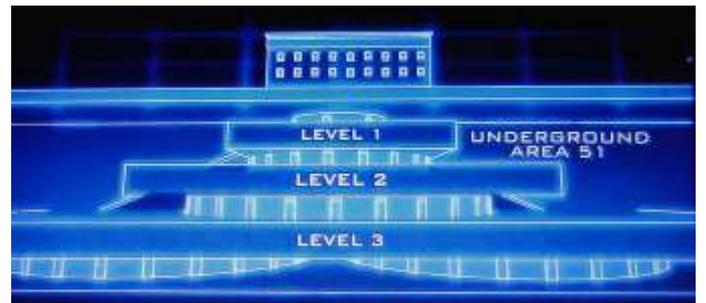

Construction-in-reverse and aliens at S-4.

Lazar and Burisch actually witnessed extra-terrestrial technology. What we know about Lazar and Burisch is that they worked in the selected group led by Jay Rod, exploring extra-terrestrial technology. More info at Industry, Visitors on the Moon, final, pp 28-32.

Testing reversed technology

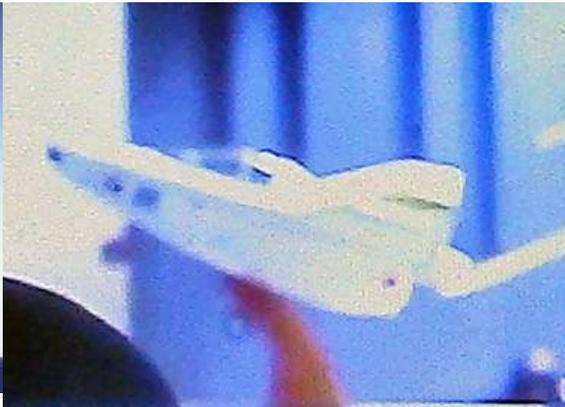

Area 51 is built like an upside-down ice-cream cone. All those who have had conversations with journalists about Area 51 say that it goes deep down. Is it possible there are subterranean facilities below Area 51? If so, why so deep down? When the base was initiated in the 1950s, President Eisenhower was negotiating open airspace with the Soviet Union. That agreement allowed mutual exchange. At an early stage they started to excavate the ground below Area 51. Some scientists claim that Area 51 is the centre of a large network connected to other facilities in the US.

In that way, material and technology can be transported underground by Maglev trains with a Mach 2 velocity. There are hundreds of completely secret bases, Area 51 is the tip of the iceberg. It is the most famous facility of them all and functions as a cover for the other areas.

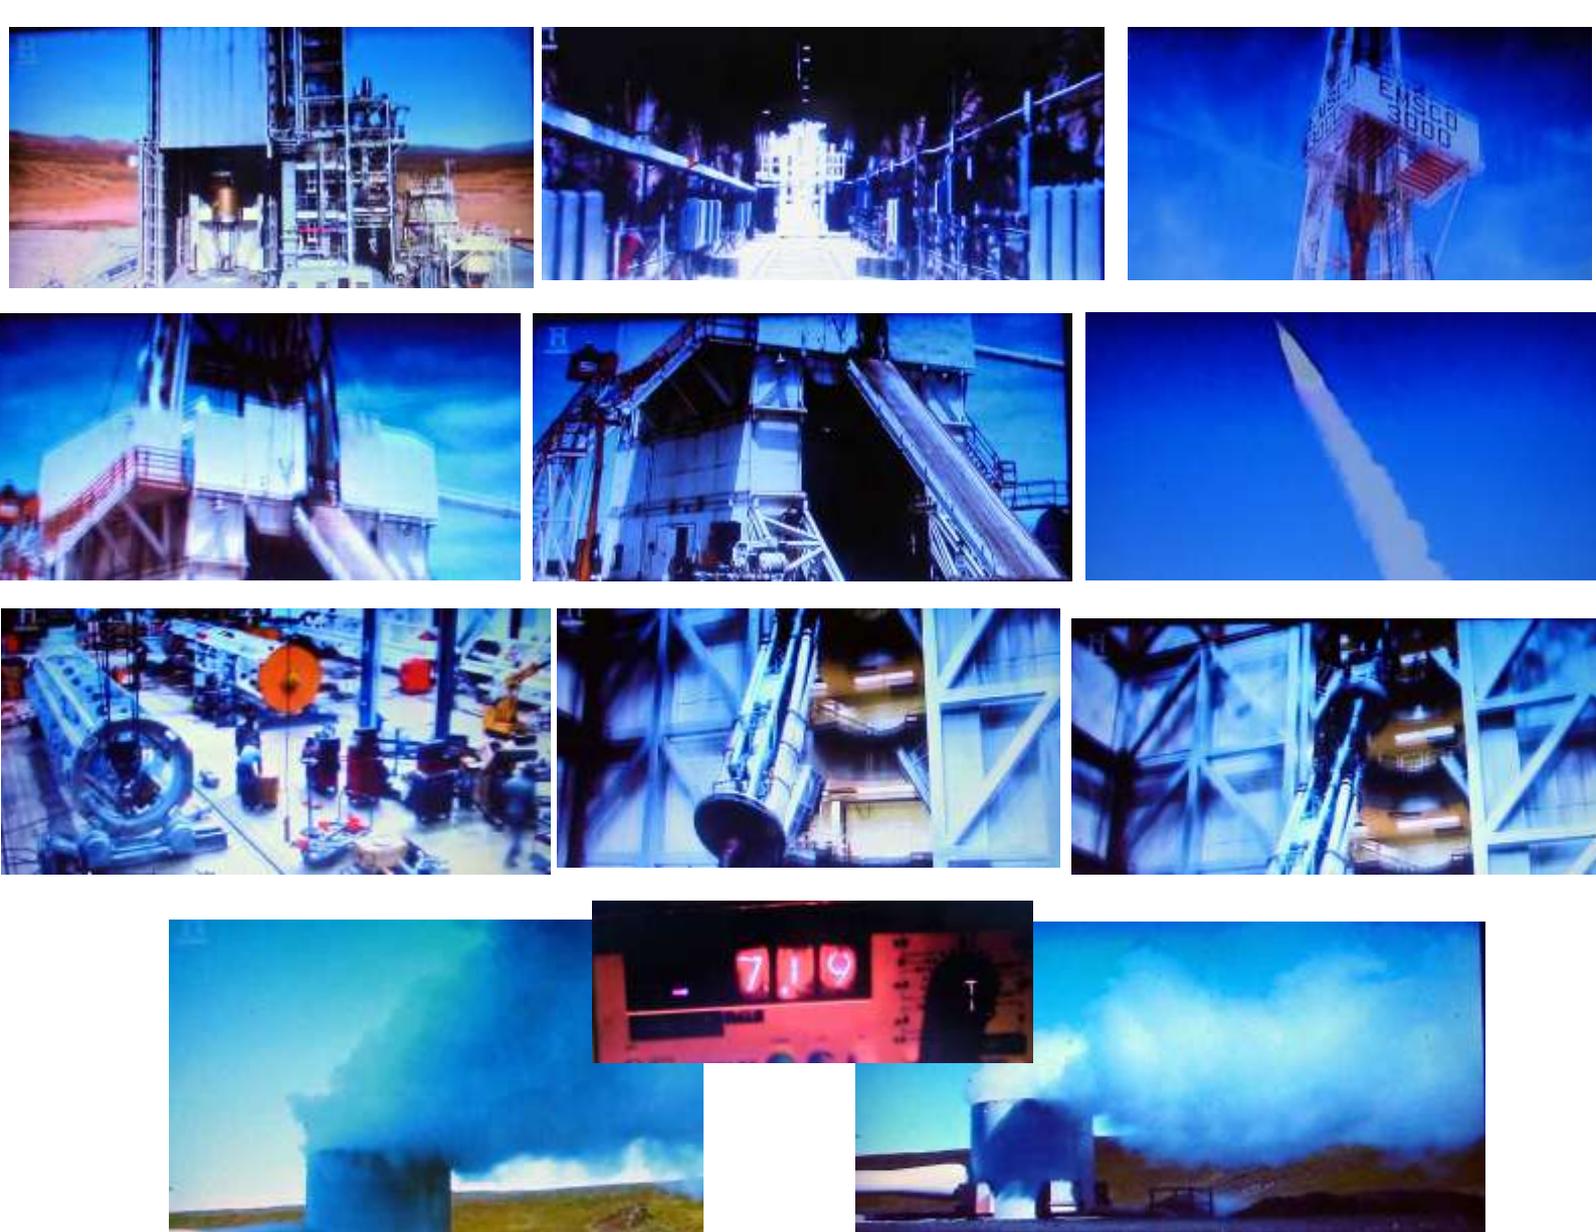

A GE employee said there were four shafts connected to the one he worked in, one of them twice as big as his. It could hold two B-52 aircraft side by side and still leave 180 centimetres at the tip of each wing. What could these enormous shafts hold? And what do they transport? Have they been constructed to move some kind of extra-terrestrial equipment? That seems reasonable.

Ex-radar-specialist T. D. Barnes, Area 51

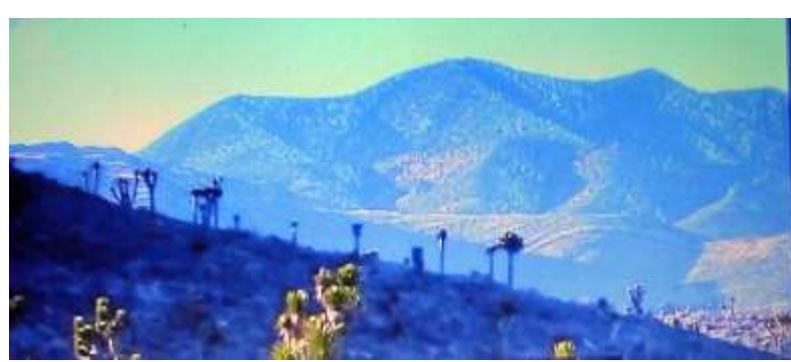

Former radar specialist T.D. Barnes claims there is a large, subterranean test facility near the Nevada test area. It was used from 1952 to 1972. Purpose: test of nuclear rockets in a project called NERVA, enormously large. They developed a nuclear engine which would take them to Mars. This created stories that they were working underground. At Jack Ass Flats they did. They had test axles above ground with a nuclear rocket which emitted clouds of smoke. They were subterranean because it was very radioactive.

Now we have proved that the US went to Mars in the early 1970s. As far as I understand, the time aspect of travelling to Mars was reduced by 50% by using nuclear engines developed for this purpose. Now we understand why several launch pads were located in Brazil, in an isolated area by the sea. If there was an explosion before the launch or shortly thereafter, the public would never know about it, since the NERVA project was a top secret in a totally isolated area. More info at Industry, Conquering Space II, pp 27 – 40, and Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 106-110, 113-118, 132-135. Study also Manned Orbiting Laboratory (MOL), 1963 - 1969.

The NERVA Mars project Area 51, also coincides with Journalist Luca Scantamburlo, Italy and Moonwalker 1966 delta regarding flights to Mars with spacecraft ISV Columbus, probably assisted by UFO.

Some people believe that extra-terrestrial doomsday weapons have been developed at Area 51 via construction-in-reverse.

1969, Apollo 11 and the flight to the Moon. The Apollo 11 moon landing was broadcast directly on July 20, the highlight of the space race against the Soviet Union. Not everybody who was watching tv believed in what happened. Many believe that the historic touch-down was sophisticated humbug, filmed at Area 51. Authorities believe that if the public were allowed to visit Area 51, they would take photos of the dunes and mountains, compare them with the actual films and find them identical. People would understand that the films were shot at the same location.

The light is particularly puzzling, certain photos display background lighting on the lunar module despite the fact that no extra light devices were brought to the Moon. On the film there are shadows of floodlight, Klieg light, and camera sounds which had been organized at Area 51 in order to simulate the lunar touch-down at night.

Those who embrace the humbug theory point at the flag which was placed on the lunar surface. The movements of the flag indicate wind, which is impossible in a vacuum. The flag seems to shake and flutter. On the Moon there is vacuum, nothing can move the flag.

Why would the US lie about the lunar landing? Prestige? I have in my possession the tv-documentary about the American enterprise Grumman. They built the lunar module. The film clearly states that nobody could guarantee that the first landing on the Moon would succeed. The lunar module had two different rocket engines. One was a retro- or landing engine, the other one a starter motor. The retro engine was tested by Apollo 9 in orbit around the Earth, and by Apollo 10 around the Moon. They worked well. However, the starter motor was never tested before launch. There is no room for mistakes, they must be perfect. Nobody could guarantee the state of the starter motor at the first lunar landing.

Therefore NASA wanted to postpone the Apollo 11 lunar flight, but President Nixon and CIA said no. Then, as far as I understand, NASA decided to park Apollo 11 around the Earth during its mission. More info at Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 83-93.

Almost simultaneously the Soviet Union launched a manned Soyuz spacecraft called Luna-15 to the Moon. It landed on the far side of the Moon. The cosmonauts brought a Soviet flag which did not flutter. But the launch failed and the craft exploded with two anonymous cosmonauts on board shortly after launch. More info at Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, pp 122-131.

If we take a closer look, we can see that Armstrong turns his back on Aldrin. Who took the picture?

The photo comes from Area 51.

A brief summary of Area 51: It is the best document about Area 51. Fantastic incidents took place, and still take place, there. Despite the fact that is a secret army base, authorities and individuals have published much about activities on the base. As far as I understand that UFO and extra-terrestrials are very influential. I wonder what Area 51 would look like without UFO and extra-terrestrials?

There is at least one more very interesting issue. Why is the area called Area 51? There is no answer from USAF. This is my own theory about Area 51: Area 51 (5 + 1 = 6), coincides with Book of Revelation and David's six-pointed star. Another strong link to Area 51 is Pope John XXIII's Predictions and Prophecies from the Diary. There he scclaims, very clearly, that extra-terrestrials come here to share much of their advanced knowledge. In the diary they are called 'Heavenly friends'. More info at Industry, The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, page 55.

Area 51 is a storage area for damaged UFO parts, e.g. from Roswell and Kecksburg.

2012. A book only acknowledged by a selected few. But what about its contents? Secret stories? Secret plans? Secret lies? Does America's Book of Secrets really exist? Some people believe there is a book containing the most well-guarded secrets in the US. In this case, Fort Knox.

Fort Knox is one of the most secure buildings in the world. It houses a large part of the wealth of the US.

The American gold reserve is kept at four sites: Denver, West Point, the Federal Reserve in New York and Fort Knox.

Behind the stone façade of the building are secret so unbelievable... Is there any gold at Fort Knox? We do not know.

In 1933 the state nationalised the gold, it was stolen from the Americans. Roosevelt realized that the only way to end depression was to allow the federal government to take control of the money. Watched over by federal police officers, people were forced to hand over gold and gold certificates at 20 dollars per ounce. Those who did not obey were fined and faced a prison sentence of up to 10 years. Almost overnight the US gold reserve increased to almost 5,000 tons. Most of it was transformed into 12.5-kilo bars. A year later, Roosevelt upped the price of gold to price of gold to $ 35 per ounce. When he had acquired all gold in the country, he doubled its value. That is possible when you are the only owner. One difference: the government got the gain. That was how the New Deal tried to boost the economy. In a shorter period than two years, Roosevelt had acquired the largest fortune in history.

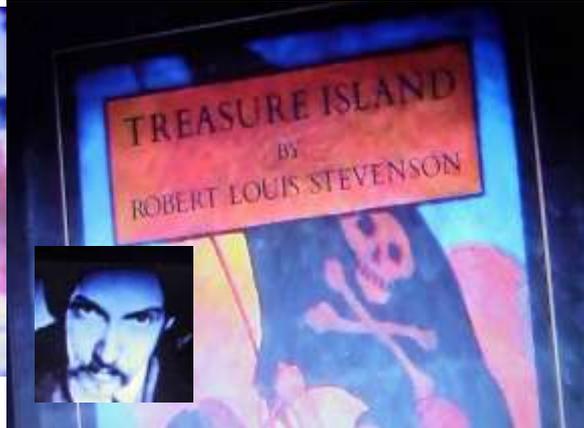

To house it, he built the strongest fort in the US: Fort Knox.

The military forces at Fort Knox are always on standby in case someone should attack the gold depository. Secret guards, a secure vault and a wall of silence about its contents have led to speculations that Roosevelt's choice of location has its roots in a colourful legend. The story is that the Founding Fathers, during the revolution, understood that the public treasury needed protection from the Brits. Kentucky was a possibility, then part of Virginia. Washington must have realised that there was no fort secure enough, what they had were the vast wilderness and caves of Kentucky. Local folklore has always maintained that the caves surrounding Fort Knox were ideal locations for pirates and others if they wished to hide their treasures. The pirate legend gets some credibility by the fact that throughout the years pieces of gold and silver have been found in the Kentucky interior. But can a cave like this have been the first depository for gold in the US? Some say so. To prove their point of view, they point out the Brit Jonathan Swift, a mysterious George Washington aide who is said to have owned large areas of land in Kentucky.

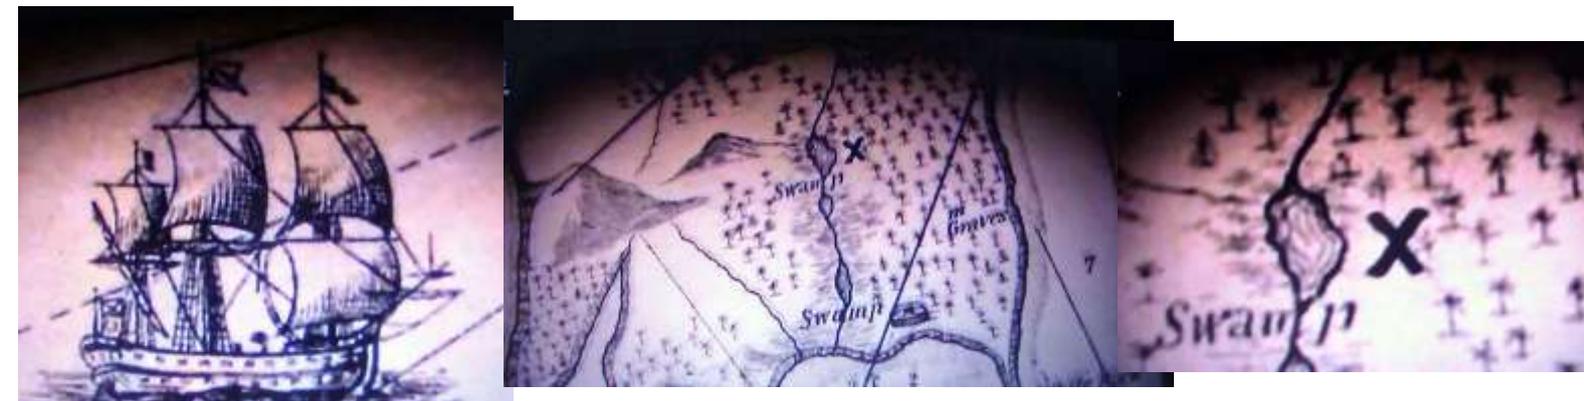

Jonathan Swift

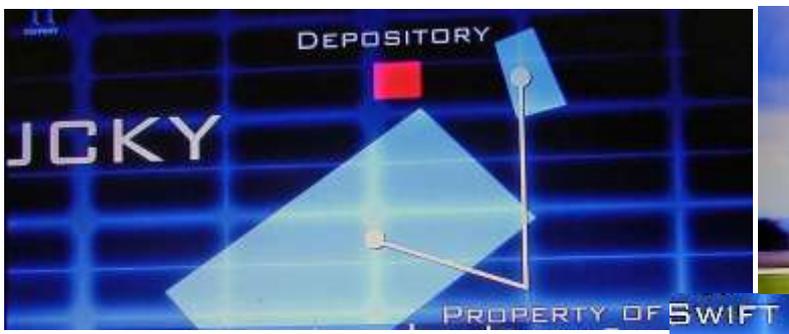

George Washington

Some people say that Swift was the model of a famous, invented pirate. When Robert Louis Stevenson wrote Treasure Island, he knew about the legend Jonathan Swift. Many people believe that he stole that legend and created Long John Silver.

On the map drawn for the book, the island looks like the US and the X, which tells us where the treasure is to be found, seems to point to Kentucky. Using contemporary maps and letters Robert Prather states that gold may have been smuggled in salt barrels to secret caves on ground owned by Swift.

Grounds situated only a few kilometres from today's Fort Knox. The history of the location goes back to what took place towards the end of the 18th century. Jonathan Swift owned the land connected to the gold depository. The fact that we are not allowed to know anything about its content demonstrates that mystery-mongering has always been important when it comes to the public treasury. The official figure today for Fort Knox is 147.3 ounces of gold (2012). It is worth trillions of dollars, more than the sum of all gold in China, Japan, Switzerland, Russia and Saudi Arabia

GOLDFINGER

Robbing Fort Knox. The treasury only admits attempts to do so. Culprit: Goldfinger, James Bond's arch enemy in the 1964 blockbuster film. The producers' challenge was show to present Fort Knox and its top-secret interior. They asked permission to come inside, but the answer was no. The design department was charged to create the interior of the fort.

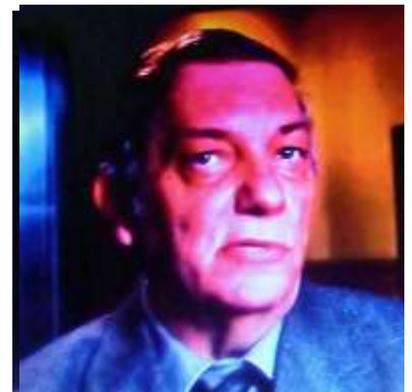

One producer said he wanted to see a cathedral of gold. After having seen the movie, many people believed it had been filmed inside Fort Knox. But reality was very different. In Goldfinger you can see the gold below the floor. So, how correct was the movie version of Fort Knox?

Doug Simmons is one of the few ex-employees who is willing to say what it is like inside the walls of the depository. It is, in fact, only a typically dull official building. The building itself is impressive, but not as much as in Goldfinger. Security is so classified that the Treasury even refuses to mention it.

Ron Bryant: 'Not even a fly can enter Fort Knox. It is one the most secure objects of the US.'

