

High Priest Caiaphas's Will

by Josef Kemény, 11/12/2015

High Priest Caiaphas headed the Great Sanhedrin at the time of the crucifixion in Jerusalem. He pronounced the death sentence of a Jew, who thereafter was crucified and buried in a garden grave.

Please note that I interpret this theme according to my knowledge and material which is accessible throughout the world.

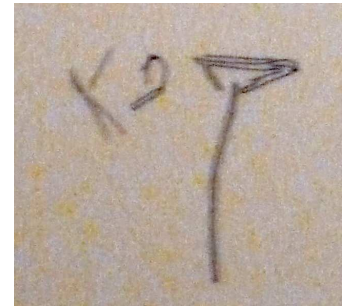

Caiaphas, high priest in Jerusalem AD 19-36, leader of the legal procedure against the Jew Joseph Jr. Matthew and John, among others, refer to Caiaphas. He was close to his father-in-law Annas who was his predecessor and also present when the Lion, Joseph Jr was sentenced to be crucified by Caiaphas. The father-in-law also acknowledged the death sentence.

There is already a pile of evidence of who was crucified in those days but the judge, High Priest Caiaphas, must have left behind some kind of evidence concerning the sentence. This evidence is one of the world's smartest documents, foreseen by nobody.

Caiaphas's remains were found in 1990 in a family tomb some kilometres south of today's Jerusalem.

Caiaphas's ossuary is supposed to be the high priest himself. The inscription calls him Joseph bar Caiaphas - Joseph, son of Caiaphas.

High Priest Caiaphas's ossuary with secret symbols from his life and activities as a high priest in Jerusalem around AD 18-36.

Caiaphas was a very rich Maasai priest from Beth Imri. The historian Flavius Josephus calls him "Joseph, called Caiaphas." The ossuary also gives us new information. It mentions "Maasai" as the last of the 24 priestly courses which, one after the other, served at the temple of Jerusalem. The ossuary inscription tells us that that "Caiaphas's family belonged to the Maasai course", as stated by the Israeli authority. Beth Imri is also mentioned, which can be interpreted in two ways. Researchers state that Beth Imri is either the name of a priest family – sons of Immer (Nehemiah 7:39-42), whose descendants included members of the Maasai course. It can also be the place from where the deceased or his whole family came.

Since the clergy consisted of Levi's descendants it is possible that Caiaphas was a Levite and, being a high priest, lived at the centre of events but was regarded as Jewish. Caiaphas was in office until Easter, AD 37, when he was dismissed by Lucius Vitellus who replaced him by, initially his brother-in-law, and some weeks later by the latter's brother Theophilus. We do not know more about him, he was probably murdered. Caiaphas was the son-in-law of the prominent Annas, high priest in Jerusalem AD 6-15. Annas is mentioned in the gospels, the Acts and by Josephus. He was an influential man also after his time in office, not least because his sons and the son-in-law Caiaphas became high priests after him. According to Talmud, he and his clan were rich, powerful and unpopular.

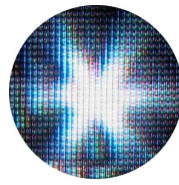

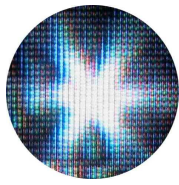

Rich and powerful at the centre of events.

High Priest Caiaphas

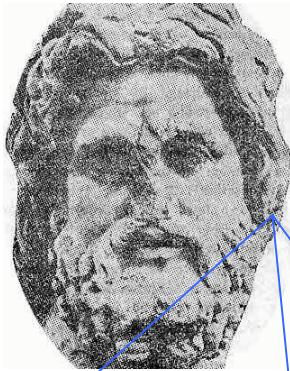

High Priest Annas, emeritus

Let us initially analyse these secretive signs at Caiaphas's ossuary.

These symbols and signs are the most important remaining information concerning High Priest Caiaphas's time in office. At the top of the ossuary is a 6-pointed Star of David. Below the hovering star we see two connected circles in the shape of a lying-down eight (8). In each circle there are six symbols: one star of David, two 12-pointed stars and three circles as symbols of the Sun, the Lion. The two 12-pointed stars in the first circle are symbols of Joseph Jr. As a twelve-year-old he left Nazareth to study in India. He returned as an adult. In the second circle we find the 12 disciples of Jesus/the Lamb and Jacob's twelve sons. What do these secretive symbols mean? Maybe a very clever compilation of a sentence? – Jewess Mary's son, Joseph Jr, was a reincarnation of, among others, David. Joseph Jr had five (5) disciples. He was number six, 6, who completed the Star of David in his group. All his five disciples were executed, according to Talmud. The two circles, connected like the figure 8, clearly show that it is accomplished. These two circles are a symbol of the 8-pointed star of the Lamb, Jesus. The figure eight (8) is a symbol of eternity.

Caiaphas, high priest in Jerusalem AD 19-36, leader of the legal procedure against the Jew Joseph Jr. Matthew and John, among others, refer to Caiaphas. He was close to his father-in-law Annas who was his predecessor and also present when the Lion, Joseph Jr was sentenced to be crucified by Caiaphas. The father-in-law also acknowledged the death sentence.

Document. These symbols illustrate that the Lion of Judah, the Jew Joseph Jr, was crucified and that after his funeral, he was replaced by the Lamb, Jesus/Izates. Jesus took over Joseph Jr:s identity, a reversed sign. This could be the death sentence against the Jew Joseph Jr, pronounced by the high priest at the Great Senhadrin. Thereafter, the minutes of the proceedings were transferred to Caiaphas's ossuary in the form of symbols, This could mean that a top-secret sentence was sent to posterity in the form of strangely connected symbols on the high priest's ossuary. In other words: the sentence concluding the most secret case ever was published in this clever way.

What does this document reveal? The third person is missing, the Bull Jesus, also called Jesus Beelzebub/Mammon in the gospels. He is definitely gone from this document. The reversed image means a change of identities.

Why was Caiaphas's sentence concerning jack-of-all-trades and carpenter Joseph's paternity issue preserved at Caiaphas's osuary? It is rewarding to have a closer look at the reason behind this. Then we have to go back to Babylon, to Daniel's time.

Detail from the sarcophagus of prefect Junius Bassus (dead 359). It is from Daniel's time in Babylon and connected with Daniel's father's paternity issue between the Lion of Babylon, Marduk/David and the Lamb/Serpent deity, Israel's God. The paternity issue in Babylon is a reflection of the Stockholm paternity issue in the 1970s, it is almost a copy. To the left of Daniel we can see the Lion of Babylon, who was Daniel's father's foster son. To his right is the fraudulent Lion, Serpent/Lamb. More info at Aries, Capricorn and the End of Time, pp 1-7.

After the failure from a religious point of view of the paternity issue in Babylon, the Lord/Bull still proclaimed himself God and during the reign of Belshazzar the paternity issue was totally covered up.

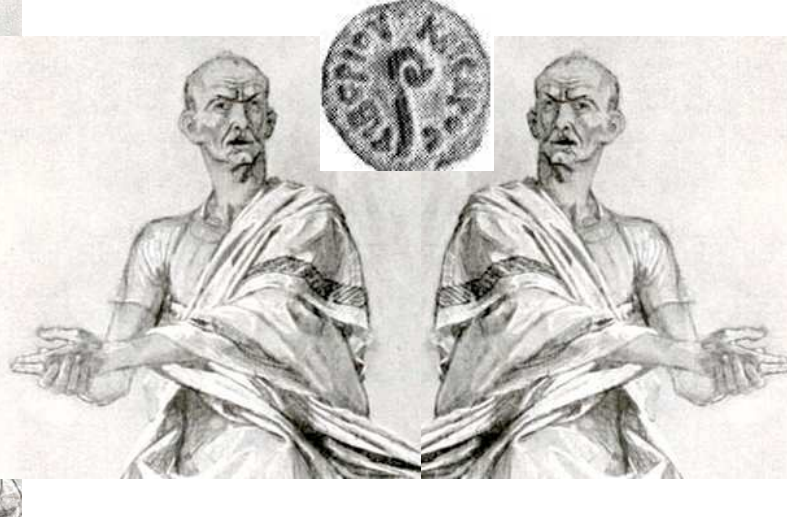

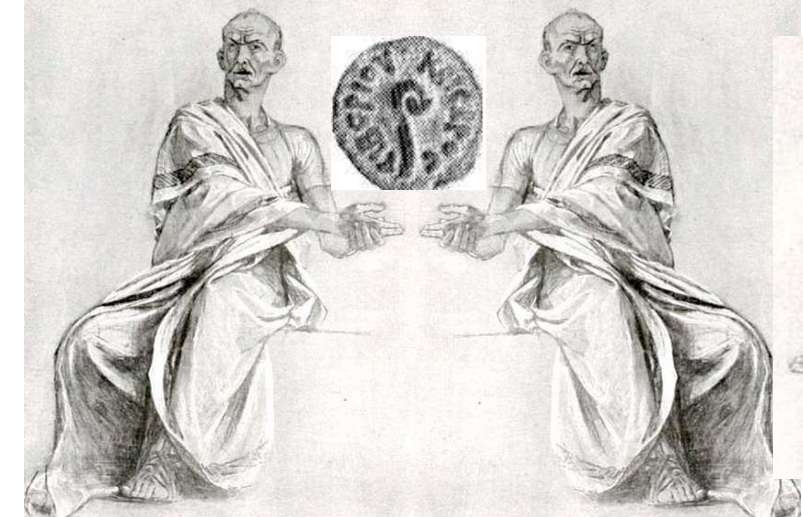

Pius VI
1775-1799

In the gospels we can fairly clearly see that Jesus killed the "Fig Tree." Fig Tree was a cover name for the jack-of-all-trades and carpenter Joseph and connected to the "Tree of Life" in the Bible. After Joseph's murder, Jesus was arrested and at the Great Sanhedrin it was revealed that he was identical with Izates II, son of King Monobaz I and Queen Helena, who was related to carpenter Joseph. During the proceedings it was revealed that Joseph Jr was not Joseph's biological son. Simultaneously, his biological father, fisherman Peter had denounced him (I can add that during the 1970s, at my father's paternity issue, Tibor E's biological father denounced Tibor). Finally, Izates II/Jesus's mother Helena appeared and the Jew Joseph Jr was sentenced to death by Caiaphas around AD 26. Jesus/Izates II, who claimed to be the Son of Man, son of carpenter Joseph, was released. More info at Omnipotent Akhenaten, pp 14-18, and Tutankhamun, the Young Lion, p 9. But there was also another powerful man in Jerusalem, Pontius Pilate.

Pontius Pilate, AD 26-36, was an anonymous Roman procurator and governor (cf. civil administrator) in the Roman province of Judea during the reign of Emperor Tiberius. Pontius Pilate appeared on a coin during his time in Jerusalem. At the centre is a wiggling serpent.

Procurator Pontius Pilate in AD 26 and his judgment in Jerusalem, the cleverest judgment in history. Pontius Pilate received two different individuals connected to carpenter Joseph's paternity issue. When Pilate learned what the case was all about, he pronounced his judgment and released both of them, since he had nothing to do with a civil case concerning parenthood. This had nothing to do with any threat against the Roman Empire. He was familiar with the Jewish religion where nothing was said about paternity.

On the Pilate coin above (AD 26-36) there is a wriggling serpent at the centre, a serpent which claimed the role of the Son of Man and was part of the paternity issue together with a Jew from Nazareth, whom Pilate did not know about. Pilate was himself at the centre of power and activities. He knew about document forgeries and various murders in those days. The only thing he could come up with was washing his hands while stating his innocence of sentencing anyone to his/her death. This genuine judgment still exists today. You cannot fake washing your hands, you do that during cleansing.

Eventually, High Priest Caiaphas pronounced the verdict of death upon the Jew Joseph Jr, approved by Herod Antipas. When everything had failed and order was restored, the men in power and the clergy suddenly understood that he who was crucified was David, the greatest king ever of the Jews, Judah and Israel. They also understood that Joseph should never have been killed, it was a terrible crime. They also realized that the God of Israel's plan had failed. That started a closer investigation as the execution of John (the Baptist) by the Herod royal family. What do we do on this planet when something important goes wrong? We cover it up, just as the clergy and the royal family did earlier on in Babylon. The clergy and the Herod royal family wanted to transfer the issue and responsibility to Pilate which would make him responsible for the death sentence upon The Lord Jesus Christ from Nazareth. But Pilate refused, he did not even want to hear about it. The problem was this: When the third animal, the Bull, the Lord, Jesus Beelzebub started his fake Messiah activities during AD 36-50 via Paul the Apostle, everything was ruined, a fiasco. Quietly, High Priest Caiaphas and Pilate were blamed for these failures and fiascos. Pilate was forced to resign by Lucius Vitellius and Paul had to, beyond Jerusalem and Palestine, to start to preach this new, fake Christian religion with Anti-Christ at its heart.

Lucius Vitellius, BC 10 – AD 51

Was the father of the Roman Emperor. He was procurator of Syria between AD 36 and 37.

He dismissed Pontius Pilate in AD 36 and the year after Caiaphas.

It is strange that both of them disappeared almost simultaneously after the Grand Sanhedrin verdict.

After AD 36 and 37 they tried to cover up the Jerusalem crucifixion. Especially so the clergy in co-operation with the tetrarch of Galilee, Herod Antipas. They wanted to transfer the death sentence upon the Jew Joseph Jr to Pontius Pilate. He rejected the statement by washing his hands in water and repeatedly stating that he had nothing to do with the verdict. Lucius Vitellius's decision regarding Pilate was forced through by the Jerusalem clergy and the Herod Antipas family. – We really know nothing about Pontius Pilate. The few texts written about him are probably made up in order to cover up the clergy's criminal religious activities. Pilate was probably never displayed in front of the crowd because the case was a paternity issue, the people in Jerusalem were not interested. After having been dismissed by Vitellus, he disappeared from Jerusalem and the remainder of his life is not known. He was probably quietly murdered.

The year after, AD 37, High Priest Caiaphas was dismissed by Vitellus. He disappeared as well, he was probably also murdered. In order to stop the clergy from covering up the Jerusalem crucifixion and who made the death sentence decision, as in a similar case in Babylon 400 years earlier, someone had Caiaphas's' death sentence transferred to his ossuary. We shall never know who was behind this top secret, clever act. But his death sentence is there. We can clearly see that one individual was crucified and another person replaced the body, a change of identities took place. In this way we have reliable evidence in the form of an unusual document, a will, which proves that the clergy decided the verdict upon the Jew who was crucified, i.e. Joseph Jr of Nazareth, son of Jewess Mary. – A thousand years later, Pope John XVI headed a bloody coup against the heathen Prince Géza. Lots of innocent people were killed, among others Vajk, Géza's heir. He was replaced by the Pole Stephen, who introduced Christianity in Hungary. And now, in the 1970s, the Jewish boy Tibor E was murdered by the clergy in Rome assisted by the Bernadotte royal family in Stockholm. History repeats itself, we usually say.

In AD 36 or 37 Izates II/Jesus was reincarnated as Nero in Rome. More info at Nero, Fright and Poetry.

We can clearly see that the symbols on Caiaphas's ossuary, picture 1, are quite different from those in pictures 2, 3 and 4. In pictures 2 and 3 two Stars of David are next to each other. This means that both father and son are Jewish and that they are two different persons since there is a certain distance between the Stars. On Caiaphas's ossuary there are two connected circles forming the figure 8 and in both the circles there are finished activities.

According to reports the gospels were written fairly long after the crucifixion and the burial. Matthew was written around AD 41 in Palestine, Mark around AD 60-65 in Rome. Luke was written around AD 56-58 in Caesare, John in around AD 98 in Ephesus or nearby. The Acts of the Apostles by Luke was written down around AD 61 in Rome, Peter around 62-64 in Babylon, Jacob, brother of Jesus/the Lamb, around AD 65? in Palestine? Paul's letters were written between AD 50-65 and Revelation, John, around AD 96 in Patmos. Note that the gospels were rewritten during the pontificate of Pope Damasus I AD 366-384. Damasus I was the Bull's pope. More info at Foundation Stone, page 49.

We can ask ourselves about the looks of the original scriptures. According to one record, Peter is supposed to have written his letters in Babylon between AD 62 and 64. The list of popes tells us that the same Peter was a high priest/pope in Rome between AD 30 and 64-67. How many Peters were there? A person cannot simultaneously be at two places, in Rome and in Babylon, can they? More info at Aries, Capricorn and the End of Time, pp 6-11. We can call in question the author of the Gospel of John and Revelation. John who wrote the gospel should have been close to the centre of events and in those days there was a disciple, John, who was fisherman Zebedee's youngest son. Zebedee had two sons, Jacob and John. Both of them were Jesus/the Lamb's disciples and they were born between BC 15 and 10. This means that the gospel should have been written by John around AD 40-45.

If we assume that the jack-of-all-trades, carpenter Joseph was born in the same year as Emperor Augustus (BC 63), that Queen Helena, Julius Caesar's daughter, was born in BC 44, and that the birth of Joseph Jr took place in BC 29 when Herod had his Jewish wife Marianne executed, this means that all individuals involved were born around BC 50-30. This in turn means that a different John wrote Revelation in around AD 96. One suggestion would be the son of Joseph Jr, Judah/John, born around AD 13-14, who was a teenager at the time of his father's funeral. More info at Tutankhamun, the Young lion, p 9. Note that this is my own understanding according to my knowledge and certain clues. More info also at Foundation Stone, pp 31, 37 and 73-75. – Note that the activities surrounding carpenter Joseph should be moved back in time, around 20-25 years.

According to records, Herod the Great died in BC 4. The birth of the Lord Jesus Christ, the Bull, is estimated to have taken place around BC 7-4 and Herod was reincarnated not before BC 3 or 2. Symbolically the Bull was born in a stable and as an adult he never met carpenter Joseph, who died around AD 7-8. The Great Sanhedrin trial started in around 26 in connection with Joseph's fatherhood and we do not know what happened. But a correction was made in Joseph's paternity issue concerning mainly the Jew Joseph Jr, son of Mary, and Helena's son, Izates II/Jesus/the Lamb. High Priest Caiaphas served as the Judge.

Man, God and Science, pp 26-30, confirms the symbols on the wall in the garden tomb. Whoever was resurrected was not the same individual who was crucified and buried. The symbol Alfa&Omega is, in fact, the symbol of Jesus/the Lamb. He had 12 disciples which tallies with the signs on Caiaphas's ossuary, because the Jews and David used a 6-pointed star as an emblem and David was never called Alfa&Omega.

Briefly about Caiaphas. He was a Jewish high priest, a rich and well-known person. Now, at the end of time, he is reincarnated somewhere on this planet as a rich and Christian priest who works for the Vatican.

Briefly about Pontius Pilate. He was an anonymous and mysterious person with both enemies and adherents. – There is a book, The Hausen Legend of Pontius Pilate, where he is described as a legend and God's enemy. Researchers try to find some document traces after the mysterious man who washed his hands when making a decision. The history repeats itself is what we sometimes say, which makes it probable that the truth about Pontius Pilate will appear in due time. In order to shed some light we should have a closer look at my father's paternity issue and the murder of the Jewish boy Tibor E in 1971, during Prime Minister Olof Palme's time in office. This prime minister was known everywhere. He had friends and enemies all over the world but he always sided with the weak and the poor, his messages always concerned Mankind. As a politician and prime minister he also, of course, made mistakes but he never gave orders to kill someone. The Jewish boy Tibor E was totally unknown in Sweden, but among a top-secret group of people (which still exists today) containing, among others, the head of state/king, the prime minister and the arch bishop, he was well known. On March 30, 1966, the then head of state, King Gustaf Adolf VI, sealed my father's paternity issue at the Castle of Stockholm. More info at Man, God and Science, pp 11-12. Before he was murdered at the end of February, 1986, Palme visited the Vatican in Rome and had a two-hour-long secret conversation with Pope John Paul II behind closed doors. As far as I can understand the pope wanted Palme to assume the responsibility of the murder of the Worldly, Davidian Messiah, the Lion Tibor E. The pope knew that the bubble would burst sooner or later and did not want the Roman Catholic Church to be accused of being a killer of Messiah. This is why the pope wanted Palme to assume the responsibility. As far as I know, Palme refused and the pope threatened him. They parted and Palme still refused. Palme knew that he was going to be killed, but his last word to the pope was Never. There are several clues in connection with the murder of Palme. But one of these is for real and the king, the head of state can tell us which. I believe that Palme was a reincarnation of, among tohers, Pontius Pilate. Palme had an office in Sweden similar to that of Pilate in Palestine, Judea. If you knew Olof Palme, you also knew Pontius Pilate. Mora info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, page 72.

The head of state and king of Sweden enjoys his criminal world and is a very rich Ox, son of crimes.

The Lamb is paralysed and the Bull is trapped. The Ox is King and God. More info at Man, God and Science, pp 58-60

Jesus Beelzebub/Mammon I am the Way, the Truth and the Life...

There is an extensive, global Internet surveillance of people around the world, a surveillance without precedent in modern history, worse than Communism. But there must be a reason behind this development.

If you have strong confidence in a kingdom and its head of state, a head of state who has been very expensive and made wrong decisions during many years, and you suddenly wake up and find yourself trapped, then you understand this reaction. When you feel let down by someone in whom you have invested almost everything during 40 years and you finally wake up to see that you have been completely deceived and suddenly trapped, then you lose confidence and, at the same time, understand a bit more.

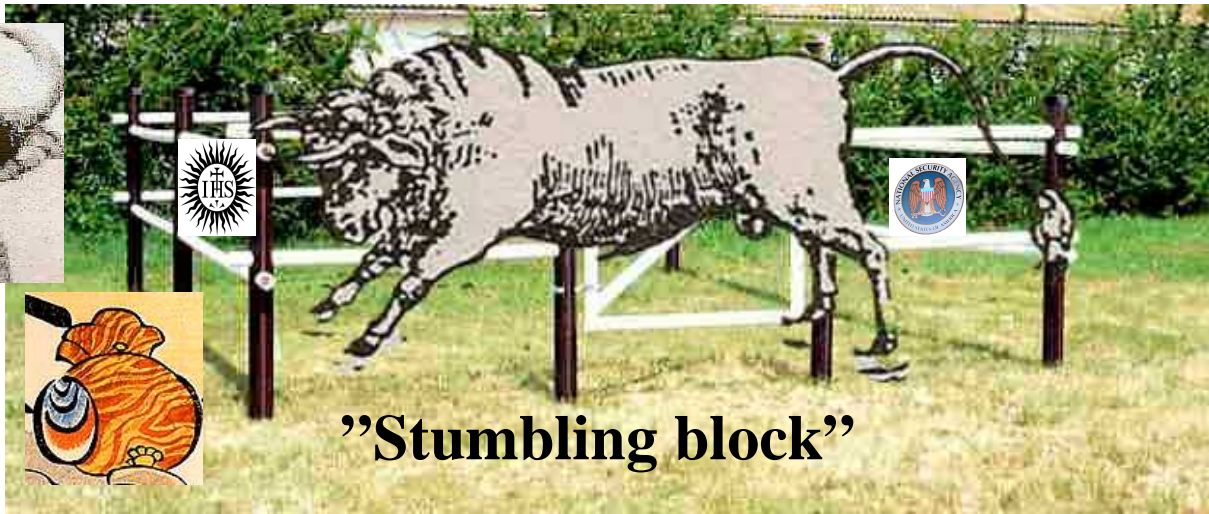

When you cover up a paternity issue you run a risk of disappearing into the darkness yourself. In the darkness you neither see nor know anything, you can fall deeper and deeper, into a real trap, and finally it is not possible to escape. The truth is that there are no valid agreements on fatherhood in my father's paternity issue concerning Tibor E. The Ox/King knew about this but has anyway allowed the Bull to take part in the invalid issue. The Ox knew and knows everything concerning my father's paternity issue. Thus, the Jesuit bought the pig in a poke.

His paternal grandfather, Gustaf Adolf VI, was a reincarnation of, among others, Joseph, Jacob's 11th son. In Genesis 49:22-26 we can read this: "Joseph is a fruitful bough, A fruitful bough by a well; His branches run over the wall. The archers have bitterly grieved him, Shot at him and hated him. But his bow remained in strength, And the arms of his hands were made strong By the hands of the Mighty God of Jacob (From there is the Shepherd, the Stone of Israel), By the God of your father who will help you, And by the Almighty who will bless you With blessings of heaven above, Blessings of the deep that lies beneath, Blessings of the breasts and of the womb. The blessings of your father Have excelled the blessings of my ancestors, Up to the utmost bound of the everlasting hills. They shall be on the head of Joseph, And on the crown of the head of him who was separate from his brothers."

More about Joseph: Deuteronomy 33:13-17. "And of Joseph he said: Blessed of the LORD is his land, With the precious things of heaven, with the dew, And the deep lying beneath, With the precious fruits of the sun, With the precious produce of the months, With the best things of the ancient mountains, With the precious things of the everlasting hills, With the precious things of the earth and its fullness, And the favor of Him who dwelt in the bush. Let the blessing come 'on the head of Joseph, And on the crown of the head of him who was separate from his brothers.' His glory is like a firstborn bull, And his horns like the horns of the wild ox; Together with them He shall push the peoples To the ends of the earth; They are the ten thousands of Ephraim, And they are the thousands of Manasseh."

