

Foundation Stone

In the Old as well as the New Testament there are references to the "Foundation Stone" which Jesus referred to a number of times. It is also called "Building Stone". When you read everything about this Jesus Christ/Lamb of God you notice that ordinary people/the flock of sheep do not understand the context. Also in this case they think that all of it is only about the symbolic construction of religion and church. Not so. This foundation stone only exists in biology connected to creativity or construction of the human body and thereafter of church and religion.

Back to Egypt. It is no coincidence that the Egyptians have chosen two pharaohs as the two most important pharaohs in Egypt's history. One is Akhenaten and the other one is Tutankhamun. There is a notation from Akhenaten was Tutankhamun's father and vice versa, Akhenaten was Tutankhamun's son. This notation is an inscription on a piece of stone. Note that I, in this context, use material which is also available privately and I interpret it using my knowledge.

25 kilometres north of Amarna, in Asmunein there is a temple ruin. This piece of stone was found here by the Egyptologists and points to the fact that Akhenaten was Tutankhamun's father. The rock was already being examined by selected German archaeologists, sent there by Gustav Hitler in 1939. That is not documented. Here are thousands of stones and rocks from the Amarna period in a warehouse. This particular rock/message is a document from the time of Akhenaten. The message reads "The King's Son, of his body, his beloved Tutankhamun" This is the most important discovery by the Egyptologists. This stone is a continuation of Aten worship and later on a foundation stone for Judaism and Christianity. Not even Gustav Hitler destroyed it. Except for this stone there are no other monuments or inscriptions about this. In the Aten religion Akhenaten himself was the Deity Aten and he chose Tutankhamun as his son by making his third daughter Anchenpaaton marry Tutankhamun. By doing this, Akhenaten wanted to prolong Dynasty 18 and secure the Aten religion primarily all over Egypt. More info at Tutankhamun, the Young Lion, e.g. page 10.

The whole Dynasty 18 is very complicated, shrouded in mystery and secrets. It all started when King Amenhotep III married Tiye, daughter of Tjuyu and Yuya (cousins) who did not belong to the royal family.

Akhenaten was a hybrid/virgin, neither man nor woman. Because of this he could not beget children. His wife Nefertiti gave him six daughters in marriage. Their biological father was probably Nefertiti's own father who was also a priestlike favourite in Aten worship (Akhenaten's hymns to the sun Aten). Akhenaten knew everything and it was probably he who chose Ay as a father of the daughters Meritaton and Maketaton, among others. Ay was his uncle. This was of course a top secret. Here Akhenaten's cover-up started. – More info at Omnipotent Akhenaten, pp 1-8.

In 2000 I bought the book "Egypt, Land of the Pharaohs", original title: Ägypten, Die Welt der Pharaonen, 1998, (one of my many books about Egypt). When I read and studied the book, I was caught by "Maya's tomb", Saqqara, Dynasty 18 around BC 1320-25 and the couple Maya and Merit. At the beginning Merit was one of Amun's temple singers. Maya was a treasurer and served under Akhenaten, Tutankhamun, Ay and Horemheb, among others. When I saw the picture of Merit, I immediately thought that she looks like Jewess Maria, who gave birth to her son Tibor E on Christmas Eve, 1958, in Linköping, Sweden. Her facial expression and smile reflect Maria's face when she smiles. My further studies brought in Tutankhamun, since he neither looks like Akhenaten nor Nefertiti. Tutankhamun looks like Tibor E.

Probably not of royal descent. According to Egyptian records he finishes Dynasty 18 and he was also took part in moving the capital back to Thebes (mother: Kija). He also hid Tutankhamun's tomb, which explains why it was discovered almost untouched in 1922. The tomb that Horemheb, when general, had built is in Saqqara, Valley of the Kings. It is his royal tomb, both are famous for their ornaments. Maya's youngest son was Tutankhamun, pharaoh around BC 1333-1323? Tutankhamun is a mystery (mother: Merit). All three were qualified for the throne.

Aten Worship, Focus on Death

Akhenaten

Amun had had a paternal role in Egypt.

The dark sun, Aten
The new religion with focus on the Serpent itself.

From time immemorial anthropological similarities, analogies, have been popular and simple among families and ethnic groups. The simple laws of nature were implemented. From these statues we can clearly see that biologically, Akhenaten had nothing to do with Tutankhamun. When Tutankhamun was begotten Akhenaten was not even in the vicinity and I am sure that nobody on this planet can prove the opposite. – But the rock above, a document from the times of Akhenaten, clearly tells us that Tutankhamun was Akhenaten's biological son. In other words: Akhenaten had a paternal role connected to Tutankhamun. What does this mean?– In the new religion founded by Akhenaten the focus was on the Serpent, the foundation of Akhenaten's religion. Akhenaten himself was the Serpent, a reincarnation of the Chaos Dragon/Serpent Tiamat. In my final words I will return to the significance of this rock. The Sun Disc Aten, the name Akhenaten gave his religion, was in fact the dark neutron star AN, Which he renamed Aten. It is already in our solar system.

In order to make worship of Aten take root, primarily in Egypt and then all over the world, Akhenaten needed a son, a biological son who resembled him, as is illustrated on the rock. This rock would be of value long into the future and Akhenaten called the rock "foundation stone" – a continuation of Aten worship, later on a transition to the foundation of Israel and its religion and Christianity. At the same time Akhenaten knew that he was a hybrid/virgin and could not beget an heir. What did he do? For Akhenaten it was important to be able to explain and prove that the Amun Cult was gone and that Tutankhamun was his son. Probably, when Tutankhamun married his daughter Anchenpaaton, he also adopted him to his son. That is how important Tutankhamun was for Akhenaten. He probably knew that Tutankhamun was a reincarnation of Marduk and wanted him to support him rather than Amun. But Tutankhamun was only a child and a weak card. I am sure that Akhenaten wanted a mature, adult heir to take over after him. There is fairly good evidence that Tutankhamun and his family all converted to Aten Worship. But the question is why something still went wrong, something Akhenaten had not foreseen.

After having reigned for 18 years Akhenaten suddenly disappeared without any trace. I believe that Akhenaten ascended with a spaceship, a flying saucer, that landed nearby. Akhenaten was declared dead and instead of him, his sister was placed into the coffin. There are clues to confirm this. What follows is the most mysterious part of Akhenaten's time as pharaoh in Egypt, in Amarna.

400 kilometres away, in the Valley of Kings there is a tomb which can give us an answer. When tomb KV-55 was found it was filled of artefacts with names of almost all rulers from the Amarna period. There were hundreds of artefacts, therefore it is called Amarnas Treasure Chest. The tomb was given the number 55. It became "the enigmatic tomb". The tomb radiates mystery and magic. The magic of Amarna. There had been holy artefacts which are now gone: pots containing intestines and organs. And one more thing: A sarcophagus with no face, no identification. Inside was a mummy. Everything else came from the Amarna period, probably the mummy did that, too.

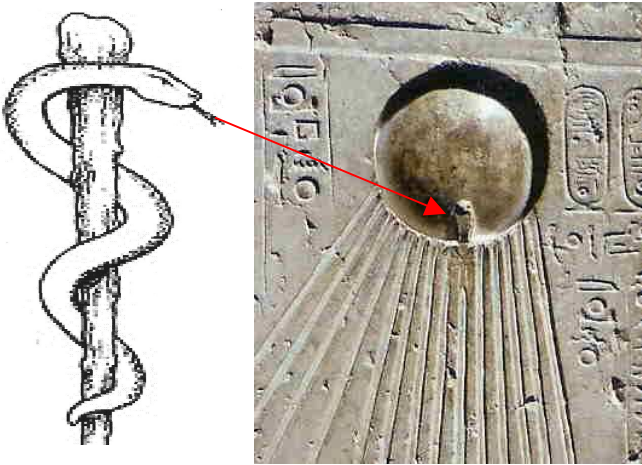

The mummy's sarcophagus. It has strange damages. The name and face have been removed . But one important hieroglyph is still there.

Look! It says "Aten" and we clearly see an sun disc. The symbolic colour of the sun is normally yellow. In this context there is a dark sun disc which we can clearly see, a reddish brown sun (a neutron sun or a neutron star). It must be royal from Amarna.

An Amarna sarcophagus belonging to one of the members of the royal family. Only two of these, belonging to the rulers of Amarna, have disappeared: those of the radical Akhenaten and the mysterious Smenkhare.

An expressive message: "The Sun Aten" is the Serpent Deity. He will not let himself be buried in a coffin in KV-55.

The damaged face on a sarcophagus

Sitamun, Akhenaten's sister

The damaged face on a sarcophagus. We can clearly see a pointed chin, like that of Akhenaten.

Sitamun, Akhenaten's sister

Akhenaten and, probably, his sister Sitamu. Some researchers mean that this is Tiye's death mask. It resembles Tiye, but she is probably her daughter. Tiye had pointed chin, like her son Akhenaten.

The skull of the mummy is more like Sitamu's face than that of Akhenaten. Akhenaten has a more pointed chin. KV-55 cannot be Akhenaten. KV-55 is a real "woman".

Akhenaten's hybrid body structure, more female than male.

Akhenaten

Akhenaten and his family in a sun worship context. We can clearly see Akhenaten's female body, he was neither man nor woman. He was a short little man with sick, abnormal looks, a long skull, thin birdlike throat, spindly stork-like shins below thick matronly thighs, a bulging little stomach, sloping girls' shoulders and dreamlike, degenerated features. This is how history remembers him.

Akhenaten's right hand with female fingers is clearly visible.

The X-ray pictures from KV-55 were compared with pictures from the period. Akhenaten had a slim torso but wide hips. A typical hybrid/female body, almost like the X-ray pictures. Anthropologically this angel is big, according to research. We can establish that there is a female mummy in KV-55 and she is not Akhenaten, despite the hybrid/female body. He was neither man nor woman.

According to my knowledge and my secret knowledge, Akhenaten ascended after his 18-year reign. This journey was kept secret and he was declared dead. Akhenaten ordered that his sister Sitamun's body (she was killed for this purpose) should be placed in the coffin, in the sarcophagus, instead of his. Akhenaten's face was put onto the sarcophagus and his name was added, as if he was in the coffin. His sister looked like him. Aten's name and his symbol were also engraved.

Smenkhare ascended the throne.

Smenkhare and his wife Meritaton. Meritaton was Akhenaten's eldest daughter.

Since Smenkhare was married to Akhenaten's daughter, he ascended the throne after Akhenaten. Many researchers claim that Smenkhare ruled together with one of the family members, probably Nefertiti. She stuck to Aten worship, but Smenkhare did not. Atondvrkan.

Akhenaten and his family and Aten Sun Worship, Aten's sunbeams, like long arms and hands, helping Akhenaten's family and close relatives. This is symbolic and the signs mean that the aliens (Dragon group) are secretly helping and planning for Akhenaten's ascension by a spaceship. Note that this knowledge was only for Akhenaten's family and close relatives, not for the Egyptian people or posterity. There was only one assignment for the people: to worship the Sun Deity Aten, who is the only God.

Akhenaten and Nefertiti

Akhenaten and Nefertiti

Documents from the time of Akhenaten with his programme connected to his birth.

Akhenaten's programme was carefully planned. "Now the serpent was more cunning than any beast of the field /.../" Gen. 3:1,

Since focus is on Serpent Akhenaten in this context and since he is a hybrid, we should find more proof or clues that he really is a hybrid, like a visit to the royal tomb in Amarna. The pictures are about Akhenaten, his wife Nefertiti and their six daughters. But there is no sign of Tutankhamun, but for one clue.

Meritaton and Smenkhare, both are dressed.

This mural constitutes the small clue connected to Akhenaten and Tutankhamun in the Amarna tomb. This picture is the most extraordinary of all pictures concerning Akhenaten and Tutankhamun, a picture of a small newly born baby in his anonymous mother's arms. Some Egyptologists and scientists think that the baby can be Tutankhamun in his mother's arms. There are no depictions of Tutankhamun as a boy but they believe this is one. I agree, my opinion about this picture is that this is a picture depicting Tutankhamun and his mother. The man with the fan is the newly born boy's father, the three are a family. A fan, directed at the sun disc Aton can be seen above the family. This means that they also pay worship to Aten and it is also a symbol of royalty. We can see that Akhenaten and Nefertiti are turned away and both of them touch their foreheads. They found out that something was predestined, that the birth of this child happened at exactly the point in time everybody had been waiting for. Akhenaten keeps his left hand on Nefertiti's left arm. They actually witnessed an important birthday. The newly born boy is Tutankhamun, his mother is Merit and his father is Maya. They are royalties since Maya's eldest son Smenkhare was married to Akhenaten's eldest daughter Meritaton. Both of them are standing in front of Merit and newly born boy Tutankhamun, fully dressed. But Akhenaten and Nefertiti have no clothes, they are completely naked...

Both Akhenaten and Nefertiti are totally naked and Akhenaten lacks the male genital, a penis. This picture of Akhenaten can prove that that he was neither man nor woman, he was a hybrid, a virgin. The person who created this mural was the same person who removed Akhenaten's face and his name from the sarcophagus. I will later on return to this character, a person who knew all the secrets surrounding Akhenaten. As I mentioned earlier, Maya and Merit were Tutankhamun's biological parents. To gather more evidence, we visit Saqqara, Maya's tomb.

In the royal tomb in Amarna we still see the full message. I divide it into Pict 1 and Pict 2. Pict 1 is an illustration of a birth at Akhenaten's royal court (Akhetaten's royal necropolis). On the mural we can see that there is a wall between the real royal family and the staff. We can see the woman (Merit) holding a small newly born baby (Tutankhamun) and standing beside the royal family, while the man (Maya) is inside the family because of the marriage of his eldest son Smenkhare to Akhenaten's eldest daughter Meritaton. – This is how I interpret the message.

In Pict 2 we see a woman lying dead in front of Akhenaten and Nefertiti, who are striking their foreheads. Both of them are totally naked. Egyptologists and scientists believe that the dead woman may be Kija, Maketatton or some other important person who died at childbirth and is believed to be the mother of the newly born child.

I believe the murals were created a long time after Akhenaten's and Nefertiti's marriage.
I read the message in this way:

We cannot see if the character who is in front of the woman's bed is a man or a woman. It seems as if the individual is looking towards the starry sky, an astrologer who has an unfortunate message for Akhenaten since he strikes his forehead when the message is delivered. The picture shows that it takes place in a secluded room where Akhenaten and his wife Nefertiti were alone with the astrologer. The Aten Cult was already in full swing and all Egyptians were forced to worship Aten. Akhenaten and Nefertiti know that their lifework with the religion Sun/Aten will shortly be destroyed and buried. Thus, the dead woman is a symbol of the female Aten religion which was founded by the hybrid/virgin Akhenaten. The message was a shock for both Akhenaten and Nefertiti, they both strike their foreheads. The person next to Nefertiti delivers the message.