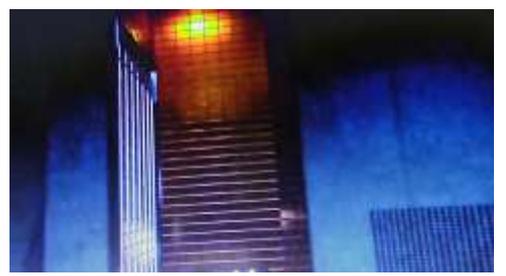

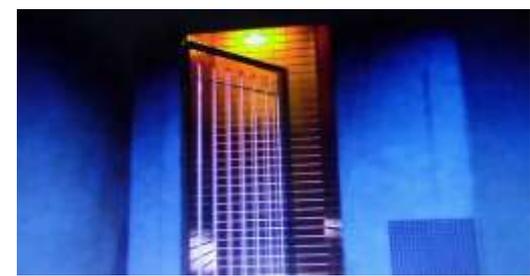

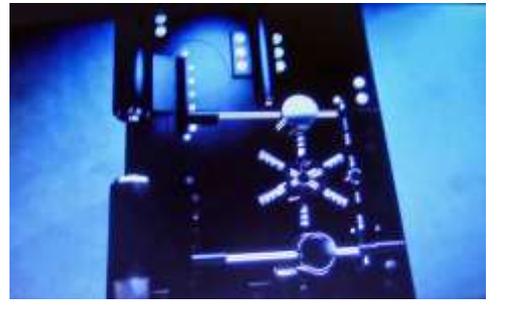

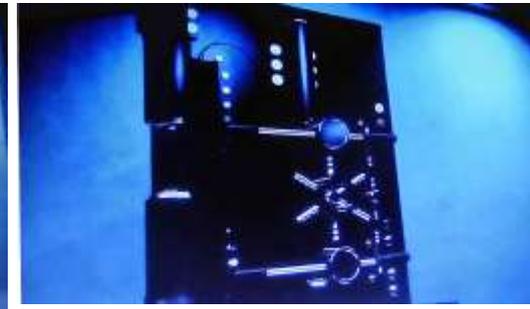

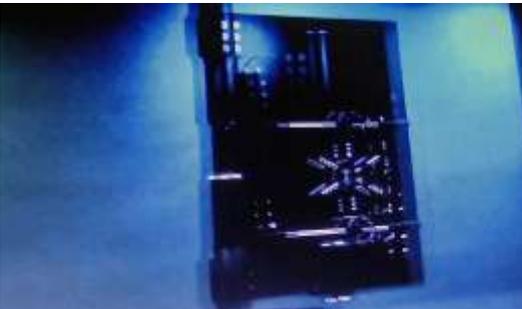

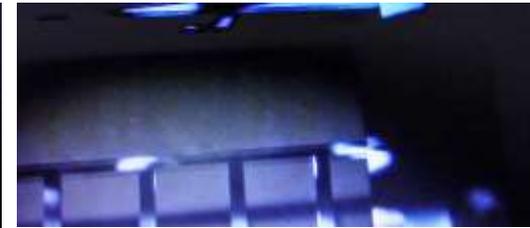

Ron Bryant: 'What we know about security starts at the exterior defense area. Four fences and a 100-metre lawn surround the building. There is plenty of room for mine fields, trap mines and automatic rifles. Watchtowers give a 360-degree overview and maximum fire capacity. The windows are fake windows and hide barriers of Kevlar and steel.'

Paul Urbahns: 'At night the building is protected by darkness. Various light technologies make the depository 'disappear' at night.'

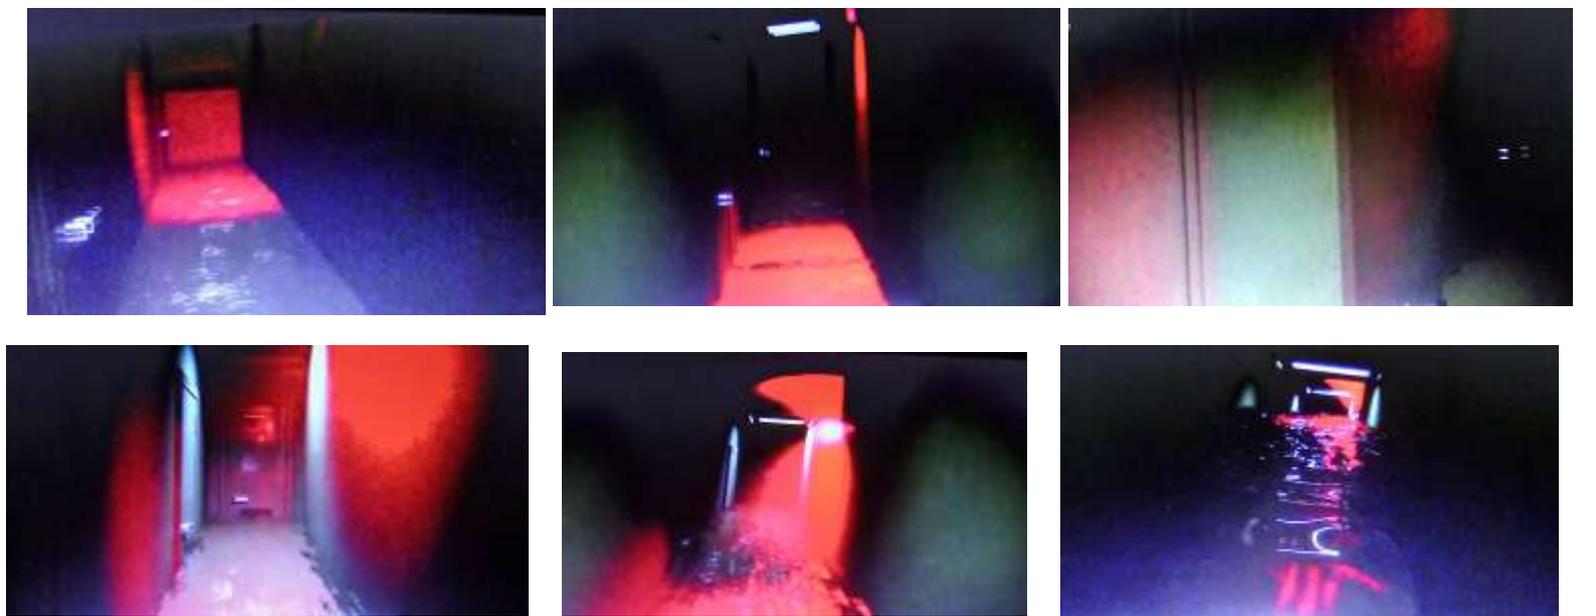

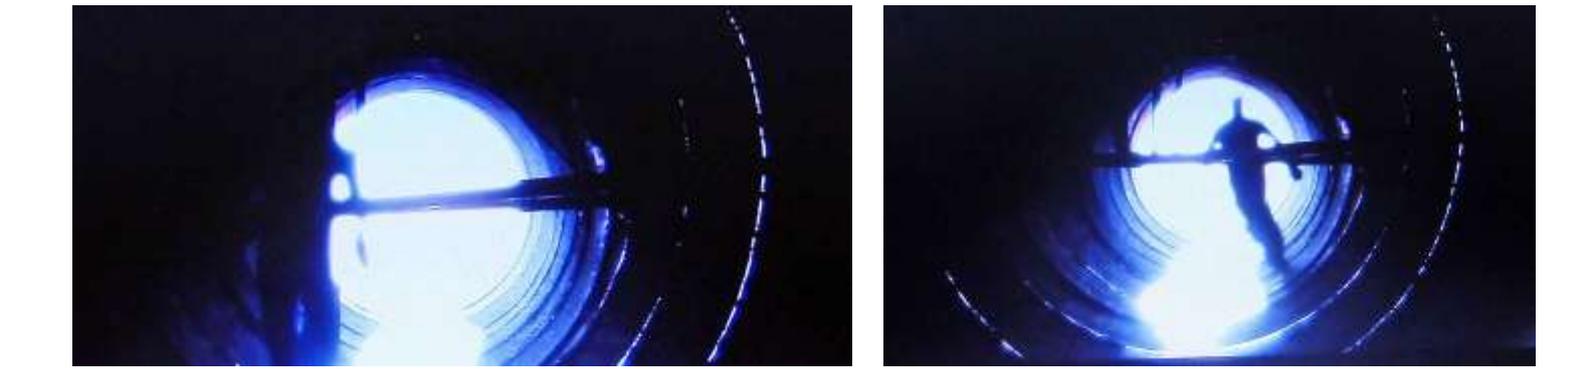

Paul Urbahns: 'The interior is a labyrinth: 600 m³ of granite and concrete, more that 1,400 metric tons of steel. Beyond the offices is an elevator which takes you down to the depository in the basement. Its door has a thickness of 52 centimetres and weighs more than 20 metric tons. A number of officials must be present to unlock it, each of them with a unique, classified code. The depository is divided into individual cells said to be 10x10 feet, filled with gold from 10 from floor to ceiling.'

Allan Halverson: 'And there are other, even more secret, security measures. There is gas to deter robbers. If the door or the lock are manipulated, the room will be filled with gas.'

Paul Urbahns: 'There are several rumours surrounding Fort Knox. One is that it can be inundated, supported by newspaper articles from the 1930s. The design was applied by the French Central Bank. If that idea was applied to the final design is known only by the Treasury and they keep quiet.'

David Ganz: 'The most surprising Fort Knox detail would astound you. There are flight tunnels inside the building, tunnels mentioned by nobody. They are security measures, installed because of the 72-hour-time lock. If you are locked up, you are stuck for three days. You cannot exit the building or the fenced area, you can only pass from one vault to another.'

PRIVATE GOLD/SILVER STORAGE FACILITY
 circa 1946

To Whom It May Concern:

I have a strange request and have gotten nowhere in nearly two months of investigation. When my client, Darrel Rogers, was nine years old (1946), he was a witness to a murder in Colorado that involved the theft of "a ton of gold bars and a 1/2 ton of silver bars." At the end of the trial the judge awarded the boy a portion of the gold and silver. He said the National Guard was involved and that the bars were taken back to the Fort Knox area to a private storage facility "about 20 miles this side of Fort Knox."

In April 1946 he and a friend of his talked to the judge in the case and was given permission to travel back to the facility. He described the place as "surrounded by a wire fence with cement storage vaults underground, about a block long, with buildings at the lower end." A hoist brought 150 pounds of bars (each about 2" x 6") to the ground level and they loaded the bars into the vehicle themselves. The bars had "re-smelted" and were now stamped with something that had the word, Knox, in it.

Later the friend stole the gold and silver bars from the boy and left the area. The boy then moved with his parents to Oklahoma where the next year they received a tax bill for $19,000. He remembers the IRS coming to the house and his parents contacting the judge in Colorado; he never learned the outcome of the tax bill.

His memory appears to be very good but I can find nothing in the local papers or no records at the Colorado prison about the murder trial. I have written to three Army National Banks in the Fort Knox area; only one was polite enough to write back saying that the gold and silver would have been held at a private facility. However, no additional help was offered.

Can you help me? Is there an historical society in the area or someone whom I can contact about verifying the whereabouts of this facility and determining what became

Paul Urbahns: 'But still, since 1937 when Fort Knox was finished, there have been rumours about its vulnerability, the letter above is an example. In 1998, local historian Ron Bryant received a letter from a private investor in Colorado. He wrote that he represented a man who, when he was a child, had helped the police when they arrested a murderer who had stolen Fort Knox gold in his possession. It happened in 1946. The judge allowed him to return to Fort Knox when the returned the stolen gold. His description of the facility was credible. If it is true or not, I don't know.'

Allan Halverson: 'Does the letter prove that somebody has entered Fort Knox? Is it possible that gold has been stolen? The US government has never admitted that gold has been stolen from Fort Knox. But can any vault be totally secure? If there is an opportunity, you can pass by almost anything. There are many possible motives encouraging robbery or sabotage, including a terrorist attack.'

In the 1970s and 80s you could drive all the way up to the building. There was only an iron fence. Today there are several fences an concrete walls.

Doug Simmons: 'The US has seen many presidents since Roosevelt closed the doors at Fort Knox in 1937. But not one of them has, as far as we know, visited the famous gold depository. And no one has opened its doors to the public to verify its contents. There is one exception, in the autumn of 1974. The trust in the government was minimal and it was suggested that Fort Knox was empty, the government was lying. In 1971, after a financial struggle with France, Nixon disconnected the dollar from the gold standard. The value of the dollar would no longer be based on gold.'

Paul Urbahns: 'When de Gaulle was the president of France, he told other countries 'If you owe , money, pay in US dollars.' Then he changed his dollars into gold. This made large amounts of gold disappear from the gold reserve. How much was left in the US public treasury? Worried public representatives demanded to know. On September 23, 1974, the head of the US Mint Mary Brooks took lawyers and reporters on a half-hour tour to the Fort Knox depository.'

David Ganz: 'We arrived by bus up Bullion Boulevard. When you approach the building there are warning signs: Police officers are instructed to shoot to kill, access totally prohibited.'

Walter Huddleston: 'We took an elevator from the first floor to the basement where the gold is stored. When we left the elevator and walked beside the depositories, they were filled with gold. There were 13 cells. Above each door there was a fragile piece of cloth with a wax seal, signed and dated when last opened. A primitive but effective security measure.'

Doug Simmons: 'It is almost impossible to touch them without damaging the seal. If the seal is broken, no one is allowed to leave the building. Officers are dispatched to check if something has been stolen from that cell. The visitors were guided to one of the smaller cells. Why that one and not one of the ones remains a mystery. But nobody had any objections at the time.'

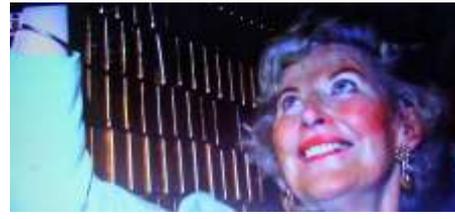

David Ganz: 'We cut the seal. Now we have to be extra careful. It was very exciting to cut the seals and open the door to the depository. The lights from the tv team and the camera flashlights illuminated the gold. It reaches the ceiling.'

Walter Huddleston: 'We were allowed to lift it and make sure it really was gold. It commanded respect and I just wanted to remain there staring at it. It weighs around 10 kilos.'

Doug Simmons: 'Most visitors were satisfied after having seen the contents of the cell. But some of them claimed that all that glitters is not gold. The depository was opened for the first time since the 1930s and everybody could see its contents. But what they opened was actually Pandora's box. They all saw a lot of gold bars stacked in a room and they immediately said: 'They are probably fake.'

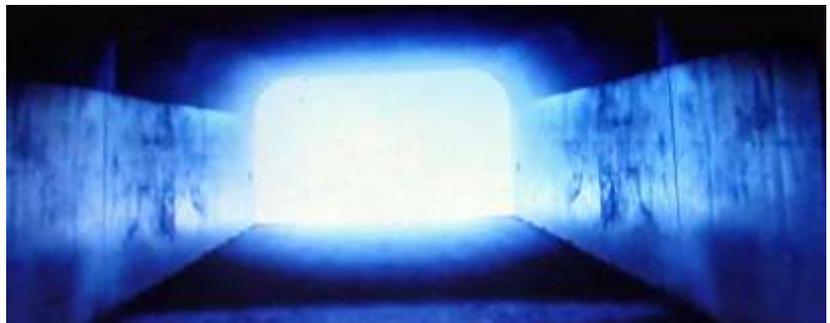

Bill Still: 'Why were the visitors allowed to see only one cell, and why did they not get access to certain corners of the facilities? Eventually, photos taken on the occasion started to be circulated among newspapers and magazines. But instead of reassuring the sceptics, new questions were asked. Some doubted the quality of the gold, based on the colour. Others claimed, according to this AP photo, that the bars did not weigh 12.5 kilos, more like 10 kilos. According to a press release published by the Treasury, simple scales were used. But if we enlarge the photo, we can see that standard equipment from US Postal Service was used.'

Bill Still: 'The most exciting issue was the possibility of having seen a secret depository which was not only a depository but one whose existence was and is questioned. There is a famous photo of Mary Brooks: 'Look, all the gold is here!' They opened gold vault number thirteen. If we make a rough calculation based on what we can see, the vault contains around a million ounces. But according to current statistics there should be around 150 million ounces of gold at Fort Knox. That would require 150 number 13 vaults. It is obvious that something is missing.'

Dear Dr. Graham:

This is to confirm certain November 16
statements I have made to you, Dr. Peter D. Beter, Mr.
Edward Durrell, and Congressman Otis Pike. This is a condensed version omitting many minor details but does, I believe, include all the salient points.

... Troop "A", 1954...
... was placed on special duty as...
... to a Mr. Edward Van Horn, Treasury...
... Agent-in-Charge of the United States...
... Depository, commonly referred to as The...
... Vault.

Mr. Van Horn took me on a familiarization tour of the entire structure and explained the innovations and characteristics of the major components as rehearsals for receiving, checking, weighing and storing the gold bricks were to be held during the ensuing few days.

... the entire structure...
... innovations and characteristics of...
... as rehearsals for receiving, checking and storing the gold bricks were to...
... during the ensuing few days.

When I use the word "vault" I am referring to the central core of the Depository where the bullion was stored. This vault was below ground level and could be entered only through a specially constructed bank-type door that opened onto a screw-lift. This door was in the receiving-shipping area of the Depository.

Bill Still: 'Does this picture show the existence of an even more secure depository? Former Fort Knox commander, General John Ryan wrote that there is a central vault and that he had been there.'

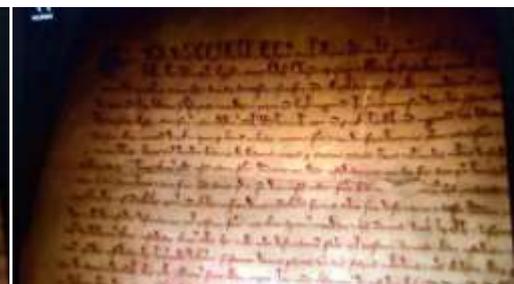

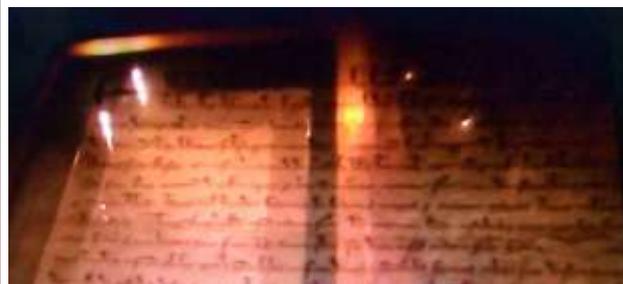

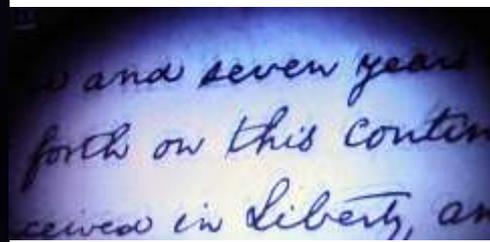

Bill Still: 'He drew a map of vault number 13, situated at the ground floor, and the central vault situated below ground. This is much bigger, almost as big as the facilities, but below ground level. Again, the government was caught lying. Why will they not be open? It is obvious they are hiding something. Why would the government deny the existence of a central vault? Is it because of a security protocol? And if each vault contained only one million ounces, where was the rest of the gold of Fort Knox?'

David Ganz: 'Being there was an overwhelming experience. But the fact that the gold was there in 1974 does not mean it is there today. The authorities had wished that the inspection of the gold would have silenced those who questioned its existence. But for some, the visit to Fort Knox only led to additional speculations.'

Doug Simmons: 'I was looking for a summer job and one day the telephone rang. A man asked me if I was interested in a job. I said yes and asked what kind of job it was, but he could not say.' The call came from Fort Knox. It was an easy job: moving gold from one room to another where it would be washed and counted. 'I started my job there in 1975. We were not allowed to discuss it with anyone. We were 18 years old. The very first day we told our girlfriends everything.'

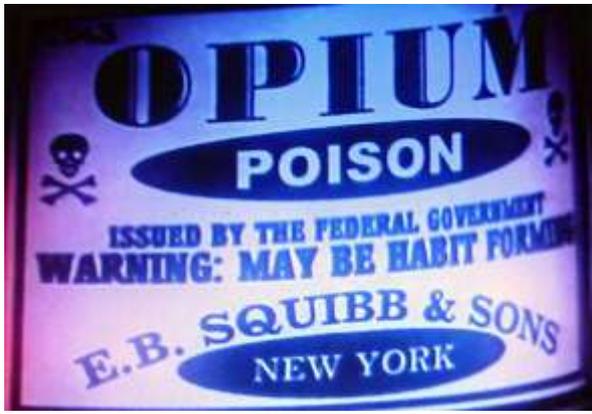

Simmons soon discovered that Fort Knox was much more than just a gold storage. During World War II Fort Knox was a hiding place for the country's most important document: the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution and Lincoln's speech at Gettysburg. And when the battle of Great Britain was going on, Fort Knox was also trusted with a copy of Magna Charta. It has always been a storage facility. We can only guess what the boxes contain.

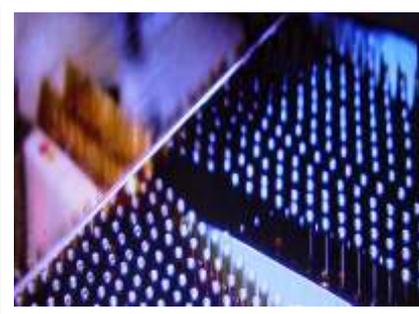

Doug Simmons: 'I was there when the Crown of St Stephen was handed back to the Hungarian government. A crown, a sword and the sceptre, invaluable objects.' The presence of sealed boxes convinced Simmons that the main purpose of Fort Knox was not to store gold but to provide safe storage of historic and strategic value. Nobody will try to break into the fort in order to steal the gold, it would require an enormous operation because the weight of the gold. If someone would try that, it would not be to steal gold.

Ron Bryant: 'Fort Knox housed objects which would terrify people today. One example is opium.'

Paul Urbahns: 'The army and the government have stored drugs and chemicals in case of war.'

Doug Simmons: 'It was a wake-up call because then we realised that the government anticipated a nuclear war, they stores pain-killing medicines. According to a 1993 report, almost 35 metric tons of opium and morphine are stored at Fort Knox. There are also 900,000 carats of diamonds and precious stones, comparable to crown jewels.'