"Stumbling block"

The texts above illustrate the fact that Joseph was praised to the skies by the God of Israel/the Serpent God who at that time, during the Exodus, lived in the bush, in a space ship. In this context Joseph is called "A fruitful bough by a well", here an apple tree at the centre of events. He was also the prince of the brothers. These plans are valid now, at the end of time and are of a symbolic nature. If we analyse the texts and compare them to today's situation, we get a deeper understanding of what they mean.

We should start with Prince Bernadotte of Ponte Corvo, Napoleon's cousin, a reincarnation of Judah. The Bernadotte royal family has seven (7) kings. Number six was Gustaf Adolf VI, a reincarnation of, among others, Joseph. It was he who sealed my father's, Tibor Kemény's paternity issue in connection with the birth of the Lion, Tibor E, by Jewess Maria, in Linköping on Christmas Eve 1958, exactly at midnight. The son of this king was Crown Prince Gustav Adolf, a reincarnation of Manasseh. Gustav Adolf's son is the present, seventh (7) and last king, Carl Gustav XVI, a reincarnation of, among others, Ephraim. Seals equal cover-up and terrible crimes have been committed in the dark. Even Israel's god, the Serpent/Lamb Christ R, who assumed Tibor E's identity, was removed from the well, the centre of events. He was replaced by his rival, the Bull God/Jesuit and this Jesuit now claims to be the Jew Tibor E. To praise someone to the skies 4,000 years ago is one thing. It is quite another thing, after the fulfilment of God's work (a total fiasco) and after the fact that he, who had his confidence, instead became Judas Bernadotte. A complete Glory!

Herod Antipas, BC 21 – AD 40

Son of Herod the Great

Contemporary coin with Herod's family tree. Tetrarch in Galilee from AD 4. According to the gospels it was he who tortured the Jew Joseph Jr before the crucifixion. He was in Jerusalem when Joseph Jr, son of Mary, was crucified. The clergy sentenced him to death. Herod Antipas also acknowledged the death sentence and did not stop the execution. Pilate acquitted both Joseph Jr and Jesus. Herod Antipas was a reincarnation of, among others, Ephraim.

High priest Caiaphas's will concerning carpenter Joseph's paternity issue. The Jew, the Lion Joseph Jr, son of Mary, was sentenced to death. Jesus/the Lamb was declared innocent.

This happened around AD 26 in ancient Palestine.

A recollection of Pope Paul VI at the basilica in Rosario, October 6, 1966, his programme. It is a picture of Jewess Maria in Sweden, at the centre, holding her little boy in her arms. We can see that the mother and child are under the seal. To the right of the seal is the pope's coat of arms and to the left we see a cardinal's coat of arms. In the upper field we see an open book which depicts Daniel 7:9-11, where the wordly, Davidian Messiah, the Lion, is killed. Further down we see the Vatican coat of arms. This is clear evidence concerning the murder of the Jew Tibor E in Stockholm. He was sentenced to death as early as in 1966. Daniel 9:26: "And after the sixty-two weeks Messiah shall be cut off, but not for Himself".

The Pope's seal from 1966 coincides with the king's seal the same year at the castle of Stockholm. My father's, Tibor Kemény's, paternity issue in connection with the Christian religion is thus the most important and secret issue on Earth. Amen.

Look here, flock of sheep! This is the Christian religion. Maybe you are beginning to understand why our Lord, Jesus Christ from Nazareth, has ordered global telephone and internet surveillance.

In the Kingdom of Sweden, the Ox and his criminal friends believed that my father was a stupid foreigner, his family amounted to nothing, it was OK to violate my family tree. The Ox, being king and head of state with all the power, believed that he could commit any crime related to my family. He believed he owned my family tree it that he could sell it. None of the criminals involved anticipated that Man can finally stand up from the darkness and, using knowledge as a weapon, enlighten the position of Man in the Kingdom of Sweden and the whole world.

He on the throne in Heaven, according to Revelation.

At first, the Ox and the Church of Sweden led by the Vatican tried to fool my father. Thereafter they tried, in the same way, to fool God on his throne in Heaven (Revelation) that the Jesuit/Antichrist is my father's son and heir. More info at Man, God and Science, pp 30-44 and The Sun at a Disadvantage, pp 74-.

Persuasive clues say that God on his throne in Heaven is Ahura Mazda and the Sumerian god Anu in one and the same person. This was denied and officially covered up on this planet by, among others, the clergy.

But there is one more gigantic problem. The head of state and king of Sweden has nothing to do with the Bernadotte family. Genetically.

Carl Johan XIV, 1818-1844

Gustaf Adolf VI, 1950-1973

Carl Gustaf XVI, 1973 -

What do they have in common except the name Bernadotte? – Nothing! One of them is of typically French origin, the other one a mixture of German, English, and God knows what more. But there is some “Swedishness” in him. In other words: he is not qualified to be head of state and king in Sweden. We can clearly see that. More info at Prince if Ponte Corvo, or... pp 12-67
 Today it is easy to determine parenthood by using a DNA profile. An international independent team could order DNA samples from everybody involved and establish genetically that the present king has nothing to do with the Bernadotte Karl Johan XIV. Thus, the Swedish monarchy ought to be immediately abandoned, something that should have happened when King Gustaf V died in 1950. This is further evidence that the Bernadotte family is not legally qualified to handle my father’s paternity issue in the secret, dark world. Neither is the family qualified to occupy Queen Christina’s throne as heads of state and kings/queens. Yet the king destroyed my family’s life and fooled the surrounding world in the secret circles. More info at Man, God and Science, pp 9-13.

The Bull God, our Lord, has mounted Aries, a picture telling us that our Lord has all the power on Earth and replaces Man. The Bull owns Man’s family tree.

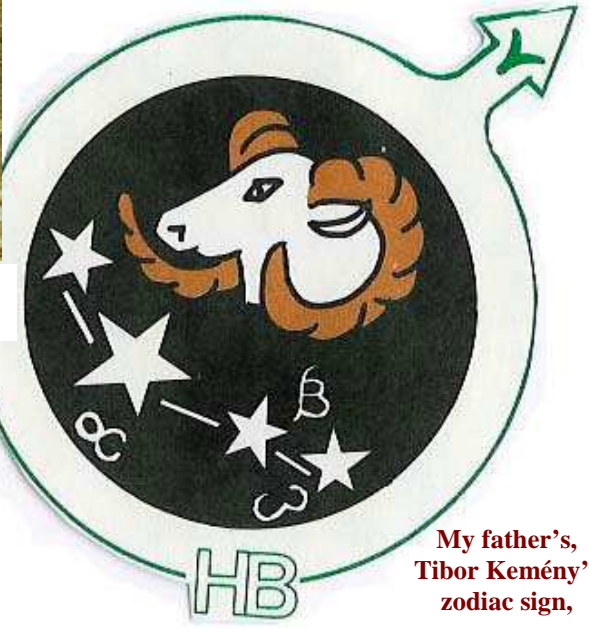

Man’s, cosmic Adam’s, family tree. An animal cannot take over.

Even the Bull God, our Lord’s final goal at the end of time is to, at any cost, take over Man’s family tree and call himself the new ADAM/MAN.

Alexander the Great, contemporary coin.

My father's, Tibor Kemény's zodiac sign,

This is a clever picture of a coin from Alexander the Great's world. On the one hand we see the Bull God as a human being riding, like Zeus/Jupiter/Baal, on a ram. The Bull, Man, dominates the ram. The ram (Aries) in this context is Man, the zodiac sign of cosmic Adam. On the other hand we can also understand that the Bull God himself is Man, born in the zodiac sign Aries but not belonging to the human blood 0. – I am not surprised that the Bull, via the king and Church of Sweden, tried to secretly steal my family tree in the dark Sweden. According to the gospels, the Bull God, Our Lord Jesus Christ, is the Way, the Truth and the Life. Inside our galaxy, the Milky Way, work is in progress to create a human world. There we find eternal life and the Bull will walk in there alone is correspondence with nature's laws and regulations. In other words: an animal wants to create a human world while not being human. – A pig in the poke regarding my father's paternity issue. The creation of the human world is at the top, but one, level of knowledge, founded on the laws of nature and has nothing to do with bloody, inhuman religion. Short summary: High Priest Caiaphas's will is a reflection of the memory of Pope Paul VI and vice versa. It is primarily the corrupt clergy who are the murderers and liars. They tell fairytales to the blind, deaf and believing flock of sheep with no memory.

Who, actually, was Fides? Fides (Latin for “faith”) was in Roman mythology the goddess of trust. The Roman senate signed and stored government agreements with other nations in her temple at Capitoline Hill, where she supposedly protected them. Fides was also worshipped as Fides Publica Populi Romani, Public Trust of the Roman People. She is pictured as a young woman with an olive branch, a bowl, or a military symbol in her hand. She wears a white veil and her priests were dressed in white, demonstrating her connections with the two most prominent deities, Jupiter and Dius Fidius. Her temple from BC 254 was located close to the Jupiter temple on Capitoline Hill. Pistis is her Greek equivalent. All information on the Internet.

Fides’ temple goes back to BC 254 and was located close to the Jupiter temple on the Capitoline Hill

The Jupiter temple at Capitoline Hill. The Bull God, Baal/Zeus, uses the planet Jupiter as a symbol. Jupiter, also called God Jupiter, is the largest planet in our solar system. His animal symbol is an eagle, like Julius Caesar. In his right hand he has a globe and he is also standing on one to establish that he is the ruler of the world. Those were pagan days.

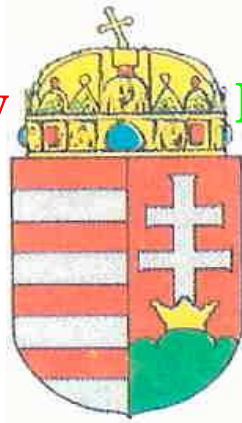

Briefly: Fides was the goddess of trust, close to Jupiter and the pagan culture. Later on active in politics: Fides Publica Populi Romani (Public Trust of the Roman People). – Now we have some knowledge of Fides..

Fidesz and Europe Today

Hungary

Hungary

Fiatal Demokraták Szövetsége”, (FIDESZ) Alliance of Young Democrats

The party was founded on March 30, 1988, by 37 young intellectuals in Budapest. They gave it the name “Fiatal Demokraták Szövetsége”, (FIDESZ), Alliance of Young Democrats. In this context is Fidesz short for the party’s name, but the original FIDESZ was a democratic political party in Hungary. One of the founders of the new party was Orbán Viktor Mihály. From April 1988 to 1990 he continued his studies in Oxford aided by a Soros scholarship.

From the start Fidesz was a liberal political party for young people and was a member of the Liberal International. On June 16, 1989, at the re-burial of Imre Nagy in Budapest, Orbán demanded free elections in Hungary and urged the Soviet army to leave Hungarian territory. This was his political breakthrough.

Orbán Viktor, b. 1963

Kövér Mihály, b. 1959

Fodor Gábor, b. 1962

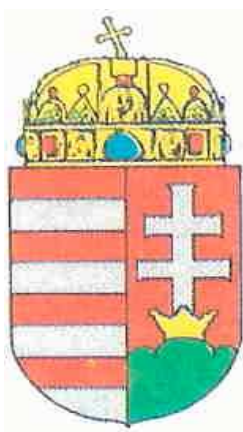

The Fidesz Party is split up

From 1992 Orbán and Kövér initiated a change of direction, they wanted a conservative right-wing party. In other words: leave democracy behind. In 1993 Orbán was elected chairman. This meant that from 1994 the party became more conservative, which also meant that Gábor Fodor and more than 200 members left the party and joined SZDSZ.

In real life this means that the democratic Fidesz, which was founded on the basis of democracy in 1988 and developed, aided by Soros’s funds, was suddenly gone together with the Liberalism which Fodor and his adherents brought from the original Fidesz.

Fidesz – Magyar Polgári Szövetség Fidesz - Hungarian Civic Alliance

In 1995 the party changed its name. "Fidesz – Fidesz, Hungarian Civic Alliance" (Fidesz – Magyar Polgári Szövetség, Fidesz) is a large national conservative and Christian democratic party in Hungary and has nothing to do with democracy any more. The name Fidesz has nothing to do with Magyar Polgári Szövetség/Hungarian Civic Alliance, but is still there. Why? The new Fidesz was picked up in Rome and the goddess of trust, Fides. Fidesz hither and dither. The goddess of trust is already in Budapest without anyone noticing it, except for those involved in the party. Orbán possesses almost all power. Fidesz thus has a double face: the original Fidesz and Fides from Rome.

On May 4, 2006 (sign of Taurus). Fidesz, the national conservative party and the Christian Democrats (Keresztény-demokrata Néppárt, KDNP), signed an agreement of co-operation called "Magyar Szolidaritás Szövetsége", (Hungarian Union of Solidarity). Orbán has the overall power also here. This union also works in the Hungarian parliament. Thus, politics and religion walk hand in hand in the parliament with religion as a basis.: "Goddess of Trust, Fides". This is the new direction for Árpád's Hungary, led by Viktor Orbán, Fidesz and Fides.

Fidesz government

Government power – a double-faced party....

Since 2010, when Fidesz again formed the government, the party has on their own changed the constitution and created more than 850 new laws. It has been criticized for undemocratic actions and for trying to limit the opposition's political activities. Many laws are obstacles for the opposition when it comes to taking part in election campaigns and political messages have been prohibited at a number of places. In other words: Democracy and freedom are gone, Orbán buried them at Imre Nagy's funeral in 2008. The nation becomes poorer, unemployment is on the increase as is the number of homeless people, the rich get richer, problem and misery prevail and the Jews are registered even if the majority of Fidesz's members are said to be Jews. Human rights are disappearing, it is worse now than during Communism. Fidesz and its alliance are slowly becoming a new Belorussia in Europe. Fidesz is starting to plunge Hungary into darkness and secretly they get help. When a party leads the nation to ruin, people will not vote for them. Fidesz and the alliance will be in government until 2018.

It is important to have closer look at Fidesz's road to power.

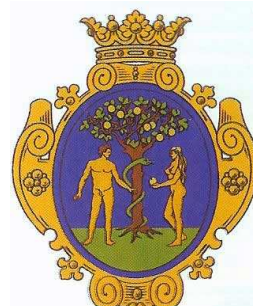

Opposition groups all over Hungary accuse Fidesz of different crimes during their exercise of power. Crimes against democracy and free elections are recurrent themes when accusations are made. One of many topics is ballot rigging. One example out of many is the ballot rigging in my little hometown of Baja on September 23, 2013, during the local elections. This fraud spread like wildfire, also outside Hungary.

Kanadai Magyar Hírlap

The Hungarian magazine in Canada, Kanadai Magyar Hírlap, writes about this ballot rigging on its homepage.

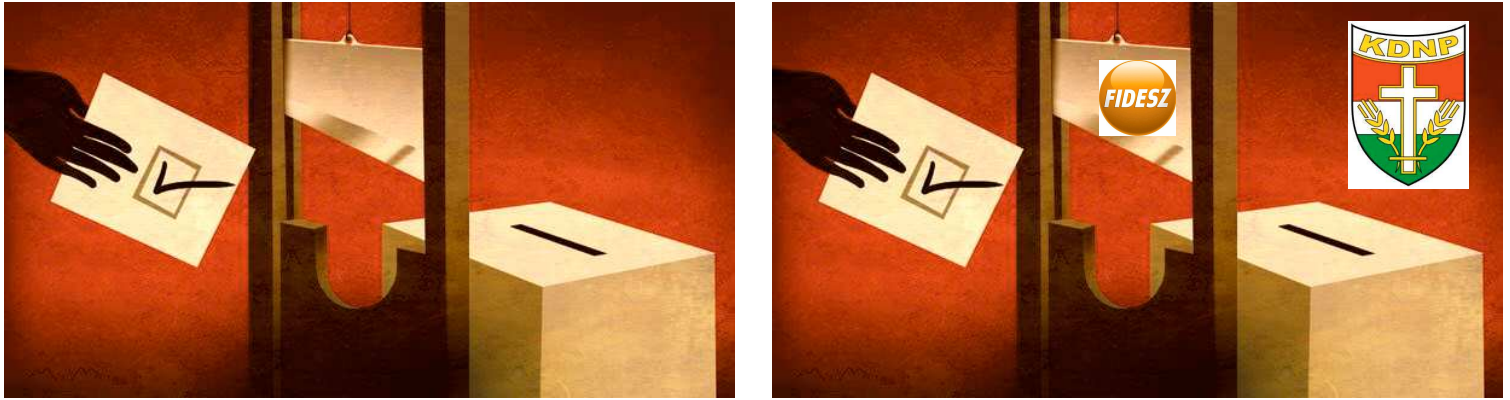

Election in Baja: Fidesz Way of Cheating?

The ballot rigging in Baja attracted so much attention that it reached as far as to Canada. The unique thing about this rigging is that there are documents describing how it was arranged, step by step. There is even a court decision establishing the fact that Fidesz is guilty of ballot rigging in Baja. If they cheat in Baja, they do it in the same way across Hungary, a similar rigging was discovered in Budapest. As I have said: When a party in power pushes the country from the cliff, people will never vote for the same party again. This also goes for Hungary. Still, Fidesz won in Hungary in 2014.

We can briefly conclude that Fidesz won the 2014 election after extensive ballot rigging all over Hungary, as in 2010. This is an old, already tested Communist system.

A stylized ballot rigging in Baja, a symbol of Hungary's near future with Fidesz and KDNP at the top.

Against Fidesz and ballot rigging in Baja, Teket Melinda and Bajnai Gordon 2013

Bajnai Gordon was born in Szeged in 1968 and grew up in the town of Baja, where he graduated at Béla Gimnázium III, the very school where I finished my studies in the autumn of 1964. This is also where my paternal grandfather Lajos and his younger brother Simon studied at the end of the 19th century. More info at Obscure Magyar, page 80.

Bajnai Gordon was the Hungarian prime minister 2009-2010. During his short time in office he was very active and met a number of world leaders, among them G. Soros in New York. He also visited Jerusalem and was invited to Rome and the Vatican, where he engaged in a private conversation with Pope Benedict XVI in 2009.

He also met leading politicians from Europe and the European Union and visited the White House in Washington. In other words: He knows what politics is all about.

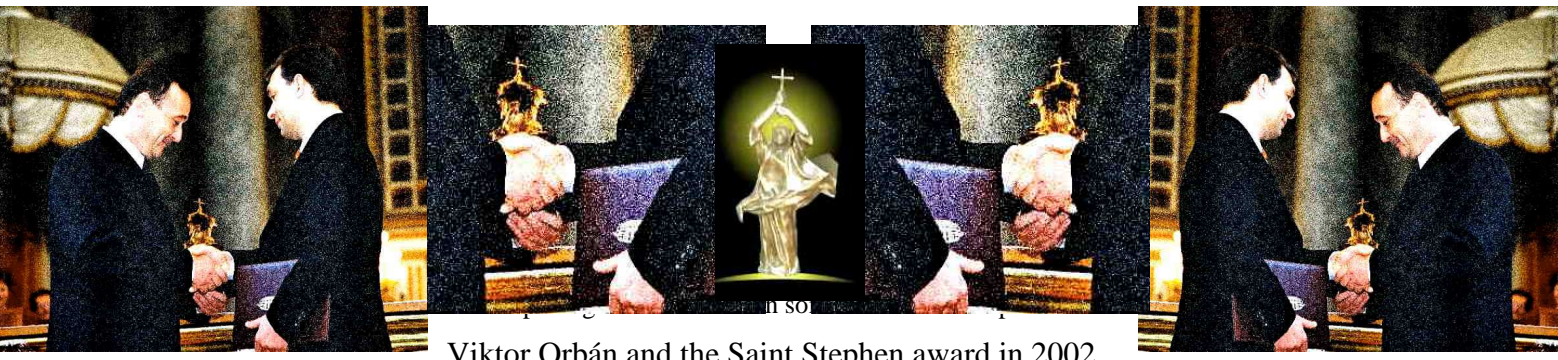

As I have already mentioned, the opposition in and outside Hungary have an extensive network against Fidesz on different websites, Twitter, video, etc. The most interesting person in Hungary right now is Orbán Viktor. He was born in the town of Székesfehérvár, which was Saint Stephen's main location between the years 1000 and 1038. He introduced Christianity in Hungary. More info at Obscure Magyar, pp 30-32. This Orbán has been rewarded many prizes both in Hungary and abroad, e.g. France, Italy and the US. In Esztergom, Hungary, the Saint Stephen Award was established in 2002. The award is aimed at citizens who contribute to the lives of all Hungarians and is awarded on August 20, Saint Stephen's Day. The first person to receive this prize was Orbán Viktor in 2002 in the church in Esztergom.

So, the foundation of each nation is

A tiszta erkölcs, mely, ha elvész:
Pure moral, and if lost,

Róma ledűl, és rabigába görbed.”
Rome will fall, and accept slavery

Berzsenyi Dániel: A Magyarokhoz 1810

In connection with the Saint Stephen Award I found a quotation from the poem To the Hungarians by the poet Berzsenyi in 1810, when the Hungarian literature started to blossom. The quotation states clearly that in order to survive, each nation needs a pure moral foundation. If this foundation is not there, the nation will fall, as will Rome. – Orbán, what happened to the pure Hungarian morals?

I have studied some of Berzsenyi’s poem, e.g. the one quoted above. He had a rather forceful pagan inclination, he was attracted by Árpád and the powerful nation. He notices that Árpád’s blood is thinning out and that the nation is on its way down. Many poets and writers of that flowering literary era share that view and it seems as if Orbán is the helmsman.

Order of St. Gregory the Great

In 2004 Orbán received the papal order St. Gregory the Great, as the first and only Hungarian so far. He has received a number of awards from all over the world. When an individual suddenly is praised everywhere is not a good sign, history tells us that there are various, hidden motivations. Religion, Catholicism, works well in Hungary, but which kind of Christianity is supported by Fidesz and KDNP? Which is the government's position in relation to the Hungarian Catholic Church? – The award is all about Christianity, about religion. To shed some light on this, let us go back in time, all the way to Sumer where everything started, including the Hungarian history. More info at Obscure Magyar, pp 1-11.

Inanna and her 8-pointed star

A Sumerian picture illustrating the execution of Humbaba

Inanna and her 8-pointed star

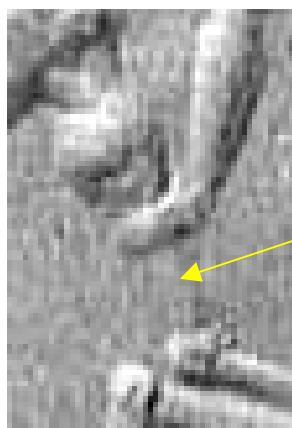

Humbaba was the guardian of forests and belonged to Inanna's so-called inner, secret circle of the clergy. Above Humbaba's head we clearly see the neutron star AN with its seven planets.

Humbaba, the guardian of the forests? Many people wrongly believe that Humbaba guarded the trees in the forests. You can use the forest as a place to hide. If you have a secret you can hide it in the forest and watch over it and that is what Humbaba did. But what was so secret that he hid it in the forest? In those days the most secret objects were the Tablets of Destinies which Inanna had stolen from her maternal grandfather Enki. More info at Obscure Magyar, page 5. Humbaba hid these Tablets of Destinies in a nearby forest.

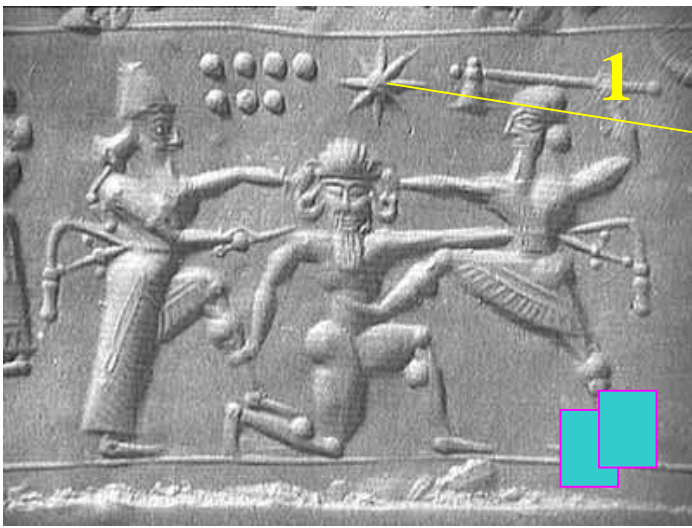

We can see the neutron star and its planets hanging above the picture. Does that mean that the natural catastrophes had already started in Sumer and that Humbaba hid the Tablets of Destinies because of that? What we can see in the picture is that Inanna's opponents, Gilgamesh's gang, captured Humbaba after he had revealed the location of the tablets. Thereafter he was killed.