Maya's tomb in Saqqara

Maya's tomb in Saqqara. This is a picture of the little boy Tutankhamun as a pharaoh, on his throne. Maya is helping Tutankhamun with something round his neck. We can see guards surrounding Tutankhamun and Maya. Behind him there is a person next to him, probably Horemheb. We can see that pharaoh in this context is around 10-12 years old, a small boy who needs help and protection.

This picture illustrates almost the same event as above. Maya at the centre, on the throne his youngest son Tutankhamun and behind him the other son Horemheb who sees something unexpected...In both pictures the atmosphere is rather hot and the guards were vigilant. The subject is important, but there is a small mistake in perspective, the throne and the seated, small pharaoh are almost twice the size of the staff surrounding them.

Note that Tutankhamun also is guarding a man who looks like Maya behind the throne. Was this person Maya's brother or another son, an even elder son? He probably had a special assignment for Tutankhamun.

These two pictures are also documents from the times of Maya and Tutankhamun. Thanks to the Egyptians' excellent art activities, like statues and murals, we have acceptable documents and material from the history of ancient Egypt. There is one more thing revealed here. Maya's skull structure resembles that of Tutankhamun.

Tutankhamun's skull structure, a 100%-certified X-ray of his mummy, resembling Maya's.

Horemheb's profile from a mural in his tomb. We see his skull structure, resembling that of Maya's.

Smenkhare's profile from a mural. His skull structure is similar to Maya's.

According to the murals, all three profiles have similar skull structures. I believe they resemble each other anthropologically, they may have been siblings with the same father but eith different mothers. Note that they all wear wigs.

Tutankhamun

Tutankhamun and his wife Anchenpaaton. We can see that they look like each other. By using a simple anthropological analogy we can see that they were sibling and had the same father, Maya. Anchenpaaton does not fit into Akhenaten's family, she did not have the same skull structure as did Akhenaten and Nefertiti.

KV-55. Skull structure from KV-55. We see that the mummy's skull is almost identical with Yuya's skull structure. The female mummy in KV-55 is related to Akhenaten, it is possible that she is Akhenaten's sister Sitamun. Scientists have established that it is a female body. There is also a DNA match linking Amenhotep III, Yuyu and Tiye.

We can establish that there was no biological connection between Tutankhamun and Akhenaten. The X-ray pictures prove that Tutankhamun's skull structure is quite different from that of Tutankhamun's family.

Meritaton's profile from a mural. The same type as that of skull structure as Yuya's.

Maketaton. She and Yuya have the same kind of skull structure.

Anchenpaaton's profile from a painting. We can see that her skull structure does not match Meritaton or Maketaton. It is more similar to Maya's and his son's skull structures than it is to that of Akhenaten's family. I think that her father was Maya and her mother was Nefertiti.

Maya's tomb in Saqqara

This mural, from Maya's tomb, depicts Merit as a mother and Tutankhamun. In other words: we see mother and son together.

However I look upon this, I see Merit being Tutankhamun's biological mother. Tutankhamun's mother cannot disappear without leaving traces behind.

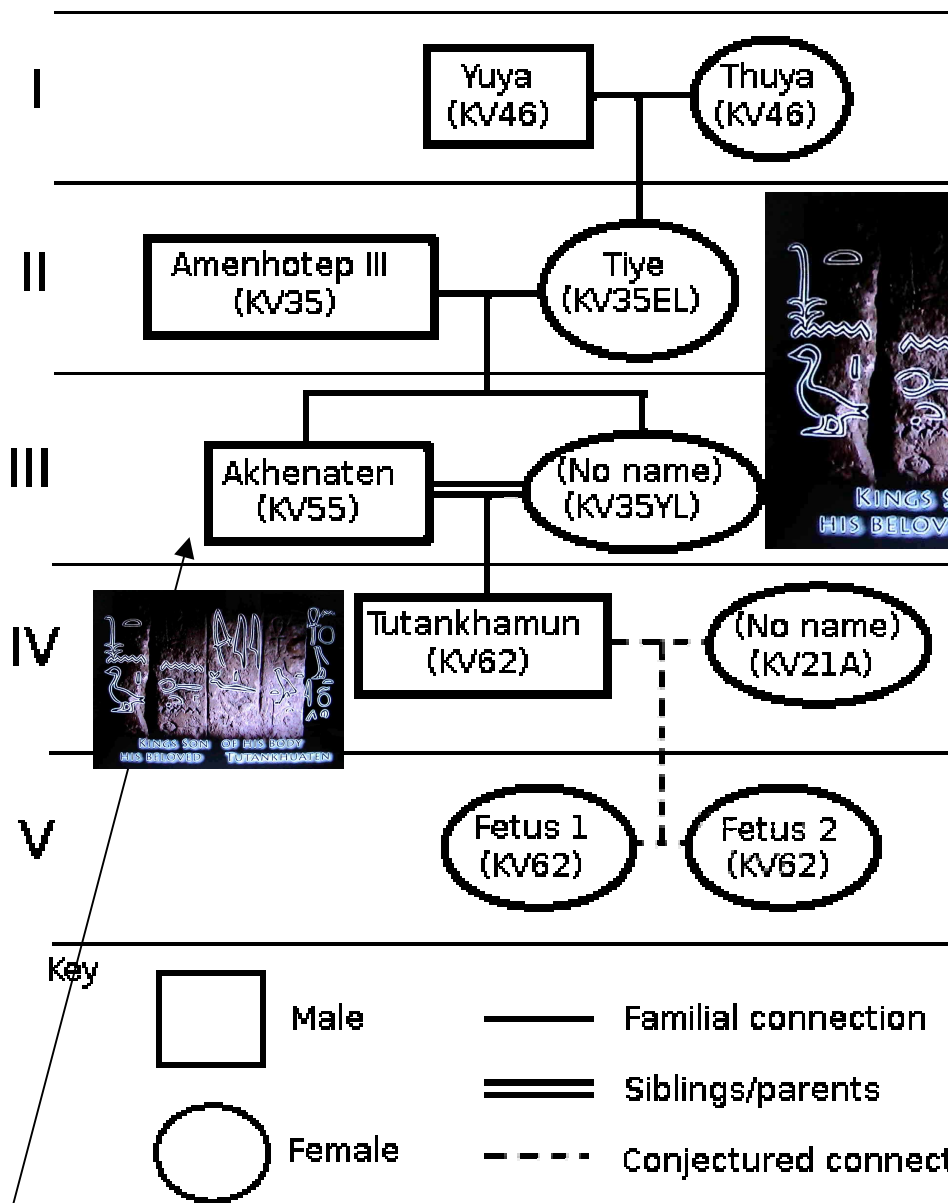

One of the Egyptologists said this, it is about a particular portrait: "When I look at the face of the sarcophagus, I come to think about Tutankhamun. The nose, the mouth and the eyes have Tutankhamun's strains. When I saw the sarcophagus when the tomb was opened I immediately saw the connection between KV-63 and KV-62, Tutankhamun's tomb." – I fully agree with this Egyptologist since I, after having seen portraits of Merit and Kija, see them as siblings with strains of Tutankhamun in both their faces.

This pot was found beside the mummy in KV-55. It was X-rayed. There is a small inscription which is almost impossible to see, but there are traces and the name "Kija" can be seen. At the same time they found something that looks like a bird. The X-ray pictures showed the name Kija and a bird on the pot.

Besides the name Kija, a bird-like animal was discovered on the pot. It may mean that Kija's animal origin was a bird or that she was the sister of a person who also had a bird (vulture/eagle) as animal origin, like Merit. This is a very valuable and important discovery about Kija by the Egyptologists, despite of the fact that her mummy is lost.

How did Tutankhamun die?

After Akhenaten left the life on Earth via ascension, Smenkhare was elected pharaoh. But since he was fairly young, he had to share the power with a family member from Akhenaten's family. Some researchers maintain that this member was Nefertiti. He ruled for about 4-6 years. The royal court was surrounded by heavy mystery, filled with secrets. Not much is really known about Smenkhare. It was probably Nefertiti, using the name "Ankhkheperure" and her father Ay who rules Egypt with an iron rod. As far as I understand there were problems at court regarding religion. Pharaoh Smenkhare questioned the worship of Aten and did not any more share the opinions of the court. Therefore he was murdered. Nefertiti and her father Ay were behind this murder. It is not difficult to find out about murder plots and culprits if you know the history of Dynasty 18. They also probably removed Smenkhare from the history of Amarna. Amun's clerics were behind Smenkhare, but it did not help.

Tutankhamun was elected pharaoh after Smenkhare. The surroundings of the court became even darker. Not much is really known Tutankhamun either, not even his year of birth or when he married Anchenpaaton. History tells us that he was a young boy when he ascended the throne and on the throne there is a painting of him together with her. I believe that he was 6-8 years old and she was even younger. It is evident that a child cannot govern a large realm like Egypt. He had co-rulers like Nefertiti and Ay using the name "Neb-Kheperu-Ra" and they ruled the country with an iron rod. Eventually also Nefertiti disappeared and suddenly Maya himself was at Tutankhamun's court. We see that from his tomb pictures. Something had happened to Nefertiti since she was no longer executing power.

This box is at the museum of Cairo. Here we find the name Ankhkheperure. Many people believe that Ankhkheperure could be Smenkhare's second name. My view is that Smenkhare did not need any other name than the name by which he was known as a pharaoh. Nefertiti was behind the name Ankhkheperure.

This artefact with the name Neb-Kheperu-Ra was found in the ruins of Amarna. It is one of Tutankhamun's names according to Egyptologists. It is said he was given the name when he was crowned. How many names did the child Tutankhamun have? And why so many names? In historical chronicles there are only two names: Tutankhamun and Tutankhaten. He was also called King Tut. My personal opinion is that Ay was active behind the name Neb-Kheperu-Ra.

Tutankhamun left this golden throne behind. The throne is for a 10-12-year-old child. A 19-year-old adult cannot sit down on this throne. Tutankhamun and his wife are both younger than 12 years, which is evident from the picture above.

Tutankhamun on his throne. It is evident that he could have been around 12 years old and needed help from his father.

The golden throne for a small boy. It is a national treasure in Egypt and is kept in a glass case in the Museum of Cairo. In front of the right and left armrest there is a young lion. The Lion is a symbol of, for example, Tutankhamun's animal origins and monarchy (this lion was later on transferred by birth to the tribe of Judah with the name David, so Judah became a true symbol of monarchy).

On the reverse side of the throne is something unusual, a cartouche with Tutankhamun's royal name, "Tutankhaten". Tut-Ankt-Aten. In the cartouche we can see the dark sun Aten. Aten was already ravaging the solar system and was on its way to orbit the Sun. Furthermore: the meaning of the name is very interesting, Tut-ankt-aten means "Aten's living picture". Biologically, Akhenaten and Tutankhamun had nothing to do with each other. A lion cannot be a living picture of a serpent. What has Akhenaten planned here? I will return to this subject later. – Anyway, he was crowned king in the name of Aten according to an earlier agreement with Akhenaten.

Surprisingly, there is another name here. At the front of the cartouches we can read "Tut-Ankh-Amun". He probably received this name at birth and there we can see the transition, the move from Amarna to Thebes. "Tutankhamun" means "Amun's living picture". In this context he abolished the Aten Cult and returned to Amun. Thus, Tutankhamun's decision is written in gold, thereby, the religion of Aten was rejected. By changing his name to Tutankhamun, he demonstrated the return of the old cult. He obviously signed the decision, but the very idea and the transition process were not planned by Tutankhamun. Since he was king and pharaoh, he made the final decision in order not to become "Aten's living picture." He was probably also supported by his father Maya. He could have been around 11 years old, a child. It seems as if Tutankhamun and his close circles left the town of Amarna the same year and moved back to Thebes. – There were consequences: the capital of Egypt could no longer be the city of Aten. – A question: Where were Nefertiti and Ay when the decision was made?

Tutankhamun as a child ruler was very interested in for example hunting, a hobby he liked very much. Not the hunt as such but to hunt animals in a fast dogcart drawn by fast horses. His hunting grounds were 650 kilometres from the Valley of the Kings. He was there quite often to avoid hearing bad things about himself.

Tutankhamun practices bow and arrow

Tutankhamun's dogcart was found in his tomb. The wheel had six spokes, the origin of David's six-pointed star.

How did Tutankhamun die? It is a mystery, but even a mystery leaves traces behind. Some of the researchers and Egyptologists mean that Tutankhamun died in a battle against Nubia. He died as a commander, he was to lead the army and died during the battle. But there is one Egyptologist who says that Tutankhamun died while hunting. I totally support that theory (it is the same Egyptologist who maintains that Kija was Tutankhamun's mother, based on common strains in their faces).

As far as I understand, also in the secret world, Akhenaten and Maya probably agreed and let their third daughter Anchenpaaton marry Tutankhamun. In return Tutankhamun promised a transition to Aten worship and stay with that forever. But as we know, Tutankhamun broke the agreement. – He never made a deal with Akhenaten, his father did it in his place.

Since Tutankhamun was a child ruler, he had by his side Ay as a true ruler. Ay had a cover name, "Neb-Kheperu-Ra" and used this name as a ruler behind Tutankhamun. He was also called the "Father of Gods". Nefertiti, together with Ay probably sentenced Tutankhamun to death and Ay was appointed to execute the sentence.

One day, when Tutankhamun was on the Giza hunting grounds, Ay secretly followed him. When Tutankhamun and some of his followers were far away, Ay attacked him. He killed Tutankhamun's companions and then he chased Tutankhamun. Tutankhamun, who was only around 12 years old, had understood that Ay wanted him dead and rushed for home. Ay probably first hit him with an arrow. Tutankhamun lost his balance and fell from his dogcart which was turned upside down. Ay caught up with him. Tutankhamun was still alive and Ay immediately beat him to death. Nobody knew that Ay was on the hunting grounds and he raised the alarm: Tutankhamun had disappeared, he did not return home. When Tutankhamun's staff found him, he was already dead. But Ay managed to be quiet about Tutankhamun's death and went on ruling in Tutankhamun's name, for example during Nubia's rebellion against Egypt. It was he who appointed Huy governor of Nubia. Most people thought Tutankhamun was still alive and could give evidence about Huy's tomb.

An autopsy, including X-rays of his skull, was performed on Tutankhamun's mummy in 1968. This rendered new facts. X-ray pictures revealed traces of a blood-clot at the back of his skull. This could indicate that Tutankhamun could have died from an arrow or from a blow to the back of his neck. A small, loose piece of bone was also found inside the skull.

Scientists found traces of an arrow which can corroborate that he was on the hunting grounds. Then radiobiologists discover one more picture. Broken bones were found on the skeleton, indicating that someone beat him. In this case, several researchers maintained that Ay was the one who killed Tutankhamun and thereafter became pharaoh of Egypt.