Ken Storch: 'But there are those who believe that Fort Knox contains something even more valuable and more strategically important than both gold and jewels. In 1948 Captain Thomas Mantell in the National Guard was ordered to investigate a strange incident above Fort Knox. Thomas Mantell was a decorated pilot during the Second World War and had had many hours in space during his career. He led a division to Goddard in Kentucky, near Fort Knox. During early morning a UFO was spotted above the airstrip and Mantell was asked by the air traffic controllers to have a closer look.'

Janson Martell: 'What he saw was a large, glowing ball. He approached it to see what it was. Mantell and the air traffic controller were communicating.'

Ken Storch: 'We don't know what they talked about, it is classified by the authorities. What we know is that a farmer heard some noise, looked up and saw a P51 aircraft crash. There are speculations about what happened. Initially there were rumours that Mantell had been shot down by the UFO, that the motor was incapacitated by some kind of beam and that he crashed.'

Janson Martell: 'Few UFO incidents involve deaths. But Thomas Mantell died when he pursued this vehicle and it was quite dramatic. Some researchers claim that the crashed aircraft is hidden away at Fort Knox. But if so – why? Is it possible that a UFO was involved? A UFO looking for gold. What is remarkable is that it happened straight above Fort Knox. Was it because the large amounts of gold inside?'

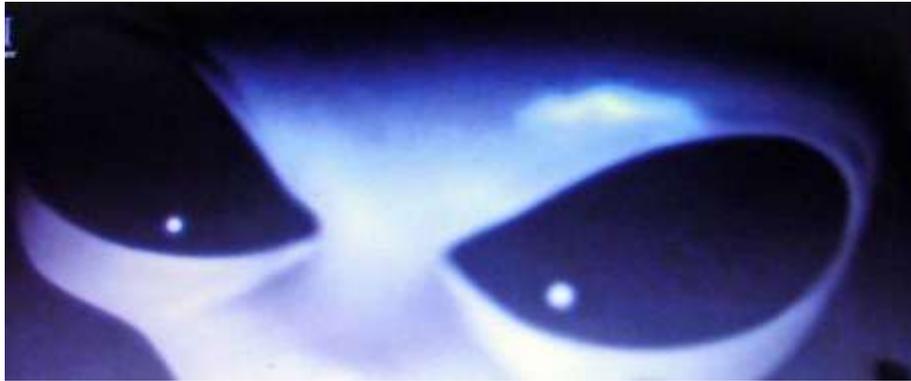

Ken Storch: 'Gold does not corrode, it conducts electricity and is one of the elements in Universe. Here we have an enormous storage of gold and there were several observations in the Fort Knox area. Can Fort Knox be a hiding place for evidence proving that extra-terrestrials exist?'

Doug Simmons: 'I don't know if they have space fellows from Roswell or Jimmy Hoffa locked up, but they spend a lot of money on security.'

Chris Powell: 'You can enter Fort Knox tomorrow and see large amounts of gold. But it does not answer the questions. The gold reserve is used to manipulate. The gold reserve is public property, owned by the US citizens. And it is used for secret proceedings behind the back of the US citizen.'

Letter

Chris Powell: The gold reserve is public property owned by the US citizens and it used to carry out secret proceedings hidden from the Congress and the public. In 1980 the journalist Bill Still got a letter. Sender was the wealthy businessman Edward Durrell. Durrell described how he had researched Fort Knox at great cost. His conclusion was shocking. No gold was stored there.'

Bill Still: 'The gold was carried from Fort Knox by truck and rail. It was sent to New York and from there to London. It was sold on the market for 35 dollars per ounce. Shortly thereafter the price increased and in 1980 it reached the top level: 900 dollars/ounce. If you had bought tons of gold from Fort Knox via the London Gold Pool at 35 dollars per ounce and sold it at 800-900 dollars per ounce, you profit was considerable. Hundreds of millions of ounces of gold disappeared from the US forever.'

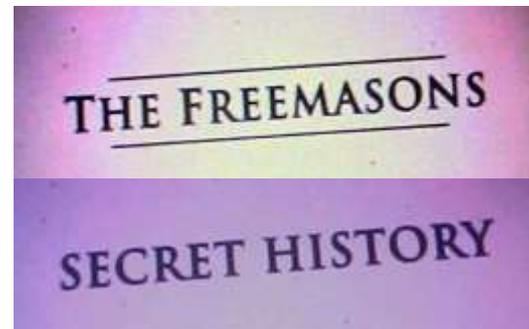

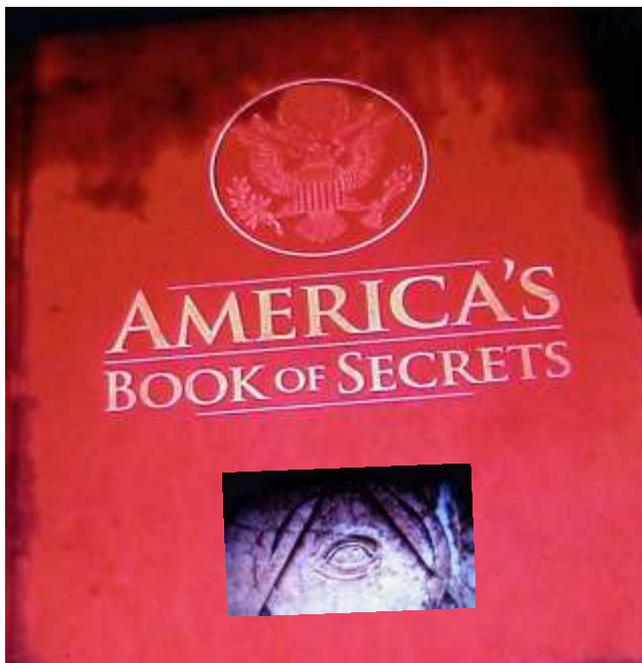

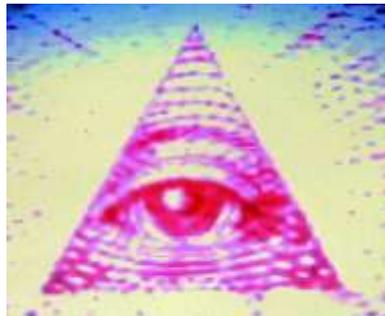

Bill Still: 'Is it possible that the entire American gold reserve has been moved? Photos show loading platforms at the back of the facility, hidden from public traffic. But some people are still sceptical. Despite modern technology there is only one way of moving the gold: by truck to the railway.'

Doug Simmons: 'And how do you do that without media attention? They must have used an invisibility device, they cannot have done it without raising attention.'

2012. A book only known to a selected few. But what does it tell us? Secret stories? Secret Plans? Secret Lies? Does it really exist, America's Book of Secrets? Some people believe there is a book which contains the most well-guarded secrets in the US.

The Freemasons, the most private organisation in the US. They hold mysterious meetings behind closed doors and among the members we find the world's most powerful men. But there are secrets in the fraternity. Secrets which are shocking, the agenda points to world supremacy. 'We wish to create a new world order.' – If you worship Lucifer, you should keep the secret.

Cannes, the French Riviera, November 3, 2011. President Barack Obama and other international leaders take part in the sixth G20 summit. At the G 20 summits in London, Toronto and France thousands of people protested violently. Why? What are they afraid of? Officially the G 20 leaders meet to discuss, plan and watch over international economy. But there are those who say that there are more secret reasons behind the creation of a global economy-based government, called The New World Order. A companionship with direct connections to something even more secret: ...Freemasonry.

Alex Jones: 'Freemasonry is only a vein in a large system. Its tentacles can be found in all cities of the world. During centuries the Masons have been accused of being behind the world's big conspiracies. The world's most powerful men: industrial tycoons, visionaries and American presidents are members.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'The 20th century Masons can be found in industry and politics, there are prominent Masons everywhere. Freemasonry is like a gallery of American development in the 20th century. Today there are six million Masons in the world. According to those who say they know, they have their stronghold in the US. Fourteen out of 44 presidents have been Masons, seven in the 20th century. Among them William McKinley, Warren Harding, Howard Taft, Theodore and Franklin Roosevelt, Harry Truman and Gerald Ford. Who are the Masons and where did they come from? Their origin is a mystery. It is probably the only organization you can say that about. Freemasonry is the world's oldest and largest fraternity.'

Christopher Hodapp: 'According to the myth, the fraternity was founded during the construction of Salomon's Temple. The true roots of freemasonry can be found there.'

Akram Elias: 'The Egyptians were skilful builders. Their most prominent stone constructions are the pyramids and obelisks, symbols of the freemasons. Freemason means 'free mason.' They did not build only structures they also built an inner temple. Construction is important, thus the Egyptian connection.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'The most obvious origin can be found at the 17th century reformation. A group of academics, tradesmen, scholars, politicians and priests came together to discuss religion, social problems and science in an atmosphere free from church and aristocracy control. And it was dangerous. People who did that, even during the period of enlightenment could be persecuted, imprisoned and, in extreme cases, killed. The origin of the secret fraternity may remain a secret, but their influence in the US grew during the mid-1700s. They went to the US on British battleships. Masonic lodges started to appear in 1700s. We should remember that the 18th century was the Age of Enlightenment.

Freemasons went to the US on British battleships. Masonic lodges started to appear in 1700s. We should remember that the 18th century was the Age of Enlightenment.'

Akram Elias: 'The Masons propagated various ideals and principles. The Founding Fathers supported the Enlightenment. The freemasons were encouraged to study seven different subjects: grammar, rhetoric and logic would help them developing a logical way of thinking and give them communication tools. This was illustrated with two symbolic tools: the set square and a pair of compasses, their universal symbols.'

A pair of compasses are the tools of the individual. You draw a circle around you, outside that circle you lose control. How can you enlarge the circle? By knowledge and enlightenment. The set square is the symbol of wisdom. The letter G is a symbol of the architect behind Universe. They want to provide reflecting humans and the best way to do that is to fight tyranny. In mid-1700s American Masons took part in regular secret meetings. They met in cottages, barns and rooms above taverns, sites where the secrets could remain secrets.'

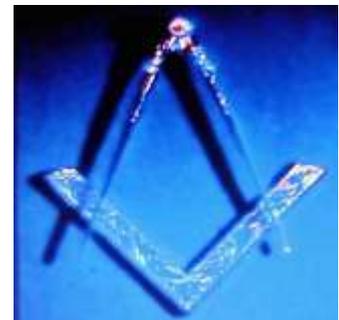

Christopher Hodapp: 'Anyone who cannot keep secret passwords and handshakes cannot be trusted. Franklin said: 'If we don't hang in together, we will hang separately.'

Alice von Kannon: Hush-hush was important for the Brothers of the Union. They were more than fathers. Hush-hush was the cement.'

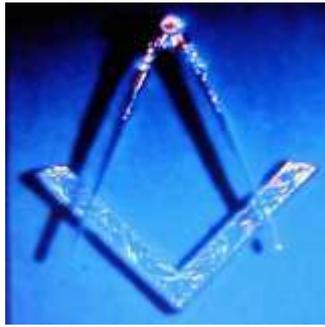

Christopher Hodapp: 'What did they discuss at the secret meetings? Did they concoct diabolic plans? Boston December 16 1773: Communication between the colonies and England was severed. Sons of Liberty was a group whose mission was to protect the colonies. At the Green Dragon Tavern an infamous rebellion was started: the Boston Tea Party.'

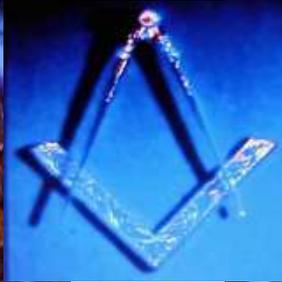

Christopher Hodapp: 'The revolution started at the Green Dragon Tavern which was bought by St. Andrews Lodge around 1760. Paul Revere was the Master of his lodge and they often met at Green Dragon Tavern.'

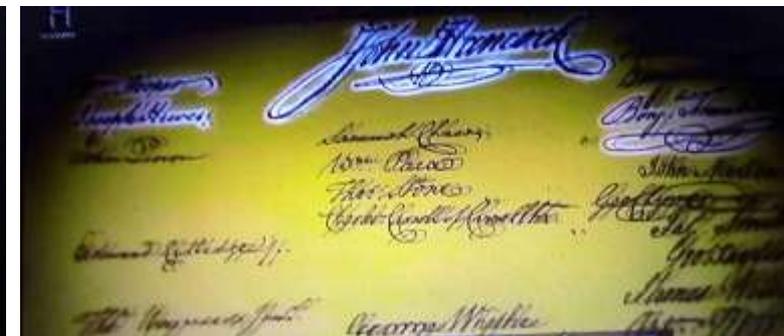

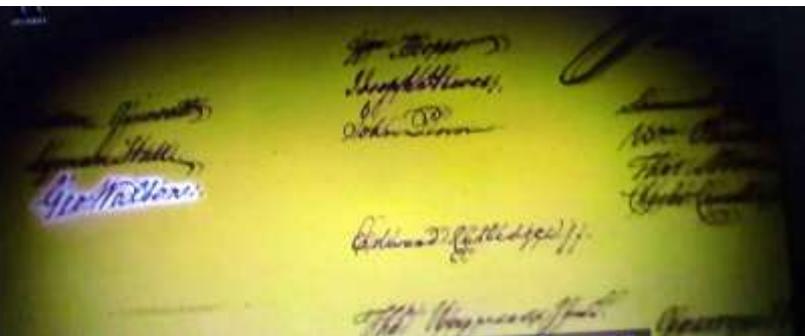

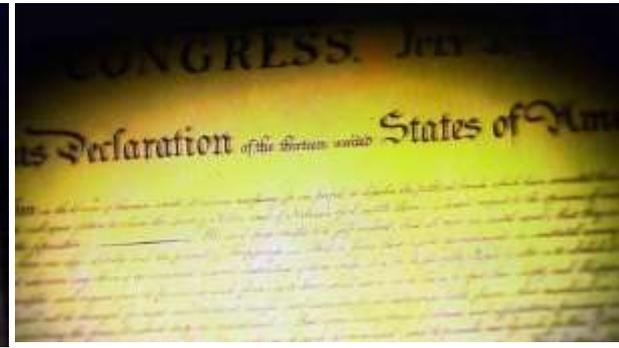

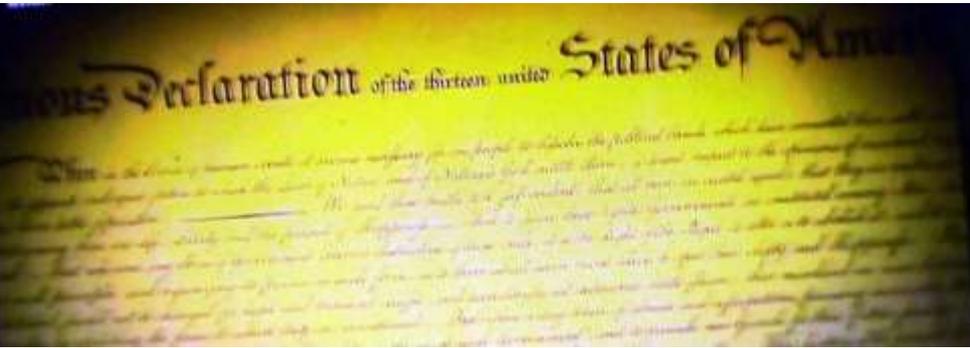

Akram Elias: 'Sons of Liberty also met there. Interesting. The Boston Tea Party was planned at the tavern by members of St Andrews Lodge. The minutes from one of their meetings says Meeting cancelled, to few members. They were dumping tea into the sea. The Boston Tea Party was a rebellion against taxes and tyranny. Did the Masons really initiate something that later on would be known as The New World Order?'

Mitch Horowitz: 'The Masons were crucial for the revolution since some of the founders of the country, e.g. Franklin and Washington, were members.'

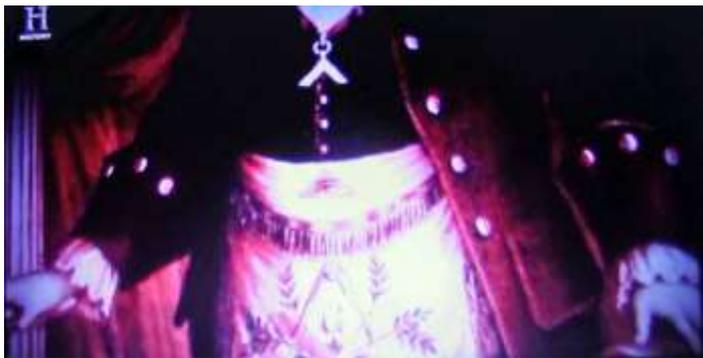

Christopher Hodapp: 'The Masons were important in Washington. They had created a network and asked their generals to join.'

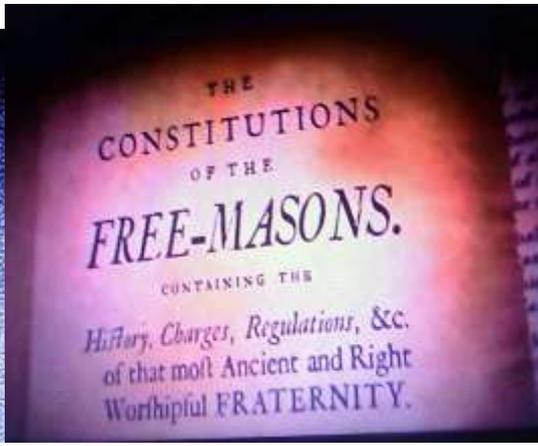

Mitch Horowitz: 'According to him they became more reliable as 33 out of Washington's 74 generals were Masons. It was not a coincidence. Among 56 signatories of the Declaration of Independence, nine were Masons. One third of the signatories of the Constitution were Masons. One contributor to the Constitution was the first American Grand Master, Benjamin Franklin.'

Christopher Hodapp: Ben Franklin published James Andersson's Constitutions. After that he became Master and Grand Master. He advanced quickly and became popular among Masons.'

Alice von Kannon: Their most important American influence was exercised via Andersson's Constitutions. In 1717 the London Masons opened an official lodge. James Anderson was going to write the Masonic Constitution, a startling book. It was finished in 1723. Concept upon concept can be found both in Constitutions and the Declaration of Independence. Some people believe that as long as the US has existed, the Masonic influence has been thorough and deep. Some say it is only a fraternity. According to some, the Masons are pushing the US towards a new world order. – Secret ritual.

Christopher Hodapp: 'Fredericksburg, Virginia 1752. One man out of 20 is blindfolded. His name is George Washington. He is about to take the Masons' secret Blood Oath. The initiation is the same today. He was blindfolded and knocked three times on the door. When the door was opened, he felt a sharp object against his breast. Then he took the oath at the altar. The blindfold was removed and he could see everybody. They pointed the sword at him to strengthen the gravity. No secrets could be revealed. Today candidates are still required to accept secret rituals. You enter the Tiler's room. A guard armed with a sword is standing outside. He asks for a password and the secret handshake.'

Robert Hieronimus: 'Sometimes, the Masons had to identify themselves in darkness. I'm not going to show you the handshake, it is more like a grip.'

Mark Koltko-Rivera: 'Like many initiation rites the Masons excel at rituals, obligations and the forwarding of certain information. Anyone who cannot keep secret passwords and handshakes is not to be trusted. Freemason lodges are said to be directed eastwards. The letter G points to the east.'

Christopher Hodapp: 'Freemason lodges are said to be directed eastwards. The letter G points to the east. The candidate is taken to the altar, where there is a Bible. That is when the candidate accepts the obligations of his degree.'

There are three degrees: Apprentice, Fellow and Master Mason.

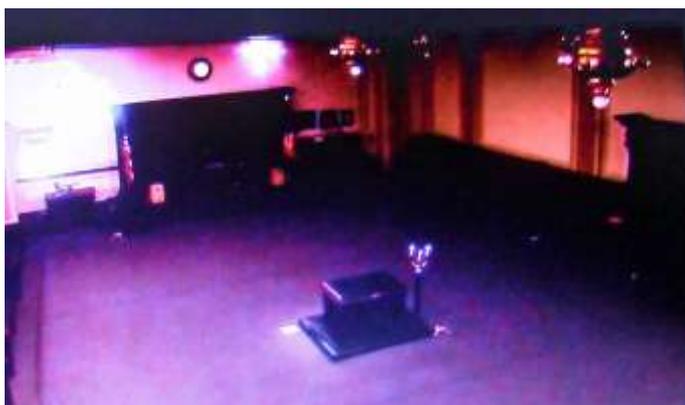

Christopher Hodapp: 'The Masonic secrets are forwarded orally. One man teaches the next man. It is an unbroken chain going back to the 1600s. I can't say more, join if you want to learn more.'

The rituals have hardly changed during 200 years. Via the initiation new members promise to keep all secrets. If they break that promise they can be sentenced to death. There are documents describing trials.

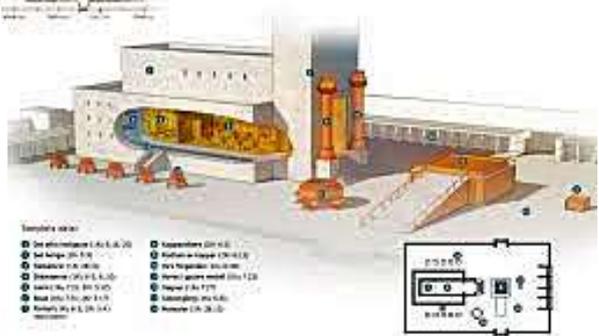

Alex Jones: 'If you have revealed secrets, you can be sentenced to death. It is rumoured that people had their throats cut or were drowned.'

Solomon's Temple

Salorsis tēmpel

Mitch Horowitz: 'Behind closed doors there are ceremonies reminding you of the constant presence of death. Masonic trials, ritual murders, what happens among the Masons is a mystery. One rite, which is often performed at initiations, has been revealed: the murder of Hiram Abiff.

Mark Koltko-Rivera: 'Hiram is introduced in a dramatic way to the Masonic candidates. Hiram was a craftsman who carried out special assignments for King Solomon. The Master degree contains the story of how Solomon's Temple was built.'

Christopher Hodapp: 'Abiff knows the Master's secrets. But three men do not want to wait for the secrets, they attack him. He dies without having revealed any secrets. He is murdered and becomes a kind of Masonic martyr.'

Jim Marrs: 'The Masons are surrounded by a large external circle. There is also an internal circle who knows all the top secrets. But a Mason would deny both circles since he is a member of one of them and has promised not to reveal anything. The internal circle watch over internal secrets. But what information is important enough to make a Mason defend it with his life? Maybe we can find an answer by investigating symbols on documents and buildings. We can even find them on the dollar note.'