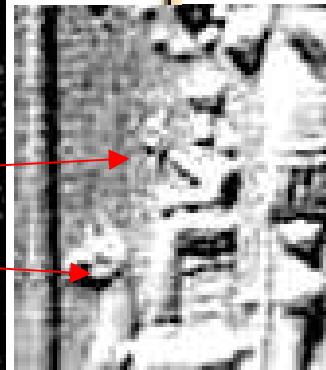

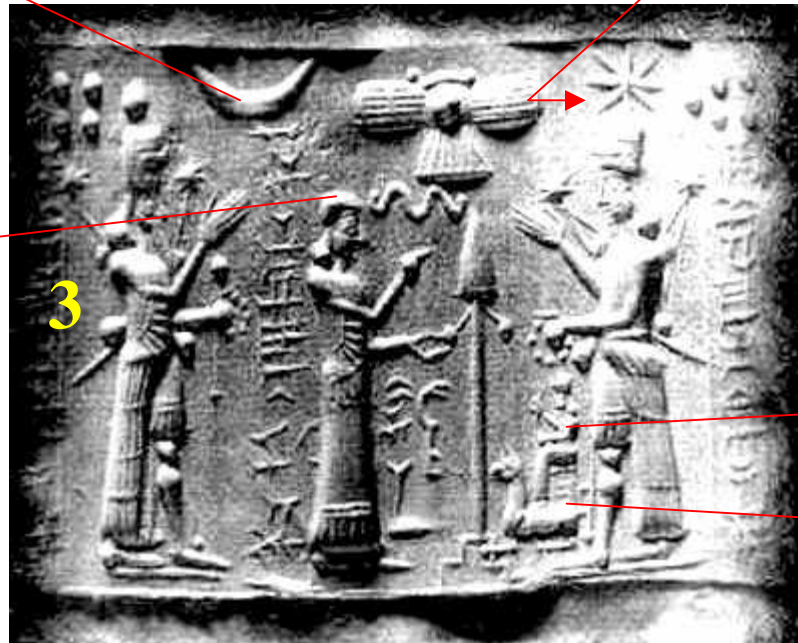

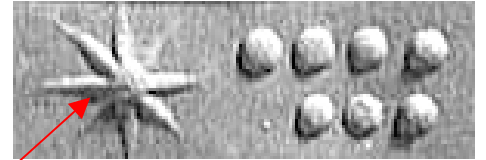

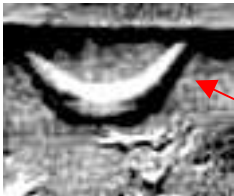

On Humbaba's head we see an 8-pointed crown used by the high priests.

In a very clever way we can have a look at the moment when Humbaba is being executed. His right hand holds the left, kicking leg of one of his executors. The leg appears in the form of a torch, a symbol of something secret coming to life in connection with the killing. He was tortured and kicked during the execution to make him reveal the hiding places.

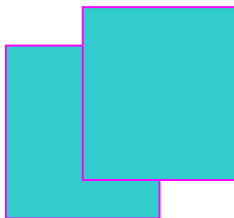

It can also be the case that the Tablets of Destinies, stolen by Inanna from her maternal grandfather, were copies. The original tablets were still in the possession of Anu. Inanna was a very sly woman/virgin, she knew that the Bull Gilgamesh was also after the Tablets of Destiny. What Gilgamesh finally got his hands on via Humbaba were copies. They were hidden in different places in the forest and Gilgamesh did not know where. When Inanna and her nearest friends left the Earth (pict 2) and travelled to the Moon, they brought with them the Tablets of Destinies. They are now at the far side of the Moon, where Apollo 20 landed in 1976. That is what I believe. More info at Visitors to the Moon, final, pp 65-85.

Picture #3 is an illustration of Anu when he hands the throne over to his son Enki, who immediately puts his foot on the dragon, a symbol of Inanna's church. Inanna was Anu's first-born son who never turned his back on his father Anu, something which Inanna, Gilgamesh and Enlil did. – In the picture is a hovering spaceship waiting for Anu and his elected friends. The spaceship then connects to the solar system of the neutron star An, which was then still in our solar system. Simultaneously there were large amounts of natural catastrophes. The original Tablets of Destinies are still in the possession of the father of the gods, Anu. This is my personal understanding.

Utnapishtim

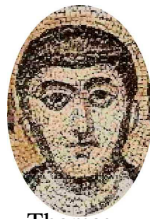

Utnapishtim

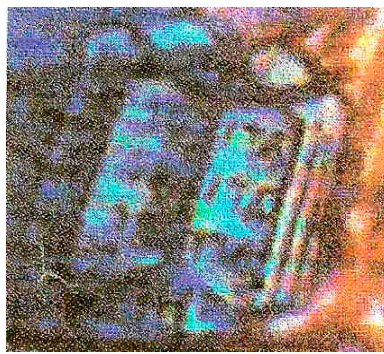

Humbaba, who could have been Inanna's most important follower, was symbolically the guardian of the forests, i.e. guardian of the Tablets of Destinies by Utnapishtim, hidden in a forest. Finally, however, the Bull Gilgamesh could have a copy of The Tablets of Destinies.

Humbaba appeared again in the Adiabene royal family as Jacob bar Monobaz, Helena's first-born son and Izates II/Jesus's eldest brother. Thomas was jack-of-all-trades and carpenter Joseph's son and after Joseph's death Thomas founded Gnosticism (knowledge and science). He then wrote the book above, The "Secret Sayings" Book or Book of the Living, expressing roughly the same ideas as the Tablets of Destinies and Jesus got hold of one of the copies. After his ascension Jacob took over the book and because of a mistake made by him the Bull God could read the book via Paul the Apostle. We usually say that history repeats itself. Now, let us go back to the Hungarian Catholic Church. Its arch bishop since 2002 is Cardinal Erdő Péter.

Erdő's cardinal coat of arms with the Sun, male symbol of the Lion, and the Moon/Virgin/Serpent, a female symbol at the top corner. The main message concerns Mary and her new-born son. Above Mary's head there is a royal crown and the coat of arms radiates the colours of the Swedish monarchy, blue and yellow. This cardinal's coat of arms is directly linked to my father's paternity issue.

Jewess Maria and her only-begotten son, the Sun, the Lion Tibor E. Linköping/Stockholm 1958-1971

Make-believe mother of the Moon, Virgin/Lamb Christer R. Stockholm 1971-2007

But this message can also be explained in another way: the woman who is disguised in the sun, surrounded by clouds (clouds in this context is a thousand-year-old secret). We find the explanation in Revelation, Rev 12:1.” Now a great sign appeared in heaven: a woman clothed with the sun, with the moon under her feet, and on her head a garland of twelve stars.” The woman in this case is the child carried by Jewess Mary.

The Sun is a male symbol and here the woman pretends to be a man whose name is Jesus Christ/the Lamb (Christer R). This planet knows him as a superior male saviour bathing in rays from the Sun. The twelve stars are the twelve disciples, apostles, and the Moon, a female symbol, is the main living area for the Lamb/Virgin. Apollo 20 has gathered evidence of this Virgin/Lamb’s existence on the Moon.

According to legends, Saint Stephen offered his crown to the Virgin, sitting in the sun, surrounded by clouds.

According to legends, Saint Stephen offered his crown to the Virgin, sitting in the sun, surrounded by clouds.

Stephen with long hair, a contemporary coin. The long-haired Stephen/Virgin.

Stephen as a Virgin offers his crown to the Virgin, to himself. We can clearly see the iron chain as clouds behind Stephen.

The original Jesus/Lamb/Virgin with long hair...from the far side of the Moon. The long-haired Jesus/Virgin.

Almost all drawings, paintings and statues which are preserved depict the Lamb/Jesus with long hair. But why do we see this mysterious accuracy used when trying to prove who was who in connection with Hungary? But first, let us look back at the last papal election on March 13, in the Vatican.

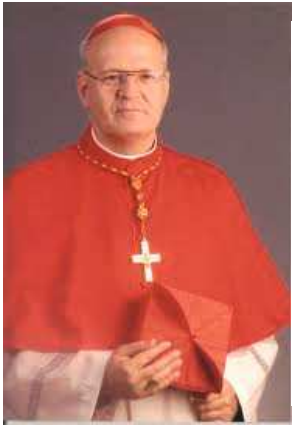

115 cardinals were in the chapel to elect the new and last pope.

$$115 - 1 + 1 + 5 = 7$$

Thus: the figure 7 lies behind the election

At the last papal election they knew beforehand that the pope would assume the papal name Pius XIII. He was to be a reincarnation of, among others, Pope Gregory I and Pius X. More info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 78-79.

Arch Bishop of Buenos Aires, Cardinal Jorge Mario Bergoglio of Argentina

Had the 2013 conclave elected Cardinal Erdő pope, he would certainly have taken the papal name Pius XIII and become the last pope, Peter the Roman. We know now that the conclave chose to elect Cardinal Bergoglio. He assumed the papal name Francis and belongs to the Society of Jesus, which Cardinal Erdő does not. According to the Holy See, Cardinal Erdő is of more use in Hungary as the leader of the Church than as the last pope in Rome.

More info at Foundation Stone, p 68. – The Pole Stephen became the 7th prince of Hungary in AD 997 via a bloody coup instigated by the Holy See. The figure 7 thus belongs to Hungary.

The pope, the Jesuit Francis, was introduced to the whole world on March 13, 2013, at 7 past 7 in the evening. The figure 7 symbolically belongs to Revelation. The pope opened up the world of Revelation.

Cardinal Péter Erdő, born on June 25.

The zodiac sign of June 25 is Cancer -7.

We know that the pope, the Jesuit, belongs to the Bull God Jesus Beelzebub/Mammon/Antichrist. He claims to be a Jew, a fake Jew. Cardinal Erdö is a reincarnation of, among others, Humbaba, Jacob, Izates II/Jesus's eldest brother, Gregory I and Pius X. In other words, one of the highest priests in Christian religion. Cardinal Erdö is the arch bishop of Esztergom-Budapest, the most powerful priest of the Hungarian Catholic Church. He was appointed arch bishop and cardinal in 2002-03 by Pope John Paul II. The Holy See wishes to eradicate the complete Hungarian heritage from Árpád and onwards with Erdö as a leader of the Hungarian Catholic Church, aided by the ruling party Fidesz and the KDNP. They also want to remove Saint Stephen's thousand-year-old Christian history and replace it with the death culture and death religion of the Bull God, Jesus Beelzebub, Osiris's culture of death. Then it would be possible for Jesus Beelzebub, the Bull, to declare that he is the new Adam, and God, i.e. he is owner of Hungary. He is the Sun. More info at Visitors to the Moon. final. p 89.

Crucifixion, heavy load
Via the Hungarian Catholic Church and the governing party Fidesz+KDNP, the Holy See wants to conduct a purification of Hungarian history using inhuman dictatorship led by Cardinal Erdö as a captain and Orbán as first officer. The goal is, as I have already mentioned, to introduce the fake Jew, Jesus/Beelzebub/Mammon, as the founder of Hungary. The procedure started as early as in 2002 under the leadership of Pope John Paul II. The basis of the procedure is the false message by the Swedish king and head of state in connection with my father's paternity issue. In Hungary they state that the arch bishops Lékai László, 1976-1986; Paskai László, 1987-2002, and Erdö Péter 2002- are Jews, as is the majority of the members of Fidesz. The same message reached the whole world: John Paul II and Paul VI were both Jews.

When you read the Pentateuch in the Old Testament you clearly understand that it is all about the Levite tribe and its descendants. In the New Testament it is about Judah and its descendants. But even son the Jews were killed during 2000 years, there is something wrong here.

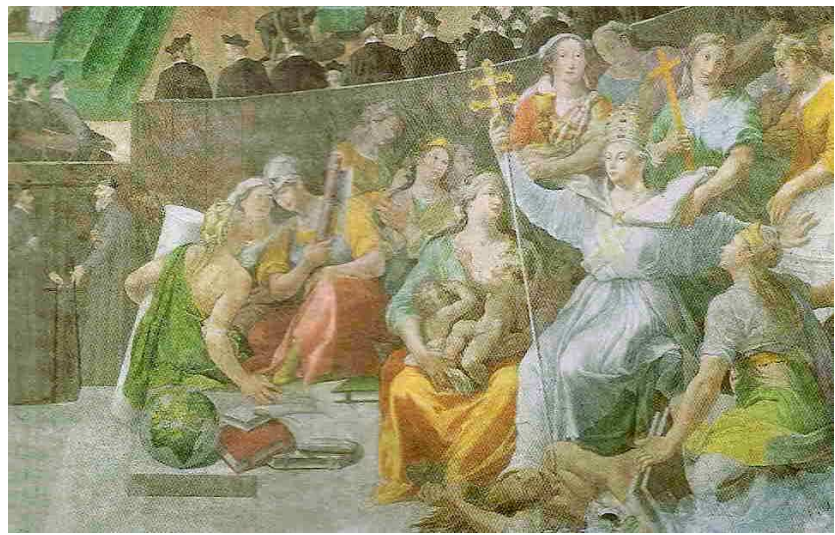

The truth is that they are not Jews, they are fake, rich Jews who create problems for the real Jews and the world. Rev 2:9: "I know your works, tribulation, and poverty (but you are rich); and I know the blasphemy of those who say they are Jews and are not, but are a synagogue of Satan." Houses of prayers were called synagogues of Satan at the beginning of the Christian religion (many people who were not Jews have converted from Judaism to Christianity). Thus the fake, rich Jews are the tools of the Bull God, Jesus Beelzebub, the Jesuit and Antichrist. The false Jews work together with the Holy See.

We already know that Jacob's twelve sons were also called Israeli, not Jews. Judas himself was reincarnated as Napoleon and his attitude towards the Holy See and the Christian religion is well known throughout the world. The Levites, however, are still priests around the world and Levites are non-Jewish.

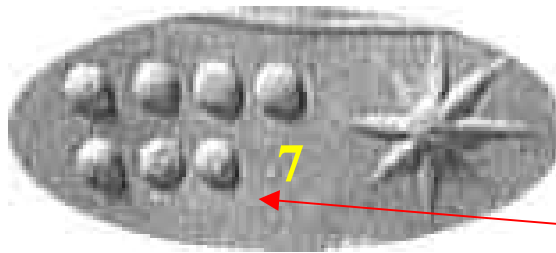

As I see it, Cardinal Erdö Peter has almost the same position as Jacob when he was in Jerusalem in connection with the book and Paul the Apostle. At that time people favoured Antichrist, as they do today in Christianity all over the world. In other words: To begin with it is about transforming Hungary according to the deadly plans of Antichrist and after that the rest of Europe.

Now it is time, maybe a bit late, for Hungarians all over the world rooted in ancient Hungary and Árpád, to put a stop to Fidesz, and leave the Vatican and Christianity forever as soon as possible, or Hungary's original identity will be gone, dead.

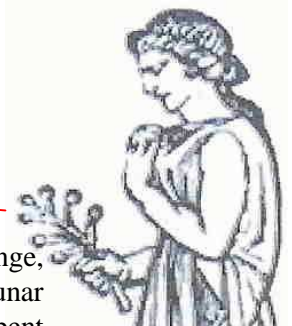

Now, we understand a bit more why Jesus/the Lamb/Virgin chose the next group of disciples among hybrids/virgins, according to Revelation. More info at Aries, Capricorn and the End of Time, pp 28-33

Fides

The neutron star Nemesis got its name from the Greek goddess of revenge, Nemesis. This is said about the goddess Nemesis: Goddess of the lunar month, goddess of retribution and justice. In other words: The serpent goddess Nemesis with the number 7, the seven planets around the neutron star, Revelation.

Nemesis

Fides was also worshipped as Fides Publica Populi Romani (Public trust of the Roman People). She is depicted as a young woman with an olive branch and a bowl or a military symbol in her hand. She wears a white veil and her priests wore white clothes indicating her connections with the highest gods, e.g. Jupiter. - This goddess Fides reminds me of the cow goddess Isis, Hatshepsut of Dynasty 18, Twosret of Dynasty 19 in Egypt, Greek Mary, the goddess Hera and the female Pope Johanna. The olive branch is also an interesting symbol. She should be Serpent Goddess Nemesis' rival.

Fides News Agency

We can find Goddess Fides at the Vatican, as above. She is also to be found in Hungary, as a political party in government since 2010.– Her priests wore white clothes according to the description above.

A brief summary of the clergy in white clothes: from High Priest and Pope Simon Peter and onwards to Gregory XVII the popes were normally dressed in red, and from Pius IX to the present pope, Francis, the colour is most often white. This coincides symbolically fairly well with the white clothes of the goddess Fides's clergy.

7 past 7

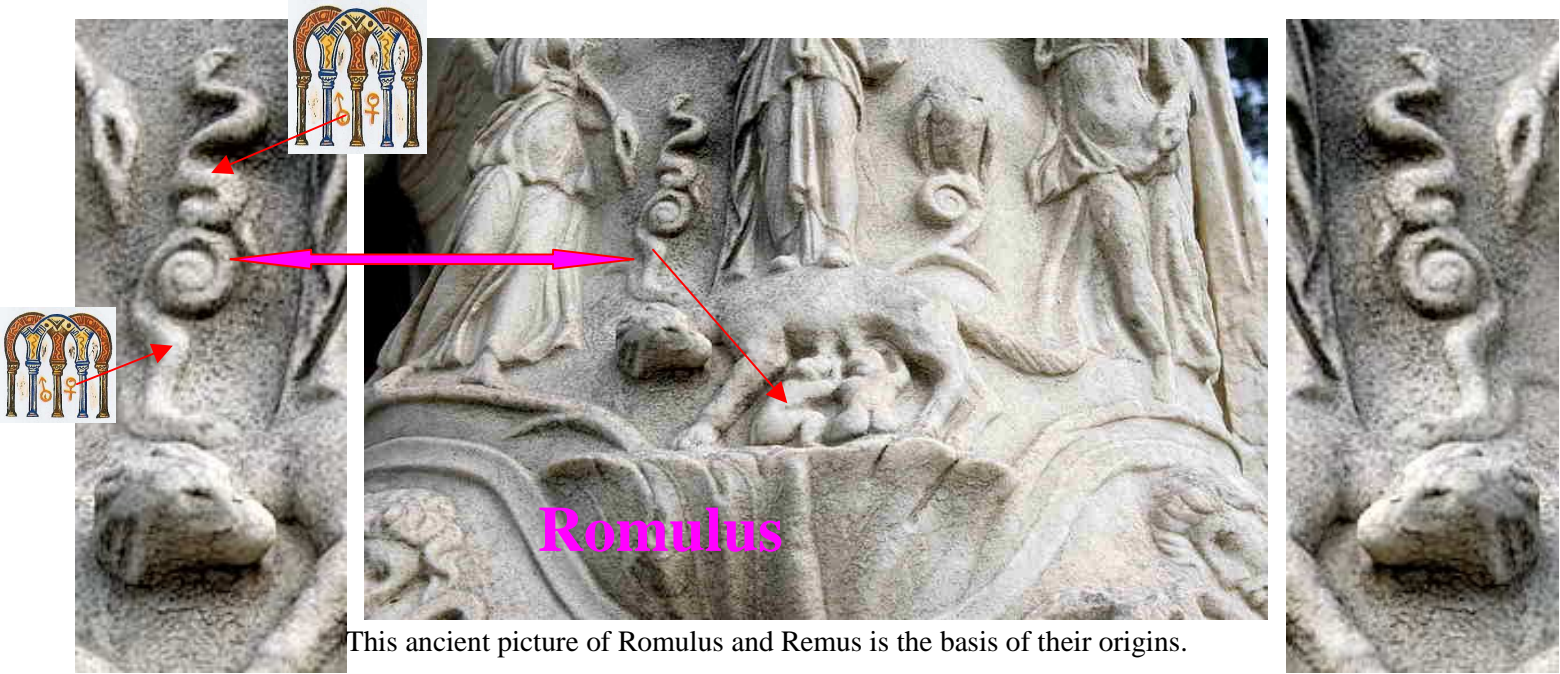

In the evening of March 13, 2013, at 7 past 7, the new and last pope, Francis, was elected and introduced, dressed in white. Thereby he opened the world of Revelation. This is not about religion, Christianity does not exist in that world. The pope is fully aware of this, since he was the one to open the door. We can say that from Pope Pius XII and onwards, the Vatican has, via media, revealed large amounts of secrets about Jesus/God/our Lord. The popes always refer to the will of God, that God speaks to the flock of sheep via the popes.

The climax of Revelation is fatherhood. Rev 21:7: "He who overcomes shall inherit all things, and I will be his God and he shall be My son". – This fatherhood coincides with my father's paternity issue which took place here in Sweden from 1958 together with the Lion Tibor E, the Lamb/Virgin Christer R and the Bull, the Jesuit who secretly was introduced after my father's death, but he does not count. More info at Man, God and Science, pp 31-33 and 35-36. My father's paternity issue is private, only his decision was valid and it is a final decision. The competition described in Revelation is about belonging to the human blood, 0, but none of them does. As far as I understand it was God's decision to start that competition, but it was all about transforming animal blood into human. More info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 1-22.

On this planet this was transformed into a religion of lies, fortunes were made. It also became a political issue led by blind, ignorant and inhuman characters. One example is today's Hungary, where Fidesz and consorts, to please the Bull God, are plunging the whole country into darkness because of the king's false message. But Fidesz and the Church cannot plunge the human blood and the Hungarian origins into darkness, our galaxy cannot disappear because of a beast which wants to replace Man... Our galaxy guards will never allow this, neither will God, on his throne...

Let us now return to Rome whose foundation is still a mystery. There are many versions of this story, when Rome was founded and by whom. My understanding is still that nothing happens without traces. If something happens, e.g. the foundation of a town, traces will appear. Behind each version, each record, there is always something new leading to clues about how Rome was founded. This also concerns Romulus and Remus.

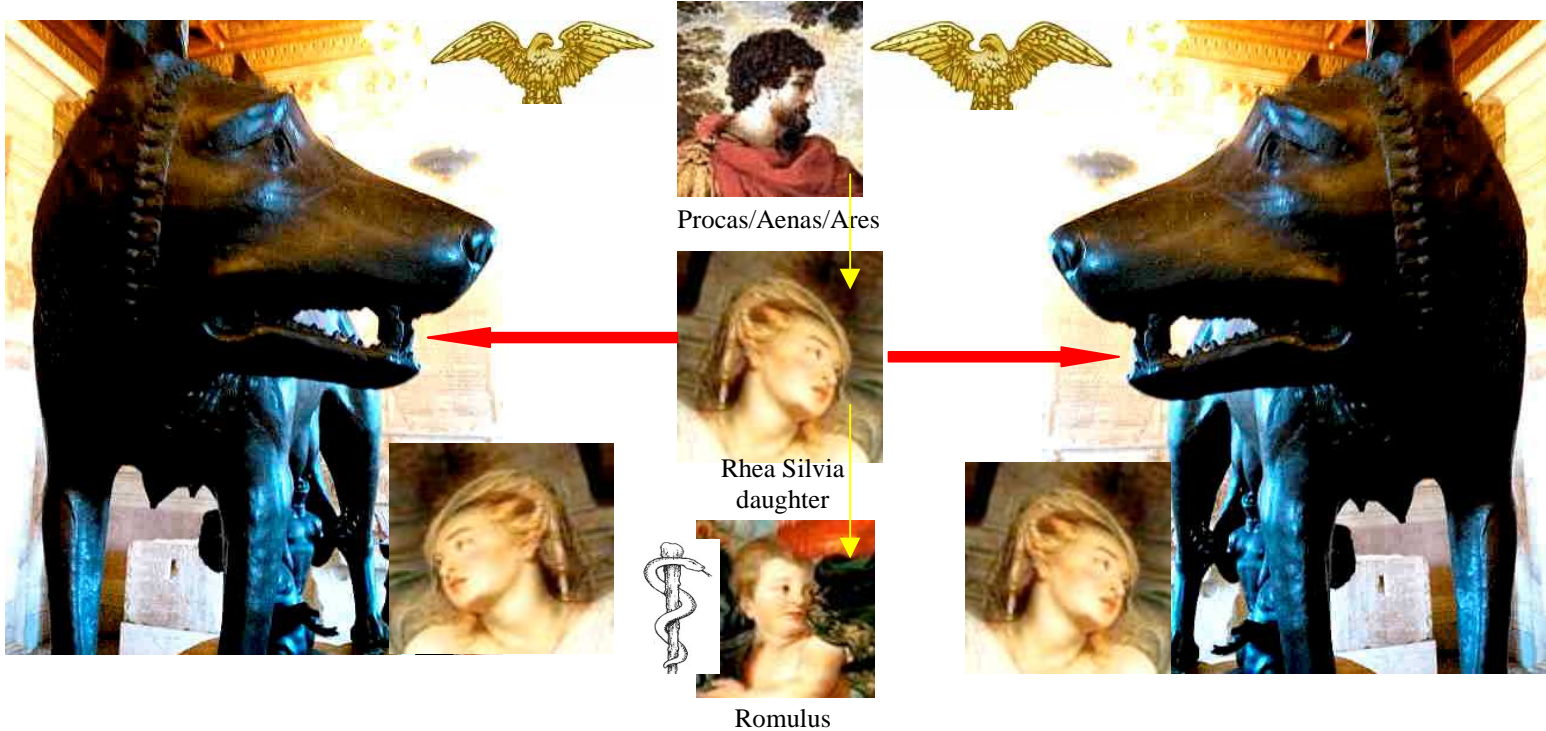

Romulus

This ancient picture of Romulus and Remus is the basis of their origins.