One of the Egyptologists believes that Tutankhamun died in a hunting accident. Historical events indicate that he died in battle against the Hittites. Later on it turned out that he had a malformed foot. DNA tests have shown that Tutankhamun suffered from malaria, a variety called P. Falciparum, the most lethal of all types of malaria. It can kill in a few days or it may take years. How did he get malaria while leading a rather secluded life because of the threats?

Tutankhamun left these traces behind and all researchers are partially right. But Ay was the real killer according to several scientists. I believe that Ay was a reincarnation of Levi, Jacob's third son.

The 12-year old Tutankhamun was killed by Ay while hunting in the Giza desert.

The Hidden Horemheb

Pharaoh Horemheb, Dynasty 18

This is how I see Horemheb in the secret world. His parents were Maya and Kija. His mother Kija was Akhenaten's wife and he was the elder brother of Tutankhamun. Horemheb knew about all secrets and plans surrounding Akhenaten and his family. In other words: Horemheb knew everything about Akhenaten's life and activities. Horemheb was also completely against Aten worship and everything Akhenaten stood for. It was he who murdered Ay, Akhenaten's family and everybody who knew something about Tutankhamun's tomb in the Valley of the Kings. He took part in preparations of Tutankhamun's funeral and also hid Tutankhamun's tomb which contributed to the fact that it was discovered in almost pristine condition. He also finalized the move from Amarna to Thebes.

The last pharaoh of Dynasty 18

Horemheb was the last pharaoh of Dynasty 18. The tomb that Horemheb had built as a general is in Saqqara, his royal tomb is in the Valley of the Kings. Both are famous for their ornaments, he was artistic. It was Horemheb who was behind the murals in the Amarna tomb, connected to Akhenaten's secrets and the birth of Tutankhamun. Horemheb was a reincarnation of, among others, Jacob's youngest son Benjamin. Later on in history we find him using the name Saul, Israel's first king, and even later as Adolf Hitler. His elder brother Smenkhare later on comes forward as "Salomo", David's son who became the third and last king of Israel. In parallel to Adolf Hitler he lived and worked as Raoul Wallenberg. – There is still a mystery surrounding Tutankhamun: his heart was missing in the mummy. Who removed it and why? Since time immemorial the heart has been combined with love, faithfulness, loyalty. Tutankhamun did not show love, faithfulness and loyalty towards Akhenaten and his religion. The fact that his heart was gone from the mummy strengthens the theory that, biologically, he had nothing to do with Akhenaten, because the blood was not transformed. Who removed the heart? If we analyze the full context concerning the relations between Akhenaten and Tutankhamun we see that it was Horemheb's decision to cut out the heart from the mummy a demonstration that Tutankhamun was not Akhenaten's son.

The Egyptologists know about the artefacts from tomb 55 and they know that there were paper-thin gold leaves in the sarcophagus. They hoped that the mummy's name was written on them. – Sitamun, Akhenaten's sister in the sarcophagus.

Here are the golden sheets from the sarcophagus, they were put there a long time ago. We can see the inscription, the words wa, en and ra. One Egyptologists says that they are some of Akhenaten's titles. The first thing to be revealed, I think, is the word ra. Akhenaten was a reincarnation of, for example, Menkaura, who built the third and smallest Giza pyramid. Egyptologists mean that it was Akhenaten's sarcophagus, "but the serpent was more cunning than any beast of the field", Gen 3:1. WA-A-EN-RA were Akhenaten's female titles when he appeared as a woman in different dangerous situations. His sister Sitamun used the same titles. She was Akhenaten's double, since also Akhenaten had enemies all over Egypt. She represented him in dangerous situations.

In the secret world I see that at Akhenaten's ascension and after he was declared dead, his sister Sitamun was killed and put into the sarcophagus instead of him. A portrait of Akhenaten was attached to the sarcophagus and his name was inscribed to mislead posterity. This event was also a top secret for everybody but Horemheb. He removed Akhenaten's face and the name from the sarcophagus. In that way he pointed out that Akhenaten is not in the sarcophagus.

A number of artefacts were found in Akhenaten's tomb, for example one of the child's chairs.

The first thing we notice is that the chair is for a child, this chair is not for a 19-year-old adult person, it is too small. The second thing is that it reminds me of the running "white stag", chased by Hunor and Mogor in the Maeotis area. More info at Obscure Magyar, pp 15-17. A golden miracle herd connected to Hungarian history.

Eagle/vulture. Primarily, this animal reminds me of Tutankhamun's mother Merit's animal origin, eagle/vulture means mother. Hungary too has an eagle/vulture as an original emblem and symbol, Turul. This animal can also symbolically be connected to Hungarian history. More info at Tutankhamun, the Young Lion and Obscure Magyar, pp 47-48.

In both Pict 1 and Pict 2 the eagle holds an object in its claws. One of the objects, in Pict 1, I believe to be the Sun in a yellowish colour. The object in Pict 2 I believe is a dark sun, Aten, a neutron star in a reddish-brown colour. This is called a binary star system. The sun Aten was already in the solar system. It had returned from a shorter orbit around the Sun.

This mural illustrates Tutankhamun's hunting with a planet soaring above him. The planet is neither the Moon nor the Earth but reminds me of the planet Nibiru whose orbit is round the dark sun, the neutron star, the biggest planet in its solar system. – A struggle about this planet with Akhenaten.

Tutankhamun's cross. A cross symbolizing Tutankhamun's future, a future awaiting him.
The Sign of Life, ankh-

These shields are preserved in Governor Huy's tomb in Nubia, as murals. Slightly renovated they are still alive today.

Pharaoh Akhenaten

This painting can be found in Tutankhamun's tomb, "the golden serpent". The message is Akhenaten's and is about the future. Akhenaten wish was leave his hybrid life behind and emerge as only a man, which we clearly can see in the picture. Akhenaten, the dark serpent, carries the "Crown of Upper Egypt" and when he becomes a man he will carry the "Crown of Lower Egypt", a symbol of our galaxy. More info at The Crowns of Egypt and their Secrets and Dynasty 0 in Ancient Egypt. This sketch is personal and does not concern the world. Who put Akhenaten's secret, private sketch on a container in Tutankhamun's tomb. Horemheb?

In an Egyptian book for the dead we can read this prayer: "Let him cross Heaven and Earth, let him at the end go to meet his mother and father". I will return to this prayer towards the end. Let us leave Egypt for Israel.

The mural in Tuthmosis' III's tomb. It illustrates that all of Dynasty 18 rests on the shoulders of Akhenaten. Above Akhenaten's we see the sign of life, "ankh", as a cross waiting for Akhenaten in future Christianity. We can add that Amun's day of birth was April 18, in the zodiac sign Aries. This Dynasty 18 was surrounded by mystery.

The neutron star Aten was already inside the solar system when Akhenaten ascended and planned the exodus from Egypt and the foundation of the state of Israel. When Israel was founded, the founders mainly came from the Levi tribe. The politicians were Levites, as were religions and clergy. The defense, too, was managed by Levites. The religion was initially called "Leviathan" since almost only Levites were in focus and Jews were not included. When David was born into the Judah tribe the religion started to shine again. When Israel was at its height, monarchy was established and there were three kings. Saul was number one, the first king of the Benjamin tribe, David of the Judah tribe was number two and Salomo was number three, also of Judah tribe. More info at Omnipotent Akhenaten. In the Old Testament we notice that God speaks in person with, for example, all prophets. This can only mean that he was continually reincarnated to be able to manage his activities through the prophets, among others. Prophets functioned as mass media in those days.

Saul ruled in Israel for about 40 years (BC 1047-1007), David also around 40 years (BC 1007-967), and Salomo around 45 years (BC 967-922). All three rulers had a very long and rich reign. Saul's mistake was that he did not abide to God's guidelines. In this context I suspect that God/Serpent God lived and worked between the reigns of David and Salomo. First David would build a temple for God, then Salomo. When you read the word "temple" you get a picture of a building. Here, temple means "human-like body" since God himself could not create it, but both Daniel and Salomo could beget children and heirs. As far as I understand, the Serpent God was personal and quite open when he talked to David and Salome, he was to the point. He needed help to construct a human-like body in order to avoid being reincarnated from a female branch. His first hope was David but it seems as if he did not want to take part, he did not want his soul to unite with God's soul. And in that way God might be able to beget a son who looked like both David and God. David was a reincarnation of Tutankhamun.

Michelangelo, David, 1501-1504. A fantastic illustration by the great master Michelangelo. The pictures clearly demonstrate how David would unite with the Serpent. Then God/the Lord would beget a son who would look like both David and the Serpent, God. The rock from Akhenaten would be a plan for the future, a foundation stone, based on David. In that body God, the Serpent, be the father. But David turned the proposal down, no temple for the Serpent Deity.

The next hope for God was David's son Salomo. I have a very strong feeling that David and Salomo did not have time to talk about this. David passed away and he took this issue with him. Salomo was young, but a very wise and reflective monarch. He had David's blood in him, as a foundation. God personally brought this issue to Salomo. He told Salomo that his father David was Tutankhamun and Tutankhamun was Akhenaten's son. There is proof in Egypt, God told Salomo, and he referred to a rock which was in a secret place. God also mentioned that Salomo was a reincarnation of Pharaoh Smenkhare. The young king was at first very interested in the issue which was a kind of wisdom. He focused on Egypt and had many contacts and extensive trade with the Egyptians.

King Salomo points to the rock after an Egyptian journey.

Salomo himself visited Egypt a couple of times and I understand that he found the hidden rock, following God's directions. Salomo was allowed to make notes of the contents of the rock and when he got the translation he was surprised, since he initially did not believe what God told him about Tutankhamun's fatherhood. He was very attracted by Egypt.

Salomo started a large investigation with either the then pharaoh, Psusennes II (960/59-946/45), the last pharaoh of Dynasty 21, or Sheshonq I (946/45-925/34), the first pharaoh of Dynasty 22. An investigation carried out around 330 years after Dynasty 18 had withdrawn into dark history did not find any concrete result concerning Akhenaten as a father of Tutankhamun, except the rock. Salomo met the Serpent God several times and he found God's plans utopian, that they could not be realised. Therefore he did not want to take part in building a temple for God. As far as I understand, this is the main reason why the nation Israel was dissolved after having been a monarchy for about 125 years, it was the will of God. The monarchy was split into two parts: the Kingdom of Judah (the tribes of Judah and Benjamin) representing David, and the Kingdom of Israel (the ten tribes) representing the Serpent God. History tells us that there were battles between these two realms. But God did not give up the idea of the foundation stone. More info at Omnipotent Akhenaten, pp 11-13.

Siddhartha Gautama, around 563-483 B.C.
 - The elephant (with the yellow colour)

Siddhartha Gautama. The world could see an elephant placed inside a Star of David. I believe that David's temporary union with Siddhartha Gautama was a demonstration that he could unite with the right individual. According to history he started a family, begot children and had a long, successful life. This demonstration by David and Siddhartha certainly irritated God. David built a temple, human-like body for Buddha. More info at Obscure Magyar, pp 18-21.

The Aten religion was a failure after a relatively short period of time. The Leviathan religion, failed because of the foundation stone. The next religion was Christianity, the Palestinian crucifixion where the Serpent was supposed to have the paternal role according to the foundation stone. How does the gospel on the birth of Jesus Christ start? In a manger in a stable in Bethlehem. The birth of a lion always takes place in the nature, as does that of a serpent, but which animal is born in a stable? A bull is one example.

The Lion of Judah, Joseph Jr.
 Born in Bethlehem, the guest house.
 The worldly and Davidian Messiah

The Lamb of God/Serpent, Izates II/Jesus
 Born into the royal family in Adiabene, Armenia. The Levite, priestly Messiah according to Aaron and the church order of Melchizedec. Nostradamus calls him Anti-Christ.

The Bull was symbolically born in a stable. The richest animal on Earth, biblical name: Satan, Wealthy Messiah. Nostradamus also names him Anti-Christ.

According to Akhenaten's plan, the foundation stone (Izates II/Jesus) was to have a paternal role in Palestine, in the new religion Christianity. The religion collapsed at the beginning. The four gospels are catastrophic for the religion, they are written about and for the Bull who plays the role of Jesus, the basis of the lie as well as the gospels. The Book of Revelation is more about Jesus, it says that he is David's root. The Serpent gave the issue to the Bulls to handle carefully. They evidently did since it was not of any use for the Serpent.

Brutus and his companions murder Julius Caesar

Julius Caesar (100-44) at different ages

Marcus Junius Brutus (85-42) 43 years old

Augustus Octavian (63-14) 77 years old

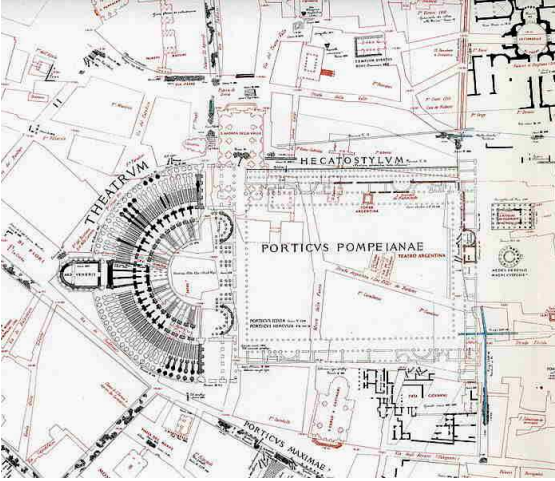

Caesarion, (47-30) 17 years old

Julius Caesar and his two biological sons Brutus (not official) and the lion Caesarion and his adopted son Augustus. Brutus, the Serpent, had extensive knowledge at an advanced intellectual level, something that attracted Caesar. If we read history we see that Brutus hated Caesar and was always up against him. If we study Brutus in all the preserved pictures of him, we can see that he looks more male than female, he does not look like a hybrid. What has happened? My opinion is that some male power joined the Serpent (like Buddha and David) and after birth he looked more male than female. He got the human-like body from Julius Caesar and thereby became his first-born son. – Now the Serpent for the first time managed to be a first-born child of Earthly Adam. Julius Caesar did not know that Brutus was the Serpent, his enemy number one. He liked Brutus, helped him with his career, forgave him and in BC 45 Brutus was also included in his will. His successor and heir was evidently Augustus Octavian, but Caesar wrote in his will that should Octavian die first, Brutus would be his heir.

Brutus was a very strange individual. He had psychological problems, he was never a balanced person. My opinion is that he had still problems with his genitals, they never looked quite male. Since Julius Caesar was his biological father, Brutus blamed him for his body failures, it was his fault that Brutus did not become a real man. Because of this he decided to murder Julius Caesar and he did so with his companions on March 15, BC 44.