Akram Elias: 'It is one of the most important documents of all times. It is one foundation of the US government. The US Constitution is in English, but some people believe that the founders used Masonic symbols to point to a secret agenda. The characters have a symbolic language which hide general truths. The idea is that each individual would discover them.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'Washington likes the symbols and were proud of the Masons. There are pictures of Washington where he wears the Masonic apron. Occult symbols flourish: the eye, the set square, the compasses.'

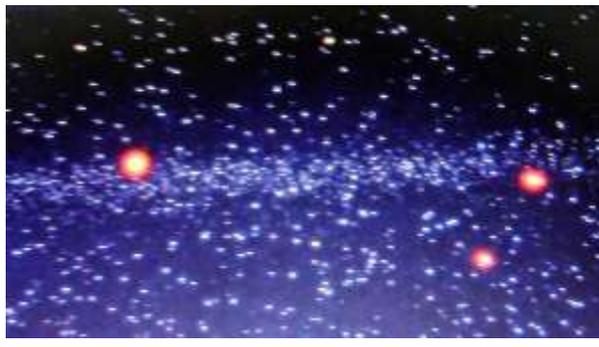

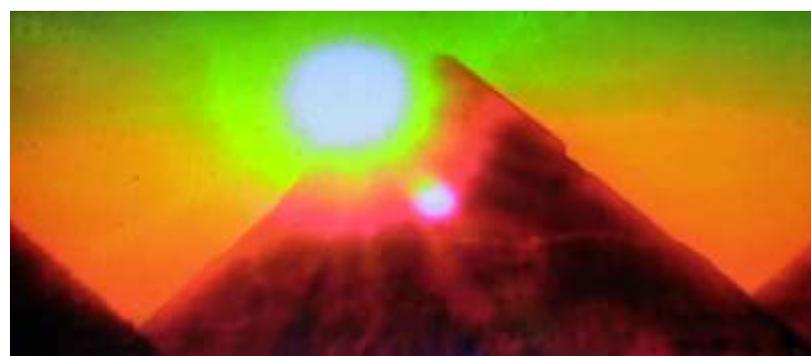

Christopher Hodapp: 'The Masons' logotype depicts the set square, the compasses and the letter G. It is the set square of virtue, by using it you get the correct view. The compasses give you a circle which surrounds your personality, it is a kind of border. Do not cross it! And the letter G? Many people believe it stands for God.'

Robert Hieronimus: 'The letter is placed between the set square and the compasses. It is crucial and may be related to holy geometry.'

Christopher Hodapp: 'Masons see God as the grand architect of the Universe. Today, one of the most famous US symbols, The Great Seal of the United States is still obscure. Mason and Vice President elect Henry Wallace asked Mason and President Franklin Roosevelt to include the symbol on the currency, which they did. Before that, the Seal was not included on the reverse side. We can see the fascination for Egyptian symbols and pyramids.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'All these issues surface in the Masonic ideas and ceremonies. The pyramid is supposed to stand for strength and stamina.'

They understand the power of symbols.

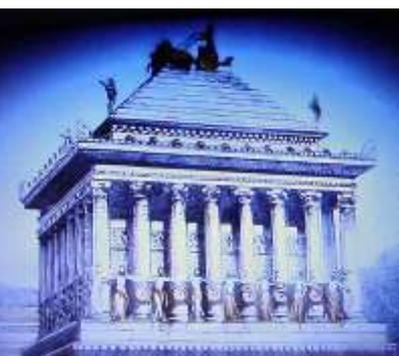

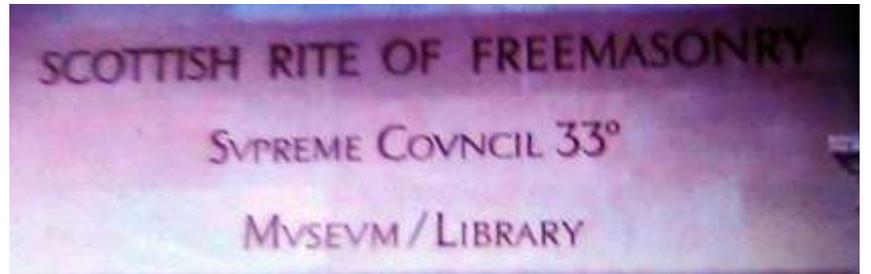

Mark Koltko-Rivera: 'It suggested that the US would be strong and persistent. By using the Grand Seal they wanted to express their original values: that were a democratic experiment. That is why the pyramid is not finished. A democracy is never finished. They understand the power os symbols.'

Alex Jones: 'We see an example of that on the reverse side of the dollar note. There is the pyramid and the all-seeing eye, surrounded by the phrase: Novus Ordo Seclorum – We call for a new order!'

Bill Birnes: 'When the phrase Novus Ordo Seclorum appears at the Great Seal of the USA, people mistrust the Masons and fear that we are on our way to a new world order.'

Christopher Hodapp: 'Are other secrets visible? In Washington D.C, 1.5 kilometres from the White House, is a massive stone building on 16th and S. Street. House of the Temple is the headquarters of the Scottish Masons. Members are said to have come from 16th-century Scotland. The Scottish Rite is a appendant body of Free Masonry. When you have qualified for the first three degrees, you can join other Masonic organisations. The Scottish Rite contains degrees 4 – 33. The Temple's street number is 1733, representing the three degrees of the Scottish Rite.'

The street number is 1733, which is not in accordance with the city plan. They wanted to use '33', you see it everywhere on the building. There are 33 33-foot-high columns. They symbolise the 33 degrees of the Scottish Rite. '33' has been a holy number for centuries. Jesus was 33 years old when he died, he performed 33 miracles. God is mentioned 33 times in Genesis I. Like all Masonic buildings, House of the Temple is decorated with many potent symbols. Even the steps are symbolic, there are five of them. They symbolise the order of the columns and the senses. There are also seven steps, symbols of the seven Masonic subjects. And there is an unfinished pyramid at the top of the Temple, pointing to the pyramid on the Great Seal of the USA. Is there an all-seeing eye somewhere? Perhaps. It is a copy of the Mausolus Mausoleum in Halicarnassus, one of the seven wonders of the ancient world.'

Lucifer

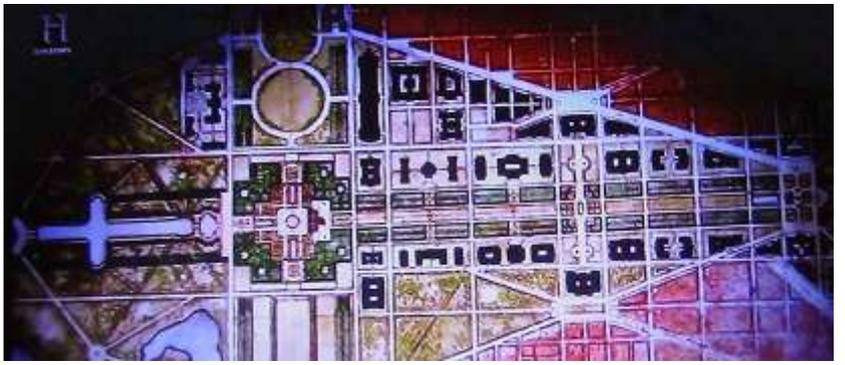

Alex Jones: 'Inside the House of the Temple are the remains of a man who, according to many people, was the most important and controversial Mason, Albert Pike. He was a Confederate States general and wrote many books where he claimed they worship Lucifer. We have been informed of many secrets by Albert Pike. He mentions Lucifer twice in Morals and Dogma and says that 'Lucifer' means 'Bringer of the Light.'

Christopher Hodapp:

'He is fascinated by the development that Bringer of the Light later became Prince of Darkness. Throughout the years this has made us regard him as a guide introducing Lucifer into the Masonic rituals. He was buried in 1891 at Oak Hill in Washington. Ten years later a statue to honour him was erected. It is the only monument which honours an officer of the Confederate Army. In 1944 his body was exhumed and moved to the House of the Temple. Why? Was it because of the rituals described in Morals and Dogma? Or does it mean that Pike's references to Lucifer have a more sinister agenda? We might find the answer in the buildings in Washington and in the city's design.

Alexandria, Virginia, 1791. The first president of the US, George Washington, laid the foundation stone of a diamond matrix which was to become the country's capital in District of Columbia. His design meant that Washington was not only the capital, but also a permanent homage to the Masons, a homage normally visible only by God. When L'Enfant and Washington planned the construction of the city, they started from zero. They wanted the city to have a geometric design, they lived according to the norms of the Enlightenment. The Masons were fascinated by science, logic and symbolism. All that was included when the city of Washington was created.'

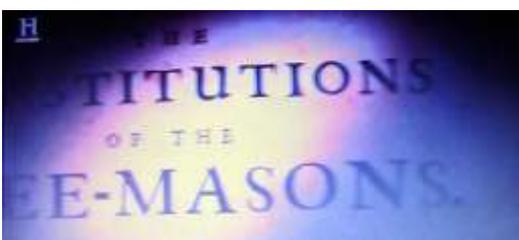

Alex Jones: 'Architecture is at the core of the Masonic perception of religion. From architecture they gained political power and money. If a religion is based on architecture and the Architect of Universe, you want to build a fantastic Masonic city. That is what Washington D.C is today.'

Akram Elias: 'No other capital has symbols reflecting the philosophy of poer. This makes Wshington D.C unique.'

Christopher Hodapp: 'The architects who designed the White House and the Capitol were Masons. In 1793, George Washington, dressed as a Mason laid the Capitol foundation stone. He and other Masons walked from the White House to Capitol Hill. They laid the foundation stone with a silver trowel. The Capitol grew from that stone and became a grand monument for democracy. But some historians claim that the foundation stone is missing. How and why did that happen? Some claim there are secrets documents in the stone, an alternative constitution or other Masonic documents hidden for the public. George Washington and Mason L'Enfant also designed the Federal Triangle, an area with unique symbols which were included in the local plan.'

Mark Koltko-Rivera: 'I'm standing at the centre of the Holy Area in the USA. The Washington Monument is behind me, the statue on the dome of the Capitol is on my right and I can see the White House from here. The Founding Fathers wanted this to be a stone proclamation of American values. They wanted them to be visible for thousands of years. L'Enfant realised that the Triangle with its three buildings constituted the key to the new order. That is why it is central.'

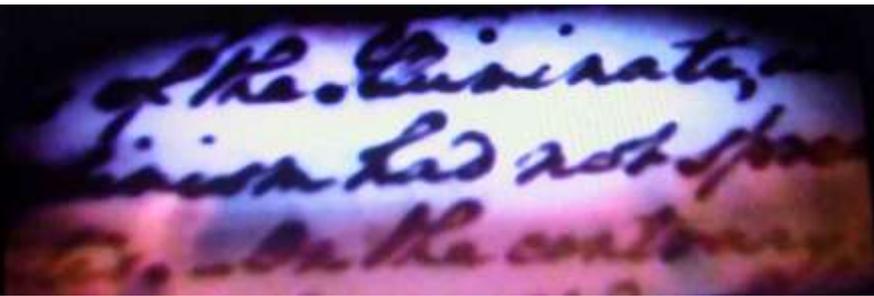

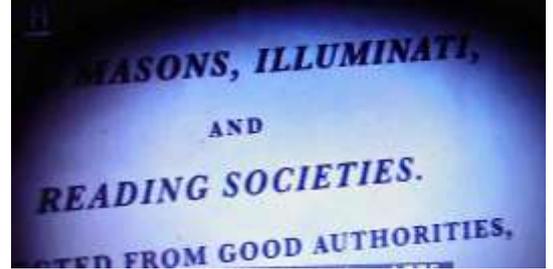

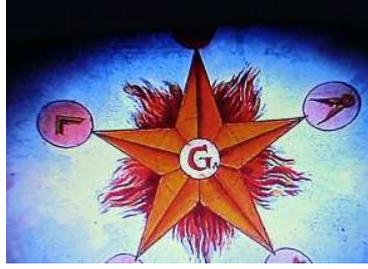

Robert Hieronimus: 'There are hidden symbols in the local plan of Washington. Initially we have the grid, then we have streets forming angles. Oblique lines on a grid create many symbols. There are Masonic symbols everywhere. They say: We Proclaim Our New Order.'

Alex Jones: 'Further investigations reveal that the streets form another symbol, a pentagram. The southernmost part points to the White House.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'The pentagram is a recurrent symbol. Today it has a sinister aura, but that was not the purpose.'

Alex Jones: 'This is our house, our world. We will rule the world from Washington D.C Why did the Founders include Masonic symbols in the capitals design and local plan? Encrypted messages? In that case: for whom? There was a split. When Illuminati was founded in 1776, George Washington warned that they might take over the Masons.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'Colorado 1995. After having been delayed for years, the Denver airport was ready for flights. It is the largest airport in the US, number three in the world. Above ground the area is 85 square kilometres, twice the size of Manhattan. There are people who believe that deep down there is an underground city. Others believe there is an underground military base there, the starting point for the new world order.'

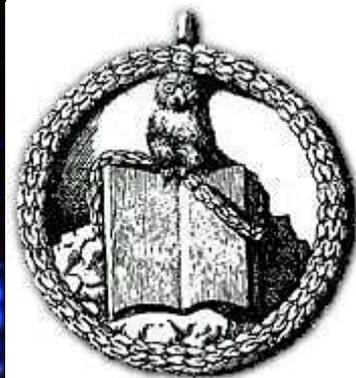

Christopher Hodapp: 'The airport's foundation stone was laid by a Mason. It looks like a control panel for the new world order and the text is also in braille. It even says The Airport Commission of the New World. The set square and the compasses are included, the Masons were involved. Date: Mars 19, 1994.'

Is there really a secret city below the airport? If so, does it mean that the world order will be introduced from there? The writing is perhaps on the wall? One mural depicts a soldier with a gas mask. He is piercing a dove. A long line of dying women are below. It is terrible.

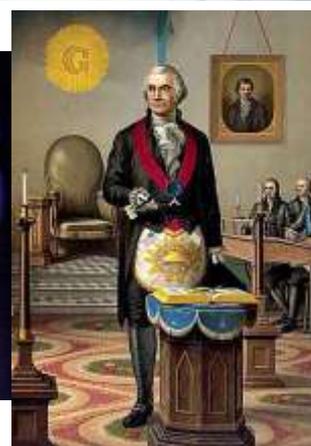

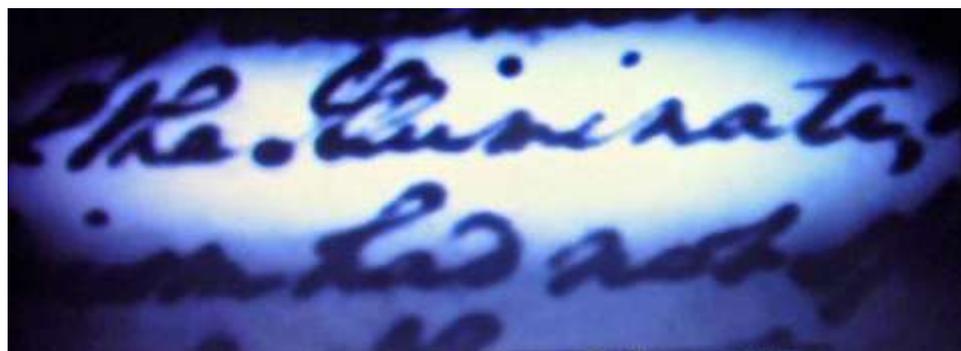

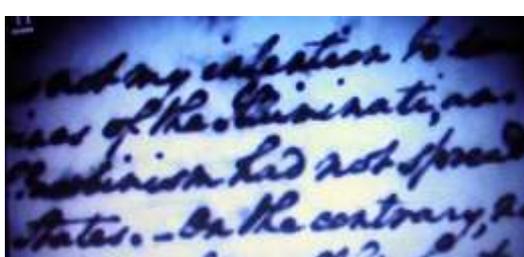

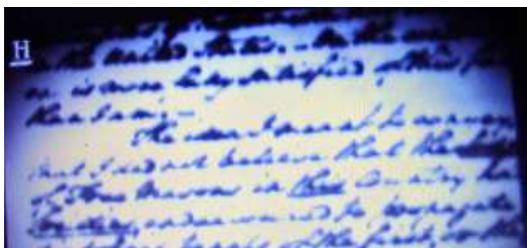

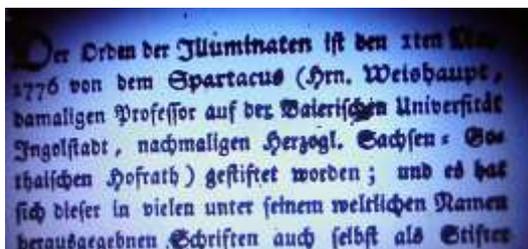

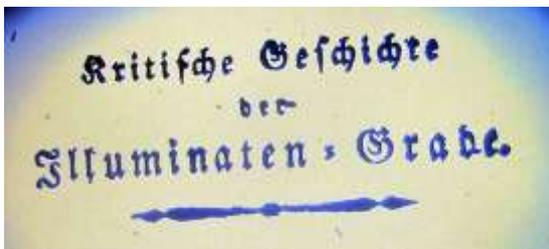

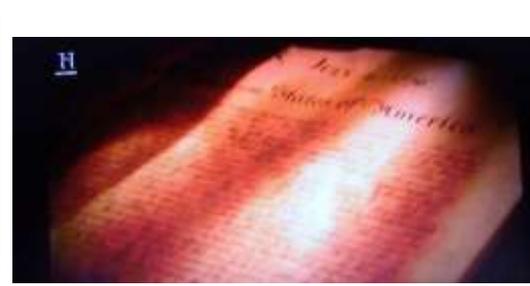

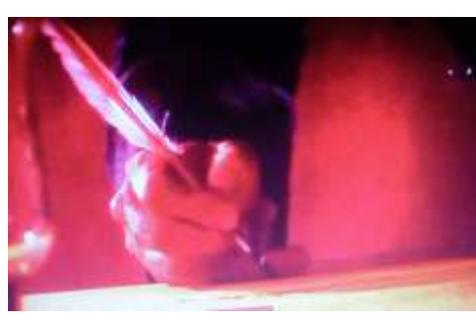

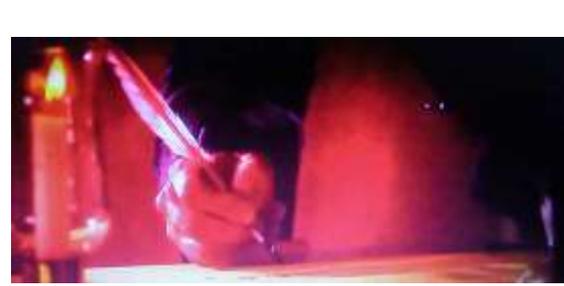

Jim Marrs: 'Professor Adam Weishaupt founded the Illuminati Society. It was supposed to be a very secret society.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'In 1776, when the Illuminati was founded, part of the plan was to infiltrate the Masons. Someone talked with a person who talked to someone else...'

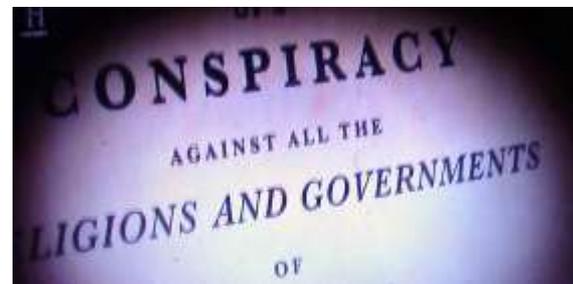

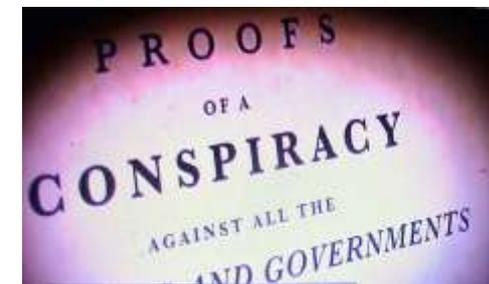

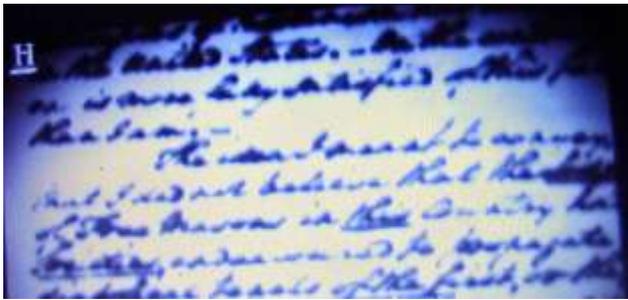

Jim Marrs: 'At the time you did not know who was in charge or the nature of the purpose. But at top there was someone with an agenda. The founders admired the American revolution.'

Mitch Horowitz: 'They believed in freedom of religion and thought. But eight to nine years after the foundation, the organisation was declared illegal.'

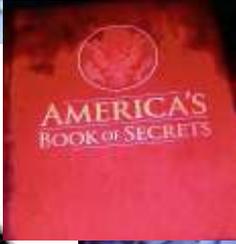

Alex Jones: 'In 1776 the Illuminati was founded, and it grew. At the same time the Declaration of Independence was signed. George Washington wrote letters about the Illuminati and warned that they were going to take over from the Masons. Historians claim that the Illuminati infiltrated the Masons while the Founding Fathers were busy with the new Constitution. Did the Illuminati, in Masonic disguise, manage to influence the construction of the US government and judiciary?'

Jim Marrs: 'In a letter to a friend in 1792 George Washington wrote that the Illuminati doctrines had appeared in the US. 'No one is more certain of than I am.' The basic idea of the Illuminati is The End Justifies the Means. This made them very dangerous. They worked under cover and followed their own creed.'

Alex Jones: 'The Masons are now governed by the Illuminati. They form an inner circle with secret knowledge. They rule the world and hide their wealth and political power.'