In the picture we see a wriggling serpent hovering above the she-wolf's head. Note that it is a symbolic picture, a she-wolf in the form of a human woman feeding the Serpent/Virgin as her own child. We can see that she is feeding two children. The picture clearly demonstrates that she, the Serpent/Virgin, here only gives birth to one child, Romulus. But where, then, is Remus? Remus is born by another woman. Who was Romulus's mother? She was "Rhea Silvia", the woman whose animal origin was a she-wolf. She was not a virgin, but she gave birth to the Virgin, the Serpent God, the hybrid.

Procas/Aenas/Ares

Rhea Silvia daughter

Romulus

My understanding is that Aenas (Worldly Adam, warrior, war god Mars) was probably named Procas. He was born in Alba Longa, in his marriage with an anonymous woman he had three children, two sons and one daughter. The sons were Numitor and Amulius, the daughter Rhea Silvia. Numitor and Rhea Silvia had a child called Romulus, who happened to be a hybrid/virgin. Amulius was surprised and angry that his sister gave birth to a hybrid child. Numitor was removed from the throne by his younger brother Amulius who had Numitor's sons killed and made his sister, Rhea Silvia, a virgin in the temple of Vesta. This was to stop her from having sexual intercourse and giving birth to more hybrids/virgins. This is turn meant that there was nobody to take over the throne, it went to Amulius himself. – What happened to their anonymous father (Aenas/Ares)? Was he murdered earlier and in that case by whom? Probably by Amulius. The child, who did not have a name yet, was taken care of by a rich family, probably Romulia. He then got his name Romulus or something like it and enjoyed extensive education. Romulus was clever, knowledge and wisdom were everything for him.

According to Plutarch and a prophecy, Romulus saw in his dream 12 eagles, symbols of Jacob's 12 sons (Abraham's God, Israel's God and Jacob's God, i.e. for Israel's God in this context). He was then 18 years old. Worldly Adam=Abraham.

Remus

The father of the Etruscan Remne was Faustulus, probably Procas's brother. He and his family lived in Alba Longa. Remne was married and had two children in his marriage, one son and one daughter. Alba Longa was in ancient times a place at the foot of Mount Alba south-east of Rome (note that Faustulus was not a shepherd, he worked in forestry and agriculture).

Remne was a jack-of-all-trades: carpenter, building constructor in the area. On one occasion he finished a house on a hill in Palatinus. There he met a woman called Acca Larentia. She became pregnant by her brother-in-law and gave birth to a baby boy. She named him Remne (Remus). Eventually Remne became baby Remne's foster father.

When Roman mythology tells us the story of Romulus and Remus, a fig tree in Alba Longa appears. The woman took care of the baby below that fig tree, which is another name for Cosmic Adam, Man. The fig tree coincides with Remne, who became Remne Jr's foster father.

Acca Larentia and her son Remus

According to mythology, Remus/Remne Jr grew up under the fig tree, watched over by Remne, who was his foster father, and his biological mother Acca Larentia. In mythology she is Remus/Remne Jr's foster mother. In his teens, Remus saw in a dream, according to Plutarch, 6 eagles take off. The number of eagles, the figure six, 6, belonged to Judah and David (and Heracles). We can conclude that Remus was a reincarnation of, among others, David. This was a prediction, a prophecy concerning Remus and Romulus (prophecies stated what the gods wanted, the three main gods were Mars, the war deity, the Serpent/Israel's God and the Bull God, Baal/Zeus/Jupiter). The eagle was a symbol of ancient Enki and the warlord Ares and even the Bull God chose the eagle as his symbol. More info on Remus at Tutankhamun, the Young Lion, page 1

If it is true that Remus saw 6 eagles fly by, this means that his biological mother Acca Larentia only gave birth to one son. She would have given him the same name as Remne, i.e. Remne Jr. Later on, Remne's biological son, Palatinus, began working with his father and built villas at the Palatine Hill.

We know that Remus/Remne Jr was murdered. The motives vary, there are various versions. The reason behind the murder was that Remus was an obstacle, Romulus himself wanted Remne's fatherhood, he wanted to be his son and heir. In those days they believed that Remus was Remne's biological son and it was okay to murder him. A change of identities took place, Romulus assumed Remus's/Remne Jr's identity. The problem was that Remus did not look like his foster father Remne. Romulus, on the other hand, did, because he was born into Remne's family and wanted him to acknowledge him as his legitimate son. Remne repeatedly said no and therefore he was killed by Romulus. This was a catastrophe in the form of a paternity issue. Romulus also killed Amulius. My understanding is that Amulius was a reincarnation of the Bull God.

Remne's son and his family left Alba Longa and Palatine Hill to travel to the Middle East. Romulus/ Romulia (Romilia), was and gave the area the new name. Gradually, Rome was born.

Latin Quirinus as a king. He ascended the throne on April 21, 753. If the name Romulus was known, it was not popular. He was a mass murderer and everyone was afraid of him. He also had followers, but they were not many. The name Quirinus was more suitable than Romulus. He was married to Hersilla in a childless marriage, Quirinus was a hybrid/virgin and was not able to beget children. He ruled with an iron fist and built the city during 36 frightening years deprived of any religion which should have left traces behind. It is finally said about Romulus that he was taken to Heaven in bad weather during troop exercises at Campus Martius after which his people worshipped him as a guardian deity named Quirinus. He was 54 years old when he finally made his ascension in BC 717. This may also mean that he was known as Quirinus and then became a deity with the same name.

The Moon with a 6-pointed Star of David

Titus Tatius on coins. Sabine. Titus Tatius is an interesting character from mythology, according to legend a Sabine king. After the kidnapping of Sabine women he started a victorious war with the Romans, but after an intervention by the Sabine women the war was interrupted and Titus and Quirinus/Romulus ruled over Rome together in BC 750.

An analysis of Titus Tatius's coin gives the answer to the riddle Romulus and Remus. In picture 2 and 3 are two warriors with an individual looking like a woman (but who is neither man nor woman) between them. Above them is a crescent. Inside the moon is a 6-pointed Star of David, see picture 4. What can this mean?

After having taken over Remus/Remne Jr's identity, Romulus called himself Quirinus. He invited Titus Tatius to a meeting in BC 750 and told him that he was the son of jack-of-all trades Ramne, in the Pentateuch called the "Fig Tree". Titus Tatius, king of the Sabines, apparently understood the message and he became Quirinus's co-ruler. The moon on the coin is the place Quirinus visited during his ascension. Titus Tatius died in BC 745.

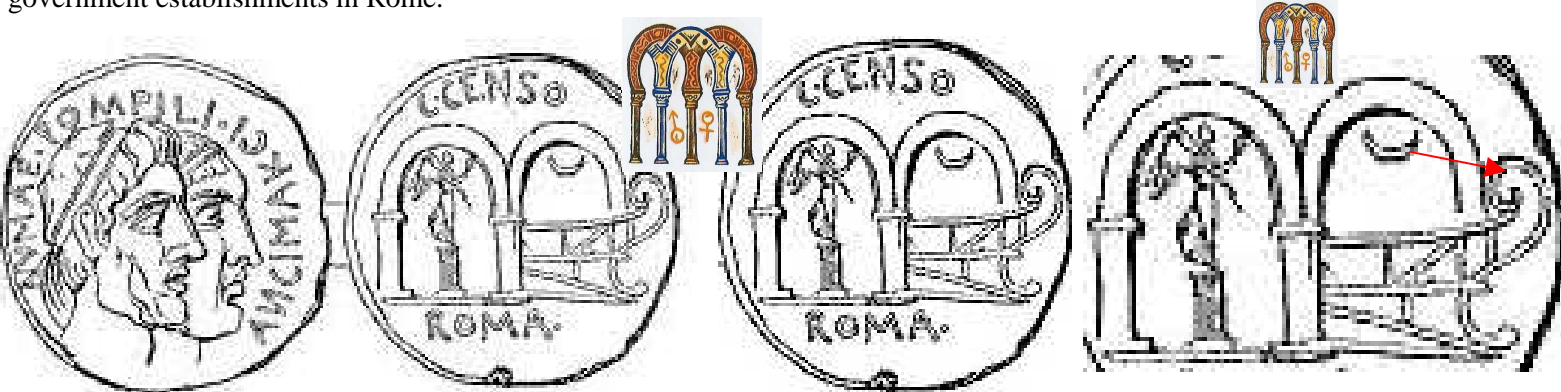

I can add that simultaneously, in the Middle East, there was a war between the kingdoms of Judah and Israel and Samaria perishes in BC 721. Quirinus ascended 4 years later, in 717. The kingdom of Judah fared better. More info at Omnipotent Akhenaten, pp 11-13.

Numa Pompilius (BC 715 – 672). Sabine

Numa Pompilius may be a person from real life, the second king of the kingdom of Rome, BC 715-672. Historical facts are, however, distorted by legends and tales surrounding him. When Quirinus ascended in BC 717 there was one to succeed him. The Senate then assumed power until a new king was elected. The new king was Numa Pompilius, elected because of his “wisdom and honesty”.

According to legends, Numa was of Sabine origin and came from the city of Cures. He succeeded Quirinus on the throne in Rome. He was no warrior like Romulus but a prince of peace who was primarily interested in religion. Aided by the water nymph Egeria who was his loved one, he founded and designed the Roman religion, organized the clergy and the colleges of pontiffs, and established dates for the religious feasts. The legend also describes the divine inspiration behind the religious institutions and basic government establishments in Rome.

Coins of Nuna Pompilius and Ancus Marcius. On the reverse side there are two arches forming the letter M as a symbol of hybrid/virgin. One arch has a statue which may depict Quirinus. The second arch displays a crescent moon and outside there is a wriggling serpent. - Expressive coin or symbol? King Nuna Pompilius and his God. The question is who he really was. Who was this peace-loving and highly intellectual individual? There is only one person from the past who fits the picture, the prophet Job. In other words: Nuna Pompilius was a reincarnation of, among others, Job. According to the Bible, Job was a highly intelligent and peaceful man. Nuna Pompilius was also called a prince of peace who had not been to war for 43 years.

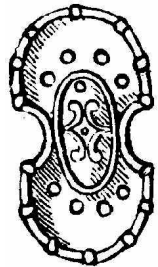

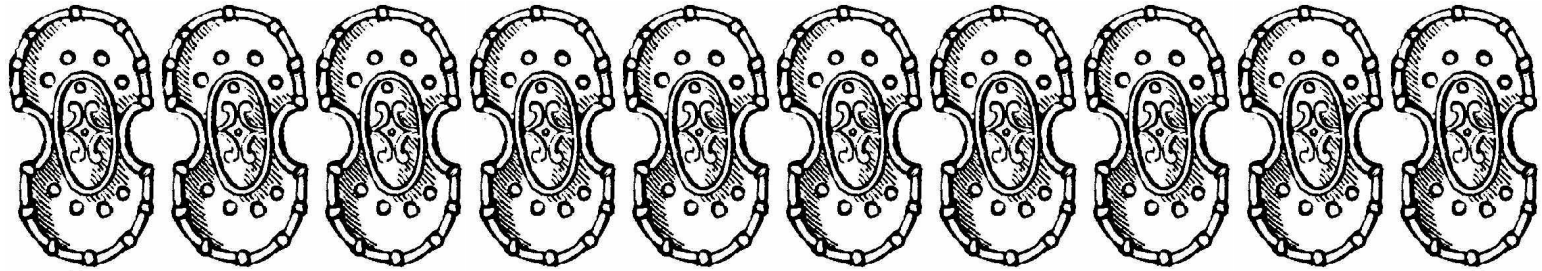

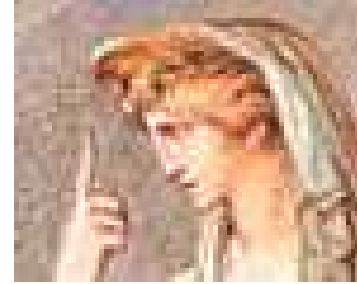

A painting of Numa Pompilius and the water nymph Egeria. Who was this secretive, mysterious woman? Together with this woman he founded a new religion in Rome. An expressive work by Giani Felice, 1806. The question is still who she was. Her knowledge was at the top in those days.

The mysterious woman who Numa Pompilius secretly met with was Quirinus's wife Hersilia. During the time she spent as the wife of Quirinus/Romulus, she learnt large amounts of secrets besides the fact that she was very knowledgeable. This was enough to make it possible to found the new religion on the number 12, a religion later to be called Christianity. Behind her head we can clearly see an "eight", the figure 8 coincides with Inanna's 8-pointed star. After her death she was called Goddess Hora. According to the same legend, her husband, Quirinus, became a guardian deity. We know almost nothing about her. – In those days the culture of Zoroaster was well known everywhere.

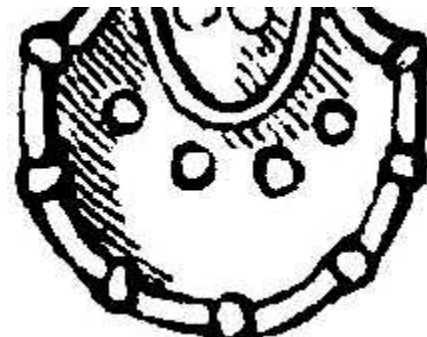

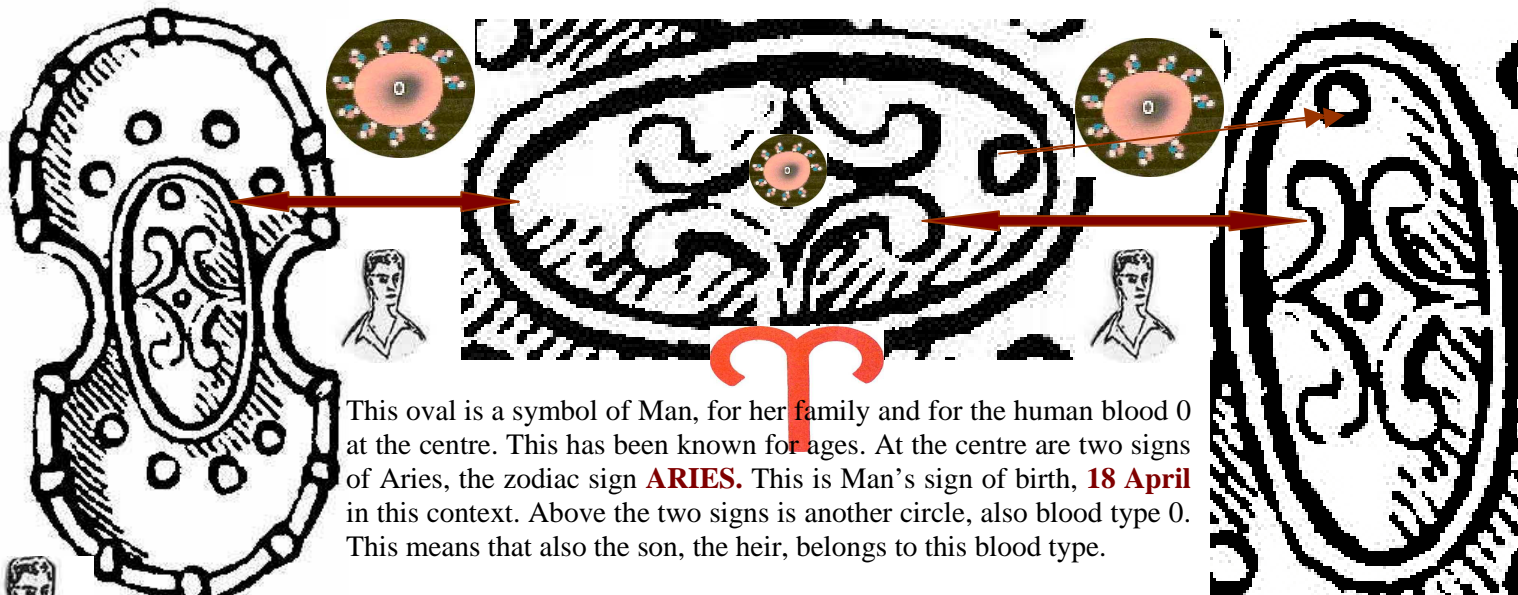

Numa Pompilius received the twelve sacred shields, ancilia, which the Salii (a body of twelve priests) carried at the feasts during March. The legend says that all twelve shields had fallen from heaven, but another version says that one shield had glided down at Numa's feet when he was in Camena. A voice had proclaimed that Rome would subsist and be more powerful than others as long as that shield was preserved. The king then had the blacksmith Mamurius make eleven shields which were exact replicas of the first one to make it difficult to steal and remove. The shields were kept in the Temple of Mars, where the Salii collected them for their ceremonies.

This is Ancile (lat.), an oval shield of bronze formed like a violin. According to legend it fell down from heaven onto the Roman king Nuna Pompilius. The signs are information and messages from that time, i.e. around BC 700. The message is around 2,700 years old.

Let us have a closer look at this shield and receive its message.

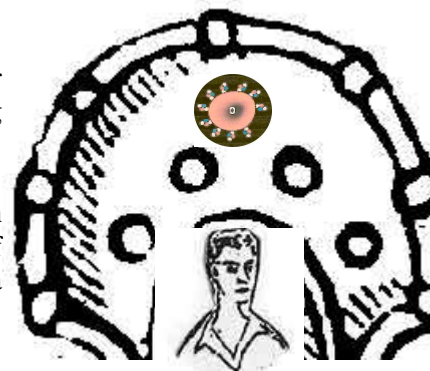

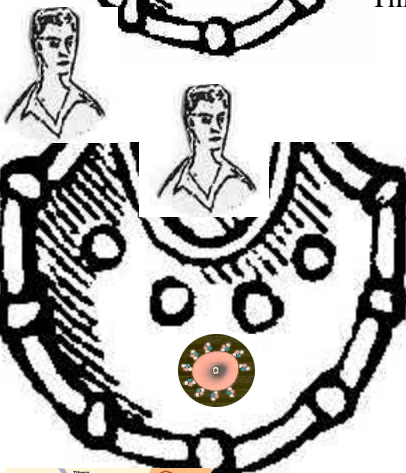

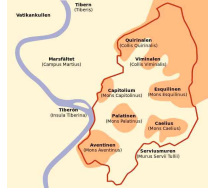

This oval is a symbol of Man, for her family and for the human blood 0 at the centre. This has been known for ages. At the centre are two signs of Aries, the zodiac sign ARIES. This is Man's sign of birth, 18 April in this context. Above the two signs is another circle, also blood type 0. This means that also the son, the heir, belongs to this blood type.

The family of Man, of Cosmic Adam, has four members: father, mother, son and daughter (modern symbols are four white lilies). The four circles here signify that the all belong to the human blood 0.

We can fairly clearly see that the shield has two parts. Both the lower and the upper part belong to the seven (7) hills of Rome. The oval shield is divided into two parts of a crescent moon on each side of the shield.

What does this message mean? – The paternity issue of Remus/Remne Jr and Romulus/Quirinus was the bloodiest feud throughout history and the angels/aliens wanted to stop further madness. The lower part of the shield is an illustration of the fatherhood with its seven hills and the upper part means that in the future, the last paternity issue will be run by Rome with its seven hills. It is furthermore quite evident that the son and heir must be of the blood type as the father. The two crescent moons illustrate that the Serpent God/Quirinus will also belong to the human blood and that the process and research regarding the transformation of animal blood into human has already started on the far side of the Moon. This happened around BC 710, when the shield was thrown from a small spaceship.

More info at Visitors to the Moon, final, pp 79-80

More info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 1-22 and 61-62.

The message was that Man's, Cosmic Adam's, fatherhood is the most important and secret subject and must not be misused as it was in Rome with the 7 hills.– Worldly Adam, the warlord with the eagle as a symbol, is the individual who has founded the most important cities and countries on this Earth, against the will of the Bull God.

Many shield were used against each other, for example this one. The 8-pointed dark star, the Sun, is Aten, from the reign of Akhenaten in Dynasty 18, the dark neutron star Nemesis. The number 12, symbol of Jacob's 12 sons, of Israel's God, and the 8-pointed star is a symbol of Inanna.

The painter Mignard's masterpiece. We see Remne's (Faustulus's) foster father with two children. One is Romulus, born by the cousin Rhea Silvia, the she-wolf. The other one is Remus/Remne Jr, born by Acca Larentia who holds out his arms to receive him. After Remne Jr's murder she became the phoney mother to Romulus Quirinus. Above are two doves, symbols of Messiah characters. Next to Acca Larentia is her sister.

The coins depict Faustulus, who was really Remne's father. He worked as a planner in the area, corresponding to today's forestry engineer. He possibly owned domesticated animals. He was killed.

Tullus Hostilius, BC 672-640

After Numa Pompilius's death, Tullus Hostilius was elected the third king of the kingdom of Rome, BC 672-640. He conquered the city of Alba Longa south-east of Rome Alba Longa was burnt down and its inhabitants were forcibly removed to Rome, whose population doubled. Tullus built a special meeting-place, the Curia Hostilia, for the Roman Senate.

During his reign he also waged war against the Sabines and the Etruscans. It is also said that Tullus Hostilius was so occupied with fighting wars that he forgot about the gods. When he finally sacrificed to Jupiter in order to get help he did not quite know how to do it and because of this, according to the legend, he was killed by the god.

According to records he belonged to the Bull God Jupiter, but his level of knowledge and intellect was low. It was, however, developed enough to unnecessarily slaughter people and forget about Jupiter. He levelled everything built by Romulus/Quirinus and Nuna Pompilius to the ground.

Ancus Marcius. We can clearly see a wriggling snake behind his head, making everything clear.

Ancus Marcius, BC 640-616, Sabine

Ancus Marcius was the nephew of Numa Pompilius and the fourth king of Rome, BC 640-616. Tradition depicts him as a peaceful man who took a special interest in religious matters. He ordered Pontifex Maximus to record all the rules Numa Pompilius had established on a white board. He was the king of the Serpent God/Israel, more knowledgeable than anyone.

During his reign, however, he conquered several Latin towns and moved their inhabitants to Rome. He also extended the city and built the first bridge across the Tiber, fortified the Junculum on the other side of the Tiber and constructed the port Ostia where the Tiber reached the Mediterranean. Nearby were built salt facilities where the salt water could evaporate and produce table salt (NaCl). Jupiter's temple was also extended. Besides knowledge, this king also used diplomacy as a weapon. His diplomatic skills excelled when he ordered the extension of the Jupiter temple. In that way he maintained control of the followers of the Bull God, Jupiter and was able to restore all of Numa Pompilius's creations, levelled to the ground by King Tullus Hostilius. In order to maintain order and security he also built the so-called Mamertine Prison.

As King of the Serpent God, he finished Jupiter's temple.

Lucius Tarquinius Priscus, BC 616-578

Tanaquil (Caia Caecilia, Gaia Cyrilla). Wife of Lucius Tarquinius Priscus

Tarquinius Priscus, BC 616-578, Etruscan

Lucius Tarquinius Priscus (the elder) was according to tradition, the fifth king of Rome and the first Etruscan king. He ruled between BC 616 and 578. Tarquinius Priscus was the son of Demaratus from Corinth who had fled his home town and settled down in Tarquinii (present-day Tarquinia). There he married and had two children, Aruns and Lucius.

Aruns died before his father. The latter did not know that Aruns's wife was expecting and had bequeathed his fortune to his second son, Lucius. Demaratus then died before the birth of Aruns's son, named Egerius.

Thus Lucius inherited his father's fortune and was very proud of that. He became even prouder after having married the distinguished Tanaquil, known for her "extended level of knowledge" and also famous for her knowledge of the Etruscan art of predictions.

In Tarquinii Lucius was despised for being the son of a stranger in exile and Tanaquil, driven by ambition, made him emigrate to Rome where his future would be brighter. In Rome with a new name, Tarquinius, he became close to King Ancus Marcius who eventually made him a guardian of his sons. On his way to Rome, an eagle snatched his hat from his head and then put it back again. The sign came from Jupiter and it was believed that Jupiter put him on the throne. Tarquinius Priscus then managed to be elected king and ruled with wisdom and power aided by his wife.