According to historical chronicles a strange thing happened: When Caesar sank down at the foot of of a statue of Pompey after having received 23 dagger thrusts, he is supposed to have said Et tu, Brute? (Even you, Brutus?). It is possible that he instead said his last words in Greek: και συ, τεκνον? (Kai sy, teknon? Even you, my child?). He anyway said something like that, since nobody really heard Caesar's last words. When he caught sight of Brutus and received his first dagger thrusts, he perceived the hated serpent's eye and took it with him into death. Then he understood who Brutus and his friends Tillius Cimber and Cassius really were. There are a number of reasons behind the murder of Caesar, but there is also a secret reason connected to Brutus. Secretly, Caesar's wife became pregnant with Caesar's last child, Helena. She disappeared from the limelight after Caesar's death. So did his last wife, Calpurnia Pisonis.

On March 15, BC 44 (Idus Martiae, less correct Idus Martii; Latin for mid-March), just before Caesar was to begin his campaign against the Parthians, the conspirators waited with daggers under their togas in the Pompey theatre (the ruins are immediately east of Piazza Campo dei Fiori). When Caesar arrived he was stopped by Tillius Cimber who tore off his toga and stabbed him with his dagger.

The other conspirators (Cassius and Caesar's old friend/son Brutus) followed Tillius' example. When Caesar sank down at the foot of a statue of Pompey after having received 23 dagger thrusts, he is supposed to have said: Et tu, Brute? (Even you, Brutus?), in Greek: και συ, τεκνον? (Kai sy, teknon? Even you, my child?). What does this last message to Brutus mean?

The Serpent God Akhenaten/Brutus had an issue connected to fatherhood. Since he killed Julius Caesar, the small chance he had disappeared for good. The possibility that the Serpent could have been Earthly Adam's first-born son never came back, but the Serpent will never become the new Adam, like Christianity maintains that Jesus is the new Adam. Right there, the Serpent's last little chance disappeared.

Brutus' coins after the murder of Julius Caesar. Here we see him as a patricide. He silently objected to the worship of Zeus/Jupiter, he objected to the heathens.

Philippi

Phillipi

Artefact

Artefact

After the murder of Caesar, there was a power vacuum and chaos in Rome. Mark Antony was soon at the helm of Caesar's legionaries and suddenly Octavius, the eighteen-year old son of Caesar's niece, stepped forward and, surprisingly, became Caesar's heir, with the name Octavianus, in his will. Civil war in Rome and the battle of Philippi which Brutus and Cassius lost. History notes that Cassius committed suicide, the world can accept that. The same source also says that Brutus committed suicide after having lost the battle against Antony on October 23, BC 42. Brutus' defeat was a fact.

He ran away but was caught and committed suicide with his hunters. I do not believe in this. The Serpent never committed suicide. Even if his army lost the battle of Philippi he had plenty of time to leave his hunters and he could disappear with a UFO, he ascended. Philippi was a suitable area at which a UFO could land to take Brutus onboard. Note that this is my opinion about Brutus' suicide. As far as I know, his body was never found. Antony, Octavianus and Lepidus continued to govern Rome for a couple of years. There is an artefact from the battle of Philippi, with a bull and Caesar's eagle. Who is the bull a symbol of? Mark Antony? It is a good idea to have a closer look at this Mark Antony who had married into Julius Caesar's family, a Caesar who was at the centre of events.

Coin 1. Mark Antony married Octavianus' half-sister Octavia. One side of the coin is an illustration of the marriage. Antony, Octavianus and Lepidus were called "the three triumvirs", illustrated on the reverse side of the coin. We can clearly see that the three triumvirs are surrounded by two serpents. On the reverse side of coin 2 we see the same serpents surrounding Octavia, Octavianus' sister and wife of Antony. This looks very strange. The Serpent Brutus was gone but his memories of him were still there. Octavia's brother Octavianus, as Augustus, became Roman Emperor and had to watch out for the Serpent. I mentioned that the artefact from Philippi depicts a bull, and I see a bull or a bull-like animal in him. This Antony ingratiated himself with Julius Caesar and his women, one of them was Cleopatra of Egypt. In BC 30 Antony committed suicide shortly before Cleopatra did the same. They had three children: Alexander Helios (the Sun), Cleopatra Selene (the Moon) and Ptolemy Philadelphus. The names Helios and Selene are very interesting. What is even more remarkable, according to the chronicles, is that Mark Antony became an eternal friend of the Bull Herod the Great.

Greek origin, not Jewish. Pompey appointed him instead of Hyrkanos II in 63.

Herod the Great, BC 73 - AD 4
"client king", tetrarch, of Judah, Samaria and Galilee. King of Judah in 40 BC. A reincarnation of, among others, Nebuchadnezzar II. Met with three kings about the birth of Messiah in Bethlehem. Killed children below the age of two, according to Matthew.

Herod II, Philip, BC 27 - AD 33
Son of Herod the Great. From year 4 tetrarch in Iturea and Trachonitis. Married to Herodias.

Herod Philip, BC 24-AD 34
Son of Herod the Great; married to Salome II, Herodia's daughter. Tetrarch in Batanea from year 4, Philippi. Ruled as a tetrarch over River Jordan and land areas northeast of the Sea of Galilee from the death of Herod in year 4 to his death. He built the towns of Caesarea Philippi and Bethsaida. He executed John the Baptist and allowed Izates II/Jesus to go on with their activities.

The Bull's reincarnation around BC 2, of, among others, Herod the Great. He was the son of very wealthy parents, of Greek origin, born somewhere in Cyrene, symbolically in a stable. His Biblical name:"Satan". Born during the reign of Emperor Augustus. His mother was also called Mary. Was close to, among others, Herod's royal family.

Flavius Iosephus,
Born in Jerusalem AD 37 or 38, probably died shortly after

Herod Antipas, BC 21-AD 40

Son of Herod the Great

Coin from his time. We see Herod's family tree. Tetrarch in Galilee from AD 4.

According to the gospels he tortured the Jew Joseph Jr before the crucifixion. He was in Jerusalem when the Jew Joseph Jr, Mary's son, was crucified. The clergy sentenced him to death. Herod Antipas approved the death sentence and did not stop its execution. Pilate found both Joseph Jr and Jesus not guilty.

Joseph Jr, the worldly and Davidian Messiah, Lion of Judah, was crucified around AD 26 during Emperor Tiberius' reign.

Jewess Mary's son.

Izates II/Jesus, the Levite, priestly Messiah according to the church order of Aaron and Melchizedec. Lamb of God/Serpent during the reign of Tiberius. Queen Helena-the Black Madonna was Jesus Christ's mother.

Satan, the Bull, Messiah and God of wealth. Satan Christ. Son of Greek Mary.

Herod Agrippa I, BC 10-AD 44.

Son of Aristobulus IV, grandson of Herod the Great, king of Judea 41-44.

The middle coin is from his time, symbolizing the parasol (ombrellino) which later on became a vacant coat of arms for the Holy See when a pope died.

Herod Agrippa II, BC 27-AD 100

Son of Herod Agrippa I, great grandson of Herod the Great. Tetrarch in Judea, died around AD 100. The middle coin is from Agrippa I's time, a symbol of a wheat-like plant. Two popes used this plant as a coat of arms. During Agrippa II's reign Jerusalem was destroyed in a bloodbath 70-71, because the animals played religion.

One single document from Josephus reveals everything. A free pylon shaped as an anchor from the bar on which the serpent is coiling. Even this picture is an illustration that Jesus was never crucified, instead he put an end to Christianity. Two hands shaped like clouds prevent the loose cross from falling down. The basis is that the Lion and the Bull are the animals the Serpent is watching. The Lion Joseph Jr was 55 years old when he was crucified in Jerusalem. The Serpent Jesus was around 44 years old when he left the Earth and the Bull Satan was around 33 years old when he followed the events surrounding the Lion and the Serpent.

Joseph Jr, Lion of Judah, Jewess Mary's son;
Was crucified in Jerusalem by, among others, the clerics,

During the first three hundred years all high priests or popes had the same personal coat of arms as XP. Also in the pagan Jupiter Cult the high priests used the emblem XP in their activities, called Christianity. But at the bottom there was more worship of Jupiter, exactly as with the Roman imperial dynasty. In 306 Constantine the Great arrived at the centre of the power elite. As the richest man on Earth he ascended the imperial throne and introduced Christianity.

During that time, fisherman Peter's ship had met powerful waves at sea. Occasionally, it was about to sink.

Constantine the Great AD 306-337, Roman emperor. He introduced Christianity all over the Roman Empire. Officially the religion was Christian, but unofficially it was still about worshipping Jupiter and Zeus. During the 4th century the Roman church banned Gnosticism and the Lamb of God and all followers of Gnosticism were locked out from church.

First Council of Nicaea. The first Council of Nicaea took place in Nicaea between May 20 and July 25, 325, during the reign of Constantine the Great. It was the first ecumenical (from Greek oikumene 'global') council. The principal persons were Constantine the Great and Pope Sylvester I, a reincarnation of Paul the Apostle. Around 200 Christian bishops from the Roman Empire attended. The aim of the Council of Nicaea was to create a common creed for all Christianity. This council established the Church's creed of the Divinity of Jesus. The purpose of the council (also called synod) was to come to terms with conflicts in the Alexandrian church concerning the nature of divinity, especially the issue of equivalence between the first and second person in Trinity.

Alexander, bishop of Alexandria, regarded the Father, the Son and Holy Spirit as equals.

Alexander, Bishop of Alexandria

Arius on the other hand, underlined the Father's divinity over his Son, i.e. that God existed before Jesus. The Council opposed this and Trinity became the official view of the church.

Arius, ascetic Presbyterian in Alexandria

The results of the first Council of Nicaea were also approved by Emperor Constantine the Great and Pope Sylvester I concerning the Trinity and the Nicene Creed. At the same time, the Lamb of God/Jesus was excluded from the church because of his gender and Gnosticism. Let us start with analyzing Trinity, what it really means.

Akhenaten's/The Lamb of God's paternal role has totally collapsed in Christianity, the foundation stone is useless in this context.

The Hybrid, Serpent/Virgin. The picture is an illustration of the Lamb of God as a son, the Holy Spirit as the woman who combines father- and motherhood, using them according to the situation. They are equal. The emblem of John the Apostle is framed by clouds, those elected know the secret of the Lamb of God on Earth as well as outside.

Anu, father of Gods

OBS! At the beginning of Genesis according to Moses, Anu appears as God. Thereafter the Serpent has taken over Anu's role in world history. Genesis according to Michelangelo. The Nicene Creed which was concocted by some animals is madness without context. It may satisfy the 'flock of sheep', Constantine, the pope and clergy but not normal, natural people. More info at Mystery of the Moon, pp 106-110.

If we look back at the time of Messiah, we find three different Messiah characters: The crucified Messiah, the Lion of Judah, Joseph Jr, the son of Jewess Mary, the resurrected Messiah, the Lamb of God/Serpent, Queen Helena's son and the Bull, Christ of money, son of the rich Greek Mary. Many people may want to know who hides behind the name the Bull.

Biblical Satan, the Bull, who was he who also said he was Jesus Christ but chose "lion" as his animal symbol instead of Lamb of God/Serpent. After the ascension of the Serpent/Lamb of God Jesus this character took over the dissemination of Christianity. I have already mentioned, many times, that you cannot exist without leaving tracks behind, especially when you call yourself God and Messiah. According to Mark 10:1-27 it is about a rich youngster who secretly followed Jesus. This short episode is very interesting. Who was he, was he Joseph the Jew who openly spread his message or was he Jesus, who was active in closed circles, in secrecy with rich people? The rich young man wanted eternal life and took advice from Jesus about it. Since Jesus knew him, he said this. "Again I tell you, it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for someone who is rich to enter the kingdom of God. When the disciples heard this, they were greatly astonished and asked, "Who then can be saved? In the rich and secret circles people thought that Jesus was son of Jewess Mary and carpenter Joseph and called him "Master" a title also Joseph had (nobody has seen Jesus together with Joseph and his family). Jesus said to this young man: "/.../ go, sell your possessions and give to the poor, /.../. Then come, follow me." This young man became even richer and followed Jesus for almost 2000years. This young man was about 30-33 years old, his name was John and he came from the clergy of Aaron.

He was the son of Mary the Greek and a cousin of Barnabas'. He was named Mark (Marcus) which in Latin means "Heavy Hammer" because he forged people in the same way a hammer forges hot iron. In other words: He ruled with a rod of iron. He kept his name Mark until he died.

When the resurrection period was over and the Serpent/Lamb of God left the Earth around AD 28, the third phase started, "Messiah and Money". In this phase Mark the Bull, Mark Christ, the new Jesus was in focus. The purpose was to spread Christianity around the world. But unlike the Lamb of God Jesus he had a lion as a symbol instead of the Serpent/Lamb of God. Mark was not a member of the group of disciples around the Lamb of God Jesus, but he took part a couple of times when Jesus had group meetings with his disciples in within Gnosticism. Mark Christ's most important friend and disciple was his peer Paul (Saul as a Jew, heathen, Paul as a Christian). Paul called Mark "the new Jesus Christ" even though he knew that Mark was a very influential within the new Christianity. Thus, Paul was an apostle of the Bull in the new religion and not of the original Lamb of God/Serpent. Mark's mother was the Greek Mary (a reincarnation of, among others Isis, Hathor and Hera). She was a very rich woman and had a big house with servants where Mark had his meeting place. All the new disciples around Paul did not know about the Lamb of God and his disciples. The first three gospels were written around AD 60 the Lamb of God's disciples were not alive. More info at Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of time, pp 6-18. Mark, the Bull Christ, was in Alexandria around AD 40-50 and preached Christianity in Egypt. The Bull Osiris returned to Egypt, founded the church and from there the new religion was spread in Africa. He was probably the first bishop of Alexandria. During this ten-year period he also accompanied Paul and Barnabas on their journeys as missionaries. We should remember that Serpent Jesus converted to Gnosticism, founded by carpenter Joseph's biological son Thomas with his disciples and brothers. The foundation of Gnosticism was knowledge and science, not religion. From Paul and onwards new Christianity started to define itself, the Bull Mark was at its centre instead of the Serpent/Lamb of God. I believe that Paul killed the rest of Jesus' apostles after the ascension. Not simultaneously but gradually. He killed Jesus' eldest brother James Peter, the Lamb of God Jesus' substitute, in Jerusalem after Paul had received a secret book from James. More info at Omnipotent Akhenaten, p 21. My view is that he was behind lots of murders of undesired people around Jesus, ordered by Mark. According to some sources, Paul and Mark were in Rome between AD 60-65 and were imprisoned during Nero's rule (Nero was a reincarnation of Jesus, Lamb of God). More info at Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of Time, pp 6-11. The fact that Mark chose a lion as his symbol was simply because he wanted to get rid of the original lion, Joseph Jr the Jew. All four gospels end at the cemetery where Joseph Jr was buried. The first woman who came to the grave was Mary of Magdala, wife of Joseph Jr. Matthew mentions a woman called "Mary" Could she have been the Greek Mary, Mark's mother? She was also influential and had secret knowledge and contacts all over Palestine. As I see it, all clues point at Mark as being the third, fake Messiah, Christ. The way I see the Catholic Roman Church, Simon represents Peter, Jesus' elder brother. The Lamb of God/Jesus Christ and Paul represent the Bull Mark and from the birthday of the latter we say "before or after Christ". It was the Lamb of God Jesus' intention to move all Christian activities to Rome during the Empire. Mark followed him but not as a disciple but as Christ and God's rival.