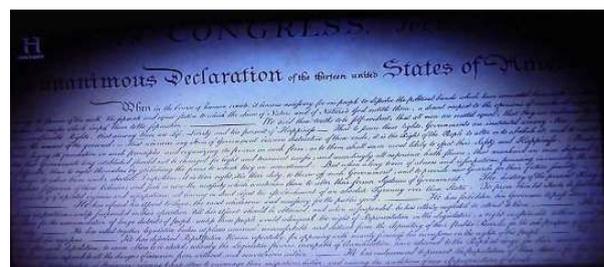

Bill Birnes: 'This is the greatest secret in America's Book of Secrets. The Masons' secret is that a new world order will come. It is a completely visible secret.'

Christopher Hodapp: 'No books with secrets are passed on. The Masons have promised not to write, print, paint, carve or engrave their secrets.'

Alice von Kannon: 'The Masons will always be the first mother of secret societies. The organisation is large and international. The Masons will continue as bearers of political power.'

The team concludes: 'Among all conspiracy theories there are some facts. Masons assisted when the revolution was initiated. They helped found the USA. Their influence can be seen all over the country: in important documents, on monuments and incorporated in the streets of Washington. They form a fraternity with closely guarded secrets. Which is their ultimate goal? Only time can tell.'

My summary and analysis of Area 51, Fort Knox and the Masons in connection with America's Book of Secrets, 2012.

Without doubt, America's Book of Secrets from 2012 is the most important document on America's short history connected to The End of Times. If you know the main lead from start, you can clearly distinguish where we are heading, towards the fall of the Earth. The Masons and the Illuminati know about this. Main source: UFO/extra-terrestrials.

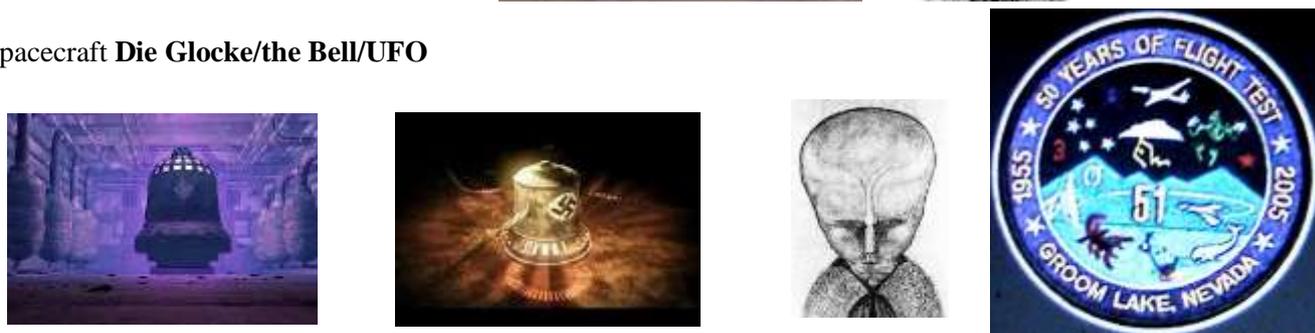

During the 1940s. East Prussia, space base UFO, Germany. Absolute secrecy.

Spacecraft, Haunebu and Vrill test models, a secret V-7 projekt, V-7 = 7 different Haunebu UFO spacecraft.

Spacecraft Die Glocke/the Bell/UFO

During the rule of Gustav Hitler, Germany developed two different spacecraft assisted and watched over by extra-terrestrials: spacecraft Haunebu/UFO, and Die Glocke/UFO. During spring 1945 the Glocke craft were transported in a specially equipped German airplane to the US, on board was the SS General Hans Kammler. They touched down in the southern part of the US. The spacecraft, four or five of them, finally enfinally ended up at Area 51, Spacecraft Haunebu 7 included.

G. Hitler also sent two nuclear bombs to the US. There is no information about where they finally landed. Area 51 welcomed the spacecraft and the extra-terrestrials. More info at Son of Global Crimes, pp 28 - 30.

Area 51 is a secret army base. Extra-terrestrials arrived there in 1945. It is a state-of-the-art facility with underground installations. As far as I understand, extra-terrestrials assisted in building and develop the facilities. I can refer to Gustav Hitler's subterranean constructions in Nazi Germany and underground works at certain Egyptian pyramids. Their agenda includes domesday weapons, including biological equipment. Dan Burish, S-4, microbiologist and scientist, said that he was carrying out extra-terrestrial biological research, a new typ of virus. Corona virus coded with AI? There are still extra-terrestrial secret concerning Area 51. Why is the area called Area 51? There is no official explanation, I will return to this later on. – I understand that the extra-terrestrials dominate Area 51, the whole base. Area 51 was opened in 1955 and is probably a UFO base. The Illuminati support AREA 51.

Fort Knox is a large American military base, 445 square kilometres all in all, 48 kilometres south of Kentucky. It was founded in 1918 as Camp Knox (named after Henry Knox) and became a permanent military base in 1932. In 1933 - 36 one of the world's most secure buildings was erected by President Roosevelt to serve as a gold depository, Fort Knox. It protected the US gold reserve.

Fort Knox is probably one of the world's most secure protective buildings. The question is how it was possible to construct this building around 100 years ago. The building is supposed to last to the End of Time. Who was he who knew how to design the building to make it secure and modern today?

Some claim that Roosevelt had contacts with extra-terrestrials. Roosevelt lived at Warm Springs, Bullochville, an area close to the forest, where he could secretly meet with extra-terrestrials. It cannot remain a secret if you deposit gold in a depository that everyone in the world knows about. It must have something to do with UFO and extra-terrestrials. As far as I understand, referring to certain strong leads to prove it, is that Fort Knox also serves as a UFO base, that is why it is super secret. Below vault #13, located at the ground floor, is the central vault which is much larger than the actual building. In the central vault is a UFO constantly ready for action. It is not the same group of extra-terrestrials as those at Area 51. There are escape tunnels inside the building. Where do they lead?

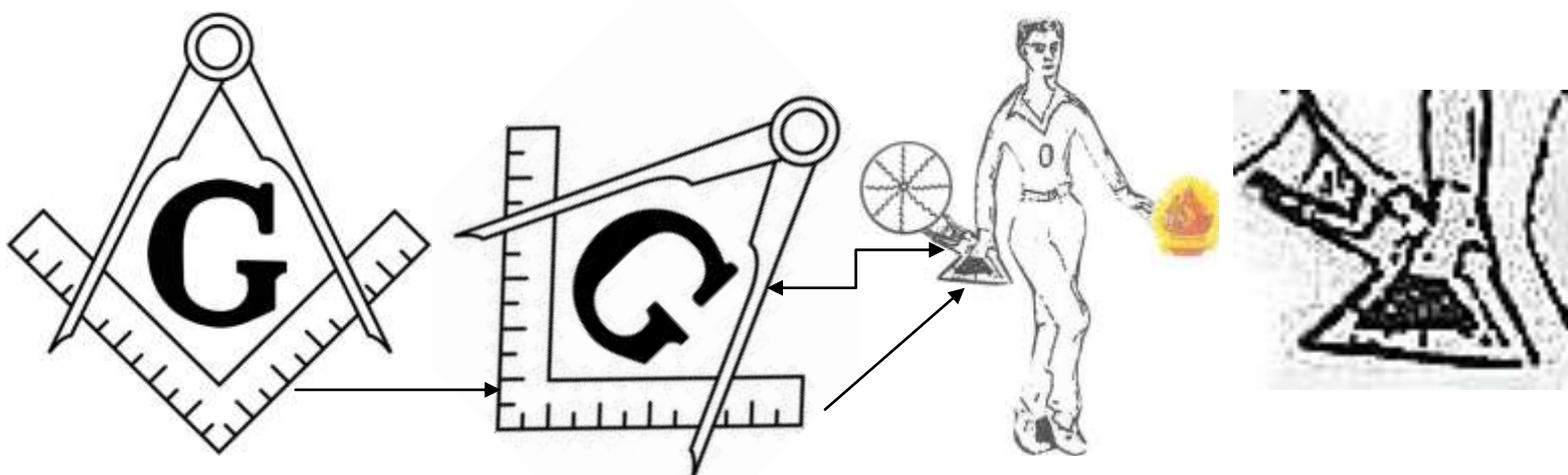

Certain scientists claim that Area 51 is focus point of a large subterranean network connected to other secret facilities in America. Fort Knox is as scret as those, but according to the map, Fort Knox is missing the subterranean network. Maybe the Fort Knox is more secret than Area 51, supported by the Masons.

Emblem of the Masons.

The Masons' universal symbol, are the set square and the compasses. The compasses are the tool of an individual. The set square is the symbol of wisdom.

G symbolises the Architect of the Universe. If we take a closer look at G we can see a dragon's or a serpent's head. G also means George and Gustav. Below the head of the dragon is an eye, the Eye of Horus.

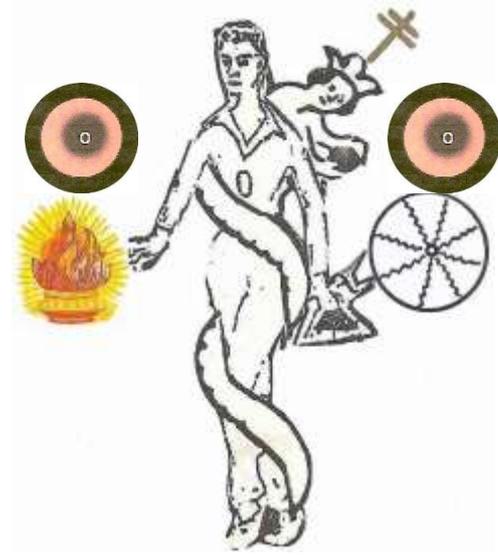

Origins of the Masonic emblems: The set square is the letter 'L' which here means Lucifer. The compasses + the set square are symbols of designers, Jacks-of-all-trades and knowledge, 'G' refers to to Galaxy, in this context the Milky Way, but also Gnosticism.

Lucifer = Bringer of Light

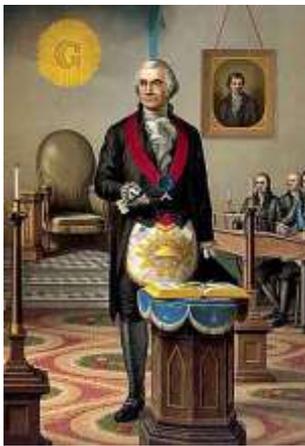

Lucifer is the Son of Man, the first-born son to the Cosmic Father. Our Cosmic Father is human in the highest degree. A Man can only beget another Man.

Lucifer is also known as Cosmic Adam, Lamech in Sumer, Amun in Egypt and the carpenter and jack-of-all-trades Joseph in ancient Palestine and, finally, Tibor Kemény in the Kingdom of Sweden. Always, while living on the Earth, he was a jack-of-all-trades, e.g. builder of houses, designer of mechanics and electronics. The compasses and the set square were also his symbols.

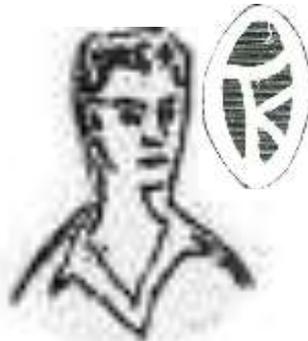

The Masons.

The US declaration of Independence and the Foundation of the US government are from 1776. George Washington was the first President of the USA.

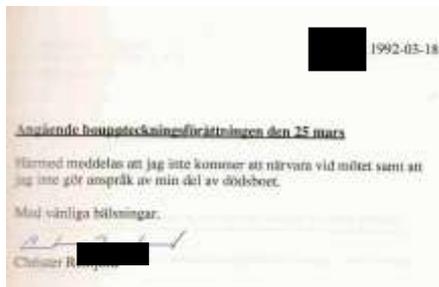

The US declaration of Independence and the Foundation of the US government are from 1776. George Washington was the first President of the USA.

1776 was a remarkable year in the short history of the USA.

In Stockholm in 1976 court trials were initiated concerning an invalid agreement from 1958 regarding allowance to Krister R., who was my father's, Tibor Kemény's cousins' child. The agreement was written after the birth of the Jewish boy Tibor E.

Tibor Kemény passed away on May 4 1991. The estate inventory had a name included, Christer Philip R, (not the same person as Krister R).

The document, signed on March 18, 1992, clearly states that it has nothing to do with my father, Tibor Kemény. More info at Industry, Evolution, pp 102 - 109.

Exactly 200 years after that, in 1776, the court procedures against my father Tibor Kemény regarding allowances to Krister R.

Germany, Ingolstadt, 1776. Illuminati, a secret society founded by the Ingolstadt professor Adam Weishaupt. He was a Jesuit disciple who hated the Society of Jesus.

The Illuminati infiltrated the Masons in the US and started to rule via its secret inner circle. The Masons were split up.

Germany. In 1776, at Ingolstadt, Germany, the Illuminati was founded, a society that in the future would rule the US and the world.

1776 was a remarkable year in the short history of the Illuminati.

The architects who designed the White House and the Capitol building were Masons. In 1793, George Washington in Masonic clothes, laid the corner stone of the Capitol. He and other Masons walked from the White House. They laid the corner stone with a silver trowel. From that stone, the Capitol building grew and became a magnificent monument for democracy. But some historians now claim that the corner stone is missing. Some of them even claim that there are secret documents embedded in the stone.

A big and very important question: What was written on the secret documents in the corner stone? The stone is a symbol of a stable USA and a stable democracy. Is there something about the return of the Saviour, who the Masons will follow till the End of Time? Can the documents indicate when the new order will begin? Who removed the corner stone from the Capitol? There is a self-evident answer: one individual or more belonging to the secret inner circle of the Illuminati who were present when the corner stone was laid. The secret documents may refer to my father's, Tibor Kemény's, paternity issue which took place here in Stockholm in the 1970s..

As the corner stone is gone, the US is now an unstable nation. This was demonstrated on December 6, when the Capitol was attacked. The US is a divided country.

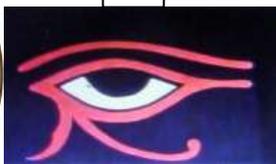

The origins of Masonic symbols. The set square, the compasses, and the letter 'G', as in God. 'G' may also refer to names such as George and Gustav. The American Masons see no reason for change.

The Great Seal of the USA depicts an eagle and an olive branch. The eagle is a symbol of Evangelist John, probably a disciple of John the Baptist who also had a symbolic eagle. The olive branch was a symbol of ancient Israel. On the reverse side of the seals is a non-finished pyramid. The origin of the seals is the ancient realm of pyramids, Egypt. Dynasty 3, 4 and 5 built pyramids in order to transform animal blood into human, but the extra-terrestrials who ran the activities started to fight each other and the construction of pyramids was terminated without any result, pict. #1. Next picture is the Eye of the Falcon God Horus, pict. #2. Pict. #3 symbolises a pyramid provided with an eye. The pyramid is surrounded by clouds. The question is to whom the eye belongs as Horus disappeared with his eye. Pict. #4: Below the half-finished pyramid we can see the new world order, probably at the End of Times. The next question is: Who is the God of the letter 'G'?

Alexandria, Virginia, 1791. The first president of the USA, George Washington, laid the corner stone of a diamond matrix which was to become the capital of the country in the District of Columbia. The design would not only make Washington into a capital, but also into a permanent homage to the Masons, a homage only visible to God. Who, except for George Washington, saw the complete homage and the corner stone? No one, only George Washington. Thus: G = George, pict. #5.

Gustaf III and the USA, 1776. In 1777 Gustaf III was the first head of state in the world to recognize the USA as a new state. He expressed his views on the American revolution as early as in October 1776. More info at Industry, The King of Polar Light and His Secrets, page 10. We can also allow 'G' to mean 'Gustaf.'

Mason and prospective vice President Henry Wallace wanted Mason and President Franklin Roosevelt to include the symbol on the currency. Wallace and Roosevelt saw to it that the seal was included on the dollar bill. In God We Trust, God is now on the stock exchange and the global market. What do the Gospels call this God? Mammon, the God of money and wealth, Jesus Belzebub. God in this context is George, pict. #6.

The Masonic symbol, the set square and the compasses. Pictures 7 – 9 have nothing to do with the Masons. Pict. #7 is a five-pointed star, behind it everything is on fire. Pict. #8 shows a sun with an eye. The sun is not the same sun as that in our solar system.

The symbol of the Illuminatis is an owl, pict. #10. Pallas Athenas's mother was the owl Metis. Athena was Zeus's daughter. Athena goes together with Pharaoh Akhenaten who introduced a new way of worshipping the Sun, Aton. At that time, Aton the Sun dominated in Egypt, pict. #11 and #12 would depict the same sun. Pict. #9 is a symbol of a five-pointed star, behind the star everything is on fire. 'G' is placed at the centre of the star, which is surrounded by a circle, a so-called inner circle. The five-pointed star is also called planet Venus, in Book of Revelation Jesus calls it Venus. 10. Jesus said: 'I have cast fire upon the world, and look, I'm guarding it until it blazes.' 16. Jesus said: 'Perhaps people think that I have come to cast peace upon the world. They do not know that I have come to cast conflicts upon the earth: fire, sword, war' Perhaps those who are depicted behind the five-pointed star. Jesus/Izates II had an inner circle among his disciples. G = Israel's Gud.

What we can clearly see here, is that these symbols have nothing to do with the Masons. But still, the Illuminati rule the US and the world. We can go back to the Nuremberg Judge and Commander Michael Musmanno, who in 1948 interviewed Heins Lorenz, press attaché. The subject was Gustav Hitler. Michael Musmanno: 'Please tell us about the most striking events you associate with Hitler.' Heinz Lorenz: 'The first incident was on April 12, when I reported the death of President Roosevelt. From his second home in Warm Springs, Franklin Delano Roosevelt's remains were transported to his final resting place. Hitler started to dance and congratulated himself as if he had done it himself. He shouted: "This means I will win the war!"

Let me now return to Nuremberg Judge and Commander Michael Musmanno and his 1945-48 interviews with Gustav Hitler's staff in the Berlin bunker in 1945. His question (above) was put to Heinz Lorenz, the bunker's press attaché. Gustav Hitler's was not only striking, it was also proof that he was behind the the murder of President Roosevelt. His infiltration of the White House had been successful beyond expectation. G Hitler's secret circle contained names such as George Scherff Sr, George Scherff Jr, Martin Bormann, Josef Mengele, Otto Skorzeny and Reinhard Gehlen. The relation between Hitler and Roosevelt was almost non-existent. G Hitler wanted Roosevelt to accept his nuclear bombs and a number of UFOs. He also wanted him to grant all Hitler's scientists safe conduct after he had left the Earth, but Roosevelt refused. Then, via the Illuminati, he crushed Roosevelt. The next president agreed to Hitler's terms. It turned out that Gustav Hitler, George Scherff Sr and Jr were in contact with Illuminati's inner circle who constantly communicated with the Masons. More info at Industry, Son of Global Crimes, pp 20 – 30.

The most remarkable reaction was his last sentence when he shouted: 'This means I will win the war!' He also did win the war, indirectly, with his nuclear bombs over Japan. He can also refer to the battle between the Lamb and the Babylonia/the Beast in Book of Revelation.

We know that the Illuminati are still active in the name of the Masons, the whole world know the Masons. Gustav Hitler always worked using his brother's name (Adolf Hitler), the world only knows him. Exactly the same system and the same structure.

In the secret history we know that George Scherff Sr is identical with Prescott Sheldon Bush and that his son George Scherff Jr is identical with George Herbert Walker Bush.

We know that George Bush Sr had extensive power in the US. He handled, as an example, the most secret issues of the CIA and UFOs which previous presidents did not even know about. Did he communicate with the Masons via the Illuminati? The powerful Illuminati.

George Washington was one of the founders of the US, its foremost president, powerful and Mason, a true American. Such an important individual is often born again to the same life as before. If we use 'George' with George Herbert Walker Bush, the US has got George Washington back. In other words: George Washington was reincarnated as George Bush Sr.

President Roosevelt was also a Mason but no one around him would accept Hitler's nuclear bombs and UFOs on American soil. George Washington was aware that the Illuminati was about to take over the Masons and the power. The ultimate goal of the Illuminati was to divide and crush the USA. George Bush Sr must also have noticed something as he worried about UFO activities in the US. As far as I understand, the Illuminati supports Area 51, while the Masons are occupied with Fort Knox. But we need to remember that the Illuminati is a dominant power. The Illuminati was probably behind the murders of President Lincoln, President Roosevelt and the Kennedy brothers. The Illuminati runs the USA and the world via top politicians and powerful businessmen.

George Bush Sr was a unique personality in the history of the US. He had thousands of eyes across the globe but he lacked higher knowledge. He was often lied to about very important issues. One of these issues was my father's paternity issue, the biggest and most secret issue in the world, followed by the Illuminati since 1958.

Mason. Albert Pike. He was a general of the Confederate Army and wrote many books where he said they worship Lucifer. Many secrets have been revealed by Albert Pike. He mentions Lucifer twice in Morals and Dogma and claims that the word Lucifer means Bringer of Light. He introduced Lucifer to the Masons.

The He-goat. Jehovah God, JHWH, King of Wisdom, the Pleiadian Federation. I remove the five-pointed star, the pentagram from the forehead of the He-goat and a Star of David and replace it. We return to SUMER 7,000 years ago to the He-goat, King of Wisdom. The deity Azazel from the Pleiades came to the Earth carrying a message: top-level knowledge about humanity. 'Azazel' can mean God's Power, but no one wanted him among the minor Gods. More info at Industry, Deity. Members of his group have not killed humans.

Nefilim did, though. Nefilim was one of the oldest semi-divine beings who killed people in the name of Azazel.

Lucifer, The Lightbringer is human. Humans are not devils. But the Masons take an interest in Man.

The Masons' connection to the Kingdom of Sweden.

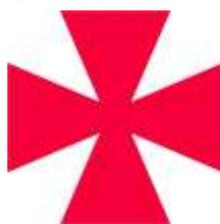

The He-goat, the Bush family's coat of arms. No one knew that the He-goat is Mammon's God. Today the He-goat is a symbol of the Devil. Why? We commit murders in his name. We often say that history repeats itself from SUMER. More info at Deity, pp 42 - 45.

Gustav III, 1771 - 1792
Motto: Fatherland

Carl XIII, March 13 1809-February 5, 1818
Motto: The Welfare of my People the Highest Law. Mason.

Prince of Pontecorvo. Field Marshal Bernadotte of Paris on his way to the Swedish royal throne.