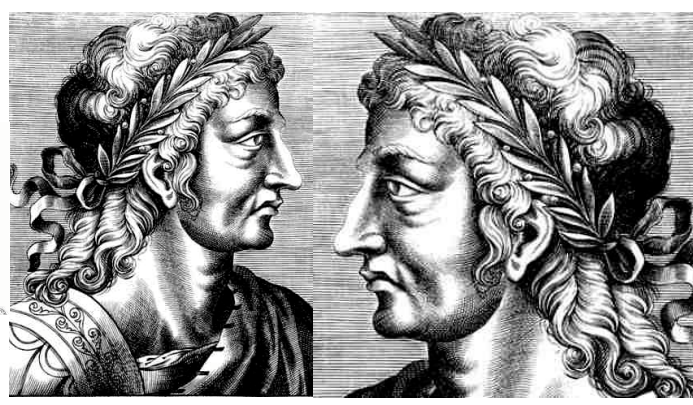

The most important episode took place on the road to Rome. During the journey an eagle appeared above the horse carriage and suddenly snatched the hat from Lucius Tarquinius Priscus's head, a sign that Zeus/Jupiter prepared the throne for him.

After his ascending the throne a period of strong Etruscan influence was begun, thanks to his wife, and did not stop until the formation of the Roman Republic in BC 509.

He waged a successful war against the Latins, initiated the annual games, constructed the first big sewage system, cloaca maxima, built Forum Romanum and other buildings such as Circus Maximus and the Jupiter Temple at the Capitolium, which was open to all and transformed Rome into a worthy capitol of Latium. His assignment was to restore the Jupiter (Ball, Zeus) faith. He used the same tactics as his predecessor Ancus Marcius: knowledge and diplomacy.

Tarquinius Priscus and his wife Tanaquil adopted Sergius Tullius, who eventually married their daughter. After having ruled for 38 years he fell victim to two murderers, hired by the sons of his predecessor Ancus. They probably felt deceived and threatened by him, Tarquinius Priscus.

Servius Tullius, BC 557-534

Tullia the younger, Servius Tullius's daughter, killed her father and drove her chariot over her father's body in Villain street.

Tullia the younger, Servius Tullius's daughter, killed her father and drove her chariot over her father's body in Villain street.

We can see that both wheels have 8 spokes, the basis of Inanna's/the Serpent God's 8-pointed star. The final goal is to eradicate her from Rome. Her rival, Tullia, wants total power. This is symbolic was of directing her towards power and religion.

The king's daughter, Tullia the younger.

The king's daughter, Tullia the younger.

Servius Tullius, BC 577-534, Etruscan

Servius Tullius was according to tradition the sixth king of Rome and ruled BC 557-534.

He is supposed to have been Etruscan and was married to King Tarquinius Priscus's daughter. When his father-in-law was murdered, his death was kept a secret and Servius assumed power in his father-in-law's name. "He would make laws and take care of the King's remaining duties." Servius appeared in the purple cape together with lictors, ascended the royal throne and made some decisions. During many days after the assassination of Tarquinius his death was kept secret and it was possible for Servius to reinforce his power by pretending to represent Tarquinius Priscus. It was actually his mother Tanaquil who was behind the murder of her husband.

When Tarquinius Priscus was killed in BC 534 at the request of Ancus Marcius's vindictive children who claimed their rights to the throne, she covered up his death and instead spread false rumours that Priscus was ill and had appointed Servius Tullius temporary king while the king's health was improving. When Servius had gained people's respect it was announced that Priscus was dead. Nobody openly protested and in that way Servius became a king, the first king not elected by the people but via cheating and fraud. The king's departure was not made public until later and lamentations started in the royal family. Servius, surrounded by a powerful guard, was the first to accept government powers while not being elected by the people.

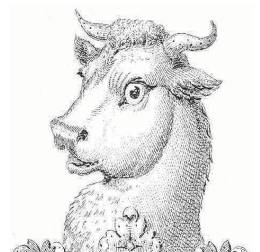

While they still believed that the king was alive and that Servius was that powerful, Ancus Marcius's sons had left and exiled themselves in Suessa Pometia. This is how King Servius Tullius started his reign.

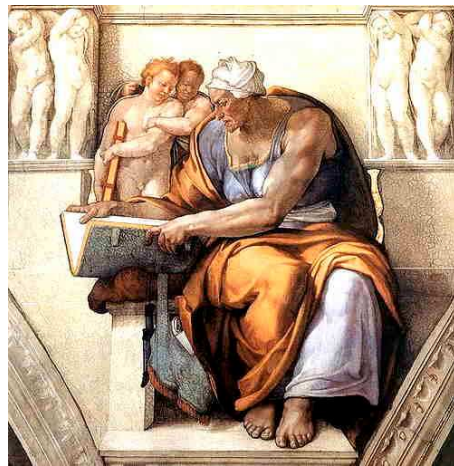

He divided Rome's population into 193 centurias forming six classes. The rich, who were few, were placed into the first centurias, the less rich, who were not so few into the next and the proletarians were placed into the last centuria. Since each centuria had one vote, the power remained with the rich. In other words: he introduced class distinction: rich – middle class – poor. The rich, who were few, remained in power. We can understand that this king went in for wealth, fortune and power. He was a religious man. In this way he belonged to Jupiter's followers.

The legend says that he, after having ruled for 44 years, was murdered by his son-in-law, Tarquinius the younger. His own daughter, Tullia, is said to have been behind the planning of the murder and she even drove over his body with her chariot in Villain Street (Vicus sceleratus).

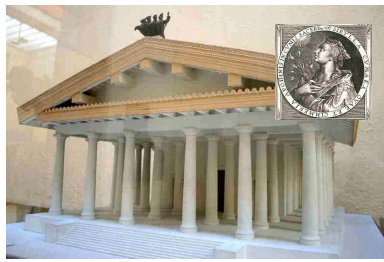

Tarquinius Superbus, BC 533-509

Cumæan Sibyl by Michelangelo

Cumæan Sibyl (prophet) met King Tarquinius Superbus. Her books are hidden in the cellar of the Temple of Jupiter.

Sextus Tarquinius raping married Lucretia

Collatinus

Brutus

Contemporary rich and powerful families, e.g. Lucius Tarquinius Collatinus, Lucretia's husband and his good friend, Lucius Junius Brutus.

Lucius Tarquinius Superbus, Etruscan (the younger), dead BC 495, was the seventh and last king of Rome before the establishment of the Roman Republic.

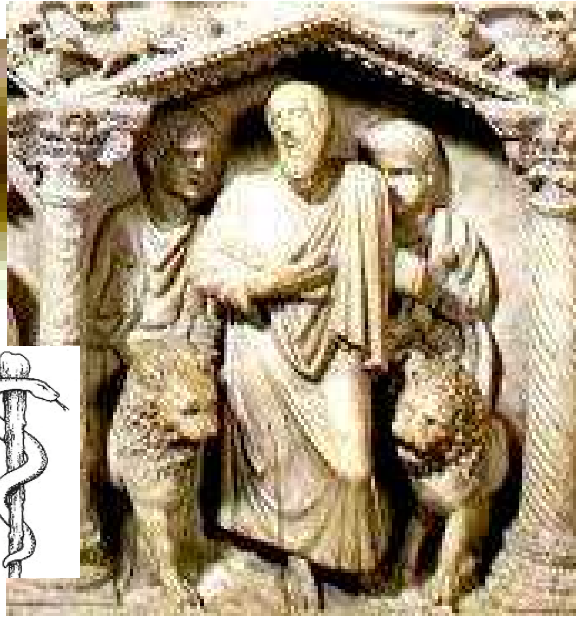

He probably ruled between BC 533 and 509 and is a historical person. He was the son of King Tarquinius Priscus and was married to the daughter of King Servius Tullius, Tullia. It is said that Tullia urged her husband to stigmatize her father, the king, and finally have him murdered in order to make it possible for her husband to ascend the throne.

Tarquinius certainly ruled using all rules and power, but he was reckless and soon earned the nickname Superbus (Despot). Externally he continued his father's plans and incorporated a large part of Latium. He increased the built-up area of Rome and beautified the area, e.g. by the large Temple of Jupiter at Capitoline Hill, one of the largest and most impressive buildings of contemporary Rome. Tarquinius wanted to break the power of the Senate and behaved like a king of violence in order to safeguard his own government.

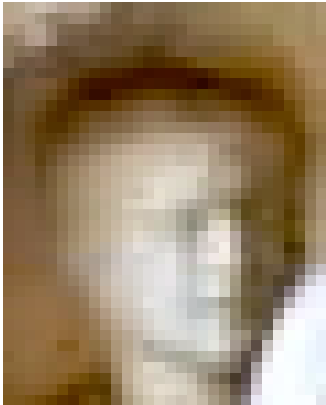

The Sibylline books, bought from Cumæan Sibyl were locked up in the cellars of the Jupiter Temple by the last king of Rome, Tarquinius Superbus. The books were about the fate of Rome and the world, according to legend. It is worth while to have a closer look at this mysterious woman at a high level of knowledge and analyse her. Who was she? To get hold of clues we need to visit Babylon in the days of Daniel.

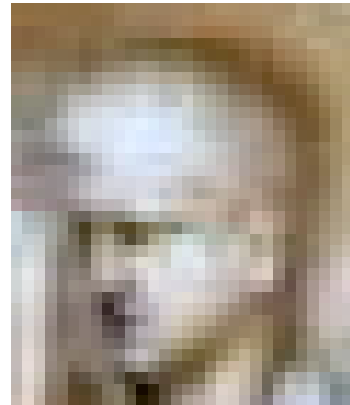

Israel's God, a reincarnation of, among others, Romulus, Quirinus

The Lion of Babylon, a reincarnation of, among others, Remus, Remne Jr

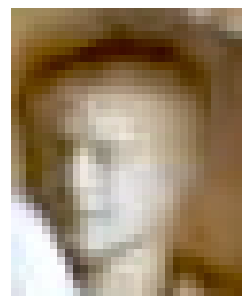

Babylon during the reign of under Nebuchadnezzar II, 604-562. That was when Daniel's father's paternity issue took place. It was about the Lion of Babylon, a reincarnation of, among others, Remus (Remne Jr, Remni Jr) and Israel's God (Romulus, Quirinus). Daniel's father was a reincarnation of, among others, Remne (Faustulus). The Lion of Babylon's biological mother was Acca Larentia, an earlier reincarnation, and the biological mother of Israel' God, Rhea Silvia, was also a reincarnation.

The authorities handled the whole paternity process behind God's back without his knowledge and power. He did not know who his parents were. The issue was sometimes very confused, but certain facts eventually leaked and reached his ears. He put some important questions concerning the issue to the people of Babylon. Isaiah wrote this in Isaiah 50:1-2: "Where is your mother's certificate of divorce with which I sent her away? Or to which of my creditors did I sell you? Because of your sins you were sold; because of your transgressions your mother was sent away. When I came, why was there no one? When I called, why was there no one to answer? Was my arm too short to deliver you? Do I lack the strength to rescue you?"

It is also clear that authorities instigated a trial against somebody who was the most important character in the paternity process. Our Lord/God could not proceed without his confession. Our Lord did not even know the man (Daniel's father) he was up against. Isaiah again, in Isaiah 50:8-9: "He who vindicates me is near. Who then will bring charges against me? Let us face each other! Who is my accuser? Let him confront me!" The paternity issue was characterized by violence, terror, murder, forgery of documents, fraud and change of identities, a unique paternity issue which was handled very badly by the Babylonians. Even Our Lord/God was very badly treated by the authorities. Jeremiah says this in Jer.51:34-35: "Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon (the Bull God) has devoured us, he has thrown us into confusion, he has made us an empty jar. Like a serpent he has swallowed us and filled his stomach with our delicacies, and then has spewed us out. "May the violence done to our flesh be on Babylon," say the inhabitants of Zion. "May our blood be on those who live in Babylonia," says Jerusalem." More info at Hanging Gardens of Babylon and Aries, Capricorn and the End of Time, pp 1-6. This issue is very similar to the issue here in Stockholm during the 1970s.

We know how it ended. Our Lord, Nebuchadnezzar II proclaimed himself God of all the world, the religion of the Dragon disintegrated and the Lord himself, Israel's God, left Babylon around BC 555-545. He was in his 20s.

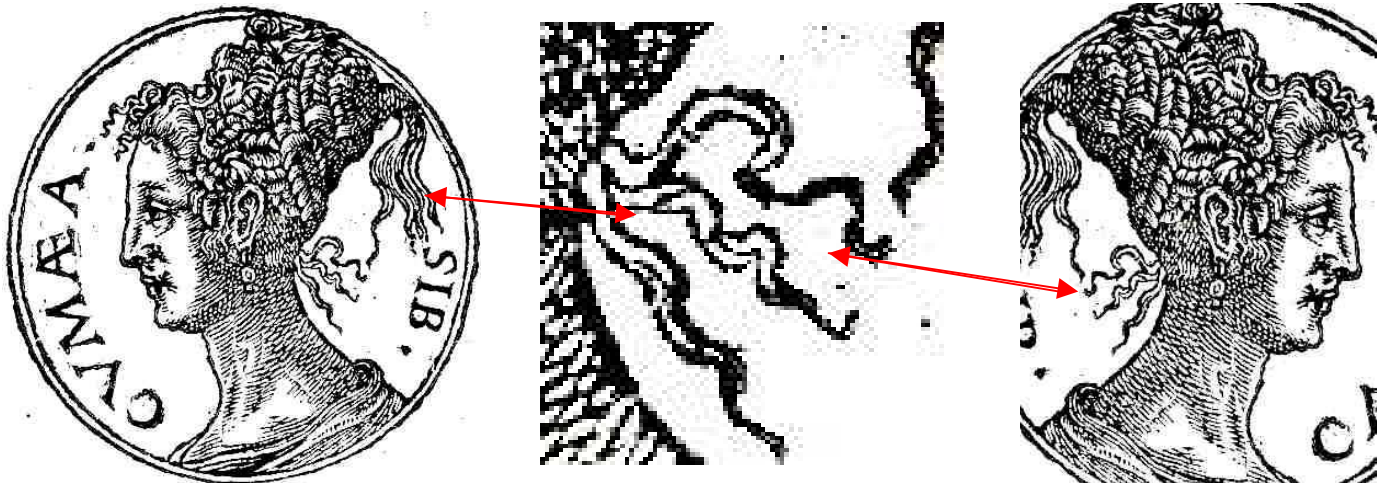

The Lord, Israel's God leaves Babylon, destination Cumae,

The Lord, Israel's God/the Serpent God played a male role in Babylon, he was a hybrid/virgin, neither man nor woman. He could suddenly change into a female role and live with that. Now we are talking about her as a woman, the prophet woman of Cumae. We know she was extremely intelligent, a knowledgeable woman at a high level of competence. She lived in Cumae and was called Cumæan Sibyl. When it comes to the Serpent God/Israel's God, there should be clues which can finally prove that Cumæan Sibyl was no other than the Serpent Goddess.

A typical contemporary virgin/hybrid, neither man nor woman. Sometimes man, sometimes woman. If she takes a look in the mirror, she sees herself as a man, as above.

Portrait of Cumæan Sibyl. In her hair we can clearly see wriggling serpents, indicating that Cumæan Sibyl was the Serpent Goddess.

Cumæan Sibyl on foot to meet someone, she has her books under her arm. When we look at this picture we do not at first notice anything. But if we take a closer look at her skirt, we notice that the edge of it is formed as a long, wriggling serpent with an open mouth, to devour the catch. Another sign indicating that Cumæan Sibyl was the Serpent/Virgin. A clever painting, is it not?

These contemporary coins illustrate Cumæan Sibyl. On the reverse side is an interesting motif, a wriggling serpent with an open mouth. It is evident that the serpent has devoured something and its bowels are filled. Above the serpent is a woman-like character, looking like Cumæan Sibyl. What can this mean? – The Bull God Nebuchadnezzar II in Babylon defeated Israel's God in connection with Daniel's father's fatherhood. The motif is revenge and means that Israel's God/the Serpent God will overthrow the Bull God.

Cumæan Sibyl. The reverse side of the coins depict a shell as a symbol of Life (we know that fisherman Zebedee's eldest son Jacob used a shell as his emblem and that Pope Benedict XVI's coat of arms depicts shells).

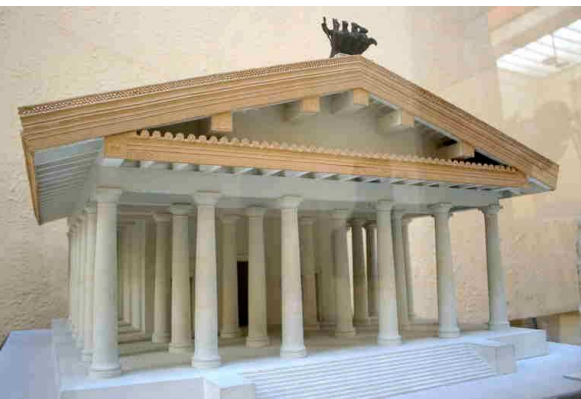

The entrance to Sybil's cave. To my understanding, Sybil used this cave as a temporary, secret place to live and work. When you write books at a high level of knowledge it is best to be alone, undisturbed, independent of others. This cave was a typical, secret place where she could write alone and undisturbed by the surroundings. Nobody was allowed near the cave, she left it, and returned alone.

She also communicated with rich and powerful families, e.g. Lucius Junius Brutus and Lucius Tarquinius Collatinus, she probably also temporarily and in secrecy stayed with them.

According to records Cumæan Sibyl visited Rome and met with the King of Rome, Tarquinius Superbus, on three occasions. She visited Rome to try to sell her vision of the future and her knowledge, consisting of 9 parts, to the king. Her prophecies concerned the future of Rome and the world, the End of Time. She suggested a price for the books, but the king found them too expensive and did not buy them. According to the legend, Sibyl threw three books into the fire and tried again next time. The king, again, found them too expensive and Sibyl threw another three out of the nine books into the fire. The last time she met the king she offered the same price for the three remaining books. Now the king bought the remaining three books for the original price. – This short story clearly illustrates that the Bull God and his kings were not interested in top-level knowledge and science but only power, money and wealth.

The three last volumes of Sibyl's nine books were kept in the Temple of Jupiter at Capitoline Hill, locked up in the cellar.

The three books were taken care of by two patricians. The number of patricians later on increased to 15, including five who represented the people. They were kept in the Temple of Jupiter at Capitoline Hill. The books were destroyed in a fire in BC 83, but were reconstructed by texts found in other temples and sanctuaries. But they were far from the original books. The reconstructions were kept in the Temple of Apollo at the Palatine Hill. They were burnt in AD 408, when Christianity was a state religion also in Rome. We can understand that Cumæan Sibyl's last three books have disappeared. What remains, however, are fairytale lies about wars concerning religion and the whole world.

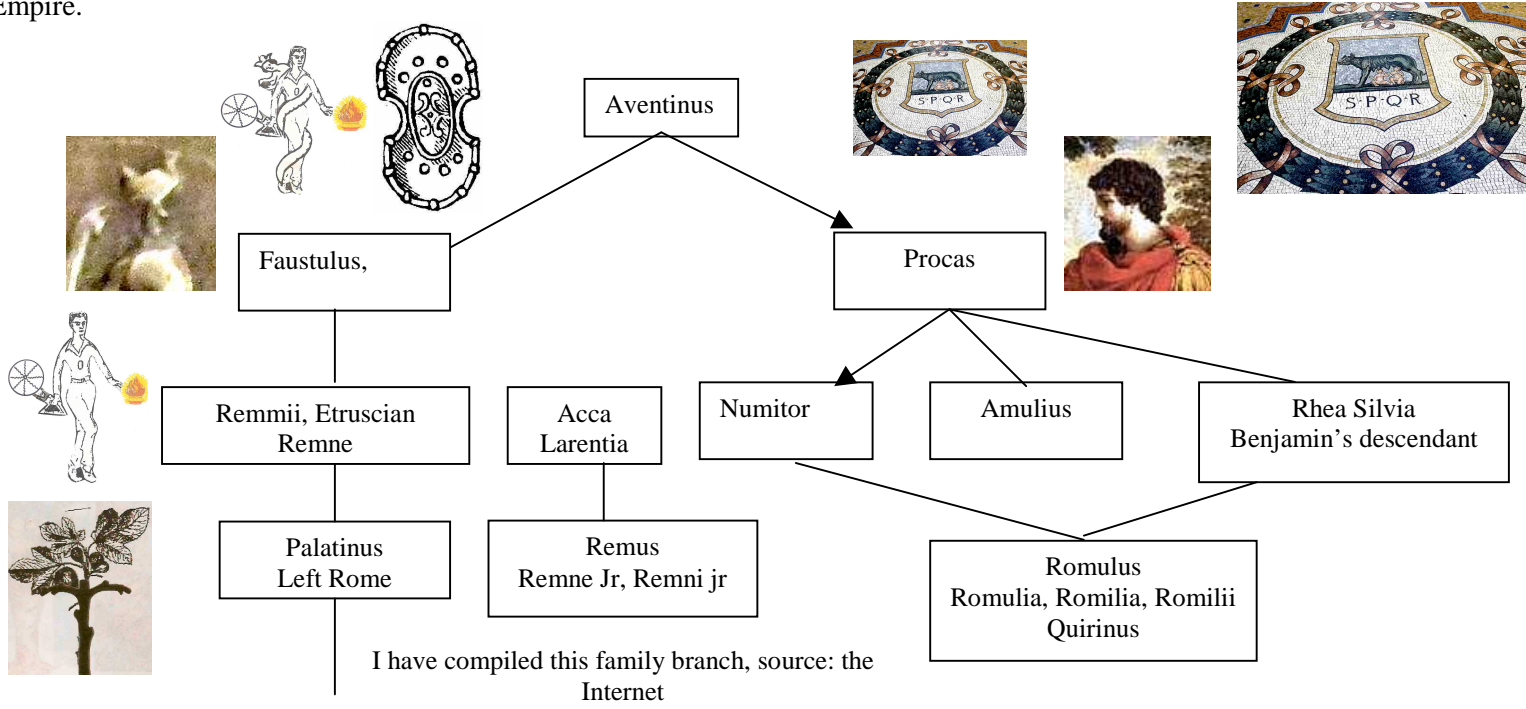

Tarquinius finally lost his power as a consequence of his son Sextus's rape of the chaste Lucretia. An uprising among the nobility led by Lucius Junius Brutus started in Rome. The army with its commander Tarquinius took part in and lost the battles in BC 509. Tarquinius, together with his wife had to go into exile to Cære in Etruria and all attempts to win Rome back were in vain.

If we take a closer look at the reasons behind the fall of the young monarchy in Rome we find interesting and peculiar events taking place in connection with the disintegration of the monarchy. The question is if the alleged rape by Crown Prince Sextus of the rich, powerful woman even took place. Sextus was the crown prince, a rich and powerful man. He had access to hundreds of young, beautiful and free women, there was no need for him to chase married, engaged family mothers. But if the meeting between Sextus and Lucretia took place, was it planned by her? Who had an interest in bringing down the Roman monarchy? Well, Cumæan Sibyl. The Serpent Goddess was really interested, it was even her goal to bring down the monarchy. She was behind the fall of the Roman monarchy, aided by, among others, Lucius Junius Brutus and Lucius Tarquinius Collatinus. – Rape of a woman was a criminal offence, therefore the monarchy was brought down.

We know that the monarchy in Babylon was dissolved by Cyrus the Great around BC 539 during the reign of the last king Belshazzar. Cyrus the Great was a reincarnation of, among others, Enki, Zoroaster, Menroth the Great, and Procas/Aenas/Ares. In Rome, the monarchy died around BC 509. The Serpent Goddess, Cumæan Sibyl, could have been 60-65 years old. Her motto was: "No knowledge – no power." It seems to be the case that the families Lucius Tarquinius Collatinus and Lucius Junius Brutus received knowledge from Cumæan Sibyl. We will meet the Brutus family again, in connection with Julius Caesar and the Roman Empire.

After the global natural catastrophe in connection with the foundation of Israel, the first paternity issue took place in Rome, unfortunately the bloodiest issue ever. This then coincided with the paternity issues in Babylon, in Palestine and now, still going on, in Stockholm. There are different records referring to the foundation of Rome, but it the most probable scenario is that Procas/Aenas/Ares founded the city, i.e. Worldly Adam. It presumably had a different name, but Romulus continued to build and changed the name to Rome. Why is Rome called The Eternal City? I will come back to this question as I finish this theme. Contemporary religion in Rome was a pagan Jupiter religion in parallel with Judaism and Zoroaster culture, also pagan. The last pagan culture fell down via a bloody coup, supported by the Holy See, in Hungary during the reign of Prince Géza just before the year AD 1000. Today everybody knows that there is a so-called Christian religion in Europe, but do we in any way celebrate pagan culture?