Simon Peter and Paul, the Apostles of the Lamb of God and the Bull.

Pope Damasus I, 366-384 and Mark Christ

During the pontificate of this pope strange things happened, one example is the renovation of the gospels. Often in the gospels word is against word, stories are made up, there are events which never took place. One example is the plunge in the river Jordan. Time is not correct either: three persons from different times are combined into one person who never existed, e.g. the Messiah characters. Queen Helena was Julius Caesar's youngest and last secret daughter, she was probably born in the year of the murder of Caesar (44) or in B.C. 43. Caesar's third wife was pregnant with her when Caesar was killed. She was 19 or 20 years old when she married and started to have children in the Adiabene royal family. Izates II/Jesus was born around 16-15 B.C, so we need to adjust traditional time 20-25 years back in time.

There is an interesting passage in Luke 1:39-41: "At that time Mary got ready and hurried to a town in the hill country of Judea, where she entered Zechariah's home and greeted Elizabeth. When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the baby leaped in her womb, and Elizabeth was filled with the Holy Spirit." This passage is much discussed. The fact that Zechariah lived in the mountains in a town in Judea is correct since he was responsible for the management of Zoroaster's fire. The temple was situated at Mount of Olives in Jerusalem and it is probable that they lived there. Jewess Mary did not know Elizabeth at all, because John (the Baptist) was born at least 20 years before Izates II/Jesus.

According to Josephus' notations there is a similar story, but Helena is the mother: It happened after the marriage of the King of Adiabene and his sister Helena that he gave her a child. One night when they were together in bed, Monobazus I put his hand on Helena's stomach and fell asleep. He thought he heard a voice urging him to remove his hand from his wife's stomach to avoid hurting the child and making sure that, by God's providence, the birth would be safe and happy.

According to Josephus Monobazus I and Helena were siblings. It may be possible, Julius Caesar had many unknown children with various women and Monobazus could have been his son, but he and Helena did not have the same mother. Who was this Luke? The church historians Eusebius and Jerome maintained he was a Greek with origins in Antioch, a town in Syria. The two church historians are falsifiers of the old gospels, we cannot be sure of his Greek origin. We know nothing about when he was born or when he dies, facts are eradicated. He is said to have 85 years old when he was killed.

Being a doctor, Luke had free access to Helena's royal family in Jerusalem. He knew Helena and everybody in her family. It was probably Helena who told Luke about Monobazus' dream in connection with his wife's pregnancy with Izates II/Jesus. He thought it was interesting and wrote it down. Josephus surely read the message and also wrote it down. The Church Fathers rewrote this story and the new, falsified text became the starting point for the first three gospels, making Archangel Gabriel into a messenger of the birth of Jesus.

Pict 1 shows Luke as an artist, painter, with an emblematic bull. Pict 2 shows Luke painting a portrait of Helena and her child Izates II. Pict 3 is a painting of Queen Helena, between Luke and the painting we see Izates II/Jesus symbolized by a dove. The dove is a female symbol, a symbol of Jesus' female part. Pict 4 is Luke's emblem which did not exist in his time.

In Pict 5 we see Luke with the finished painting. Not that the child, Izates II, is visible below the bull which is supposed to be the animal origin of Izates II, Jesus. In Pict 6 we see the “Black Madonna” who ended up in Jasna Góra in Poland. It is claimed that this painting of the Black Madonna originally was painted by Luke. More info at Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of Time, pp. 12-18. Pict 7 is an illustration of Luke, when he as an old man hangs himself. In Pict 8 shows the artist Luke who knew too much and who did not join the Bull’s gang.

Note that his evangelist symbol is a winged ox or bull. The symbol was attached to him by the church father Irenaeus who connected symbols of winged characters to the evangelists, representing the start and contents of their gospels. If we take a closer look at Pict 3 we see Jesus with a “dove” which is a female symbol. Pict 5 is an illustration of Jesus with a “bull”, a male symbol. These two do not go together. We can see that the Church Fathers were not very intelligent and made several grave mistakes when they rewrote the gospels. They have even found some fairytales which do not reflect reality. They forgot that events always leave traces behind even if they are covered up. You should be able to keep apart a serpent/lamb and a bull, something the Church Fathers could not do. During the first 500 years the popes came from the Bull’s clergy who were ignorant and not very clever. Thus the Church Fathers replaced the Serpent/Lamb of God with the Bull Mark, Helena with the Greek Mary, Mark’s mother. This was noticeable at the beginning, irrespective of Pope Leo the Great and Gregory the great. A short look back to the time when the Serpent/Lamb of God started to sneak into the church which he founded through his elder brother Simon Peter.

On 13 March 483, the Roman Felice Anicio Frangipane was elected to the 48th pope, taking the name Felix III. This pope’s personal coat of arms was connected to reality at a higher level of knowledge. On the papal coat of arms we see, for the first time, two lions. One is the original Lion of Judah and the other is a symbolic, fake lion holding a cross in the shape of a circle. Above the symbolic lion are the letters R and A. R=Stephanus Rex which means crowned king. The letter A stands for the new Adam in this context. The Lion Joseph Jr was a king in those days but Izates/Jesus was king of Adiabene. Thus, the Serpent’s first clever pope was Felix III. It was a breakthrough for the Lamb of God.

Felix III, 483-492

Agapitus I was the 57th pope, elected on May 13, 535. This pope’s personal coat of arms was a flying dragon with the letters R and A. R=crowned king and A=new Adam, i.e. Jesus Christ, the Serpent. At that point in time the Serpent’s clergy started to conquer the Roman church from the clergy of the Bull deity. The struggle about the church between the Bull and the Serpent/Lamb of God had started. The dragon is a symbol from the time of Tiamat/Inanna in Sumer. The dragon is a female symbol.

Pelagius I, 556-561

The Roman Pelagius became the 60th pope, elected on April 16, 556. His personal coat of arms reveals his goal and activities. On the coat of arms we find a lion as an axis. A lion in an axis means the Lion of Judah, C. Also in the axis are the signs R and A, crowned king and new Adam= the Serpent/Lamb of God. Clever coat of arms, isn't it? Two lions in one.

Benedict I, 575-579

The 62th pope was the Roman Bonuses, elected on June 2, 575 carrying the name Benedict I. His coat of arms also illustrates his programme and goal. The lilies are female symbols. For the first time we see the number "three" in this context, "three" is a symbol of Trinity and symbolizes the Serpent.

Gregory I, 590-604, Gregory the Great

Gregory I comes from the same family tree as did Pope Felix III. He was elected on September 3, 590, the 64th pope. His programme and message are the same as those of Felix III, as is his personal coat of arms. My view is that Gregory I was a reincarnation of Jacob Petrus, Izates II/Jesus's eldest brother and his substitute. In his portrait we see a dove, the Holy Spirit, a female symbol. Later on he turns up as, among others, Gregory VII and Pius X.

Boniface IV, 608-615

Boniface IV became the 67th pope on September 15, 608. His personal coat of arms reminds me of Jerusalem's royal coat of arms which also displayed four crosses. The four crosses are symbols of the Lion of Judah, Joseph Jr, the Lamb of God/Serpent Izates II/Jesus, John (the Baptist) and the Bull Mark. A short historical retrospect to Palestine.

Leo III, 795-816

Leo III was a Roman and took his papal name from the Lion of Judah. He became the 96th pope on December 26, 795. His personal coat of arms is also very cunning. The right field is a symbol of PW in which we find the name Leo. In the left field we see 6 roses. Six is a symbol of the Star of David and roses are female symbols. The meaning of it all is that the Serpent is planted in the Lion. I believe he was the first pope to represent the Lion of Judah. He was also a skilled diplomat who knew the rules of the game and he could move around freely among bulls and oxen.

Paschal I, 817-824

The Roman Pascale Massini became pope no. 98 on January 25, 817, papal name Pachel I. His signature can be seen on the right field of the coat of arms, very clever. Even more clever is the left field which illustrates an axis. The axis has an R, crowned king=the Lamb of God/Serpent. In other words: Paschal I was the Lamb of God's pope. Now we are getting close to year 1000. The dark Middle Ages and the 1000-year realm of Jesus Christ/the Lamb of God are approaching. The Bull's clergy are still very influential within the Roman church.

Leo IV, 847-855

The Roman Leo became the 103rd pope on April 10, 847 using the name Leo IV. Leo=the Lion of Judah. His programme is displayed on his personal coat of arms. On the right field we see his name or signature in the shape of a cross. A crescent (Serpent) touches the top of the cross. The left field has a symbol of the top of the huge mountain. On it we see two flowers and at the centre is a tree-like plant. The sun above shines on the mountain. The sun is a symbol of the Lion and the illumination from the sun brings us the truth about Joseph Jr as Messiah. This pope represented the Lion.

The popes and clergy of Constantine the Bull still dominate the inner activities of the church, but are severely weakened.

Benedict III, 855-858

Benedict was a Roman, son of a man named Peter. He was pope no. 104 from September 29, 855. His personal coat of arms is the most cunning of all papal coats of arms. In a dream, Constantine saw a cross in the sign "E" and heard a voice telling him that he would be victorious under that sign. In hoc signo vinces, in Greek: τούτω νικά. Benedict III's personal coat of arms shows the sign double-E. The first E (A) has crescents placed inside right angles. The sign 'E' is tied to the sign 'C' in which we see a coiling serpent in the shape of the letter S. The pope's goal was that in the end the serpent would be victorious, not the bull.

Marinus I, 882-884

Marinus I became the 108th pope on December 16, 882. His coat of arms is expressive. The message is that the road of the coiling serpent is unpredictable. This is the first time a pope has a serpent message on his coat of arms. Focus in his programme was on the Serpent, not the Bull.

114

Romanus, 897-897

We know almost nothing about Romanus. He became the 114th pope in August, 897 and occupied the Holy See for about four months. His coat of arms is the same as that of Marinus I. His final goal was also victory for the Serpent.

116

John IX, 897-900

John IX was a Benedictine priest from Tivoli, son of Rampoald. He was pope no. 116 during the first half of 898. His coat of arms shoed waves in the shape of the letter "M". M=Hybrid, virgin. This is the first we see the message that God is a hybrid/virgin. This is a pope who had a straight pontificate according to his coat of arms.

Note that most of the Bull's popes still had the signs "PX" as their personal coats of arms.

Sergius III, 904-911

Sergius III was born in Rome and his first day as a pope was on January 29, 904. In the right field of his coat of arms we see the usual emblem of the Bull's high priest, PX, but the sign X also displays Alpha and Omega, beginning and end. The Serpent calls himself Alpha & Omega. The left field is a checked falcon, Count Tusculum's family coat of arms. This pope handled his pontificate with care. He supported both gods and was not balanced during his pontificate, according to his coat of arms. The dark Middle ages were about to begin. Note that Zeus as well as Julius Caesar had an eagle as an emblem, but the eagle was not checked.

John X, 914-928

This John became pope no. 122 on February 5, 914. His coat of arms is expressive, it illustrates a coiling serpent showing the way and crescents soar above it. Without any doubt: this pope was a Serpent's pope and he pointed that out on his coat of arms. The year 1000 is near and the Serpent is getting close to take over the Roman church.

Leo VI, 928-928

The Roman Leo was appointed pope no. 123 in June, 928. He was indeed cunning. His papal name was Leo, but he did not represent the Lion of Judah, because the three 8-pointed stars in the shape of a Trinity is the Serpent's symbol connected to the game of chess. "R"=crowned king. The pope was the Serpent's cunning high priest in the Roman church.

John XIII, 965-972

John XIII, born Giovanni Crescenzi in Rome, became pope no 133 on October 1, 965. His coat of arms reveals that he also was the Serpent's pope. He mastered all rules of the game during his pontificate and with his cunning knowledge he died as the church's supreme leader who favoured the Serpent/Lamb of God.

John XVI, (antipope), 997-998

Johannes XVI, born Johannes Philagathos, became pope in February 997, supported by, among others, the Crescenzi family. This pope, in secrecy, received the worst assignment ever in the history of the church. He overthrew the pagan culture in Hungary and replaced the Hungarian Vajk with the Pole Stephen. Stephen introduced Christianity in Hungary. More info at Obscure Magyar, pp 38-52. At the time the Bull Deity Otto III made mistakes and the fight about the leadership of the Roman Church against the Serpent was about to be lost.

139

Sylvester II, 999-1003

German-Roman emperor, a reincarnation of, for example, Mark Christ, Constantine the Great and Otto the Great. His coronation was on December 25, 983, and he lost the battle about the 1000-year realm in Europe. More info at Hanging Gardens of Babylon. According to tradition he died of malaria, but others claim he was poisoned.

Sylvester II, born around 945 in Gerbert, France, became pope 139 after the German Gregory V who was Otto III's cousin, later dethroned by the powerful Crescenzi family. This pope was Otto III's foster father. The pope was a reincarnation of, among others, Moses, Simon Peter and Leo the Great. He was rather good at balancing the situation between the Bull Otto III and Stephen, the Serpent/Lamb of God. He was also a scientist. The meeting between "Sylvester and the Devil" became world famous.

Stephen/István, around 975-1038 Hungarian king, born in Poland, a reincarnation of Izates II/Jesus and Nero. His coronation took place on December 25, 1000. This was the start of his dark 1000-year realm, especially in Europe. I have a feeling that Stephen also in some way was involved in the death of Otto III.

Sergius IV, 1009-1012

Sergius IV, born Pietro Martino Boccapecora in Rome, became the 142nd pope on July 31, 1009. He won the support of John Crescentius from the powerful family who supported John XIII and John XVI. His coat of arms displays a lamb which for the first and last time turns up on a papal coat of arms. The Bull Otto III was gone while the Lamb of God/Serpent Stephen ruled the new Christian Hungary with an iron rod. We know very little about Sergius' pontificate because of his support of Stephen.

John XIX, 1024-1032

Romanus was related to the dukes of Tusculum who had assumed power in Rome after the downfall of the house of Crescenzi. He became the 144th pope on April 19, 1024. On his coat of arms we see for the first time the neutron star Nemesis, as a giant comet. The message is that the battle will continue, also within the church, until the return of the comet, the dark sun, in the fullness of time. The same dark sun is preserved on Stephen's sarcophagus.