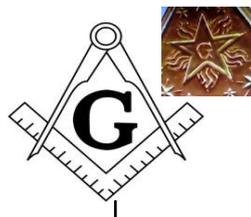

Carl XIII and the Masons/Illuminati discussed the issue of the next king of Sweden. King Carl sent, in 1810, Baron Carl Otto Mörner, author, member of the armed forces, deputy county governor, an inquiry to Jean Babtiste Bernadotte. Bernadotte then turned to Napoleon who said yes and in 1818 Bernadotte was crowned: Carl XIV Johan, King of Sweden. The fact that the Masons were involved was a secret, only King Carl XIII was informed. The Vatican also sent positive signals: a Catholic became King of Sweden. More info at Industry, Rince of Ponte Corvo, or... pp 12 – 24 and 39 – 44. The election of Bernadotte is one of the largest hush-hush issues in the history of Sweden.

The origins of the Masons can be traced from King Solomon and the construction of the Temple.

King Solomon was David's son and received the assignment to build a very advanced secret temple. Below ground, the Temple housed facilities which made it possible to allow UFOs to land with God Jehovah for his visits.

King Solomon was also an architect and together with his friend, Architect Hiram Abiff he secretly built the Temple for God Jehovah. It is possible that the Masonic fraternity was born there, as in Egypt when it came to secret pyramid constructions.

Eventually, Hiram Abiff was murdered before he could reveal any secrets. He became a martyr and when the Masons of today install new members, they always celebrate Hiram Abiff.

Mason, Grand Master, King, Head of State Carl Gustav XVI is the point of contact for the Masons when it comes to secret issues in Sweden. One example is my father's, Tibor Kemeny's, paternity issue and the Palme murder.

Members can get in touch with each other or via the King who is a Mason. Contacts can also be made via the White House.

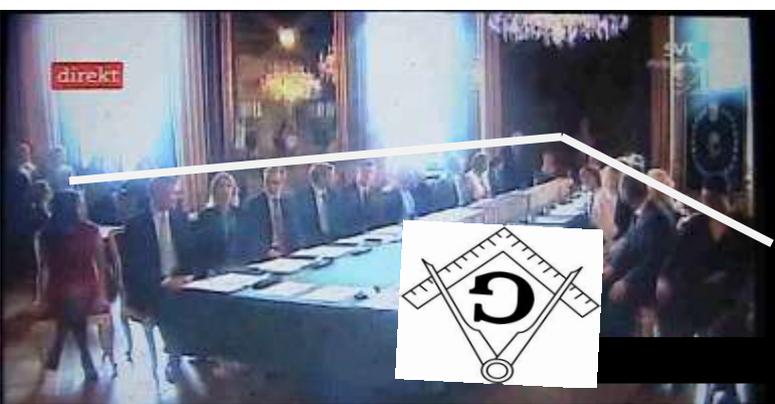

War Refugee Board, WRB 1944, USA

After the President's decision of January 22, 1944, the War Refugee Board, was founded and could start saving Jews in Europe.

President Roosevelt was a Mason.

Cabinet meeting at the Castle of Stockholm on October 3, 2014. This is the King's so-called trick. Reversed photo.

When the trick was performed at the end of the cabinet meeting, the sound from the court was cut and the lady-in-waiting told the ministers to move away from the table according to directions from the King. When the trick had been performed, the King was satisfied. It was broadcast all over the world and the sound came back.

Afterwards, the King dismissed the government in the name of wisdom. His trick is a set square, a Masonic symbol. The Masons base their activities on wisdom and knowledge, like Queen Kristina did in her days.

This is further evidence that the King, the Grand Master, handles my father's paternity issue in secrecy, using only different kinds of severe crimes.

Myore info at Industry, The Sun at a Disadvantage, pp 92 - 101.

Carl Ivan Danielsson, head of the Swedish mission to Budapest 1944-45. Raoul Wallenberg, a mystery, 1944 - 45.

The WRB chose Raoul Wallenberg for the special assignment in Hungary/Budapest in 1944 and took full financial responsibility. It was an extraordinary assignment via the Masons from where the idea came.

Wallenberg's assignment assignment concentrated on saving Jews in Hungary, among them Jewess Maria and her family. The family converted into Catholicism and escaped Hitler's wrath.

The Masonic logotype displays the set square, the compasses and the letter G. With a pair of compasses you can draw a circle round your personality. The circle is a kind of border you shouldn't violate.

The King is a Grand Master, of the Masons. A Grand Master must always be active increasing the unverified circle surrounding him. But the Grand Master passed the bounds of decorum and violated the Masonic rulebook. He committed lots of severe crimes concerning my father's Tibor Kemény's paternity issue. He produced fake documents for the inner circles of the Masons and the Illuminati. They became the basis of their legal actions.

Now it is Time to Abolish Monarchy!

During my long-standing life in Sweden, I several times heard and read that Sweden is the 51st state of the US. Even today people humorously talk about this. The US is popular in Sweden. But why would the US secretly call Sweden its 51st state? Also in the US they waited for the return of Worldly Messiah. He came to Sweden in 1958. He was born on Christmas Eve, at Midnight, by Jewess Maria at a hospital in Linköping. More info at Industry, The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 53 – 54, referring to the Gospels and Book of Revelation. In the US people could not understand why Worldly Messiah returned to the Kingdom of Sweden, not to the USA. His return was at the time the greatest event on Earth. The USA, the strongest, most powerful and wealthiest nation could not accept this and felt they were too far from the centre of events. So, secretly, the Kingdom of Sweden became the 51st state of the USA. As the US had large bases in Nevada: Area-1, Area-2, Area-3, and Area-4, the whole area came to be called Area 51.

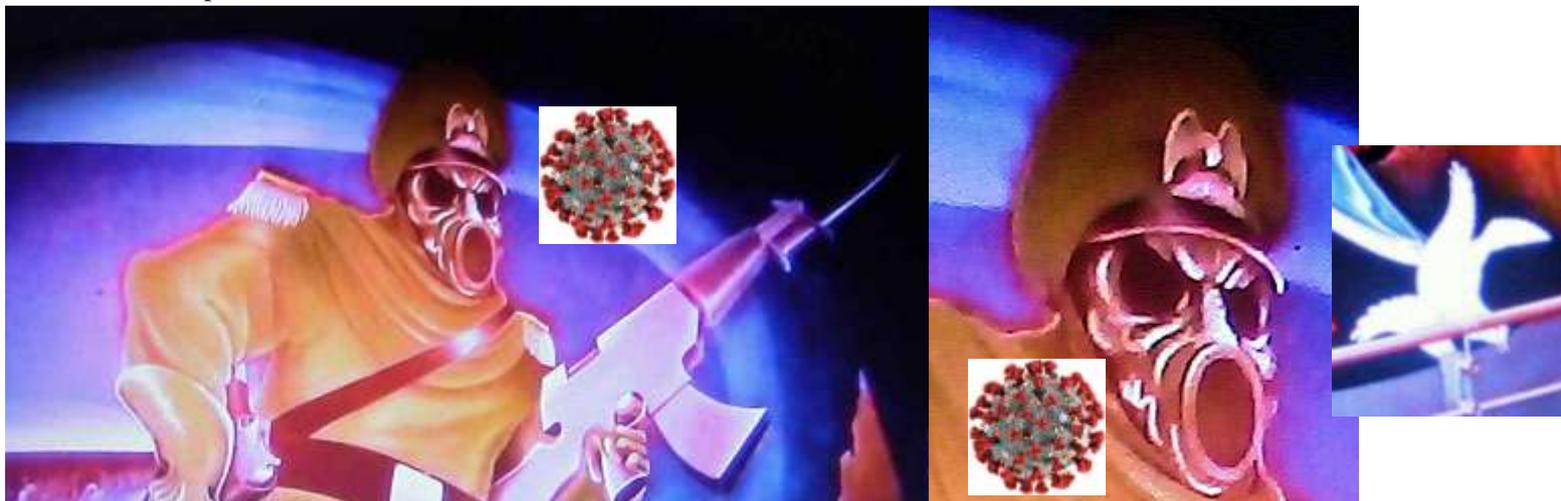

Raoul Wallenberg was an architect, businessman, politician, and diplomat, a reincarnation of, among others, King Solomon. He accepted the assignment despite the fact it was almost impossible to carry out against G Hitler and his world power. He did very well, he even had a secret meeting with Horthy and built in very short time a network in Hungary.

At that time, Nazi Germany and the Vatican joined forces. Sweden, too, enjoyed friendly contacts inside Hitler's circles. The order from G Hitler was sent via the pope to Stalin, who captured Wallenberg in Budapest on January 17 1945. Then the Red Army entered Germany and liberated the Jews. In 1947 Wallenberg died in the Soviet Union, on whose initiative? – Orders from the pope and the Illuminati hiding behind the Masons, they were against Jews. The Illuminati were behind the murder of Roosevelt. Shortly afterwards the WRB was dissolved and eventually Wallenberg, who had been sent by the WRB to Budapest in order to save Jews, was murdered. The secret circle knew who Wallenberg was and were reluctant to let him live. They knew his abilities which might change the world. increase safety for the Jews. Maybe also for the Jewish boy Tibor E. He was a reincarnation of, among others, King David and was not supposed to be killed. (We know that even Horthy was overthrown, Horthy who allowed Wallenberg to enter Hungary).

The Masons' logotype and maniesto dated March 19, 1994. March 19 is Carpenter Joseph's namesday, on March 19 1944 Nazi Germany occupied Hungary and on March 19 2018 I received a letter from the Swedish Tax Authority. The estate inventory after my father's death was complete in 1992 and after that, on March 19 1994, we could read this manifesto at the Colorado Airport..

Death. A soldier in a gas mask, a biological battle on this planet. A biological lethal weapon in the form of a virus, Corona. The so-called New World Order was created by the Masons (Area 51) assisted by extra-terrestrials. Even the dove is killed A dove is a symbol ow world peace Our Saviour and Women.

The new biological weapon, the Corona virus, was let loose in early 2020. It seems to be a cunning virus which renews itself into various more powerful and more dangerous varieties. It seems as if AI is part of the virus (COVID 19). This new biological decease can go back as far as to Book of Revelation.

What does the New World Order mean? It was created at the time of George Washington.

1. What did the Madonna say to Pope John XXIII? ‘Finally, on December 25, 2000, a fantastic miracle will take place in the skies above New York City. Millions will watch the sensational appearance of Messiah , who will proclaim the beginning of a second paradise here on our Earth.’ This Messiah is Mammon’s God. This goal is also a New World Order, a paradise on Earth which would suit Washington perfectly, for the Fathers of the Union.

2. There are scenes displaying destruction, war, children’s corpses, refugees, pest, death, Nazism, dictatorship. A future new world order. Do the Masons believe in a pre-determined apocalyptic event? Is that what the Founding Fathers prepared themselves for? Some people claim the answer is yes. – But, no, they had not, they were not prepared.

What did the Madonna say to Pope John XXIII? ‘Finally, on December 25, 2000, a fantastic miracle will take place in the skies above New York City. Millions will watch the sensational appearance of Messiah, who will proclaim the beginning of a second paradise here on our Earth.’ – The American dream. This Messiah is Mammon’s God. More info at The Sun at a Disadvantage, page 40, and Aries, Capricorn and the End of Time, page 23.

10. Jesus said: ‘I have cast fire upon the world, and look, I’m guarding it until it blazes.’

16. Jesus said: ‘Perhaps people think that I have come to easy peace upon the world. They do not know that I have come to cast conflicts upon the earth: fire, sword, war.’
Jesus/Izates II.

Here we meet the real Jesus with his salvation.

George Washington was the first person to discover that the Illuminati were about to infiltrate the Masons in order to take over their activities. He wrote it down, the letter still exists. But there was no reaction. This was his biggest and worst setback of his life. It is interesting that it is said that the Illuminati already ruled the the USA. The Illuminati, in the name of the Masons, adjusted the USA to the last days of Gustav Hitler. President Roosevelt was removed and via the next president, they accepted inter alia the nuclear bomb, a number of of UFO objects and military equipment and hundreds of engineers and scientists from Nazi Germany in the name of Adolf Hitler. Exactly at that point, Gustav Hitler began to defaet the US, more information in Book of Revelation regarding the Lamb against Babylonia/the Beast.

George Bush Sr was a reincarnation of George Washington. In 1977, when carter is elected President, he asks the CIA to make public reports on UFOs and extra-terrestrial life. The CIA says no. It is an extraordinary action to say no to a president. Jimmy Carter asks the head of the CIA, George H.W. Bush: ‘Can you describe what the CIA knows about UFO?’ And George Bush, always professional, says: ‘As president elect you don’t need to know about this.’ – The CIA does not allow the President to release top secrets. People are suprised, the President of the US does not have access to everything. ‘UFO secrets are more classified than what you are busy with, despite the fact that you are commander-in-chief. He says it is a serious threat against the security of the USA. President Carter never repeats the word UFO again during his time in office. This is a good summary: UFOs rule in the US and he cannot change that. There are two different UFO groups in the US. UFO activities in and above the US are worrying and there are excellent, extraordinary facts and documents in Project Contact, pp - -. More info at Industry, Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal. As far as I understand, Contact coincides with Area 51, Fort Knox, and the Masons. Each UFO group, Area 51 and Fort Knox, has its own airbase.

Governing the USA is very difficult. The Illuminati’s inner circle exercise the power and they secretly rule the US via the Masons. It was difficult for George Bush Sr to balance the situation. He did not know those who made important decisions and implemented them.

One exemple: Denver International Airport 1995 and the estate inventory after my father’s death in 1991.

The estate inventory after my father’s death was settled on March 25 1992. The construction start of the Denver Airport was planned to take place on September 1989, deadline October 29 1993. Delays affected plans. The next date would be May 15 1994 and finally, on February 28 1995, the Denver International Airport opened, two years after initial plans. But the Masons had a different date: March 19, 1994. Below the airport ia an underground army base, a subterranean city. This was supposed to become the starting point of the new world order. My biggest problem was that I was forced to include Krister R in the estate inventory after my father. Krister, who did not even know who my father was. In a letter of March 18 1992 my father’s identity is missing. The letter does not even mention after whom the estate inventory is drawn up. The letter was signed using Krister’s name. An additional name in the estate inventory: Christer Philip R.

CT 211
Christer R [redacted] 1

CT 211 3

Ag Bunde 2

Ag Bl

G. Washington

We can see that Christer R's signature is similar to that of George Bush roughly the same handwriting. The letters C and G have have the same tilt. It was probably Bush Sr who signed the letter, who else? We can also see George Washington's signature, a more pronounced tilt, but the signatures are not far from each other. More about this at Industry, Deity, pp 38 - 60 and The Son of Global crimes, page 66.

I am sure that Bush Sr did not check the documents given to him by the king, whether they were and could form the basis of a decision. The last set of documents he received was my estate inventory after the death of my father Tibor Kemény in 1992. In the inventory, in secrecy, was also Christer Philip R. On February 28 1995 the Denver International Airport was ready to use and the message from the Masons/Illuminati on the new world order was clear and distinct. The US as death, the American Eagle, is visible. The biblical name for the US is Wild Beast. This is not what George Washington and his closest allies among the Masons planned. Instead of a Paradise on Earth for the new world order, the USA became a tool of death and the polarisation in the country is a fact.

2020, midnight mass from Rome, the Vatican. As usual, the stable was outside St. Peter's Basilica. It is evident that here is no crib in the pictures. There are two saviours present, one of them dressed in a spacesuit, the other one in normal, everyday clothes. The pictures confirm that Jewess Mary is missing her son Immanuel/Tibor E, she is placed some distance away from the children. What we can see, though, is that these two children are close to Carpenter Josef/T.K. despite the fact that he has nothing to do with them, neither biologically nor legally. These pictures coincide with the message from Denver International Airport and can be connected to Book of Revelation.

Rev. 14:14-16. '.../ Then I looked, and behold, a white cloud, and on the cloud sat One like the Son of Man, having on His head a golden crown, and in His hand a sharp sickle. ¹⁵ And another angel came out of the temple, crying with a loud voice to Him who sat on the cloud, "Thrust in Your sickle and reap, for the time has come [□]for You to reap, for the harvest of the earth is ripe." ¹⁶ So He who sat on the cloud thrust in His sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.'

Global network in industry and business, especially in Sweden

AI Global Media Ltd Great Britain

Cosmic Construction & Build Company

My company Cosmic Construction & Build Company and the Masons/Illuminati in the US. As you can, the Masons have a global network, particularly in Sweden. That network blocked my product SeaHouse and the Survival Project. Their latest attempt was carried out via the Swedish Tax Agency which on 2018 crossed off my company from the VAT register without legal documentation and decision, a violation of the fiscal legislation. My company and product were hidden away in the Kingdom of Sweden. The only enterprise on this planet which has understood my company's message is the British media giant AI Global Media Ltd. The result included several prizes and awards concerning architecture between 2016 and 2019. More info at Industry, Architecture Award 2019. We became friends after a four-year correspondence.

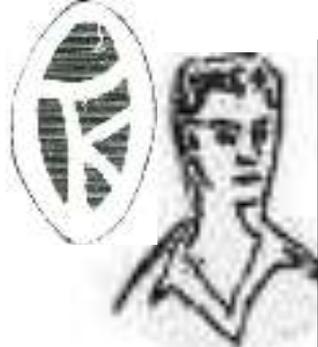

AI Global Media is the world's largest, most powerful and most human media enterprise with high levels of knowledge, a popular media enterprise all over the world. My product is on their website. Brits, Americans, people from France, Switzerland and Egypt representing high levels of knowledge, often appear on my website. They support the nature, knowledge and humanity, I have received many important clues and evidence from these people who dominate my company's website. As it is impossible to go on without proof, what remains are only fantasy, lies and a cosy life in the world of fairytales.

Global warming and
climate change

Behind all secrets were murder, terror, violence, crime, forgery of documents, lies, invented stories, etc. The worst issue of them all is a destroyed family life and wasted economy. My sister contracted a lifelong depression.

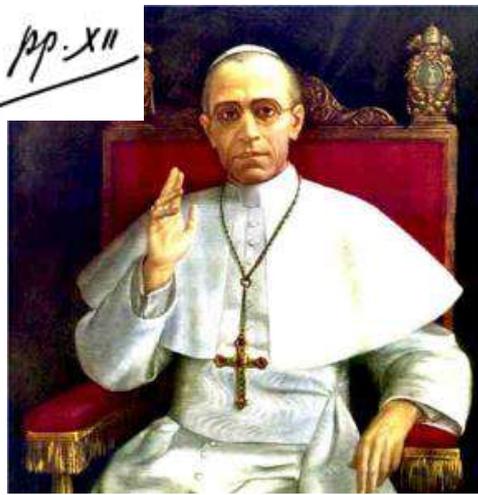

The Masons/Illuminati in the US have two dark, bloody characteristics which sweep the world. One of them secretly, the black-out of my father's paternity issue, the other one is the open warfare against CO₂ emissions without any scientific evidence. The fight against global warming and climate change involves Sweden's top climate science. Sweden is a world leader in the fight against CO₂ emissions supported by fantasy, lies and fairytales. The purpose of it all is to destroy the world economy and hide the real cause which is natural and unstoppable. If you are a climate activist and scientist you should know that CO₂ is heavier than air and lands is holes and water. If you are aware of that, you do not instigate rebellion. You look for the basic cause behind global warming and climate change.

It is remarkable that NASA, NOAA and the serious climate scientists around the world do not appear and are not accepted. Reality does not exist, but global media accept invented lies and fantasy as advocated by Greta Thunberg. She is even praised. Remarkable, is it not? They believe, that if you remove CO₂ emissions, Paradise on Earth is there for you.

Pius pp. XII

Pius XII, (1939–1958), The last Nazi Pope
262, 106 Angelic shepherd

Pope Pius XII demonstrates his dark vision on the Church and the world in the Shadow of Death.

Before Pope Pius XII died, on October 9 1958, he demonstrates his future dark vision to the whole world. The Pope's dark vision in the Shadow of Death at the End of Time coincides with the New World Order which started in 2020, a so-called Corona virus. As early as that, he Pope knew how it would all end.

Pius XII knew about the global end around the world, he was also in touch with extra-terrestrials. He knew the identity of G Hitler and his return at the End of Time. Pope Pius XII's dark visions of the Shadow of Death also appear at the Midnight Mass in 2020.

In order to understand what Pope Pius XII meant, we should look back in time, history repeats itself. Sumer, Egypt, ancient Palestine and now, the Kingdom of Sweden.

Egypt in Amun's days, the Archaic Period and the Old Kingdom.

Amun 'the Lord of the Silent' initially appeared in pyramid texts from the Archaic Period and the Old Kingdom. In Karnak hem et the Egyptian woman Mut (a reincarnation of, among others, Ninhursag and Bat-Enosch) and he took care of the foster son Khonsu (a reincarnation of, among others, Marduk/Lamech Jr/Noah).

Amun, Lord of the Silent, a reincarnation of Cosmic Adam/Lucifer/Lamech. This was a good period for the Egyptians. Top-level knowledge was supported and the chaos started to decrease. Egyptian gods and goddesses learnt from Amun who cared for his foster son Khonsu and his own family. Everybody liked Amun and according to the history and culture of Egypt, all pharaohs wanted to be Amun's children, except for Akhenaten and his family.

More info at Industry, Conquering Space III, final, pp 117 and 121.

Dynasti-18. During Dynasti-18 also supported the 'boy pharaoh' Tutankhamun. Memories of Amun still flourished. Tutankhamun was a reincarnation of Khonsu and it is only natural that he returns with Amun and Mut. The picture clearly shows that Khonsu enjoyed good relationship with Amun.

Dynasty-19. Pharaoh Ramesses II ruled during Dynasty-19. He was a reincarnation of, among others, Gilgamech, Osiris and Userkaf. His ultimate goal was to be Amun's son. He built a family concept similar to Tutankhamun's and replaced him by himself. Ramesses II evicted Tutankhamun and placed himself next to Amun and Mut, which we can see in the picture above.

The Bush family might constitute the most powerful American dynasty. George Bush Jr, using the identity of Christer Philip R, appears in my father's paternity issue in fake documents. Bush is a reincarnation of, among others, Osiris and Ramesses II.

December 25 1958 in Linköping. A reincarnation of, among others Tutankhamun-David/Immanuel, Mut and Jewess Mary. Add to that my father Tibor Kemény in the same position as in the past. The final goal in this context was to replace the Jewish boy Tibor E with Christer Philip R. In other words: he and Tibor E share identities according to fake documents concerning the White House.