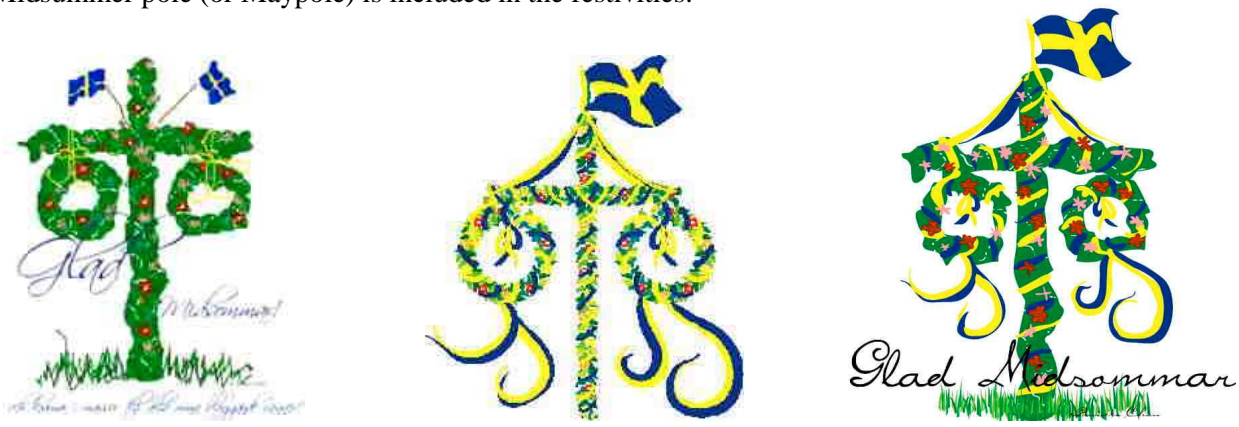

Midsummer

Neo-pagan and Christian

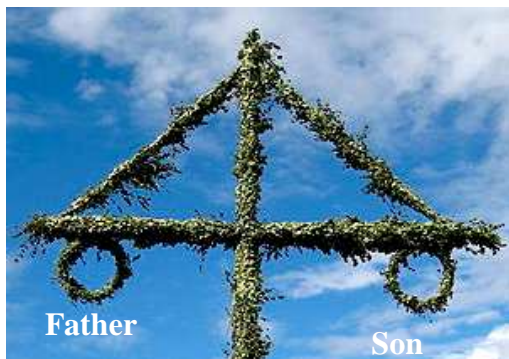

Pagan Midsummer celebration is, astronomically, a day close to today's Midsummer Day, the longest day of the year, the summer solstice. In the latitudes north of the Polar circle, the Sun does not even disappear below the horizon and further south we have daylight around the clock. More info at Life and the Black Hole, page 7.

Christian Midsummer celebrations. In the fourth century the Christian Church started to celebrate the day of Saint John the Babtist on June 24. According to Luke, he was born six months before Jesus and is remembered six months before Christmas.

This is a brief description of pagan and Christian midsummer celebrations, most common in the Nordic countries. A so-called Midsummer pole (or Maypole) is included in the festivities.

Midsummer Pole

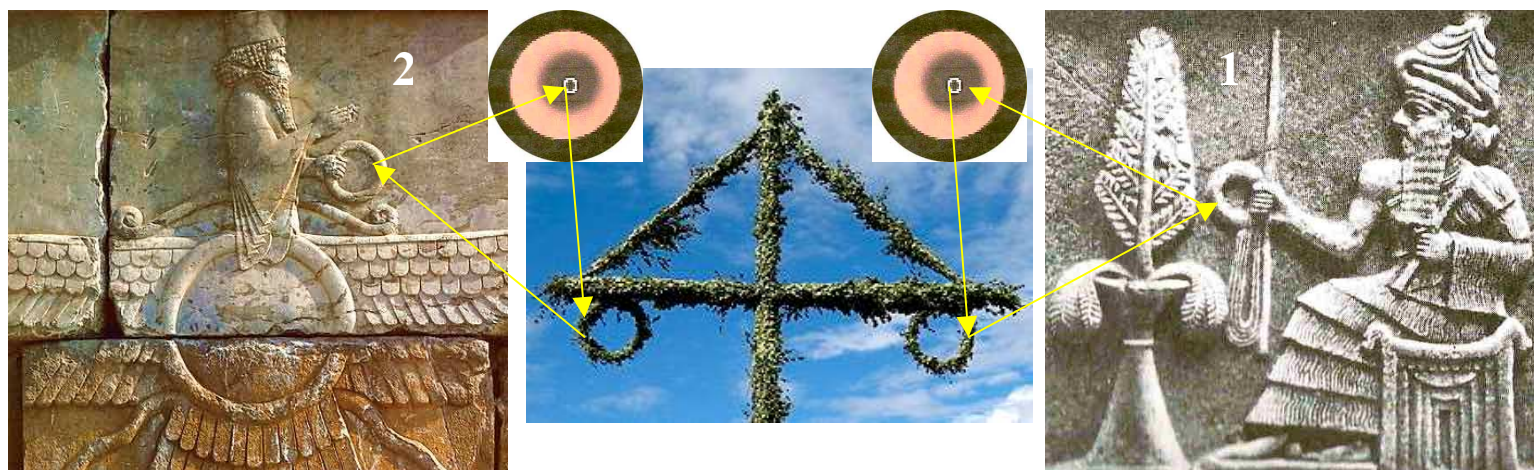

Midsummer pole shaped as a triangle with wreaths hanging from two corners. What does this symbol mean?

At the centre above we see a Midsummer pole in the shape of a cross with two wreaths on each side. What is it that brings us back to ancient pagan culture and Christian religion? Besides the statement above we cannot explain this mysterious Midsummer pole. Then it is time for us to have a closer look at it. The bases of it all are historical events in different eras and their connections. – Mona Lisa, Queen Christina, Bernadotte, who left his country France and the city of Paris and arrived in Stockholm in 1810 and is still on Queen Christina's throne. Finally, my father, Tibor Kemény, who left his home country Hungary and the city of Baja in 1956 and ended up in Sweden, in Linköping. Thereafter took place one of the most secret paternity issues on this planet, where the final decision is his. We move all these events back to Sumer.

In Sumer, on pict. 1 we see Anu, the father of Gods, holding a ring or wreath in his right hand, a symbol of the human blood 0, Man, Cosmic Adam. In front of Anu is Man's, Cosmic Adam's family tree, the Tree of Life. Pict. 2 depicts the Ahura Mazda deity with a similar wreath in his hand, a symbol of the human blood and Man. Man is the crown of creation and placed at the centre of nature. This is the pagan Midsummer celebration of today. We do not know what we are celebrating, except for astronomical conditions.

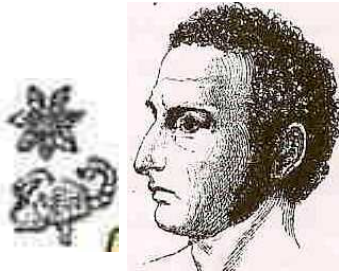

John the Bapstist was a reincarnation of, among others, Enki and the pagan Julius Caesar, Worldly Adam. Joh was murdered by the clergy and the Herod royal family. He then heralded the Zoroaster message, which was also part of the pagan culture. He was born at least ten years before Izates II/Jesus and had actually nothing to do with Christianity. Now, at the end of time, he was reincarnated as vítéz Kemény Simon, Nazism killed him in 1945 via the Holy See. This is the Christian Midsummer celebration of today, connected to Revelation, Rev, 6:1-2. You did not know this, King and Arch Bishop?

In the Christian world of today it is unusual to celebrate pagan traditions, but if you want traces of and evidence for the origins, superior powers see to it that we preserve certain former traditions, e.g. the celebration of Man, people and nature.

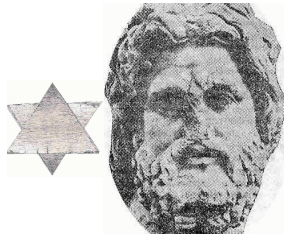

When we have come this far, we can ask ourselves about the origins of the Swedish people. We know nothing about that. Neither is there anything in the history books, it is still obscure as is the history and origins of Hungary. But if we walk backwards from the era of Mona Lisa and Queen Christina we come to Sumer, where we meet Inanna and her family, Dumuzi and her sons Shara and Lulal and the city of Bad-tibira. Here we find the origins of the Swedish people, where King Lulal is the ruler. My understanding is that the Swedes are the people of the Serpent. The Vikings brought Christianity to Sweden and the Nordic countries in around AD 1000. In AD 1000 Saint Stephen was crowned king in Hungary and introduced Christianity, at about the same time as in Sweden. The Serpent/Israel's God is the most important opponent of the pagan culture.

Everybody belonging to the human blood type 0, irrespective of race and religion, is part of the global family of Man. Primarily in our galaxy, the Milky Way. As long as you possess the human self, you are a human being. It is difficult to be one, many people cannot cope.

The Dead Sea Scrolls also depict four Messiah characters in ancient Palestine. Number one was John, who was the first to preach the arrival of Heaven. Number four was he who spread the new religion, Christianity, all over the world around 30-40 years later. The first arch bishop in the kingdom of Sweden was Stefan of Alvastra when Sweden still turned to the Holy See. Let us have a closer look at the odd Arch Bishop Stefan of Alvastra.

Stefan of Alvastra, who disappeared and was declared dead on July 18, 1185, was a Swedish Catholic priest, Cistercian monk and the first arch bishop of the diocese of Uppsala (1164-1185), episcopal residence in Gamla (old) Uppsala. He was the first Catholic arch bishop of the Swedish Church.

Tradition says that Stefan came from England and belonged to the first generation of monks in the newly built Cistercian Alvastra monastery in Östergötland. The monastery was founded around 1143 by French monks from the Clairvaux monastery in France. We do not, actually, know much about him, date and place of birth unknown, as are his nationality and his final days (probably in exile). According to some sources he was a very active bishop and arch bishop.

Stefan was at first appointed bishop of the diocese of Uppsala. He was later elected, by the other bishops, King Karl Sverkersson and Jarl Ulf, the first arch bishop of Sweden. The Holy See strongly influenced the kingdom of Sweden during the dark Middle Ages.

He was ordained Arch Bishop by the Danish Arch Bishop Eskil on August 5, 1164, in St. Stephen's cathedral in Sens, Burgundy, France in the presence of Pope Alexander III.

In 1164 the cathedral was consecrated and blessed by Pope Alexander III. In the same year, the Bishop of Uppsala, Stefan of Alvastra, was ordained and became the first Swedish arch bishop in the presence of the pope. The cathedral was still not finished, the construction continued, with longer and shorter interruptions until the 16th century. A clock tower which had fallen down in 1267, was not rebuilt until 1535.

Stefan, Arch Bishop of the Swedish Church, 1164-1185. Gamla Uppsala, Bishop of the diocese of Uppsala

Arch Bishop Stefan was on duty in Gamla Uppsala until July 18, 1185. He was the first arch bishop in Sweden during 21 years. But who was he? Who was this mysterious Stefan? He was not born in Sweden, was not Swedish. He came to Sweden and Alvastra in 1164 and had a straight career in rocket speed. He was appointed bishop in the diocese of Uppsala and shortly after he was ordained the first arch bishop of Sweden in France, in St. Stephen's Cathedral by the Danish Arch Bishop Eskil in the presence of Pope Alexander III. This consecration of the Arch Bishop Stephen in France is without precedence in the history of the Swedish arch bishops. At the beginning he was a Cistercian monk. The Cistercians stressed knowledge and is a monastery order that was founded in 1098 by Benedict monks. Many scientists and technicians come from this order.

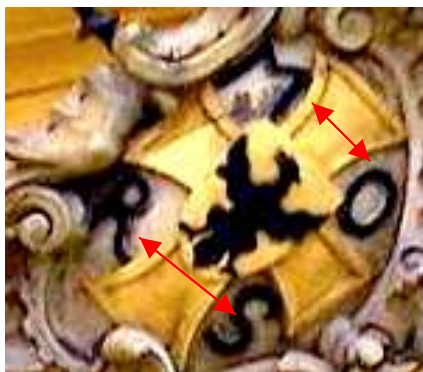

Alvastra monastery in the municipality of Ödeshög. Stephen arrived there from England, and from there he was elevated to become a bishop and arch bishop. According to some records he is buried in the chapter house in Alvastra monastery, 1185. (SRS, Paulsson).

The Cistercian order in Hungary. The messages from the Cistercian order came to Hungary in 1182 (Zirci Ciszterci Apátság). Today the order is well-established in Hungary, in the 1920s – 40s in Baja as well. First I will have a look at the emblem of the Cistercian order and analyse that.

This is the Cistercian order's coat of arms. At the centre, below the crown we can see the letter M, a symbol of hybrid/virgin and inside the M there is a cross. To the left of the cross we can read R (=Rex) and to the right is A (=the beginning). This coat of arms is expressive and symbolizes the Lamb/Virgin, i.e. Stephen who was neither man nor woman. There is another coat of arms below.

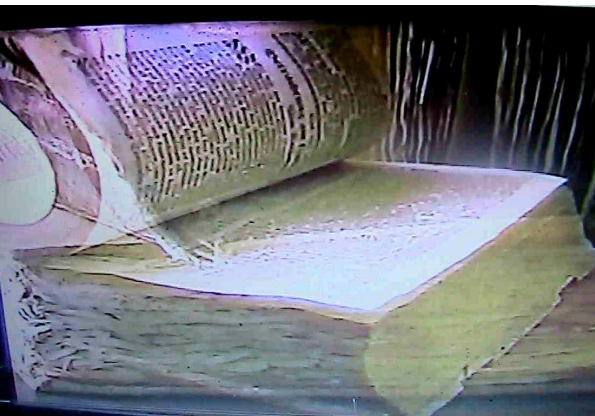

The Cistercian order's coat of arms, divided into two messages on two different shields. On the shield to the right we see the eagle (the symbol of John the Baptist) and below hovers a cross. Below the Eagle is an 'R' (=Rex) and an 'S' (=Stephen). Above the eagle we see an 'M' (=virgin/hybrid) and an 'O' (=Omega). On the shield to the left we see a bird, a crane, holding a globe and an olive branch in his beak.

To the right and left of the shields is a so-called crozier in the shape of a serpent. It is fairly visible.

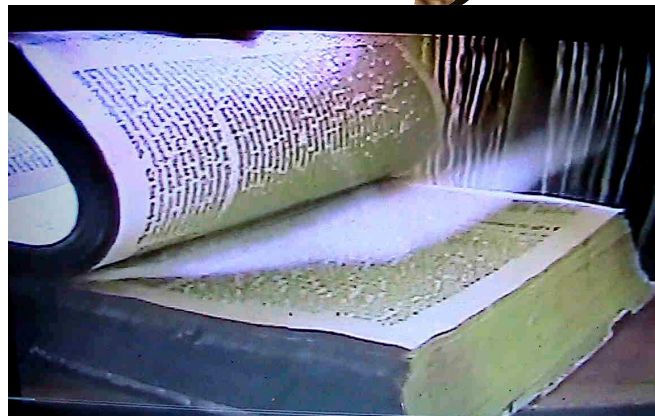

We can briefly conclude that the Cistercian order was founded for the benefit of the Serpent/Lamb and that knowledge constitutes its foundation. During the beginning of the 1990s and during the 1920s-50s the clergy in Baja was strongly influenced by the order's activities. Let us have a closer look at my town of birth Baja and its history in connection with its foundation.

The Town of Baja

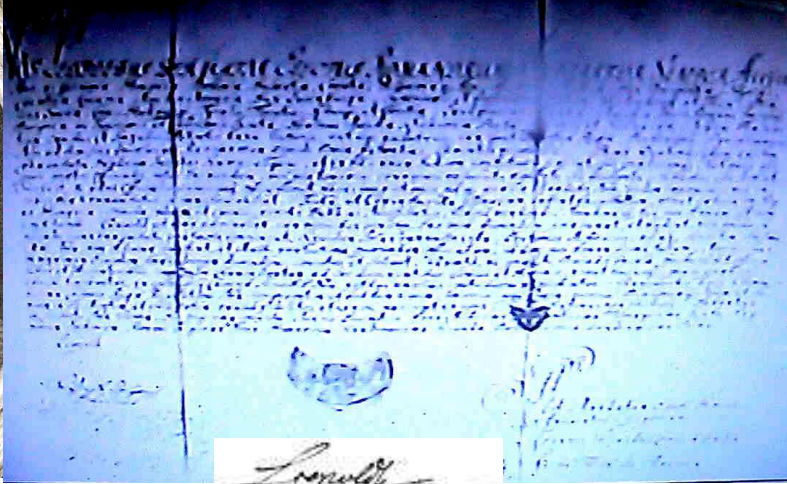

According to historical records there was a town, Baja, as early as in 1323. The name is initially Turkish, Bull. A well established town which was founded around 300 years after Stephen's coronation in Székesfehérvár. Officially, the town was founded in 1696.

The town of Baja was officially founded on December 24 (Christmas Eve) in 1669 by King Leopold I according to the document above. Innocent XII was pope in Rome. He shared the responsibilities connected to the foundation of the town Baja with the king. The town received the coat of arms with a biblical theme and later on the blue and yellow colours, see below.

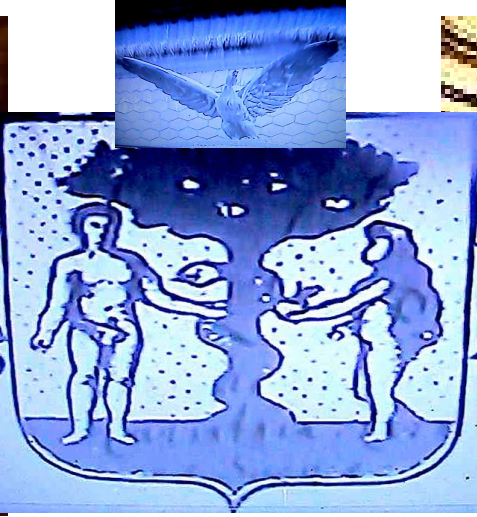

The theme of the town's coat of arms is well known throughout the Christian world. The only exception is the royal family Bernadotte at the castle of Stockholm and the Church of Sweden. Neither the Bernadottes nor Church of Sweden knew about Baja in those days, between 1945 and 1956.

The King

The Pope

Between the 1920s and the 1950s, the Cistercians also came to Baja. The Catholic Christian religion had a strong influence on the population and the priests were well educated. Some of them were technicians, scientists and writers. This was when my father and mother grew up. My paternal and maternal grandfathers were friends and also my paternal grandfather's younger brother Simon. They were surrounded by intelligent priests. Simon's best friend was Éber Sándor, one of the foremost artists in contemporary Hungary at a very high level of knowledge. Another friend of Simon's was Dr. Gondán Felicián, a man with an extensively developed personality. We can briefly conclude that Baja in those days was town at a very high level knowledge with many well educated persons existing on the ground of knowledge.

The fact that Baja was awarded the top town coat of arms on Earth was thought-through planning which is now, at the end of time, being partly fulfilled. tid delvis fullbordats.

Here, in the vestry, I met the priest PP for the last time in the autumn of 1964, before I travelled to Stockholm.

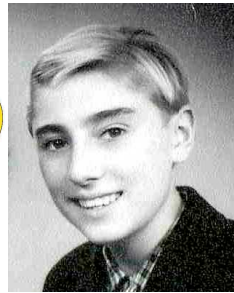

As I have mentioned already, I was a choir boy of the Church of St. Antonius in Baja between 1957 and 1964. This was because I wanted to learn about religion, there was no religious education in schools during Communism. But it was not prohibited to learn somewhere else. The clergy consisted of five priests including a parish priest. This group was there from 1950. Among them was a priest I will call PP. He was a remarkable priest, he had no counterpart. In other words: he was the superior priest in Hungary. It was he who told me what I would do in the future, i.e. now, at the end of time. More info at Autobiography, page 4.

I spent some time together with him. He was often in the vicinities of Baja and held masses in various churches, most of them in St. István Church (see below) and I followed him there many times. His was a man of superior knowledge. He was serious and led an unobtrusive life among people, without preaching. He was a reincarnation of, among others, Pope Nicholas V. More info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, page 86.

The priest PP and I talked on the side a number of times, especially during the last year, 1964. He personally knew my whole family from the 1940s, on both my mother's and father's side. He was also acquainted with the artists Éber Sándor and Gondan Felician.

(Also called the Franciscan Church)

Baja, 1957. július 2-án

Szent Antal st.

A stamp on a document, issued on July 2, 1957 in Baja. We can see the congregation of Antonius of Padua's stamp, renewed in 1923. The document was signed by one of the priests named Antal, I will henceforth call him BA. – After the name Antal is the letter H, Hítoktató, Hittanár = church teacher, teacher of religion.

More info at Autobiography, page 4. I can add that he was one of the five priests in the Antonius of Padua congregation, he was at first the only monk in the group. His strength was that he was an outsider, a 'free' teacher of religion, I was early on informed about this by other people. He was my only teacher of the Christian religion. Every Sunday afternoon from 1957 to 1964 there was religious education in the church. I and my sister were always present, taught by the priest BA. At the beginning we formed a small group, then the group was divided into two groups, one for the younger kids and one for the older ones. I remember that during the last 3-4 years we were 5-6 older kids in a group taught by him. He had a special feeling for pedagogy and for the congregation. He was also the best orator in the vicinity of Baja. Despite the fact that the whole Christian religion is introduced in the form of fairytales, he found the balance between reality and the fairytale world, he knew about the dividing line. In this way nobody could say that he was lying, neither that he talked about reality. There were constant rumours that the priests of Baja were lying, but nobody could find anything to say about him. My own opinion about him is that he was very likable, curious, friendly, talkative, especially from the pulpit. It was always alright to have a lark with him. He understood jokes, liked to have a lark himself, was always happy, but bald. He was interested in sports, especially soccer, so he and I even had discussions about this. He could hide problems which nobody ever knew about. He was well liked in Baja and its surroundings.

At the beginning of the 1980s the parish priest spent his vacation with me in Stockholm, he also met my father and sister. He told us much about Baja, also about BA, who was a very intelligent and knowledgeable man, he was the best priest among those active in and around Baja. He wrote all his speeches and sermons (even as a service to other priests) himself. He planned and managed everything concerning traditions, feasts and similar events and via him the parish priest became the adviser of the arch bishop of Kalocsa. BA was offered promotions such as bishop and maybe even arch bishop, but he turned the promotions down. His goal was to remain in Baja and be a teacher of religion in St. Antonius Church, he was comfortable there. This was unique in clerical history, a priest so comfortable in one congregation that he did not want to be promoted and have a career. All priests want to have a career and for most of them the title of bishop or arch bishop is the goal, but BA resisted this. According to the parish priest he suddenly died at the beginning of the 1970s. He returned from a lunch at a nearby hotel and collapsed on the floor by the door to the parish office. He was young, the youngest of the five priests I knew then. At the beginning of 1964 he celebrated his 25 years as a priest in St. Antonius Church and one of the priests said to him: "I hope you will celebrate your 50th year as a priest here. The oldest priest made it, he was then 85 years old.

To conclude, I will tell this story about this unique, remarkable and active priest. In 1963, on a spring Sunday, I met another choir boy a little older than me outside the church. We went past the parish office and into the corridor and the vestry. We passed all five confessionals, the priest BA was in the second. We did not even have time to say hello to him. He opened the door of the confessional and asked us where we had been. I answered that I had been to the soccer pitch watching soccer. My mate said that he had been to the other, nearby church. BA took our hands and first he said to me: "You will not become a priest, the girls will attract you more than God." To my mate he said: "You will become a priest, God will summon you and you will be ordained here in Baja." I knew I would never become a priest and my mate said the same, he was a bit surprised after BA's predictions. Some years later my mother told me that my mate, the choir boy, was ordained, she was there. Some years later I met him in person in Baja and I asked him if he remembered when BA talked to us about priesthood. He maintained that he did not want to become a priest, but that is what happened.

It is unique in a small congregation to find two priests of different personalities, two priests who are above all other priests with statements about the future which, in this context, were true and became real. This BA must have had a previous life and a similar role in Christianity as now, during the 50s and 60s. The only possible candidate would be Saint Anthony of Padua, also known as Anthony of Lisbon, born as Fernando on August 15 (zodiac sign Leo) 1195 in Lisbon, Portugal, died June 13, 1231 in Arcella, not far from Padua in Italy. He was a Portuguese-Italian Augustinian and later on Franciscan monk, priest, teacher and theologian. Saint of the Roman Catholic church, feast on June 13. Anthony is one of the most well-known and beloved saints in the whole Roman Catholic world. He was famous for his skills as an orator and teacher.

After ten years of assiduous studies he joined the newly founded Order of St Francis, founded by Francis of Assisi in 1220. He personally knew this Francis of Assisi and Pope Gregory IX, who canonized him on May 30, 1232 in Spoleto, Italy. On January 16, 1946, Pope Pius XII declared him Doctor of the Church. All clues surrounding the priest BA point to St Anthony of Padua, i.e. BA was a reincarnation of, among others, him. His attributes: Infant Jesus, lily, bread and book. Pope Pius XII was a reincarnation of, among others, Pope Gregory IX.