Benedict IX, 1032-1044; 1045-1045; 1047-1048;

Benedict IX, born Theophylactus, served as a pope during three periods, from October 21 1032 to September 1044, from March 10 to May 1 1045, and from November 8 to July 16 1048. He is the only pope in history who served the Holy See three times and he is also one of the youngest popes. Theophylactus was the son of Count Alberic of Tusculum, and thereby a nephew of popes Benedict VIII and John XIX. His coat of arms illustrates a checked falcon, Count Alberic's family coat of arms. The Serpent's strategy was to create competition between rich families who supported him. In that way each family wanted to demonstrate their most efficient support of the Lord, or the Serpent.

Sylvester III, 1045-1045

Sylvester III, born Giovanni di Crescenzi-Ottaviani in Rome. He became a pope on January 20, 1045. Giovanni di Crescenzi-Ottaviani came from one of the most distinguished noble families in Rome and was thus related to Pope John XIII. Before serving as a pope, he was bishop of Sabina. On his coat of arms and in his programme, focus is on the Serpent. At this point in time, the Crescenzi and Tusculum houses were enemies, the Serpent's strategy works well. The popes fire and kill each other in order to come closer to the Serpent.

Clement II, 1046-1047

Clement II, born Suidger in 1005 in Saxony, Germany, became pope no. 149 on December 25, 1046. The day after, he crowned Emperor Henry III and gave him the title "Patricius". On his coat of arms we see two crossed keys. These are symbols of Messiah characters (more info at Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of Time, pp 9-12). The Pole Stephen died in 1038. It was known that he was not identical with Vajk and that the Holy See conducted a bloody coup against heathen Géza and his empire. In that way Hungary with Stephen as a leader accepted Christianity.

46 years elapsed before the Germans started to understand that Stephen was a reincarnation of, among others, Jesus/Izates II and that with his coronation in Hungary, the dark 1000-year realm of Jesus Christ started in Europe. The Bull Deity Otto III, who was also called "Christ" and "Devil" lost his leadership of the church. Emperor Henry III was the first to understand what had happened. By appointing the German Suidger, Clement II, he tried to change a system which had benefitted the Serpent's clergy. I believe Stephen took part in Otto III's death.

Emperor Henry III, 1046-1056, and his signature

If we analyze Emperor Henry III's signature, Pope Benedict III's coat of arms and Stephen/István's signature, we see that the context is the same. In his dream, Constantine saw a cross in the letter "E" and heard a voice saying that he would be victorious in that sign. In hoc signo vinces, in Greek: τοῦτω νίκα. Henry III's signature illustrates a double E-sign and at the centre a cross-like symbol. The signs have their focus at the centre of the cross symbol but without names, i.e. a loser. Benedict III's coat of arms is clear, the Serpent/Lamb of God defeats the Bull. Stephen's signature is focused at the centre where we can see S=Stephen (more info at Obscure Magyar, page 42). The signature makes clear that Stephen won the battle about the leadership and management of the church. Note that the letter H is missing from his signature. His signature refers to Constantine the Great's dream of the letter E (the cross), while Stephen's signature is personal. The letter I stands for István and S stands for Stephen. The structures of Henry's and Stephen's signatures are almost the same.

To reach a final solution to a bitter fight within the papacy, he appointed four Germans to the Holy See: Clement II (1046-47), Damasus II (1048) and Victor II (1055-57). He started with Pope Clement II.

When Henry returned to Germany after a visit to Rome, Clement came with him. On his way back from Germany, Clement died in Pesaro. Rumours maintained that he had died from poisoning, ordered by Benedict IX. Pope Clement was a respected pope in his time.

Damasus II, 1048-48

Leo IX, 1049-1054

Damasus II, born Poppo of Curagnoni in Bavaria, became the 151st pope on July 17, 1048. His coat of arms carries the Bavarian coat of arms, a chessboard. After a while Damasus died, only 23 days later, of malaria in Palestrina where he lived almost immediately after his election to avoid the summer heat in Rome. Rumours had it that he died from poisoning as did his predecessor. Emperor Henry III was a little worried because two popes died within a short period of time without doing anything useful for the Bull deity.

Leo IX, born Bruno d'Eguisheim-Dagsbourg in Eguisheim, near Alsache, was appointed pope no. 152 on February 12, 1049. His coat of arms is an illustration of his programme, to divide the Roman church into two parts, i.e. the definite split of Christianity. He died on April 19, 1054 and shortly after his death the church was divided into two parts.

Pope Leo IX

Division of the church

Because of Emperor Henry III

A reincarnation of Paul the Apostle and Sylvester I.

On Leo IX's coat of arms we clearly see the Lion of Judah at the centre and from the Lion eight lilies make an 8-pointed star, the symbol of the Serpent/Lamb of God. This means that the Jew Joseph Jr was crucified and died on the cross. The Serpent Jesus/Izates II stole Joseph Jr's identity and thereafter appeared as if he had been resurrected from the dead. After his ascension the Bull Mark entered the game, he removed the Lamb of God/Serpent and said he was the Lion of Judah. It has also been revealed, also within the Holy See, the church, that the lion Vajk was a reincarnation of Joseph Jr, that Stephen/István was a reincarnation of the Serpent/Lamb of God and that the church on its own organized the bloody coup against Hungary which caused the downfall of the Bull's clergy. After the death of Leo IX the inevitable happened: the church was divided on June 16, 1054. Note that on April 19, 1689, Queen Christina died in the Vatican and on April 19, 2005, the German Cardinal Ratzinger was elected pope as Benedict XVI. A day of death.

Gregory VII, 1073-1085

Gregory VII, born Hildebrand, around 1020 in Tuscany, Italy, became the 157th pope on April 22, 1073. His coat of arms symbolizes a reinforcement of the new church. The right field illustrates a lion, the Lion of Judah, but since the sign R is included, we are dealing with the symbolic lion Izates II/Jesus in this case (Judah, by the way, is a symbol of monarchy, but in this context the lion is used to confuse the flock of sheep). The left field illustrates a falcon or an eagle, Rome's powerful families. If we have a closer look at the Greek crown, Corona Graeca we see Constantine the Great. This concretely means that that the god of the Greek Orthodox Church and Messiah is the Bull Mark (at that time Hungary had also joined the Greek Church).

Pope Gregory VII reinforced the clergy of the Serpent in the new Roman Catholic Church. Gregory was on Peter's throne as is shown in this picture. The foundation of the throne is a twin-headed serpent. The serpent also serves as an arm support for the pope and it watches him from two sides. Next to his head is a dove, the Holy Spirit, it is also the Serpent/Lamb of God.

Around 1,000 years have elapsed since the Roman Church was symbolically launched by Simon Peter and Paul. Now the fishing ship is broken, severely damaged. During this pope's pontificate the split within the church really started, popes against antipopes and vice versa. They killed each other for the sake of power, to get closer to the Serpent or the Bull. The dark and bloody Middle Ages had already begun with Jesus Christ at its centre. Pope Gregory VII died in Salerno on May 25, 1085. His last words were said to be: I have loved righteousness and hated unrighteousness, therefore I die in exile". But what is righteousness for the church, Pope Gregory VII??? The pope was a reincarnation of, among others, Gregory I.

Emperor Henry IV, 1056-1105, the great loser against the Serpent/Lamb of God. His God and Messiah, Constantine the Great, was placed in the Greek church and is still there today, The most important reason was the downfall, during Emperor Otto III, of the Hungarian Prince Géza and his people.

Innocent II, 1130-1143,

Received the list of popes and the message

Innocent II, born Gregorio Papareschi in Rome, became pope no. 164 on February 14, 1130. His coat of arms displays three huge waves shaped as the letter M in the right field, while the left field is an illustration of a cross with secret signs, e.g. Alpha & Omega. He received the list with 112 (113) future popes from Bishop Malachy O'Morgaie in 1139 in Rome. On his sarcophagus we find his motto "Aduva nos, Deus salutaris noster", "Help us, O God, of our salvation".

Adrian IV, (1154-1159)

171, 5. From the white countryside

Pope Adrian IV's sarcophagus in Anagni, 1159

Adrian IV, born Nicholas Breakspear around 1100 in Hertfordshire, England, was elected the 171st pope on December 4, 1154. Adrian is the only English pope. He was a passionate advocate of the idea of papal universal monarchy. His coat of arms shows a broken sword, the sword being a symbol of power. During his pontificate he demonstrated that the Serpent's clergy had definitely taken over the management and leadership of the church from the Bull's clergy. We see this clearly on his sarcophagus. It has two crescents shaped as the letter M (=hybrid/virgin) and between the two crescents a bull's head is squeezed in. Above each crescent is a rose. Adrian IV was one the Serpent's toughest priests.

Julius II, (1503–1513), 218, 62. The fruit of Jupiter will help

Julius II, born Giuliano della Rovere on 5 December 1443 in Albissola near Savona, Italy, was elected pope no. 218 on November 1, 1503. His papal name was Julius II: Julius is a heathen name with origins from, among others, Julius Caesar, St. Malachy called him “The fruit of Jupiter (Zeus) will help. Julius II was a reincarnation of Moses. His coat of arms is an illustration of the family della Rovere’s family tree and the family tree of the Bull Jupiter e.e. Nebuchadnezzar II and Herod the Great.

Pope Julius II’s tomb, Michelangelo 1542. Moses is a key figure and the whole history of Christianity is symbolized by his grave. In other words: The truth of the origins of all Christianity is buried there.

Moses and his dual role in the Christian churches. On his head we see two horns, these are symbols of the Bull, Satan, according to the Book of Revelation. Pope Sylvester II was a reincarnation of Moses. If we analyze further, we see that the plaits of his beard are two serpents. We can draw the conclusion that Moses acted a dual role, he served the Serpent/Lamb of God as well as the Bull. Now we understand Revelation 13:11-18. The beast with two horns is the Bull, who, like the Lamb of God, the false prophet is the pope himself and the Lamb of God here is the same as the Dragon. The huge mother church the Dragon disappears together with the Bull and the Lamb of God. This can be revealed by Julius II's tomb. It seems to me that Moses could have been the mysterious messenger between the Gods. "Hermes". Message by Michelangelo.

Behind Pope Julius II is the "Black Madonna", Queen Helena with her son Izates/Jesus in her arms...

...or the Greek Mary with her son Mark in her arms. Or both women and the children? He knows best, but for the flock of sheep it does not matter.

Leo X, (1513–1521)
219, 63. From a Politition gridiron

Leo X, born Giovanni de' Medici on December 11, 1475 in Florence. He was elected pope no. 219 on March 11, 1513. During his pontificate there was another division in the Roman Catholic Church, the Protestants headed by Martin Luther were born. Besides Germany, also Scandinavia followed his ideas. Then bars were created between the Holy See and “Mother Sweden” (the Swedish Church and the Bernadotte royal family). This meant the Holy See could not any longer manage “Mother Sweden”. Martin Luther discovered that the Catholic Church had changed directions, that Pope Julius II had a heathen papal name and that Jesus was put aside again. The pope’s infallibility made Luther revolt against the Holy See.

Much is written about Martin Luther and what he did, but what did Luther really know about original Christianity? His seal is an expressive document and there we find the answer. It consists of a five-petal white rose containing a red heart. At the centre is a black cross. Flower and heart are female symbols, thus Luther was a follower of Jesus/the Lamb of God. But also he covers up the crucifixion. Why? He does not mention the Lion of Judah or the crucifixion of Joseph Jr. Luther’s attitude reflected a theological and cultural tradition which saw the Jews as rejected people, guilty of the murder of Jesus. Luther hated the Jews, as did the Bull Mark and Jesus but the dark cross on his own seal reveals that neither Jesus or Mark were crucified. That is why the cross is black. In reality Luther covers up and lies about the crucifixion. The fact that the Serpent Deity/Lamb of God did not themselves be crucified cannot be blamed on the Jews.

Martin Luther a follower of Jesus Christ, Lamb of God

Luther’s book about the Jews and their lies.

Instead, a Jew was crucified. His name was Joseph Jr, a reincarnation of the Jerusalem Levite King David, not of Jews. Luther knew this and at the beginning he wanted to convert the Jews to Christianity. The problem was that carpenter Joseph’s foster son Joseph Jr, son of Jewess Mary, never founded any Christianity, which means that the Jews did not need to convert to a religion which was founded by the Serpent and the Bull, not be the Jews themselves. At the time of Luther, the Catholic church and all Christianity started to dissolve, faster and faster. Serpents and Bulls commit crimes and pretend to be Jewish, thereafter the Jews are blamed. Jesus knew about this. Rev. 2:9: ”I know your afflictions and your poverty—yet you are rich! I know about the slander of those who say they are Jews and are not, but are a synagogue of Satan”. The new religion Christianity is called ”the synagogue of Satan”. (Many people have converted from Judaism to Christianity without being Jews) In the Book of Mormon there is clear evidence that the Lamb of God/Jesus has handed over his issue to the Joseph’s descendants, to Bulls. We often say that history repeats itself.

Gustav Hitler was declared dead on April 30, 1945. On April 30, 1946, Carl Gustav Bernadotte was born, on Gustav Hitler’s deathday in the sign of Taurus (G. Hitler was a reincarnation of, among others, the Lamb of God/Serpent). This would mean that the newly born would take over the Lamb of God’s private business when time is ripe. But the problem was that Crown Prince Gustav Adolf was alive (born on April 22, 1906, Taurus) and he was supposed to inherit Queen Christina’s throne after his father. But Pope Pius XII knew exactly what should be done in this case. On January 26, 1947, Gustav Adolf was killed at Kastrup Airport in Copenhagen. The accident was a conscious and well planned attack on Gustav Adolf. His road met that of his son, Carl Gustav secretly took over the Lamb of God’s business in the 1970s.

Christmas Eve 1958 in Linköping. There the Lion was born, not a Serpent or Bull.

”Mother Svea”, a rich but not very intelligent woman who has no knowledge in this context. A Protestant woman who joined the pope’s realm of death and let herself be stripped naked. She lives her life in illusions and fairytales.

The Virgin, (Lamb of God, Jesus, Serpent) The most cunning animal on Earth who, with his knowledge, deceived the rich woman, “Mother Svea”.