The White House – The Oval Rooms and The Obelisk

The Obelisk and Apollo 11

The White House by Masons G. Washington and L'Enfant

Obelisk as a screen during Apollo 11's 50th anniversary

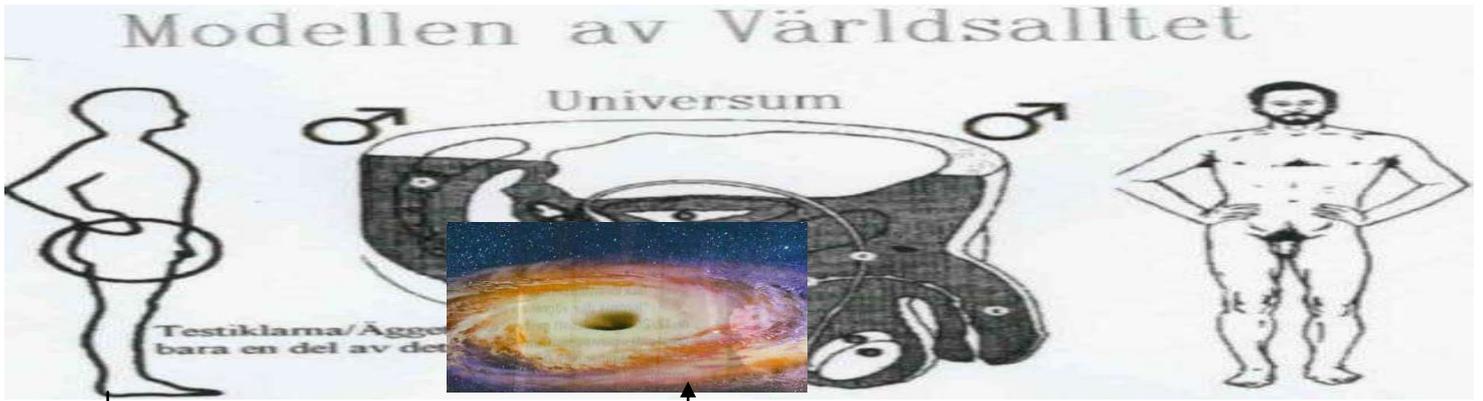

An oval womb

The White House and its four oval rooms. The White House is a unique building which may remind us of the cosmic egg, our galaxy and our universe, and of the actual womb. The Washington monument is a symbol of the male sexual organ, the penis. Apollo 11's spaceflight was celebrated via a screen display of the obelisk, a symbolic spaceflight to the exterior, upper world. In a symbolic way, we can connect all this to Book of Revelation and we can also compare the White House to the large buildings in Egypt. More info at Industry, Son of Global Crimes, pp 63 - 64. The colour of Book of Revelation is white.

The cosmic egg, our Universe, is also oval-shaped. Our galaxy, the Milky Way is also an oval. The Gospels deal with a birth in the Upper World, where our cosmic Father lives together with his wife. It seems as if the US was founded in this context and that it walks along in parallel with the Vatican, the Holy See. More info at Industry, The Ark; The Cosmic Global Flood and its natural causes, pp 59 – 79, Deity pp 38 – 58, and Conquering Space III, final, pp 117 – 121. We can briefly say that the USA played an active part in father's, TK's paternity issue. Note that this is my personal point of view based on strong leads and evidence.

The Ejaculation has already happened (no Big Bang)

To Evil and the barbaric gang which attacked my good father Tibor Kemény and his family because of his paternity issue.

You have forgotten a gigantic problem: the transformation of your animal blood to human, despite the fact that there is an eye of warning above the non-finished pyramid. Why? During Dynasties 3, 4, 5, and 6 they tried to transform animal blood to make it human, but groups of pharaohs stopped the process, animal blood will remain animal blood forever. You should have considered that before you started to fight against my good, innocent father and his family. All the crimes you have committed, such as murder, cheating, violence, terror, forgery of documents and invented lies in order to strangle our economy damaged the family. You have committed abominable crimes against nature and humanity and excluded yourselves from further human life. You are rolling in money, but what does that matter now? You cannot buy Life. In each blood group A, B, and AB there is 5% human blood, blood group O. After death the human blood O will be removed from you and become again, the original animal blood.

Madách Imre 1861: The Tragedy of Man Lucifer

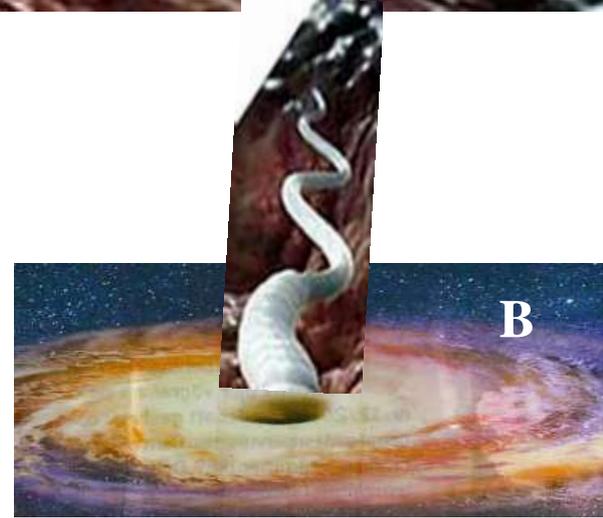

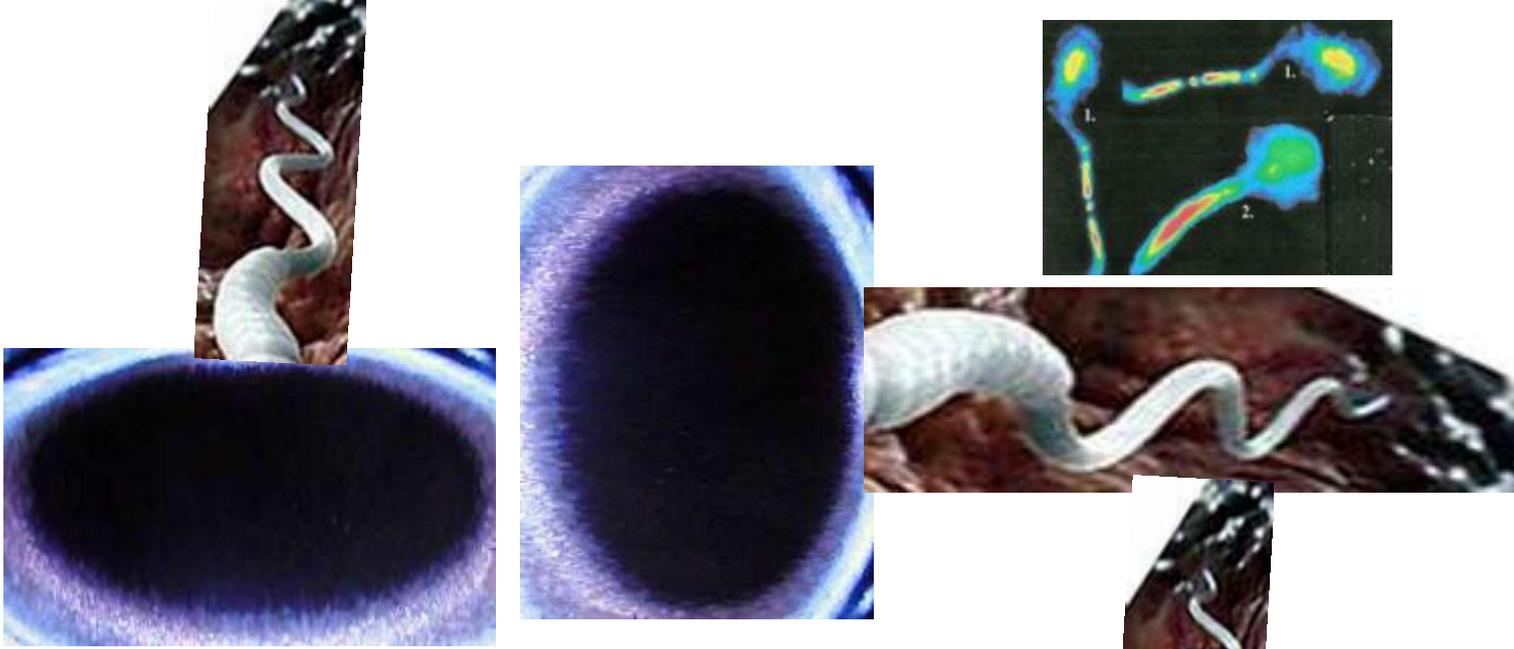

/.../ Cosmic Adam/Lucifer to the Lord:
You act with greedy hands, but you are a powerful Lord –
A tiny piece of land under your foot is enough for me,
Where the foot of denial gets stuck,
And your world will be defeated.
Man's motto: 'Life is Knowledge and Knowledge is Life'.

The team Strip the Cosmos created this galaxy which is oval or round without and black hole, though the black hole might form be included in the images. eller This is what we call black matter.

Our galaxy the Milky Way, pict. A. We exist near the edge of our galaxy and no black hole is visible from here. But the galaxy is not complete without a tail. Our galaxy has one, just like the sperms of the microworld. Pict. B displays the black hole. Finally the black hole must fulfil its role and accept a tail. In other words: the galaxy and the tail are connected, or docked. Our galaxy also needs a tail. The tail is connected to the core of the galaxy. The pictures above are a symbolic combination of micro- and macrocosmos. But the tail of our galaxy is not to be seen.

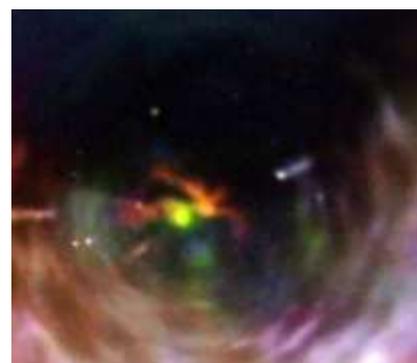

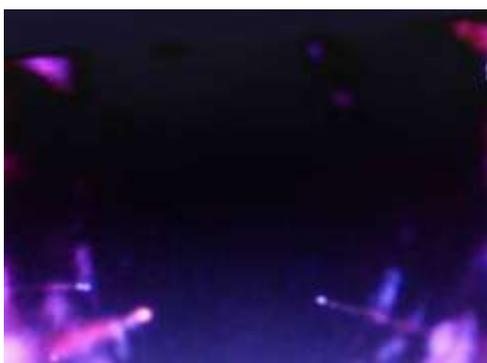

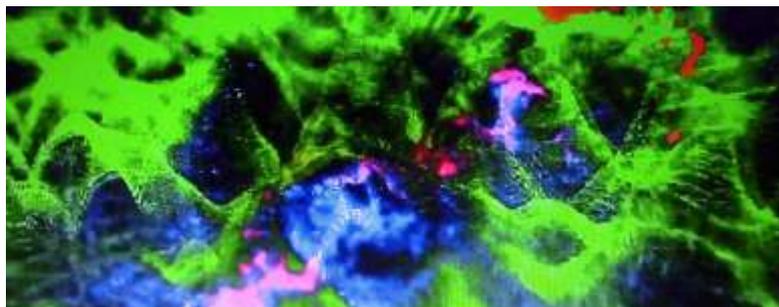

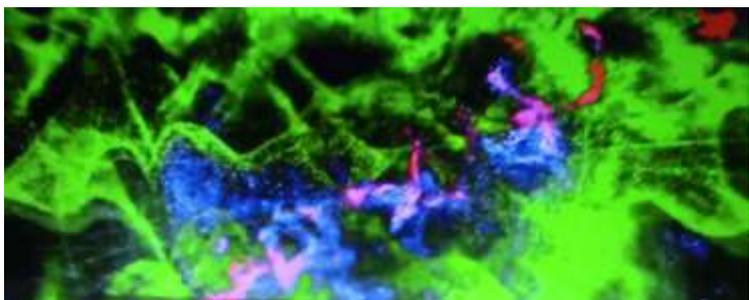

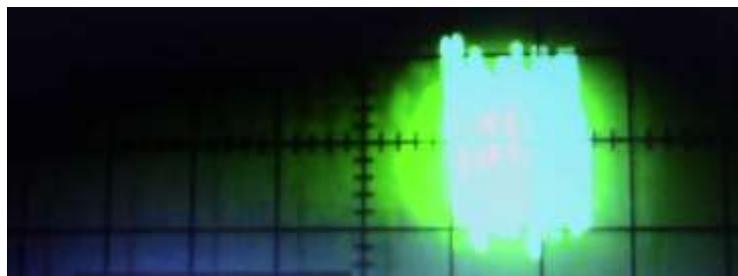

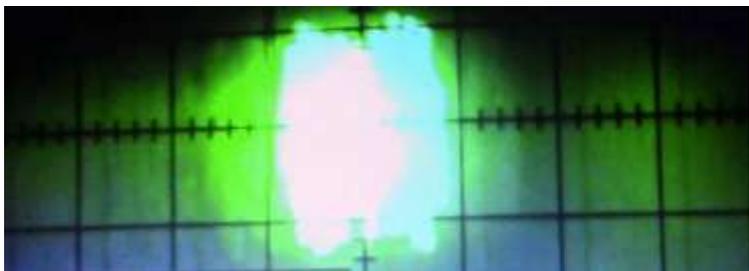

I would like to call this tail a 'prolonged source of power' or a power station with steering possibilities. It is also alive. At The Secrets of the Black Hole I remember how I saw it in a vision 11 years ago. I symbolically described the way to the core of the galaxy via a lit-up tunnel, a one-way road. This one-way road is also perfect for the 'prolonged source of power' or the power station (the tail). I compare it to a carbon nano tube. A galaxy is constructed like a UFO, a UFO is a copy of a galaxy. More info at Science, On the Road of Life, page 6.

Carbon nano tube

We know that certain galaxies still emit white beams of light from their black hole. There is dark matter in the form of tails which are invisible and each galaxy accepts it according to the level of frequency of its light beam. There is an equal number of dark-matter tails and galaxies. We can also call a tail a cosmic elastic tube. The galaxy and the cosmic elastic tube is a unity. Our galaxy also has one, though invisible. Astronomers have discovered some galaxies with cosmic elastic tubes, see picture above.

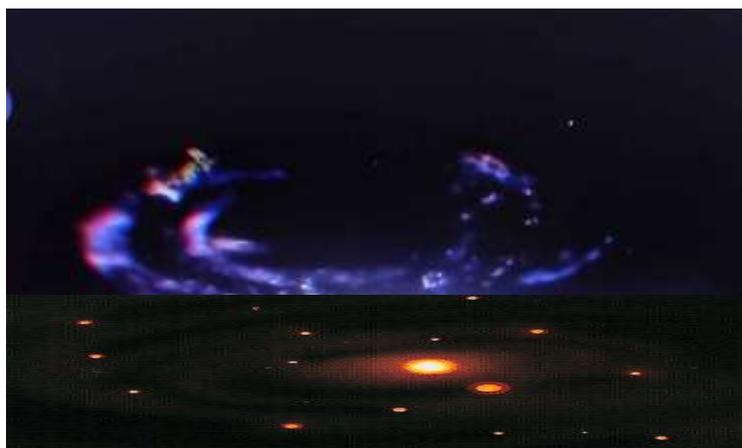

NASA'S Unexplained Files

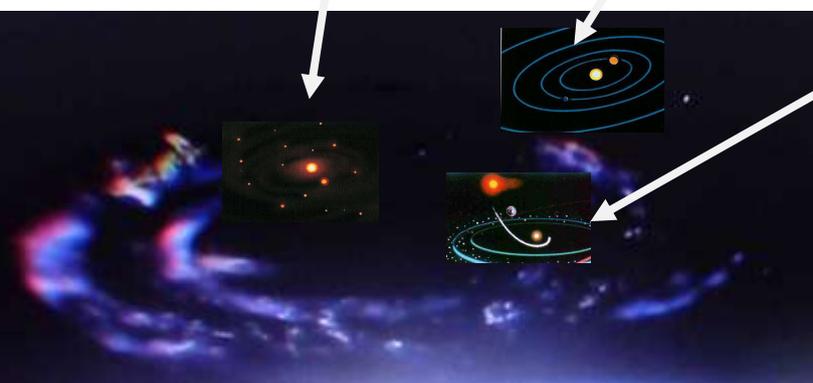

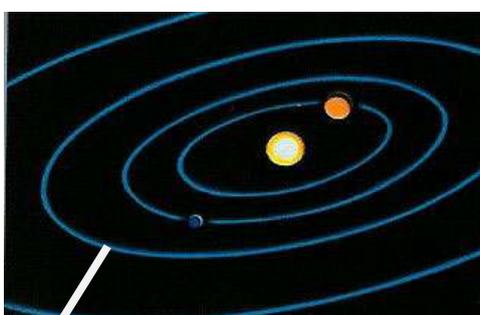

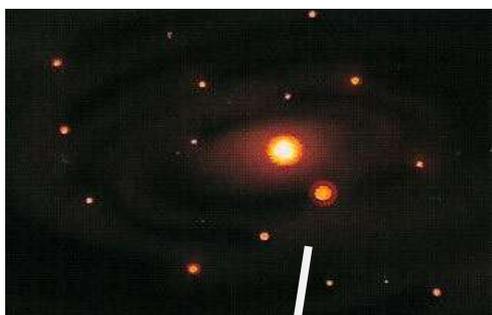

NASA's team. In May, 2016, NASA found a large object beyond our solar system. NASA was created to protect the Earth from cosmic threats. But if this was what scientists feared there was no defence. It can obliterate the Earth. NASA commissioned Hubble and Chandra X-ray Observatory. The object was very dark, it was hard to trace, but the signals scientists received shed light upon decades of observations. The astronomers picked up radio signals from space more than ten years ago. This is not unusual, we are used to it, but this was a new type of signals. Distant galaxies can only be located via their radio waves. This signal was not typical, it did not come from a distant galaxy, it was a mystery, they had to find out what it was all about. Hubble and Chandra came up with the first surprise. The object was much, much closer than they had expected. Scientists realised that it was only 7,200 light years away, which means it is inside our galaxy. An in-depth analysis revealed something even more worrying, the object sent out strong radio waves. But before Chandra investigated, there was no X-ray signal. Chandra found weak X-ray signals which pointed to a frightening conclusion. It was not a galaxy, a star, or a planet. What remains? There is only one answer. The object is too dark, it can hardly be followed, but the signals scientists receive point to a terrible conclusion. It is a completely new version of a black hole. It is a concealed, unknown killer of stars, possibly heading towards us. Powerful black holes. What makes it possible to notice black holes is that other objects which are too close, are ripped apart. They form a disc round the black hole, an accretion disc, which emits a strong X-ray signature which tells us that it is a black hole.

NASA: 'It was pure luck we found this black hole. Unfortunately there may be many other undiscovered black holes closer to us. Black holes can move at high velocity. They can move through space at 18 million kilometres/hour. A black hole can be approaching us right now. We will not be aware of it until we feel the gravitation we know is there.' - My guess is that within 15 years, the prolonged black hole, dark matter from the centre of the galaxy, is here.

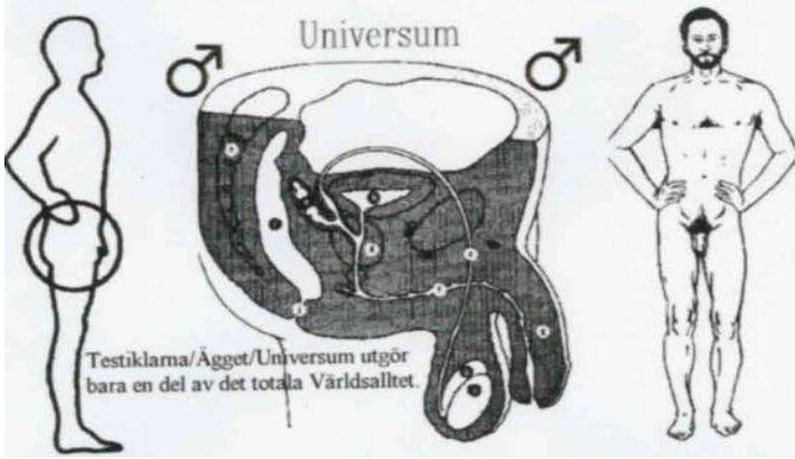

NASA: 'If we are attacked by a black hole, warnings will be very late. Astronomers have estimated that we would not notice it beyond our solar system until 800 days before its arrival.' The first warning would come when it reaches the Oort Cloud. The Oort cloud is a region at the edge of our solar system. When it has passed the Oort cloud and the Kuiper belt, the black hole reaches the gas giant (i.a. Jupiter) in the outer solar system. At that point in time we would experience the black hole's gravitation, for example floods, earthquakes, volcanic eruptions. Note that NASA does not estimate the size of this black hole. It can be enormous.

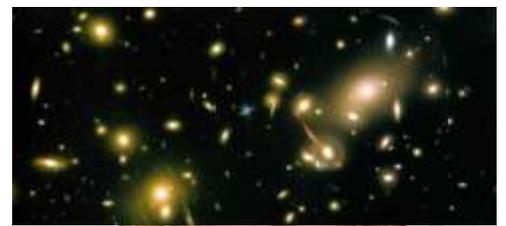

Eventually the Sun is extinguished and the galaxy is transformed into a dark galaxy of dark matter and creates a thick and hard shell. – The very End is described in the gospels: changes regarding stars, the Sun, and the Moon. Book of Revelation says: Rev 6-12-14: /.../ I looked when He opened the sixth seal, and ¹behold, there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon became like blood. And the stars of heaven fell to the earth, as a fig tree drops its late figs when it is shaken by a mighty wind. Then the sky receded as a scroll when it is rolled up, and every mountain and island was moved out of its place /.../' Nostradamus describes the End: 'The last day, 502 – 506. 502: /.../ 'You will see what course is prepared, what horror and oppression will descend, as if by the angel of death he Moon is led, when Heaven approaches its end and fall.' • 506. 'If twenty years are lost from lunar power, the realm of the follower will be seven thousand years. When the Sun, tired, in red purples its last days, my prophecy will be fulfilled.' Lucifer talked about this End at the beginning. He was dead certain.