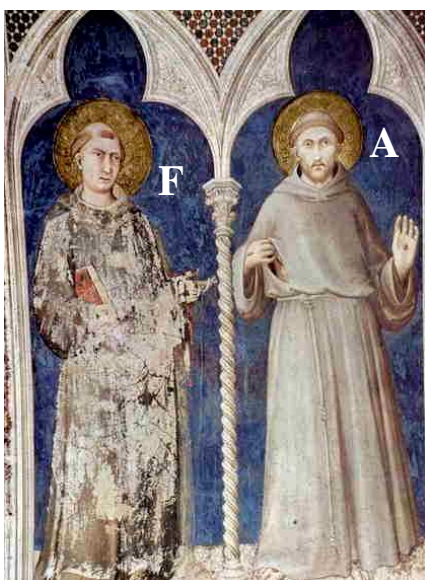

This is a portrait of Anthony of Padua. He looks a bit like the priest BA, except BA's face was a bit rounder, thicker and he was also bald. Personally I can see BA in this picture. He was also dressed in brown, he was the only monk in the vicinity of Baja. The world famous painter Martini (1284-1344), born in Sienna, after Anthony's death in 1231, painted portraits of Anthony of Padua and Francis of Assisi.

The mystery of Christianity. Why is St Anthony of Padua carrying Infant Jesus in his arms in this picture? Why does Infant Jesus suddenly appear in the arms of young Anthony? We often say that we do not ask questions without having a reason.

Picture 1 depicts Anthony of Padua. He has a cross in his right hand, Infant Jesus is on his left arm. Jesus is neither boy nor girl but a virgin, a hybrid. We also see a white lily and to the right of Anthony is a wriggling serpent. These signs give us guidance: the cross is connected to crucifixion, Infant Jesus is a virgin/hybrid, neither boy nor girl. The white lily is a symbol of, among others, women and the wriggling serpent is Infant Jesus. Note that the little girl is dressed in a skirt.

The picture above, painted by Simone Martini, depicts Francis of Assisi and Anthony of Padua. At first glance it looks perfectly ordinary. We cannot see Infant Jesus together with Anthony, but if we look at his hands and body we see signs of the crucifixion. What do these remarkable signs mean? They have something to do with the crucifixion. We know that the individual who was crucified was a Jewish man, but the individual they claimed to have crucified was neither man nor woman. Which was Anthony's relation to Infant Jesus? When a child is born in the Christian world they baptize the newly-born child. Something like that has probably taken place, Anthony baptized the child. Thereafter he lifted it up and held it in his arms.

It was well known that Jewess Mary, also from Armenia, lived together with jack-of-all-trades and carpenter Joseph in Nazareth. They lived together for around 12 years and afterwards Joseph and his family entered the gospels as Jews, but they were not. There are four Stars of David on his emblem.

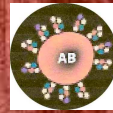

We also know that carpenter Joseph and Helena were related (cousin/second cousin) and that Helena and her family converted to Judaism. After that the whole family were looked upon as being Jewish to be able to take part in the Messiah mission. It also proves that the Jews in those days were an elite people. All important assignments and tasks were given to the Jews because of their knowledge.

There were, however, individuals who claimed to be Jewish, but they were fake Jews who injured others all over the world. The fake Jews are still active today.

BAJA

I have already mentioned that my family lived in the town of Kalocsa, between 1950 and 52. My father worked as a chauffeur to the municipal commissioner, while my father's cousin Helen/Iлона and her family remained in Baja between 1948 and 1953.

In 1951 a peculiar event took place in the very darkest area of Baja, i.e. in the St. Antonius Church. The Lamb (later on Christ R in Stockholm) was secretly baptized by the priest BA. As far as I understand the Lamb was known only in the churches but not among the general public. In those days many women gave birth in their homes. A hybrid child would only survive for a couple of hours in public health service during Communism.

BAJA

The Lamb was secretly baptized by the priest BA. In those days, in the 1950s and 60s, the priests kept this baptism secret. They certainly made a secret notation of the event, but it is probably not available today. The priests were proud of Simon's portrait of Messiah, they knew that the Lamb was Simon's daughter's child.

Church of St Peter and Paul in Baja, also called “The Church of the Priests”. The priests lived nearby and so did the priest who married my parents in 1948. I was baptized in this church in 1949 by the priest who later became the parish priest of the St Antonius Church.

My father told me that Simon and his wife went to this church every Sunday, year upon year. He always dressed in a military-like uniform, he had his sword on his right side and on his hat there was a Turul bird. Simon and his wife sat at the very front of the church, to the right of the main altar. On the floor, at his feet, his name was inscribed: vitéz Kemény Simon. The floor was, and still is, a symbol of something basic. That is how much the Hungarian church appreciated him. At the same time, my maternal and paternal grandfathers were at a tavern next to my maternal grandfather’s house. They discussed history and politics while my maternal and paternal grandmothers cooked lunch. – Later on, in the 1960s, we were also churchgoers on Sundays, but to the other church, St Antonius. My mother always fell asleep during Vesper and my maternal grandmother was always late, the latest of them all. My paternal grandmother always watched other women: how they were dressed, how they prayed and sang.

Four white lilies, secret symbols of my family.

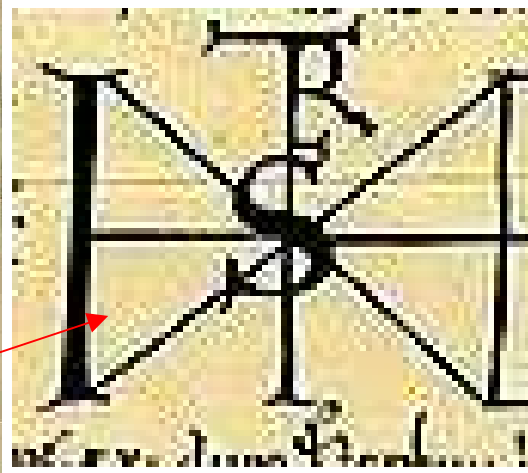

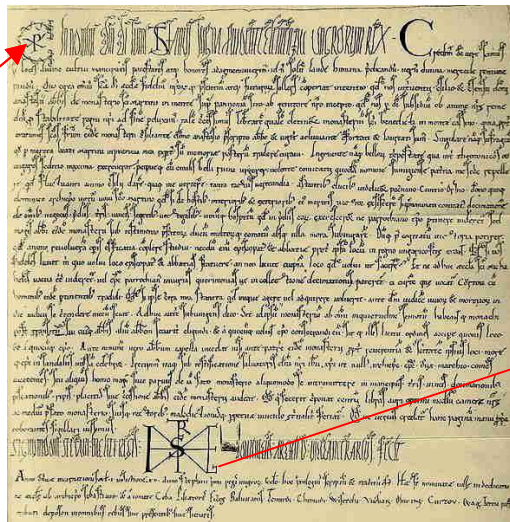

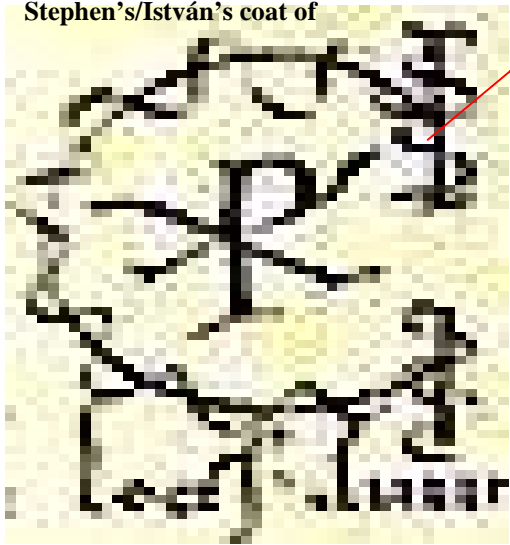

In 1950 Pope Pius XII dissolved the Cistercian Order. The reasons were partly political. Some priests left the order, among them was the priest who married my parents. He married one of my mother’s sisters, who was my godmother. Many priests had to move, the situation was chaotic and confused since many priests were moved against their own will. The parish priest, for example, had to move to St Antonius Church, where he continued to work as a parish priest. The monk BA was at the same time moved to the same church but from a different congregation. Why was the Cistercian order dissolved in Baja? Only the pope knew, it was his decision. One thing is clear: the Cistercian clergy’s activities were at a higher level of knowledge than elsewhere.

But this was not the real cause behind the dissolution. Simon was shot to death together with his youngest son after the end of the war. Both wore civilian clothes. The cause of their deaths was not military-related, but civil. It was probably Simon’s wife who together with the clergy reported the murder of Simon and his son Géza to the police. When the Lamb was born and baptized, the clergy understood why Simon had severed his contacts with the church. But before that, before the murder, the Hungarian Church had never understood why he and his son were murdered when the war was over. Since the order came from the pope himself, he dissolved the Cistercian order and caused chaos and confusion among the clergy instead. It took some time before everything was stable again.

Stephen's/István's coat of

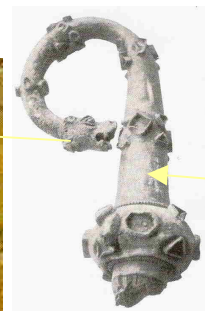

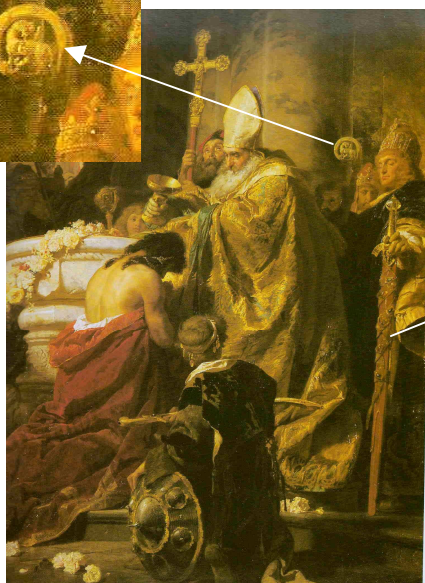

István's (Stephen's) signature

This is a document from the days of István in connection with foundation of Christianity in Hungary. We can clearly see István's coat of arms and his signature.

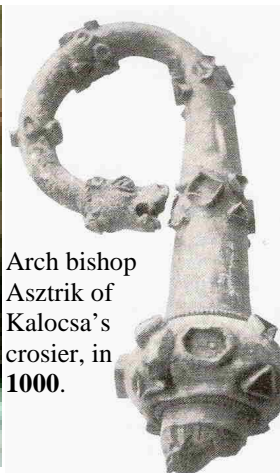

This is Stephen's/István's coat of arms, PX = Pontifex maximus = high priest. We can see that PX is placed inside an open circle looking like the letter C and on this C are two wriggling serpents. We can also clearly see that the letter C starts and ends with the letter I, with a wriggling serpent. This is a symbol of Alpha and Omega, the beginning in the end.

I = István

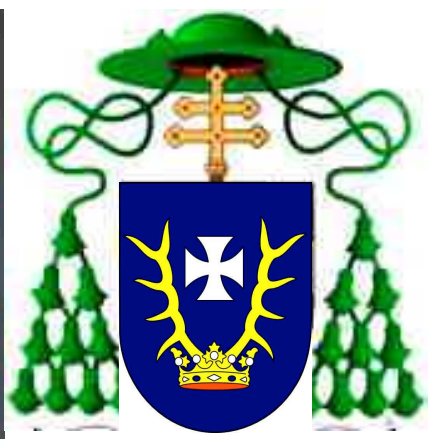

Baptism ceremony in 997. A theatre. The pagan Pole István (Stephen) was baptized to become a Christian to make everybody believe he was Vajk. Bishop St Adalbert managed the ceremony. His crozier is a lamb, illustrating that the Lamb has entered Christianity. We also see István's sword. A symbolic serpent is wriggling around the sword.

Coronation ceremony. István was crowned king at night between Christmas Eve and December 25, 1000. That was the start of the 1,000-year-realm of Jesus Christ. Bishop Asztrik handled the coronation. His crozier was a serpent, we can clearly see that above. The crozier is today kept in the town of Kalocsa in Hungary. The Lion Vajk was born on Christmas Eve, but since he was murdered, the Serpent István was crowned. We often say: clear messages during the dark Middle Ages.

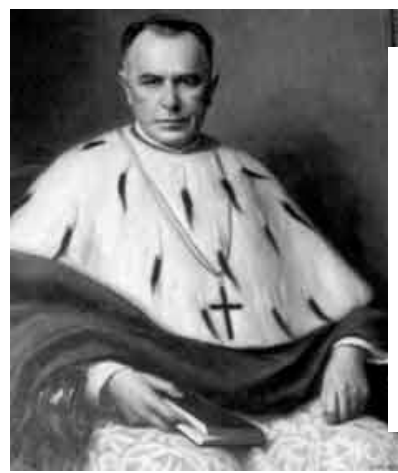

Arch bishop Asztrik of Kalocsa's crozier, in 1000.

A brief summary: the bishopric of Kalocsa was at the centre of events regarding István's rebirth in 1948 and his period in Baja between 1948 and 1953.

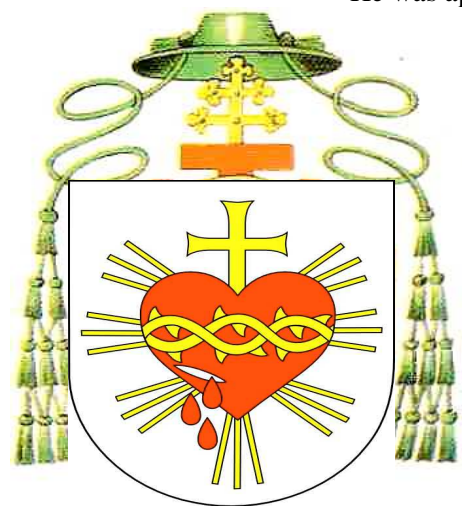

Kalocsa, 1925-1942

Motto: "Nothing but Love".

Zichy Gyula, Arch Bishop of Kalocsa, 1925-1942
Motto: "Love Each Other".

Glattfelder Gyula, Bishop of Kalocsa, 1942-43.
He was appointed arch bishop, but he refused.

Kalocsa, 1943-1961

Grösz József, Arch Bishop of Kalocsa, 1943-1961

Grösz József, Arch Bishop of Kalocsa, 1943-1961

The whole vast landscape around Baja, churches and clergy belong to the bishopric of Kalocsa from where it is also managed. Between 1940 and 1943, the pope said yes and Simon's daughter Ilona was allowed to marry her cousin. The application was sent via the bishopric to Rome, Simon knew nothing about it. The fact that cousins were allowed to marry after papal approval was nothing new, not even for Communism in Hungary. When Simon found out that his daughter was about to marry her cousin without his approval, he broke off all contacts with the church and its priests. Arch Bishop Zichy dog in 1942 and Glattfelder was appointed his successor. He refused to acknowledge the appointment. He died on August 30 in Budapest and his successor was Grösz. Simon's breakaway from the church had almost immediate effects. Glattfelder probably supported Simon but he could not stop the marriage. Even if he refused to take any responsibility. All three had in common that they worked with Jesuits who were not excluded from clergy activities.

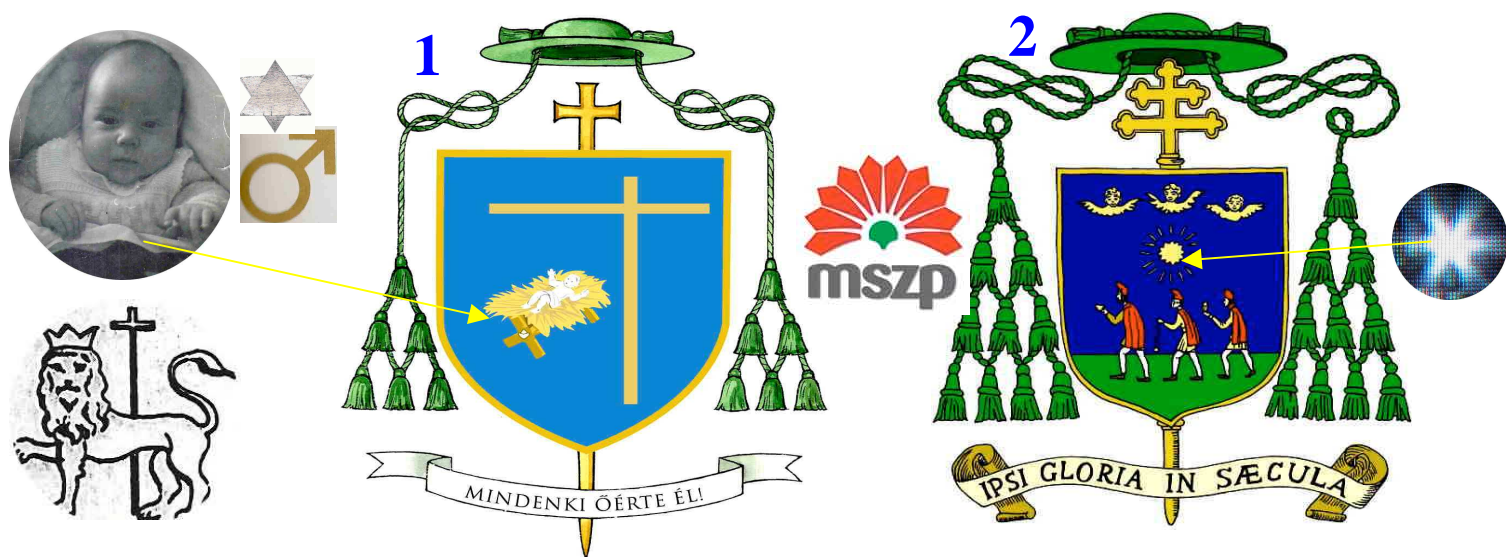

Cousin marrying cousin was not a problem, but secretly giving birth in collusion with the church and the clergy was obviously a catastrophe for Communism. I understand that the birth of the Lamb in 1948 and the christening in Baja in 1941 were top secret issues for the church. Since Grösz was the arch bishop of Kalocsa, he was also responsible for the birth of the Lamb, a birth that was registered by the proper authorities. This was the main problem for the church and Grösz in 1950 and 51.

As I have already mentioned, the parish priest of the St Antonius Church in Baja visited me here in Stockholm in the summer of 1981. We could talk without any interruption about almost anything, also about Baja and the priests. One day he accidentally said that I was a sinner by Adam according to the Bible and gospel. I answered that I am not a sinner, whatever Adam states. He stressed that he was right and I was wrong but I told him that I could provide biological evidence that I was right. Then he started to laugh and said: "I have been a priest for more than 50 years. I have travelled a lot and met people everywhere. Nobody has as yet been able to prove that he or she is not a sinner by Adam." – "The proof is simple," said I. "We know about four blood groups. Adam only belonged to one of them and I do not belong to the same blood group as Adam/Simon. The priest stiffened, his laughter disappeared and he said: "How simple, why didn't I think about that? You should have conversations with God, I sometimes don't follow when you are talking. If everybody talked as much sense as you do, the churches would be empty."- He was certainly a knowledgeable and clever priest and I believe he was a reincarnation of, among others, Francis of Assisi. The very last time I saw him was in Baja in 2005. He was more than 95 years old when he died.

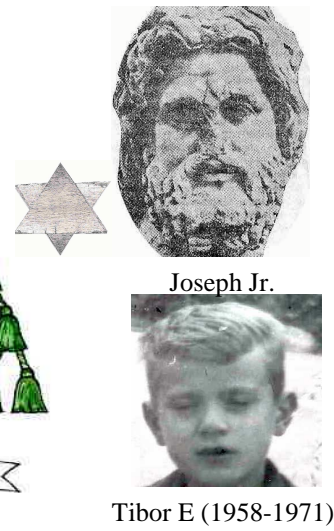

Bishop Gyulay Endre, bishop of Szeged-Csanád, 1987-2006. His message is his personal coat of arms. A large blue M, at the middle of the letter there is a black cross. On the cross is a candle which will enlighten he who is crucified. M=virgin/hybrid, neither man nor woman and the Christian world knows that no woman was crucified. It an expressive coat of arms and the bishop obviously knew that Jesus/the Virgin/the Lamb was never on the cross.– His book: Jézus feléd is nyújtja kezét. – Jesus Reaches out for You, too.

I have studied the Hungarian Catholic Conference of Bishops which consists of 31 bishops. Their coats of arms reflect the knowledge of the individual in connection with Jesus Christ. But there are three Messiah characters at our disposal and it is interesting to see how bishops are distributed in connection with the Saviour.

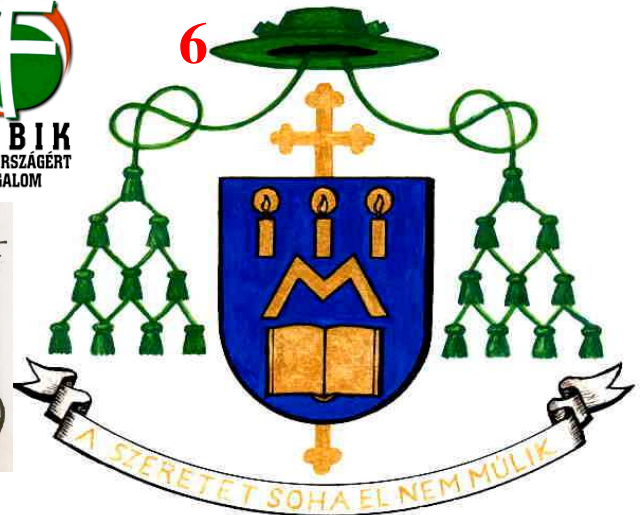

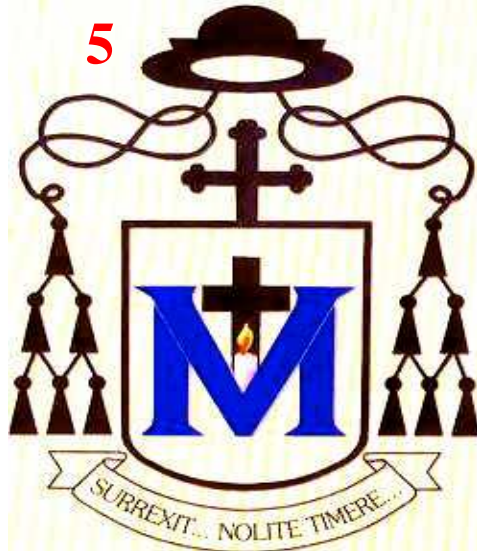

Picture 1. This coat of arms has a clear message, The colours of the blue and yellow Swedish flag connected to the birth of the Lion, Tibor E. in Linköping on Christmas Eve, 1958. He was born in hospital by Jewess Mary and was my father's foster son. Linköping is a reflection of Jerusalem and vice versa when it comes to David and Joseph Jr. Linköping is also a reflection of Esztergom and vice versa concerning pagan Vajk. His motto: Everybody Lived for Him. Picture 2. This coat of arms belonging to an arch bishop relates to Bethlehem, according to Matthew, and the three wise men who visited the Jewish boy Joseph Jr in Bethlehem. The sun at the centre is a symbol of the Star of David in this context and proclaims the birth of a baby boy. – All Hungarians know that pagan Árpád founded Hungary in the midst of Christianity, around AD 850 and that he and his Vajk descendants had nothing to do with Christianity. Even politicians understand this today.