Before Martin Luther’s initiative, the Holy See also directly managed Sweden. After that there was talk about indirect management via the royal family and the Swedish church. This meant problems for the Holy See. In the 70s, during my father’s paternal issue concerning the Lion and the Lamb of God, especially the Lion, the management from Rome was indirect. The King, being Head of State, took over, a young, inexperienced, stubborn, self-willed king with huge powers and a small brain managed the paternal issue secretly in the absolutely dark, hidden world. The issue was marked by violence, terror, coercion, murder, forgery of documents, bribery, kidnapping, etc. The question is: Did the Popes John Paul VI and John Paul I know exactly what this animal was actually doing? But the final responsibility lies with the pope. Some ordinary Swedes examined the issue, they asked the following questions: How could ”Mother Svea fall so deep into darkness? Where is the lunacy threshold? Anyone who managed this issue must be the top idiot of the world! They did not know who was behind the management of the issue, i.e. who ran it. I can mention that Jewess Mary was married to a Danish civil engineer from Copenhagen for about 7 years. He disappeared without any trace at the beginning of the 70s, he was probably murdered and his name eradicated since contacts between my father and him were severed after the murder of Tibor E. A retired Jew, my father’s neighbor, suddenly died without being ill, he was probably also killed in the mid-70s. His siblings (three brothers and a sister) were very surprised of his death. He became involved in a special case. Furthermore, a highly placed politician, the then Prime Minister, was ambushed and shot at the end of February 1986 here in Stockholm. He knew who gave the orders to kill him and who would execute the order. I believe he was a reincarnation of, among others, Pontius Pilate. We often say that history repeats itself. My father’s paternal issue was primarily private and had nothing to do with politics, Sweden as a nation had nothing to do with this. My father’s paternal issue was connected to religion, which the church and the royal family were and still are engaged in. – Now, after about 40 years, the concerned say that all that happened was “unlikely and without foundation”. They dare not even think about what they have done. They have ruined the lives of my family, they have created huge financial problems, they have not even paid damages connected to the issue. But they have got hold of certain wealth. To kill and replace the Jew, the Lion, the innocent little boy Tibor E. who was my father’s foster son, with a much older, adult hybrid from my family was already at the start a complete failure. But the issue had to be carried out and to manage that they needed a young animal, a Bull who could finish it all using every criminal method. Therefore it was necessary to remove his fathers, their roads crossed each other. Someone must be the scapegoat of the brutal failure connected to the case here in Sweden. This animal does not any longer deserve a human life. In other words: in his next life there is no human body available for him. Is there anyone on this planet who maintains that the Jews killed their worldly Lion Davidian Messiah Tibor E and that Jews caused this brutality? More info at Obscure Magyar, pp. 59-64, and Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of Time, pp. 1-6. In retrospect we can say that Luther’s statements and accusations against the Jews were dirty and inhuman, it was actually the Bull, or his clergy, who forged the original documents. Didn’t Luther know this?

Pope Sixtus III, 432-440. During his pontificate the world could see the Virgin, Lamb of God and Jesus Christ between his portrait and his coat of arms, see above. This naked character is a symbol of the Saviour, the pope seems to have ridiculed him because of his gender. The pope allowed the world see him/her totally naked. As far as I understand, the Bull's clergy ridiculed the Lamb of God. I wonder what the flock of sheep thought about this phenomenon in those days. Was there any reaction at all on message from the pope? – At that time, Jesus, the Lamb of God and his apostles were excluded from the Roman church because of Gnosticism and other issues.

Forgách Ferenc, archbishop of Esztergom and cardinal (1607-1615). His coat of arms, above, is expressive. On the right field we see a dragon, a symbol of the Mother Church, the Roman Catholic Church. Above the dragon soars a black eagle, a symbol of Germany. The left field illustrates the Virgin, the Saviour, the Lamb of God totally naked in the sign of a double crescent. The crescent symbolizes the Serpent, its female part. What inspired this Forgách when he picked this subject for his coat of arms? Had he got stuck and studied the Pope Sixtus III theme?

The subject of his coat of arms is the naked Christ. Did he find this subject in Sixtus III's days? Yes, that seems to be the case. The link Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of Time, page 23, reveals the Vatican's home page from the year 2000, the naked Christ and Pope John Paul II. This time, the clergy of the Lamb of God and the Serpent are responsible for the revelation. Why do the popes take this initiative? The only explanation is that the Bull wants to remove the Lamb of God/Serpent and replace him by himself. It is an indication from the Holy See that the Lamb of God/Serpent is a virgin, neither man nor woman. But the Bull's gender is male, which makes him a fake hybrid character. If the church is called a Mother Church, then Messiah and God are a woman/hybrid/virgin.

A strange combination concerning the foundation of Israel. The god of Israel, the Serpent, was Pharaoh Akhenaten and King David was a reincarnation of Tutankhamun. King Saul was a reincarnation of Pharaoh Horemheb and King Salomo a reincarnation of Pharaoh Smenkhare. The main message from that dynasty was that Akhenaten was the father of Tutankhamun. On page 26 I described the construction of the temple for the Serpent Deity/Lord and why the kingdom, ancient Israel, was dissolved.

National coat of arms

On May 14 1948 David Ben-Gurion, in the sign of Taurus, proclaimed the State of Israel with the capital Jerusalem. Then ancient Israel reappeared but not as a monarchy, back at square one. The State of Israel represents Jacob's twelve sons, but the Serpent and the Bull are important symbols. We know that throughout history the Serpent and the Bull hate the Jews, and the Kingdom of Israel has waged war against the Jews for hundreds of years. The capital is Jerusalem, the City of David, also capital in ancient Judea. Jerusalem is a symbol of David, Judah and the Jews. Israel is the most complicated nation on Earth and the most difficult nation to manage. If Judah had reappeared in the sign of Leo, the nation could have been said to be Jewish. – Around 2,000 years ago David was crucified, the worldly-Davidian Messiah Joseph Jr, but the Jews did not pay attention. Now, at the beginning of the 70s, the Jew Tibor E, the worldly-Davidian Messiah was killed without any reaction from the Jews. Daniel (9:26) writes this about him: "After the sixty-two 'sevens,' the Anointed One will be put to death and will have nothing". In Jerusalem the clergy crucified him and now, at the beginning of 1971, the clergy killed him again. One thing is obvious: the Jews have lost David forever. Pope Julius II' tomb and all Christianity can certify this. They have managed to kill the Lion but also made their own downfall inevitable. The Serpent has turned his back to Israel, and Israel is left with only the Bull. Moses'/Pope Julius II's motto: The fruit of Jupiter will help, may even help Israel in this context. But a Bull is not a Lion. Maybe it is, for the flock of sheep in Christianity. More info at Omnipotent Akhenaten, pp 4-6.

The priests of Christianity have made a mess, a mess with a really bad smell, a mess containing human and animal meat and blood. This mess, like a soup, was handed to the flock of sheep during 2,000 years. The last pope and his priests will have to eat this so-called Christian soup. Billions and billions of people saw their lives being wasted. (10) Jesus said : "I have cast fire upon the world, and see, I watch over it until it blazes up." (16) Jesus said: "Men think, perhaps, that it is peace which I have come to bring to the world. They do not know that I have come to bring to the earth: discord, fire, sword, and war./.../ – Now we served the soup – it's waiting for the guests.

Raoul Wallenberg

King Salomo

The Foundation Stone was used by Jesus in the gospels. The message from Dynasty 18 in Egypt was that Akhenaten was Tutankhamun's father. The Serpent made his first important mistake when he, as Brutus, killed Julius Caesar. Thereafter he killed, as Jesus, the carpenter, the Fig Tree, Joseph. Christianity maintains several times that Joseph was the father of Jesus. Whatever, these murders make him into a patricide. After the murder of Joseph, everything he did was a failure. Instead of a father's role, he had to play a son's role as the Son of God, the Son of David, the Son of Mary, etc. In 1944-45 a very strange event took place in Budapest, Hungary. The American WRP sent the Swede Raoul Wallenberg to Budapest in order to save as many Jews as possible. This Raoul was a reincarnation of, among others, King Salomo in the very secret world. Simultaneously, my paternal grandfather's little brother vitéz Kemény Simon was a commander in Bátaszék, not far from the town of Baja. His youngest son was there, too. In those days Simon had ended the contacts with the priests and church in Hungary because of his daughter's marriage which Pope Pius XII arranged by approving an application. Gustav Hitler's right hand in Budapest was Adolf Eichmann. Eichmann and Simon knew about each other, but they never met.

The Hungarian church and priests were in those days almost in a state of decomposition. Their position in society was very weak and the pope arranged important decisions via Eichmann. One of them was to liquidate Simon at a proper moment. Raoul was very intelligent, educated and a unique personality. In other words: his level of knowledge was higher than it was among other Swedes. He was an architect. When he heard about the assignment he was offered, he said yes without any doubt. An almost impossible assignment. In a short period of time Raoul built a network and gathered extensive information, also in secrecy, also about Simon. Simon was very anonymous, a secret person well known by Pius XII. Eichmann and Raoul knew each other, they met face to face and Eichmann was curious about Raoul's secret information. Some people around Raoul leaked information to Eichmann. They were not Swedish, but Russian, a person who in the summer of 1944 was hired by the Foreign Office as an interpreter with false identity at the Swedish legation in Budapest. This person was a spy, working for, among others, Eichmann. When Eichmann's time was about to end, the Russians assumed command in Budapest and Hungary. – But the serpent is the most cunning animal on Earth. – The pope contacted Joseph Stalin about Raoul. Who was this Stalin? He was of Georgian origin and grew up with the Russian Orthodox Church. He studied theology at the seminar of Tiflis and studied to become a priest. The pope contacted the right communist, a deeply religious mass murderer.

Raoul Wallenberg had plans to leave Budapest and Hungary on January 17, 1945. He would travel via Debrecen to Stockholm. We know he packed his things in Budapest on January 16 and he was in excellent mood. He was already socializing with the Russians. He said goodbye to people around him and said this about the Russians: "They are ordered here just for me. I don't know if it is to protect me or watch me. I don't know if I am a guest or a prisoner." The Russians were irritated and also wanted to take Langfelder who was Raoul's chauffeur. But the Russian officer on a motorbike explained that it was a "foreign diplomat". The Russians constantly followed Wallenberg during these last days. He was never alone, always followed by armed escort. He was the prisoner of NKVD – day and night.

Sources maintain that Raoul left for Debrecen on January 17 with a Russian military vehicle together with very polite Russian officers. But once they had left Budapest, their attitudes changed. They took all paperwork from the Swede in a brutal way. The vehicle stopped at a road sign pointing to Raoul's first destination. Thereafter on to Debrecen and the Russian army's headquarters. Then Moscow, where cell no. 123 in the Lubyanka prison was waiting for him. When the war was over, my paternal grandfather's brother Simon and his youngest son were about to leave Bátaszék to return home to Baja by train. They were both in civilian clothes and were on a path. Then two anonymous persons ambushed them and killed Simon and his son. Eyewitnesses saw them approach Simon and his son Géza. When they saw that both of them had died, they turned round, said something in German and ran away. Raoul did not get there in time to warn Simon about Eichmann's Germans (Eichmann and the pope had this kind of extensive power). Their death created sorrow for my family, a distress which mostly afflicted his wife, his family, my grandfather and brothers and sisters.

According to certain documents, Raoul was poisoned and died in prison on July 17. His body was then cremated. He was born on August 4, 1912 in the sign of Leo. He had a strong Leo sign. The lion is a symbol of, for example, sun, courage and monarchy.

– In 1948 Simon's daughter Helen gave birth to her last child. This child was declared dead in 1954. Simon was this child's maternal grandfather. Genderwise, this child was a hybrid. If Simon had been alive, he would certainly have lost the child. The pope knew about Simon, to keep the child alive, Simon was killed instead. He did not know in advance that he was about to be killed at a suitable moment. The Russians did not allow Raoul to see someone outside Budapest this last day. Everybody involved knew about Raoul's secret assignment in Budapest, especially the pope, G Hitler, A Eichmann and J Stalin.

This is crystal clear: If Simon had not been murdered, the Lamb of God who was Simon's grandchild, would never have ended up here in Stockholm the way he did, as my father's son. If Raoul had not been killed, the Jew Tibor E, little Tibor, who was my father's foster son, would still be alive today. Tiny Tibor was poisoned in a hospital here in Stockholm and was then cremated. Before he was killed, he managed to call my father and talk to him. Among other things he mentioned that he was on his way to a hospital to have a head operation, he was afraid and worried, my father tried to comfort him. Tiny Tibor promised that he would get in touch as soon as he had left the hospital, but he never did. My father never thought that this was the last phone conversation with him. – More info at Obscure Magyar, pp 58-64 and 70-77 and Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of Time, pp 1-6, and Tutankhamun, the Young Lion.

And now, in the fullness of time, all three were reincarnated: Khufus as Tibor E, Djedefhor as Raoul Wallenberg and Khafre as Adolf Hitler. The Serpent deity Gustav Hitler gave the orders to kill his younger brother in 1936. He made sure Raoul disappeared via Eichmann, Pius XII and Stalin. At the same time also Simon was murdered. In that way the Serpent's reincarnation as Simon's grandchild was secured. Then Tibor E was murdered in 1971. In Ethiopia the throne of Salomo was re-established by Judah, the Lion of the Judah tribe. Below the lion the text is Amharic: "The Victorious Lion of the Tribe of Judah". Here we can see the former royal kingdom of Judah, resurrected. The emperor, Haile Selassie, was a Jew, born in the sign of Leo. Symbolically, this throne represented all Jews on this planet. There is only the name Judah: Lion of Judah, Salomo's throne, Salomo who was David's son. There was only one, a symbolic lion, no other animals such as serpent and bull. The lion and the cross symbolizing the crucifixion of the Lion of Judah. It was a lion's mirror in which the Jews could look back in time to the times of the Kingdom of Judah. How many Jews have looked into this lion's mirror? After the murder of the Lion Tibor E in 1971, the centre of the Jews was finally destroyed and the Lion disappeared for good. What did the Jews do then? Now the Jews have neither God nor Messiah.

The same Lion, the Lion of Persia. The lion was a strong symbol in ancient Zoroaster culture. In 1979 the Shah of Iran was dethroned and the Persian Lion also disappeared. In the 70s the Lion was eradicated from reality. The Jews did not notice that their Messiah was killed. Daniel writes about him, Dan 9:26: "After the sixty-two 'sevens,' the Anointed One will be put to death and will have nothing /.../'. He wrote this around 2,600 years ago and it became real now, in the Fullness of Time, 1971. More info at Ancient Persia and its Secrets.

Raoul's struggle against the Serpent. The Serpent is in the "M" sign.

Raoul's struggle against the Serpent. The Serpent is in the "M" sign.

The Foundation Stone became a stumbling-block, just as the gospels say. Jesus Christ as a combination of Lion, Serpent and Bull has never existed.

David and Salomo personally told the Serpent God Israel that his plans were utopian, impossible to realize. No temple construction (human-like body) by David and Salomo. The message is still valid today, in the Fullness of Time. The pope knew exactly who Tibor E and Raoul Wallenberg were, but now, in the Fullness of Time, the Lion was more cunning than the Serpent. By being killed by the Holy See but not being my father's biological son, the Serpent/Lamb of God and the whole church empire he built with the Bull now falls down. In that way "the Lion of the tribe of Judah, the Root of David, has triumphed." Rev 5:5

Foundation Stone* Rome, 854-856 * Foundation Stone

Female Pope Joan, 854-856, Foundation Stone: Virgin Mary gives birth to Bull Christ. A revelation of the birth of the son.