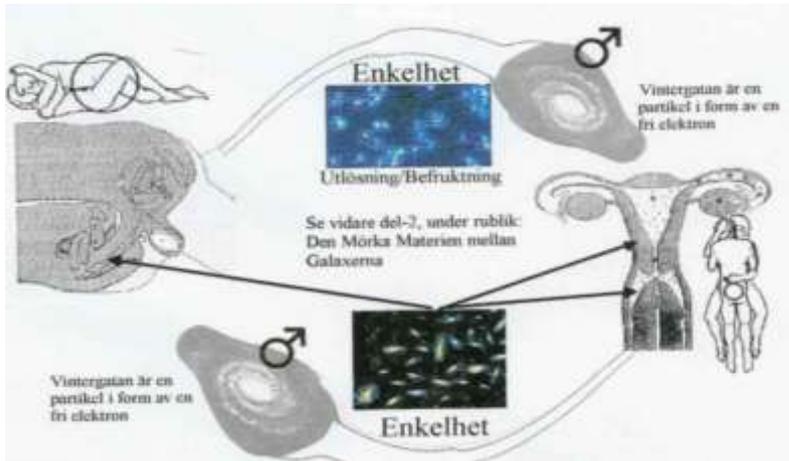

Modellen av Världsalltet

'Then the sky receded as a scroll when it is rolled up.' Through the urethra and the Father's genitals our galaxy will leave this world forever. The scroll is compared to the urethra and the penis. Our galaxy, the Milky Way, will be transformed into a cosmic ark which will float on seminal fluid all the way to the goal. The seminal fluid also contains dark matter/energy but of a different kind.

Two cosmic eggs. One is called DERN- Universe. This is where we are and galaxies are created. The other one is called DAL- Universe, an anti-world of antimatter. In that world the tail is created, the cosmic tube which makes up each galaxy in the other world. When these two powers meet there will be a gigantic ejaculation which in connected to Creation, what scientists call Big Bang. Big Bang has nothing to do with the Creation.

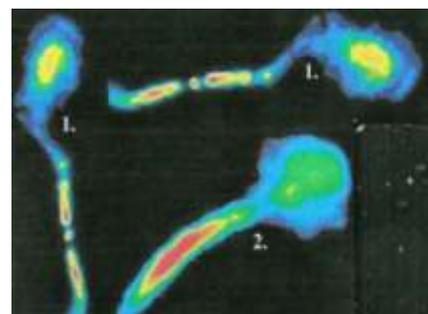

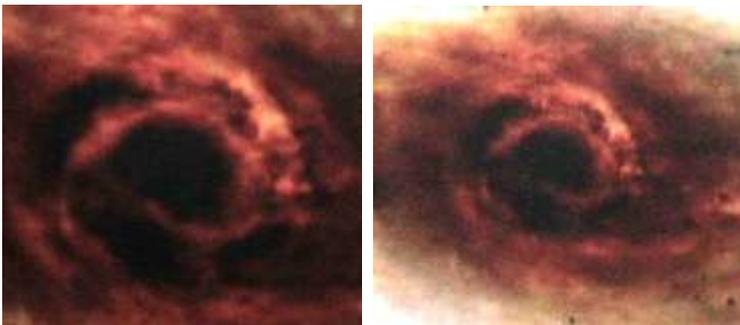

People from the other world may finally end up here. More info at Conquering Space III, final, pp 143 - 144.

Right now, an ejaculation is initiated in the upper world, in the Father's world. Simultaneously we live in his microworld, in his testicle. We are facing a very long journey to the finishing line, the egg.

In the shell's world of atoms in this dark galaxy/the Milky Way, life will go on, but not human life. More info at Conquering Space III, final, pp 113 - 116, 145 - 149 and Conquering Space IV, Ultimate Time and Goal, page 282.

There are many dark galaxies, one example is VirgoH121. There are also galaxies equipped with a tail. Pict. #1 shows a radio picture of galaxy 3C 449. Pict. #2 is also a radio picture, this is galaxy 3C 452 and its tail.

We can briefly state that this is life, the meaning of life and the prolongation of life via Man.

At some point in time I play the part as the Father and my son will take over my present identity. These are the natural laws and rules, we should be aware of them. Now it is my duty to defend my family and my family tree.

The End is here, but nobody will discuss CO₂ emissions. The term 'CO₂ emission' is invented for flocks of sheep around the world. Leave them alone, let them believe that CO₂ cause climate change on this planet.

NASA'S Unexplained Files

NASA, April 2016. NASA's probe, New Horizons, reaches the Kuiper belt. It is a dark area at the edge of our solar system. While passing its first goal, Pluto, its sensors notice an object following a strange orbit. Scientists give it a sinister name: Arawn.

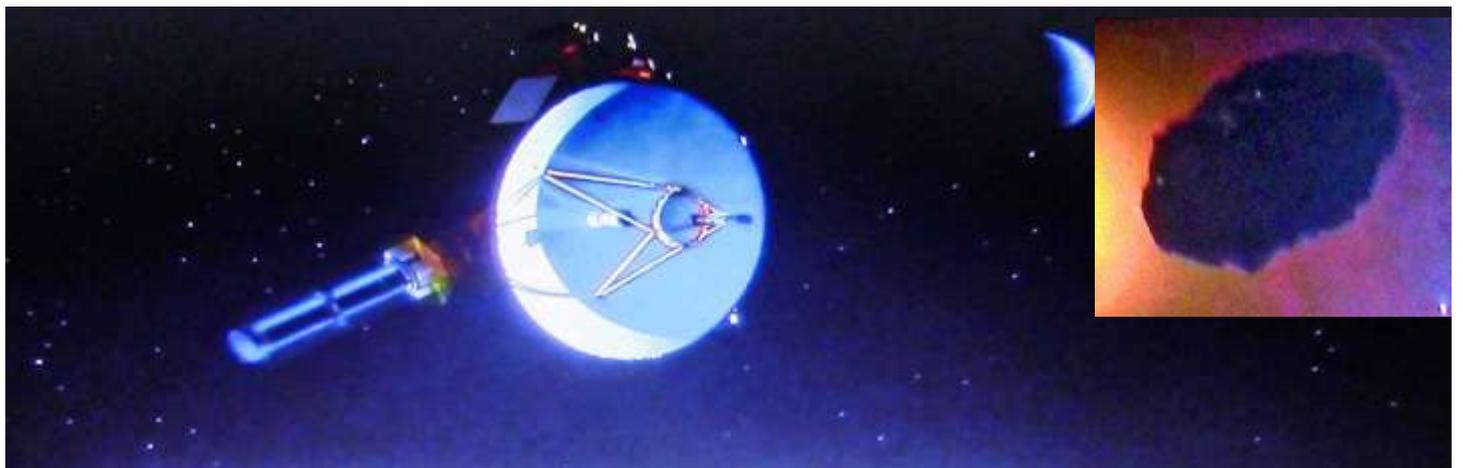

Arawn was the Celtic God of Death who cherished war, terror and revenge. Not a very nice guy.

NASA. Whatever it is, it behaves in a strange way. It alternates between light and darkness, it is rhythmically lit up and put out. Scientists understand that the object is rotating, one revolution in 5.5 hours, which is the same as 80 kilometres per hour. It is the size of Delaware. The fact that Arawn rotates indicates that it consists of something else and the rotation is so fast it could shatter, according to NASA. Something stronger than rock and ice? The probe New Horizons approached to allow better reading for the sensors, to give us a better view. But at the critical moment the probe's circuits stopped working, communication was no longer possible. This could mean that someone was watching over our presence. When that happens, you worry that something is wrong, it can destroy everything. This gives life to the question if someone was blocking NASA's communications. Before contact was cut, scientists noted that Arawn was rotating like a large spacecraft. It was rotating in order to produce artificial gravitation, NASA suggests.

NASA. Rotation creates gravity inside cavities, it is like an inverted planet, its surface on the inside. NASA knows that far-reaching transports in space need the production of gravitation. Neither NASA nor anyone else has built a rotating vehicle as big as Arawn. If it is some kind of vehicle, NASA claims that the creatures inside are not like us. The question is what they are doing there. Why is Arawn's rotation so slow? Are those inside not like us? Are they not dependant upon gravitation like we are?

NASA. New Horizons passes by Arawn and wakes up again. What happened with probe's computers stopped NASA from learning more about the object. Its origin and background remain in shadows. No further missions are planned. We will not learn more about Arawn in the foreseeable future.

I have many times in various links on my website claimed that the space organisation NASA brings light to our dark world. I stick to that. The important above message from spacecraft Arawn comes from NASA.

By reading NASA's excellent description of the spacecraft Arawn and its relation to space probe New Horizons, I understand that it is a dated UFO construction. The craft's origin is planet Nemesis's solar system, its crew the Father of all Gods Anu and his followers. The Bible calls them angels, i.e. extra-terrestrials. Inside the craft are buildings, forests and a hangar used by minor spacecraft.

Mothercraft Arawn produces gravitation and everything needed for a good life, the crew experience no problems. I believe that Arawn can be the same spacecraft that transported God Anu and his followers when they left Sumer around 7,000 years ago, before the global flood. Their purpose then coincides with Book of Revelation. Spacecraft Arawn is parked outside planet Pluto. The crew allowed New Horizons to come close enough to Arawn in order to get the information the probe delivered. The book with the seven seals will be opened there. They are there since 2016 and Pope Francis opened the world of Book of Revelation at his papal election on March 13 2013. Read more about the Midnight Mass 2020, page ---, the crib.

It seems as if the Father of all Gods also knows everything. He exists at the centre of events and carefully controls time. He wisely stayed away from the Earth's bloody history of religion and now comes the End. He was hidden on this planet together with Jehovah from the Pleiades. Much will happen inside, he became very angry, according to Book of Revelation, when the seventh seal was broken, the Sun turned mourning black, the Moon was like blood, etc. He knows exactly when the black hole, dark matter, will arrive and put out the solar system, everything will happen according to the cosmic order. My guess is in about 10 – 15 years. We will see.

Here, Hungary is interesting. The Magyars come from Sumer, from Anu's days. How many of us know about the origin of the Hungarians? In Hungary, the dictator Orbán oppresses people and at the same time he hides away Hungary's origin and history (Árpád), since they do not coincide with the beliefs and faith of the Catholic Church.

Orbán is God, but not a Catholic. What will happen? Hungary's last great leader was in fact vitéz Horthy Miklós, not Orbán.

The Father of all Gods Anu holds a stag, a 'Miracle Stag' in his arms. His sons Hunor and Magor hunted this stag, led by their father, Menrót the Great. More info at Obscure Magyar, pp 15 - 17.

The Father of all Gods Anu lives in his large spacecraft parked near Pluto.

Neutron star Nemesis was discovered in 2016. The black hole, the dark matter, was discovered in 2016 and spacecraft Arawn near planet Pluto was discovered in 2016. All three coincide with the End and Book of Revelation.

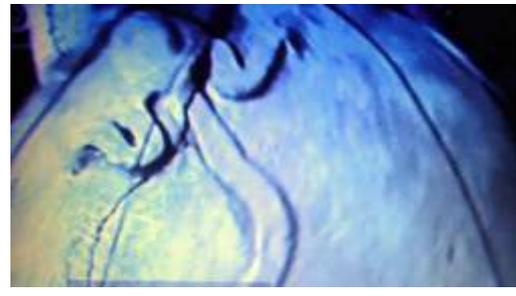

Real, human gods, Jehovah from the Pleiades and Anu from from the solar system of Nemesis, both stashed away on this planet.. Now, soon, they will appear...

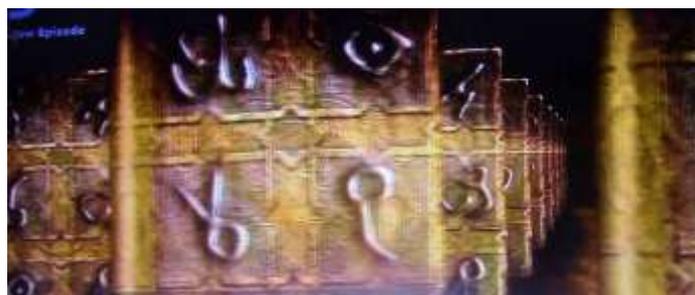

Metallic Library in Ecuador Cueva de los Tayos

NASA, August 1976. Astronaut Neil Armstrong sets off on a dangerous mission. This time it is not in space, it is in the jungle. He is looking for a cave system, Cueva de los Tayos, in Ecuador. More than 100 persons are involved: Ecuadorian army, British scientists from all over the world, university departments. Armstrong is not a regular scientist and the caves are not any caves. There is a legend surrounding the caves: a metallic library of gold, metallic books written in a strange language which probably displays extensive knowledge waiting to be discovered.

NASA. Armstrong travels with Stan Hall, a Scottish engineer who talked about a possible ancient underground library. Stan Hall's daughter tells us about the strange mission. Some people believe that the metallic library contained information from a civilization beyond this planet, demonstrating how to build pyramids and other issues. The knowledge stashed away in this library can turn our knowledge of ourselves and the world upside down. What fantastic secrets can be found in the library? According to the legend there is information on technologies from another world. But is there any reason to believe such stories emanating from a well-known and respected scientist, Neil Armstrong? He chose to take part in this mission. We must ask what he hoped to find in this dark, subterranean world.

NASA. Professor of social sciences, Petronio Jaramillo, claimed that he saw the ancient metallic library in 1946. He was seventeen years old and followed his uncle's map. He sounded as if he was describing Aladdin's Cave. The actual library was an astounding sight.

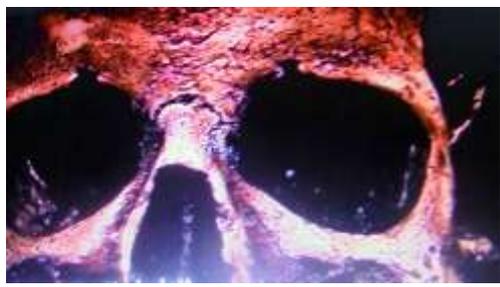

NASA. Thousands of tomes each weighing around 20 kilos with signs and symbols at their sides. If there is one chance in a million that this library exists, should we not return and look for it? Thirty years after Jaramillo claimed he had found the library, Armstrong sets off to find out if the legend is true. Reaching the cave's entrance is a nightmare. Dense jungle, animals which can kill you. Virus, lots of dangers. Literally Indiana Jones. It is a a large, black abyss. Once inside, Armstrong and Hall are overwhelmed.

NASA. They passed several cathedral-size chambers. It seems as if these chambers, far from civilisation, have not been created by natural processes. The caves have straight walls and perpendicular bends. This must be thousands of years old. How is that possible?

NASA. When Armstrong and his team force their way deeper into the caves, Armstrong makes a macabre discovery. They face a tomb with a skeleton which later on was dated to B.C 1500. This is before Tutankhamun and the siege of Troy. Ecuador was one of the most advanced areas in North and South America. The tomb's position allowed sunrays, at the summer solstice, to enter the cave entrance and touch the tomb. It might have had some cosmological function. It was not an ordinary grave, it was the body of an important individual. The light, the skull, the tomb...Armstrong feels they must be close to the metallig library.

NASA. Can it reveal the secrets of the galaxy? Is that why Neil Armstrong took part in the expedition?

NASA. Armstrong finds strange chambers and a 3500-year-old skeleton in a strangely lit-up tomb. But after several kilometres with difficult tunnels, the group is forced to return. 'My father and Armstrong did not find the treasure, but they mapped around 15 kilometres of the caves, but we know that the system of caves stretches far beyond that. There might be hundreds of kilometres of caves', said Hall's daughter. Armstrong returns to his farm in Ohio and does not say anything about why they were looking for the legendary library.

NASA. After that he became more and more reserved, according to some. He was very private to start with, but whatever he experienced made him even more unobtrusive.

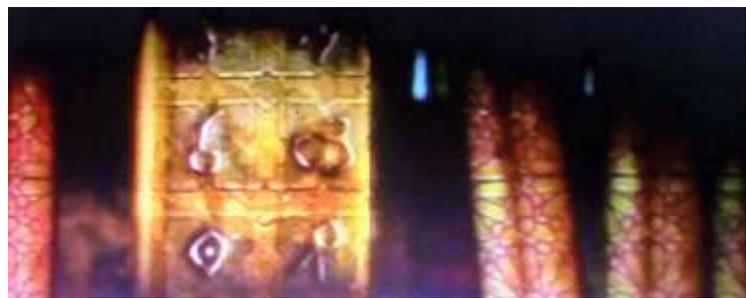

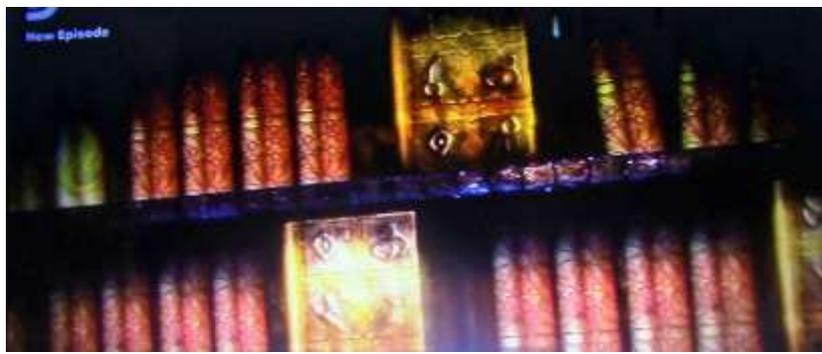

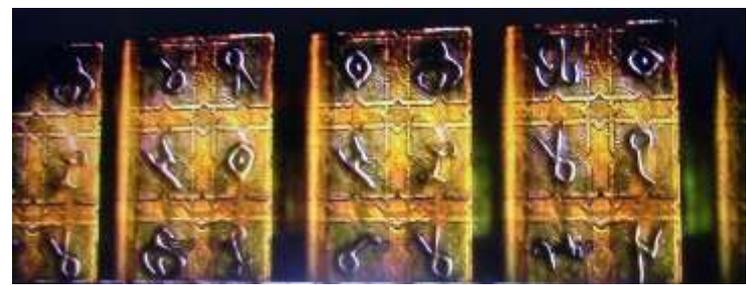

NASA. But then, in the White House in 1994, 20 years after the attempt to find the ancient metallic library, Armstrong delivers a strange speech. Armstrong: 'We have only finished the very beginning. We hand over to you much that is not clear. 'There are great ideas undiscovered, breakthroughs available to those who can remove one of the truth's protective layers.'

It is a very alluring quotation by Neil Armstrong: 'remove layers of hidden truths.' What did he mean? Can the library reveal the secrets of the galaxy? Does that explain Armstrong's presence? Finding the library might have proves a possible link between our ancient cultures and extra-terrestrials.

NASA. Stan Hall sticks to the mystery of the Tayos caves. 15 years after the first expedition he visits Jaramillo, the only person who claims he knows about the library. They are planning an expedition to the caves in order to find the library, but the plans end in tragedy. 'My father and Jaramillo could not explore the caves as Jaramillo, unfortunately was murdered in 1998,' says Eileen Hall. 'It's a mystery, we can't explain why the murder took place at that point in time.' Eileen Hall wants to continue her father's search by leading expeditions into the caves. 'If we can find the treasure and if it is in any way connected to extra-terrestrial life, we have an endless source of answers.'

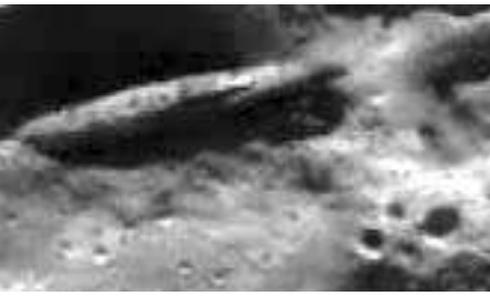

NASA. For the believers, the mystery remains. The caves are there and the books, somewhere in the jungle, undiscovered. Let me analyse this metallic library.

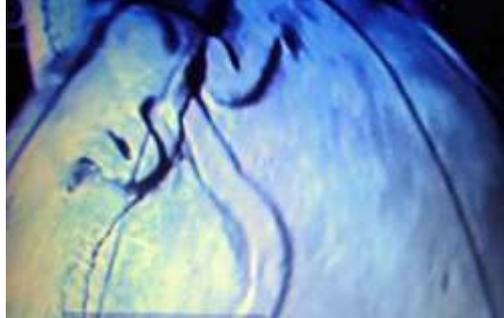

If we know what Universe and our galaxy really are, we can read the signs of the above message, the simplest challenge in our Universe. As far as I understand, these books are about a birth into the upper world, to our Cosmic Father, the same story appears in the Gospels. Eileen Hall, Stan Hall's daughter, claimed that Professor Jamarillo was murdered in order to hide the cave system Cueva de los Tayos in Ecuador, the location of the books. In 1994 Neil Armstrong visited the White House and Jamarillo was murdered in 1998. It is probable that Neil Armstrong mentioned the metallic library, still among the undiscovered objects. It is possible that the Masons took part in the Jamarillo murder. If the library is found, it will be revealed that God has nothing to do with Universe and that Christianity will collapse long before time is ripe.

It is a fact that extra-terrestrials are behind the Cueva de los Tayos library and system of caves in Ecuador, but there are several groups of extra-terrestrials to chose among. We have extra-terrestrials from the Pleiades and from Venus. There must be clues that can hel pus with this. NASA claims that Armstrong started his mission in August 1976. What happened then? Apollo 20 flew to the Moon on a to-secret military mission and landed on the far side of the Moon. The crew consisted of William Rutledge 1, Leona M Snyder 2, and Alexej Leonov 3. Their guide was an extra-terrestrial.

Astronauts Rutledge and Leonov visited the spacecraft. They also visited a triangular spacecraft where they found the body of a female, who they called EBE Mona Lisa. The spacecraft is from SUMER and EBE Mona Lisa is the actual Serpent Goddess Inanna, originally from Venus. Armstrong certainly knew Rutledge, who told him what had happened on the reverse side of the Moon. Simultaneously it was possible for Armstrong to watch the Apollo 20 lunar flight from Vandenberg Airforce Base. At that point in time, Armstrong had made up his mind to follow the expedition to Ecuador ito find the metallic library. One more lead. The pictures display a globe. On it we can see wriggling serpents which can show us where to find the metallic library in the Ecuadorian jungle. This can serve as an excellent map. The metallic library was created by extra-terrestrials from Venus. As far as I understand, Neil Armstrong knew what our Universe and galaxy really are, that is why he accompanied the expedition to Ecuador, he wanted to find the library. He wanted confirmation. Now the world can understand what Neil Armstrong was talking about in the White House: ‘There are great ideas undiscovered, breakthroughs available to those who can remove one of the truth's protective layers.’ To remove layers of protective truth about the Universe and the galaxy is the greatest achievement there is.