Pope John VIII, 854-856, Foundation Stone: Virgin Mary gives birth to Bull Christ. A revelation of the birth of the son.

The female Pope Joan was, according to recent research, a mythical character who in the chronicles from the Middle Ages was named John Anglicus (English) in the line of popes between Leo IV (dead in 855) and Benedict III (dead in 858).

Using many words, the legend tells us that the female pope came from Mainz or England, appeared in male costumes and studied in Athens. In Rome she drew attention by her wisdom and was elected pope in 855. She ruled for 2.5 years until she, during a procession to the Lateran, by accident displayed her genitals by giving birth to a child, a son, in the street (today's Via dei Querceti). Shame made her pass away. According to other sources, she was stoned by the angry crowd, by the flock of sheep. The church took care of Joan's son and eventually he became bishop in the port of Ostia, west of Rome. – The monk Marianus Scotus wrote in his Historiograph around 1050: "854. Pope Leo IV died in the month of August. After him appeared the woman Joan who occupied the Holy See for two years, five months and four days". Anyway: Joan left traces behind, but who was this mysterious woman who was the ruler of the Roman church for more than two years? We usually say that history repeats itself, which it does here. We are led back to Egypt, to Dynasty 18 and Pharaoh Hatshepsut, Thutmosis III's mother who was a religious woman but ruled Egypt as a man with an iron rod.

Pharaoh Hatshepsut, 1479/73-1458/57 BC, a reincarnation of, among others Isis. A religious ruler with an iron rod. Dynasty 18, the New Kingdom.

The Greek Virgin Mary, Palestine; a very rich, religious woman, mother of the Bull John/Mark. The birth of her son marks the beginning of our Christian calendar, BC or AD. A reincarnation of, among others, the deity Hera.

Joan/John VIII. The female pope ruled the Catholic church with an iron rod between 854 and 856. During her pontificate she gave birth to her son, Bull Christ. History clearly repeats itself.

Virgin (Mary), Joan with her son, Bull Christ, in her arms.

The female pope who gave birth. During the procession the female pope had to dismount quickly, lie down on the street and give birth to her son. I believe that the priests of Rome, at the very top, knew who Joan was and on purpose elected her pope. The problem was that the procession was planned at the wrong time, the female pope was almost forced to take part. Everything was so secret and at the same time she could play her male role so well that no one suspected anything. But when time for delivery was ripe, the bubble burst and her death was inevitable. It was a church catastrophe. In the secret circles they knew that Joan was pregnant with the Bull deity and that this animal would eventually become pope. This would reinforce the Bull's position against the Serpent/Lamb of God in the Roman church. He never became pope, he became bishop of Ostia instead. More info on page 42 regarding Benedict III who was elected pope after the death of Joan.

Is she buried in St- Peter's Basilica, in the Vatican?

Is she buried in St- Peter's Basilica, in the Vatican?

After Joan's pontificate, a gender control was carried out on all newly elected popes. The first one was probably Benedict III, 856. The newly elected pope sat down, after the inaugural ceremonies, on a stone chair with an open seat for a compulsory inspection of his genitals, as illustrated in the pictures above. Pope Anastasius III, 855-855 was probably an anti-pope. The female pope's pontificate took place between around 854-856.

During the first 1,000 years the church was involved in terrible moral activities such as brothels, homosexuality and pedophilia, all being evolved since the foundation of the church. As I understand it, Joan had plans to change this immoral system, but she failed completely. The church is still involved in this system and during 2,000 years the church has destroyed a huge amount of family lives. This beast calls itself "The Crown of Humanity", you need to be one in the flock of sheep to have confidence in the church and its God. - When the Serpent deity founded Israel and its religion via Levites, priests of Levi Tribe, he built a new kind of church order which was used as early as in the time of Melchizedek, when morals and rules were basic values. We understand why Saint Stephen I broke with Rome, why Queen Christina left Stockholm and moved to Rome. She tried to restore order, but she also failed. The only thing uniting the church and the Serpent/Lamb of God is war, death and again war in red blood.

The fact that the Lion of Judah (Tibor E) is victorious in this context in Revelation is partly due to the fact that the Lion has nothing to do with this beast; the church had used him as a bait during 2,000 years. The Lamb of God is the loser and the Foundation Stone was shattered and turned into a stumbling block (the Fullness of Time starts with Pope Leo XIII's pontificate. See his coat of arms, the neutron star as a comet).

The Victorious Lion of Judah

In an Egyptian book for the dead we can read this: "Let him cross Heaven and Earth". In other words: the Earth/Lion crossed Heaven/The Road of the Serpent/Lamb of God. Thereby the Lamb of God and the whole church empire fell down. After 3,300 years they again walk in different directions. The Lion was the only animal directly protected by Man, the Wolf indirectly. In the Bible we can read that Adam and Eve for the first time saw sunrise and sunset. Earlier in time Earth had a little moon, asteroid, called "Azatlan". It has crashed on Earth according to ancient documents. Our Moon, Luna, was probably attached to its orbit around Earth at the time of the neutron star AN's visit in Sumerian times. The Moon probably comes from the solar system of the planet Nemesis, because the Moon is older than planet Earth. There are certainly traces of buildings and other things on the Moon, something that NASA certainly knows about. For us to watch sunrise and sunset from Earth, planet Earth must rotate around its axis, thus it must have at least one moon. More info at Moon Mystery, pp 95-102.

The picture is from the time of Pope Sylvester II (999-1003). It symbolically shows the Biblical Tree which is slowly withering away. At the centre we see Jesus/Stephen and the priests with their hands touching their foreheads and the withering tree. At the centre we see a young boy, around 12 years old (Lion Vajk) who is looking up towards the tree, watching it die. Around the tree we can clearly see the flock of sheep, the Christians. It seems as if Jupiter's/Zeus' fruit did not help Christianity. More info at Obscure Magyar.

On September 17 and 18, 2012, we could read and hear in Swedish media that "Jesus had a wife". An ancient piece of papyrus with eight lines written in Coptic where Jesus mentions his wife had been found. According to researchers the fragment is from around the 4th century AD. At that time Gnosticism was banned by the Roman church and Jesus was ostracized. In 325 the Nicene Creed was approved and according to the fragment this was a protest from Gnosticism against the Creed, which is still the same today. This fragment also bear witness against the gospels and is a catastrophe for Christian believers and the church. Jehoseph bar Papos, Joseph Jr from Nazareth and Mary Magdalene were married.

Izates II/Jesus and Symmacho of Characene were married.

Mark

The Lion Joseph Jr was married to Jewess Mary Magdalene, in each reincarnation as an adult he was married. The Lamb of God Izates II/Jesus was married to Symmacho from Characene. He was married as a man in each previous reincarnation. If the Bull Mark was married or not we do not know for sure, but he probably was. The above fragment seems to be genuine. Eventually truth will be victorious. The Dead Sea Scrolls also mention three Messiah characters, even four if we include John (the Baptist).

Vatican mafia and its underworld.

In David A Yallop's book, "In God's name", 1984, the author thoroughly describes the activities of the holy Vatican mafia from Pope Paul VI, 1963, to the murder of John Paul I. Activities in the criminal underworld. The holy mafia continues with its criminal activities also during the pontificate of Benedict XVI, but "the flock of sheep" is not aware that fishing boat is filled with water up to 90% and pastures are shrinking. This church calls Revelation "Satan's synagogue" and the Book of Mormon calls is "Horrible church". But the answer from the flock of sheep is: "Amen".

Peter's fishing boat is sinking, faster and faster. Gigantic waves are drowning the boat.

Vatican Mafia, The Dragon in the 19th Century

This drawing is from the reign of Pope Pius IX, 1848. It is an expressive message which cannot be misunderstood by anyone with inside knowledge. It is an illustration of the holy mafia's activities shortly after Gregory XVI's and Pius IX's pontificates and the struggle between the followers of the Bull and the Dragon. In other words: The "Vatileaks" of today reflect the dark and criminal activities during the 19th century.

The Death, the Pope, the Church

An expressive message: Death is resting on knee holding Pope Alexander VII's coat of arms in front of him. In other words: Death was present during the pope's pontificate.

Finally I quote Pope Benedict XII's (1334–1342), strangest statement during his pontificate: "The pope should be like Melchizedek who neither had parents nor pedigree".

(Melchizedek = Lamb of God – stumbling block).

Crucifixion, Euthanasia

Euthanasia. The second Golgatha. An expressive caricature from Pope Pius IX's pontificate, March 28, 1850. The picture is an illustration of the end of Christianity connected to the downfall of the Catholic church. We can see the crucified Lamb of God at the moment of death. The head priest Pope Pius IX aims his spear at the Virgin, the Catholic church. We can also see other persons representing their employers, the Bull Christ is also there. I can compare this picture with the Council of Trent, 1545-1563, when Pope Pius IV, Aesculapius' medicine, in secrecy stated the decision of the Council: "Euthanasia to the church". To the right of the Virgin we see the Orthodox church and to the left of her the Lutheran church, symbolically. More info at Aries, Capricorn and the Fullness of Time, pp 28-35.

The Road of the Cross. Each pope must walk the road of the cross during his pontificate and the pope who diverts meets death instantly. The latest pope to divert from the road of the cross was John Paul I. The Dragon – The Roman Catholic
Mother Church

Rev. 13:1-3. ".../And I saw a beast coming out of the sea. It had ten horns and seven heads, with ten crowns on its horns, and on each head a blasphemous name. The beast I saw resembled a leopard, but had feet like those of a bear and a mouth like that of a lion. The dragon gave the beast his power and his throne and great authority. One of the heads of the beast seemed to have had a fatal wound, but the fatal wound had been healed. The whole world was filled with wonder and followed the beast."

The majority of the world's nations have an animal as a symbol, Hungary has the eagle Turul. The sea in this context also means people and Hungary was founded by the pagan Magyar people and the animal, the scorpio (Enki/Árpád) has its origins in the sea. The seven heads are seven princes: Álmos, Árpád, Zolta, Fajsz, Taksony, and Géza, who was the sixth and last heathen Hungarian prince. He was killed together with, among others, his heir Vajk – fatally wounded – by the Holy See, the Dragon, which we can clearly see above. He was replaced by Stephen/István who became prince number seven – the fatal wound was healed. France wrote about this and the whole world wondered how a stable heathen nation so quickly could convert to Christianity. They also wondered about the anonymous Stephen, he who started to rule over Hungary with an iron rod. This is further proof that the Dragon, the Roman Catholic Church was behind the bloody coup against Hungary/Turul, and it is still powerful in Hungary. I can add that the fatal wound never healed, it is still a bleeding, open wound and will be treated appropriately. The Human Number 666

The Number of Man

Revelation writes about another animal which resembles the Lamb of God. Rev 13:1: "Then I saw another beast coming up out of the earth, and he had two horns like a lamb and spoke like a dragon." This animal is the Bull, which has two horns, Judaism and Christianity, just like the Lamb of God. The Kingdom of Death is inside the Earth and this animal has come from there: the Bull of Death, Osiris. Just as the Lamb of God/Serpent, the Bull is also in the Dragon which belongs to the Roman Catholic Mother Church.

Revelation states the Number of Man, 666. Rev 13:17-18. $6 + 6 + 6 = 18$. The birthday of Man, of Cosmic Adam, is 18.

".../ Here is wisdom. Let him who has understanding calculate the number of the beast, for it is the number of a man: His number is 666".

Upp.6:2

Cosmic Adam: among others:
Lamech, jack of all trades, builder,
Joseph, jack of all trades, carpenter, builder;
Tibor Kemény, jack of all trades, designer;
 His birthday is on April 18, sign of Aries.

The Lion, worldly and Davidian Messiah of Judah. Foster son of Man, Cosmic Adam, such as Lamech Jr, Joseph Jr and Tibor E. His symbol was a 6-pointed Star of David.

Lamb of God/Serpent, the Levite clerical Messiah according to Aaron's and Melchizedec's church order of Israel. The Lion Tibor E was murdered and the Lamb of God assumed his identity. There are forged documents showing that the Lamb of God is my father's, Tibor Kemény's son. This makes him my father's heir. Nostradamus calls the animal orphaned Antichrist.

The Bull, Israeli Messiah of money and wealth. His final goal is to destroy the Lamb of God/Serpent and assume his identity, to make the Bull an heir instead. Nostradamus also calls this animal Antichrist.

Upp 13:3-5. The Dragon kills the woman's little boy (the Lion) and replaces him by the Lamb of God who will rule all people with an iron rod. The Lamb of God was lifted to God's throne,

The starting point was that the Mother Church, the Dragon, took for granted that the Lion Tibor E was my father's, Tibor Kemény's biological son. If the Dragon kills Tibor E and puts the Lamb of God in his place it is clear, according to the Dragon, that the Lamb of God will inherit everything after Tibor E and the Lamb of God will instead be my father's heir. Planning is not yet finished, the third animal, the Bull, is still waiting for his turn and wants to destroy the Lamb of God and assume his identity. Finally, the Bull will become the new heir and take over the family tree and birthright in the Family of Man and will call himself the new Adam, exactly as it is in the gospels. We often say that history repeats itself. In the gospels we read that Jesus/Lamb of God is the son of Carpenter Joseph, but the Bull said he was Jesus after the ascension (Rev 13:3-5). The seven heads of the red Dragon/Vatican are the last seven popes starting with Pius XII, John XXIII, Paul VI (crowned), John Paul I, John Paul II, Benedict XVI (not crowned) and last and seventh pope, Peter the Roman. Now, in the Fullness of Time, the Lion Tibor E was only my father's foster son, his murder was meaningless. Thus, the Lamb of God's/Serpent's downfall is a fact. He does not even have a Hungarian name and has no place in family any more. In this way, the Bull is far away from the borders of my family. Money, wealth, terror, violence and contacts did not help. Even if you call yourself "God" the project is totally shattered, a final proof that Tutankhamun had nothing to do with Akhenaten. As the world can see: "The fatal wound has not healed." Their remain things to be done. And at the same time, the world can understand that nobody likes such a brutal paternity issue like that experienced by my father and his family in the 1970s here in Stockholm, Sweden.

Dan, 12:4 and 12:13

"/.../ But you, Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book until the time of the end; many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall increase."

" But you, go your way till the end; for you shall rest, and will arise to your inheritance at the end of the days."

The Fullness of Time

Jesus said: "Know that what is before Your face, and what is hidden from You will be revealed to You. For nothing hidden will fail to be revealed." Jesus also wanted everything that is revealed to come to the surface to let the world know.