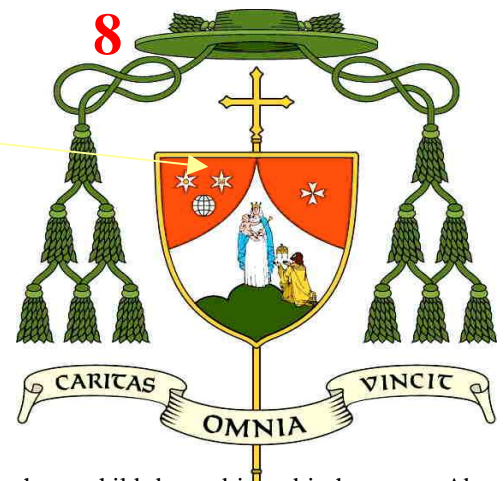

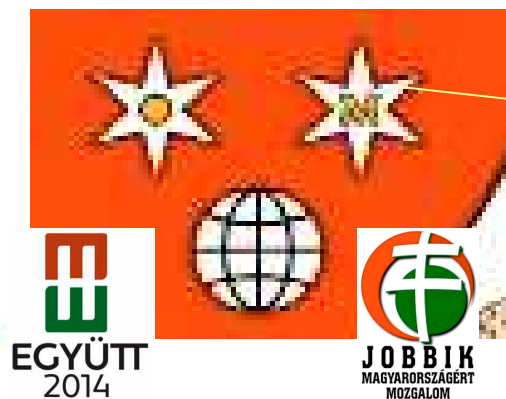

Tibor E (1958-1971)

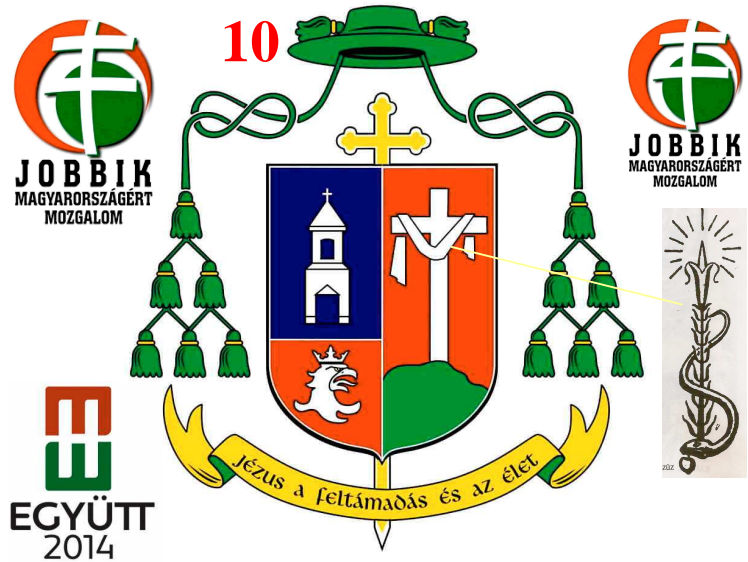

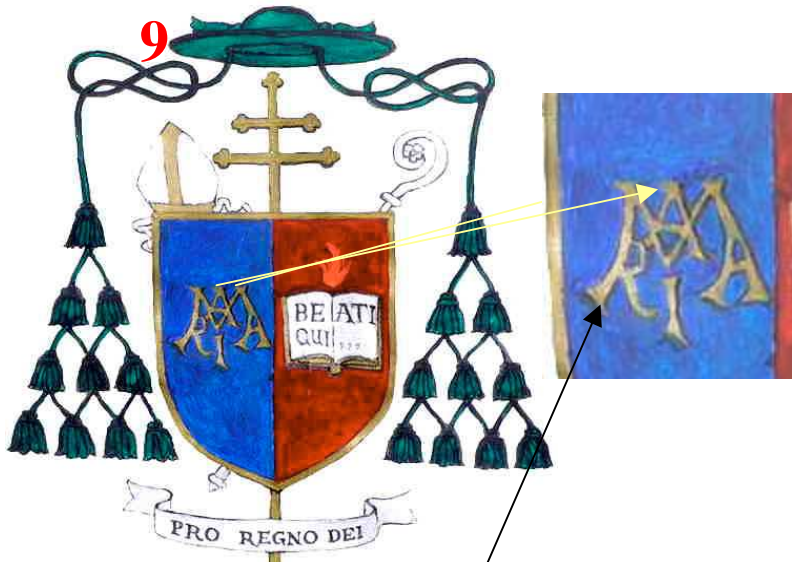

Picture 3. This blue and yellow cardinal coat of arms is an illustration of the birth of the Jewish boy Tibor E in Linköping. Jewess Maria and the naked baby boy are clearly visible. The sun is bigger than the moon, a symbol of the Lion and a man. His motto: There was Only Grace at the Beginning. Picture 4. This coat of arms belonging to a bishop has a very interesting illustration in connection with the crucifixion. We know that the victim was a man, a Jew. Below the cross we the man's wife, Mary of Magdala and one of Izates II/Jesus/The Lamb's disciples, Andrew, who carries an X as a symbol. In the Bible he is the younger brother of fisherman Peter (Paphos bar Jehudas), Jewess Mary's brother-in-law and their son, Joseph Jr. who was crucified. Andrew was the victim's uncle.

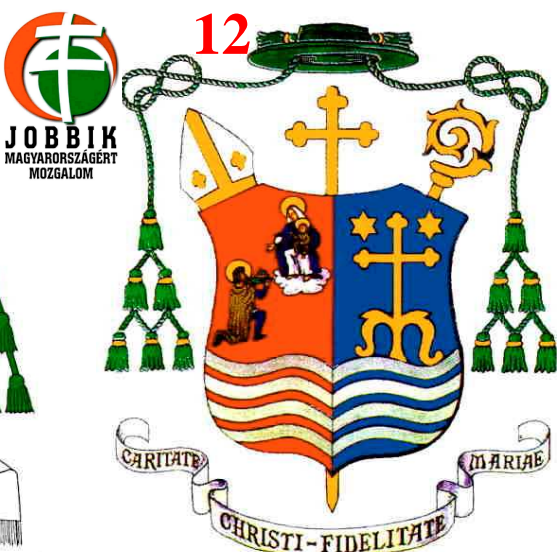

The letter "M" is a symbol of the union between man and woman into a hybrid, virgin, neither man nor woman. The Bible and the Christian clergy talk about a God who is a virgin/hybrid, neither man nor woman. Since the Jew Joseph Jr's identity was stolen, the priests and the church tried to place the virgin on the cross. Picture 5, bishop's coat of arms, and picture 6. The arch bishop's coat of arms confirms this change of identities. It finally emerges who was crucified in Jerusalem at that time.

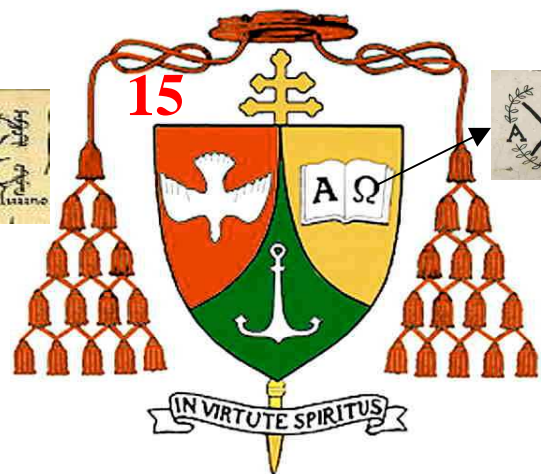

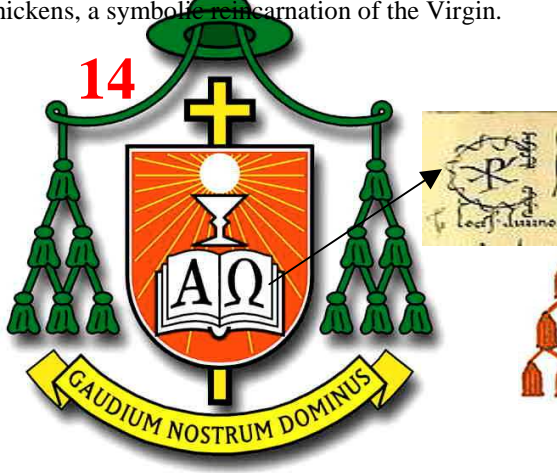

Picture 7. A cardinal's coat of arms with the same message as picture 3, but here Jewess Mary has a child dressed in red in her arms. Above the child is the silver moon, a female symbol. This is further evidence that a change of identities took place here in Stockholm during the 1970s. The Lion Tibor E was murdered and replaced by Christer R, who is present as a woman in my father's paternity issue. Picture 8. The clear message of a bishop's coat of arms. Above the globe hover two Stars of David. At the centre of one of the stars is the Sun, the Lion, and in the other star we can see the letter M, the Virgin/Lamb who is a reincarnation of, among others, Stephen/István. This motif and message coincide with High Priest Caiaphas's will, where we only find the Lion and the Lamb. Politics. The Jobbik party stands for István/the Lamb, a Nazi party. Its coat of arms has two moon crescents in red and white and a double cross for the nation.

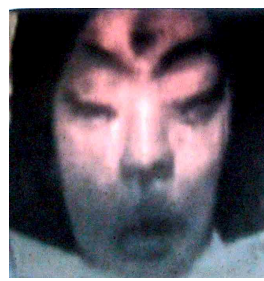

Picture 9. The arch bishop coat of arms has its own message. Against a blue background is a silver M, which in turn has a special way of mediating the Saviour. At the first part of the M we see an R and at the other side an A. R=Rex, A=beginning. Between the R and the A is the letter I, István. We can also see that in the letter M there is an A, which in this context means the new Adam. The Lamb fights the Beast. Picture 10. Against the blue background is a church and against the red background a white cross. On the cross is white, wriggling stole forming an M. The message is that a virgin was crucified. But in the background is the Bull.

Picture 11. The arch bishop's coat of arms displays a large M as an open book and above this is an M in the form of a stola. Picture 12. The bishop's coat of arms has two main motifs. To the left of the cross against a blue background there is a cross above an M. On each side of the cross there is a hovering Star of David, a Lion, a Lamb/Virgin. To the right of the cross against a red background we can see István's message, as in picture 8. Picture 13. A bishop's coat of arms and its message. The tree with the wriggling serpent. Above the tree is a white swan with its chickens, a symbolic reincarnation of the Virgin.

Picture 14. With an open book, this bishop's coat of arms symbolizes the end, Alfa/Omega, for Christianity, an expressive message. Picture 15. The message on this cardinal's coat of arms is roughly the same but with a bit more information at the end, supplied by the Lamb. Picture 16. The bishop's coat of arms confirms, against the blue background, that the history of the cross has reached an end. The Lamb, Christer R, who took over the Jewish boy's, Tibor E's, identity without knowing about it, here in Stockholm. He also disappeared into the secret, dark kingdom of Sweden during my father's paternity issue. Christer R is a reincarnation of, among others, Izates II/Jesus and Stefan/István.

Picture 17. Cardinal coat of arms from 1948, the birth of the Lamb in Hungary and its message. A Lamb is placed in the crosier, to the left of the Crown of Stephen. The coat of arms itself has a royal design and is a reflection of Stephen's/István's birth in the kingdom of Poland. Picture 18. Arch bishop's coat of arms and The Society of Jesus. Below this coat of arms the Lamb was baptized in Baja, in St Antonius Church. Its motif is a red heart which radiates the number seven (7), invoking Revelation. Revelation was opened by the Jesuit, Pope Francis, at the 2013 papal election. The yellow chain consisting of three links (three Messiah characters) on a heart means that the issue at hand should be treated without violence and terror, something Pope Nicholas V pointed out on his coat of arms. This is why Communism in Hungary relented in the case of Arch Bishop Grösz of Kalocsa in 1951. – Above page 6^o

Picture 19. This coat of arms preaches the Society of Jesus and that the Jesuit, the Bull Jesus also calls himself Alpha and Omega. Picture 20. The message here is that the Jesuits' final goal is to conquer Hungary, i.e. introduce Osirian worship of death in the country of Árpád and eliminate the thousand-year-old religion of Stephen. The church will be supported from Rome, England, Canada and the US. An expressive coat of arms but the people of Hungary do not understand what the Church and FIDESZ secretly are up to. Picture 21. The message is this: HIS=The Society of Jesus, RM=Regnum Marianum=Realm of Mary/Realm of István. This means that István is gone and the Jesuit has replaced him.

Picture 22. This coat of arms displays the symbol PX, Pontifax Maximus, high priest/pope who belongs to the Bull God and the Lord. Picture 23. The symbol of the Bull God (cereal) in Hungary, to make the Hungarians understand that the culture of death will soon become real also in Hungary. Picture 24. The message is expressive: The God of Death, Our Lord Jesus Beelzebub, dressed in white, is on his throne. Behind him is the yellow sun and below his feet is the Serpent, the Lamb, the Virgin, Stephen. Constantine's goal is to destroy the Serpent and Pope Francis the last is the Bull's pope. This coat of arms if further proof that the Lamb, the Serpent, the Virgin, Jesus, Stephen and Christer R are gone also in connection with my father's paternity issue and that the church and the royal family have introduced the Jesuit, the Bull in 2007, instead of Christer R. Now they maintain that the Jesuit is the Lion Tibor E. FIDESZ and the church want to black out the Hungarian origins and identity and bring in the God of Death, the Jesuit, Jesus Beelzebub, and his family tree to transform him into a new Man, a new Adam. A Bull as Man. In this way, all Europe will fall apart.

Orbán is not a winner (Viktor), but a traitor, the traitor of Hungary, the Hungarian people and the nation. It is now about life or death.

The symbols of the university are, among others, a double cross, the Lion and the Lamb/Serpent. The third animal, the Bull is not included in the main motif, but the priests are well aware of it. The majority of Hungarian priests belong to the Lamb/Serpent/Virgin, only a few per cent belong to the Bull.

The Cistercian-, Benedict- and Francis orders refer to the Lamb, while the Society of Jesus is connected to the Bull.

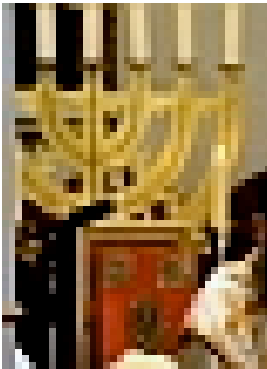

The best Hungarian priests have an élite education and are intelligent. They know what is going on. Their personal coats of arms confirm that they, when it comes to knowledge, are far above the rest of the population. We often hear "The priests drink wine but preach water". Yes, it is true. The truth is in the wine, it is their personal weapon and they lie to the public.

The Catholic Orthodox Church in Hungary

We can clearly see that the crozier consists of a wriggling serpent with a twin head. The Serpent/Virgin is the basis of the church, i.e. the "Lamb".

This is a bishop's coat of arms in the Catholic Orthodox Church. To the right of the mitre is the crozier which is a serpent with a twin head, wriggling round the crozier. To the left of the mitre is the cross which blocks the way of the crozier. The signs on the shield are familiar, see below. On the mitre are two "Jerusalem crosses." The bishop's motto: "My Power in Weakness". This is an expressive coat of arms, but the flock of sheep neither see nor hear.

Christogram

This coat of arms is further evidence of the Jerusalem crucifixion. The sign on the shield reflect the signs in the garden tomb. The individual who was crucified was actually not identical with the person who was resurrected. More info at Man. God and Science, pp 26-30. On the principal altar of the church we see a seven-branched candelabra belonging to the God of Israel and on the church wall a distinct Christogram with the Alpha&Omega sign. The bishop's motto: "I love you my Lord". The coat of arms can also be regarded as a document from times past.

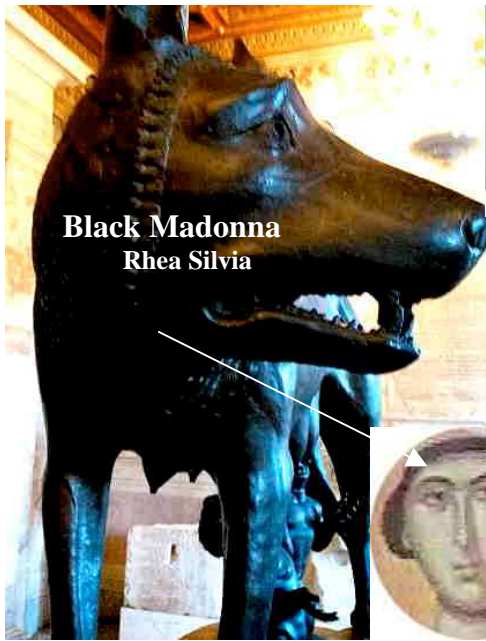

Crisis in Hungary. The country was founded by Árpád, who reflects Enki in Sumer with a pagan culture. The country today has a Christian state religion founded by the Pole St. Stephen/István who in his turn goes back to Inanna in Sumer. Árpád and Stephen are opposite poles and there is one more in Hungary. His name is Jesuit and he goes back to Gilgamesh in Sumer.

The coat of arms of the Hungarian Catholic Church. St. Stephen offers his crown to the "Black Madonna". Note: Virgin = Hybrid. A woman who gives birth is not a proper virgin, a proper virgin cannot give birth. Thus the basis of the Hungarian Church is St. Stephen with his 8-pointed star.

In the Hungarian Church the Lamb and the Bull are separated. Above the dove on the shield is a hovering red burning heart with a yellow cross sticking out. This is a typical IHS symbol and refers to the Bull, Anti Christ, in the blue and yellow colours.

Heavenly she-wolf

Heavenly she-wolf

Eugene IV, (1431–1447), Gabriele Condulmer
209, 52. Heavenly She-Wolf

Pope Eugene IV. If we study this pope in a general way, we do not notice anything special. But if we analyse Malachy's appellation, Heavenly she-wolf, it starts to get interesting. The appellation is very strange, how can a pope be a she-wolf? It is actually simple. The she-wolf, i.e. the female soul or energy, was reincarnated in Eugene IV, in a male body, and the she-wolf became a pope. The next question, also natural, is whether he was a homosexual. – There is no information on this, but it seems as if he could control himself. In this respect he was the Holy See's most remarkable pope together with the female Pope Joan, the Cow goddess. More info at Foundation Stone, pp 59-60.

An instructive picture from the days of St Antony. The monk forces the cow to kneel. The cow here is the Cow goddess, mother of the Bull god.
Now, at the end of time, in 1951, the Lamb was baptized in Baja, in St Antonius Church by the monk BA with the approval of Cardinal Mindszenty and Arch Bishop Grösz. The painting depicts the fact that the Cow goddess married into the wrong family with the wrong man, and the fall of the Bull God was a fact.

Leopold I. 1657-1705
King of Hungary

Leopold I, 1657-1705 king of Hungary. The King's sarcophagus. On his sarcophagus there is an eagle which takes away the cover from his secret. In other words: the eagle will, at the end of time, reveal who this mysterious king Leopold I was. On his hat are three white lilies. On each side of the sarcophagus is a skull with a sword, a symbol of death. The sarcophagus rests on four bird wings.

Brief information on this king. Leopold I, born on June 9, 1640, died on May 5, 1705. German-Roman emperor 1658-1705, king of Hungary from 1655, king of Bohemia from 1656 and king of Croatia from 1657. He was the son of Emperor Ferdinand III and Maria Anna of Spain.

Leopold was originally meant to belong to the spiritual estate, to become a priest. He was strongly influenced by the Jesuits but after his brother's death in 1654, he became successor to the throne. In 1657 he inherited the Austrian monarchy and was elected emperor in 1658. He successfully defended the interest of the Habsburg monarchy both against the Ottomans and Louis XIV of France. In 1683 an Ottoman onslaught on Vienna was crushed and the peace of Karlowitz in 1699 gave Leopold the larger part of Hungary from the Ottoman Empire. He then founded the so-called Danubian monarchy.

The power of Leopold I started in Hungary and his goal was to control the whole country. In this context he founded the town of Baja on Christmas Eve, 1699. The Hungarians are familiar with the history of Leopold, his execution of power and cruelty against the population. He was, to say it briefly, a catastrophe for the Hungarian people. He was also a serious Catholic believer, influenced by Jesuits. He was also seriously hated Protestants.

Now I will look back at his sarcophagus, to the eagle which removes the cover from the king's personality now, at the End of Time, December 2015.

Turul the Bird

In the picture we see a twin-headed eagle and an arm coming out of the cloud to remove the Austrian monarchy at the end of time

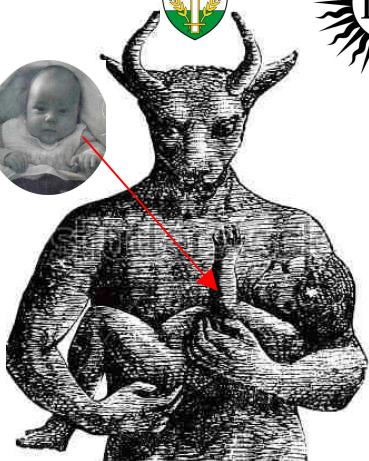

In the coffin are the remains of the Bull God. It is he who wants to get at the little town of Baja by the Danube, the Hungarian nation, Árpád's people and the 1,000-year-old religion of Stephen, aided by FIDESZ and KDNP. The goal of the Bull God/Antichrist is to plunge Hungary into darkness with an iron fist and introduce Osirian culture of death. After that he will proclaim that he is the new Man/Adam, animal pretending to be a Human Being.

Between 1318 and 1323 the little town was called BULL. In the 15th century it was renamed Baja, probably after a rich family, landowners by the name of Bajai who lived there. After many turnabouts the town finally took back its name in 1858. Baja has its own, long history. What does Baja mean?

The root is baj, baj=bad luck, difficulty, distress, mess, misfortune, ruin, mistake, insufficiency, problem, and defect. But there is another Bull God, the God who is on the throne according to Revelation, the opposite of the Bull below. He also calls himself "Alpha&Omega".

Baja is the secret and most important town in Hungary and Europe.

Baja, 1696-1996

The town of Baja in Hungary celebrated its 300 year-anniversary in the summer of 1996. In connection with the celebration a VHS cassette about Baja was released, a short presentation of the town. I bought it, it is Hungarian but has also been translated into other languages: German, English and French.

Almost all places have special treats to offer to tourists and the rest of the world. The special treat in Baja is fish soup. The most delicious fish soup is cooked in Baja, see the picture above. In Hungary and neighbouring countries they know about the soup from Baja. If you do not believe that, you will have to taste it! Baja is the town where I was born and it is very close to my heart.

Stefan, Gamla Uppsala, 1164-1185

Uppsala 1990. The Arch bishop's Stefan medal is a badge for merit awarded by the Arch Bishop to deserving members of the Church of Sweden for extraordinary achievements within the Church. It was instituted by Arch Bishop Bertil Werkström in 1990 and has its name from the first arch bishop, Stefan. It was created in co-operation with the Order of the Royal Majesty, is produced in gold with a purple sash and depicts Stefan's seal in a pointed oval. In 1992, King Carl Gustaf XVI and Queen Silvia received the medal for extraordinary achievements for the Church, e.g. the murder of the Jewish boy Tibor in 1971 and the removal of Christer R/Stephen.

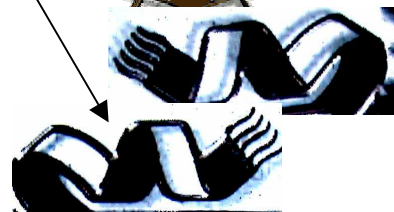

In the 1950s and 60s there was Lion fever in the Swedish church, in the 1970s and 90s there was Lamb fever and now, during the 2000s, Bull fever is dominant in Church of Sweden. This is the Swedish church which trims its sails to every wind, now coming from the Bull God/Antichrist. The new arch bishop can institute a new arch bishop's medal called Arch Bishop Anders Wejryd's Medal for the same purpose and give it to the king first.

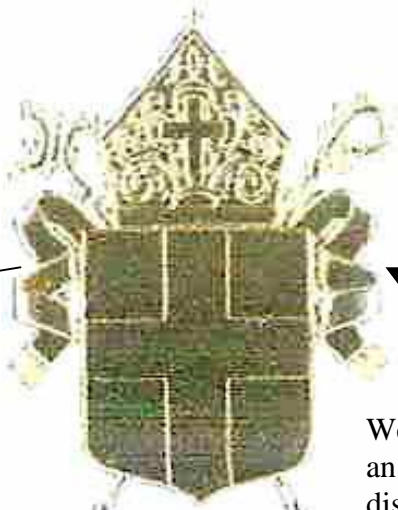

VIPs in Church of Sweden, 2014

Up to 2006 you could read in books written by bishops that God is neither a man nor a woman, but a virgin, a hybrid.

A Swedish arch bishop's coat of arms from the beginning of 2006. We can see that the stole on sides of the shield forms the letter M.

We can see that the stole not really forms an M. The M symbol for virgin/hybrid disappeared.

2006-2014

We can see that the stole not really forms an M. The M symbol for virgin/hybrid disappeared.

2014-

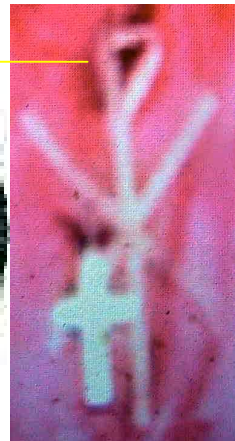

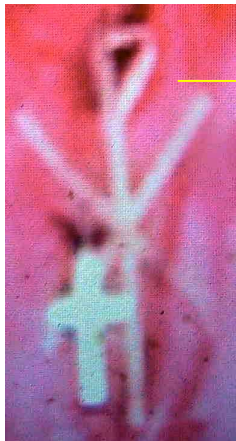

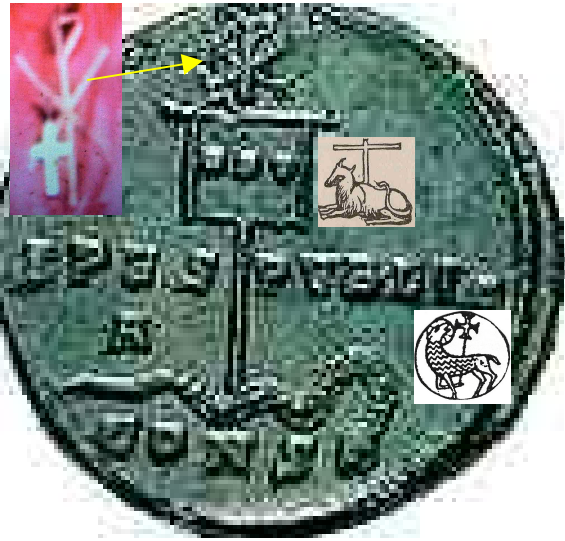

The new arch bishop of Church of Sweden.

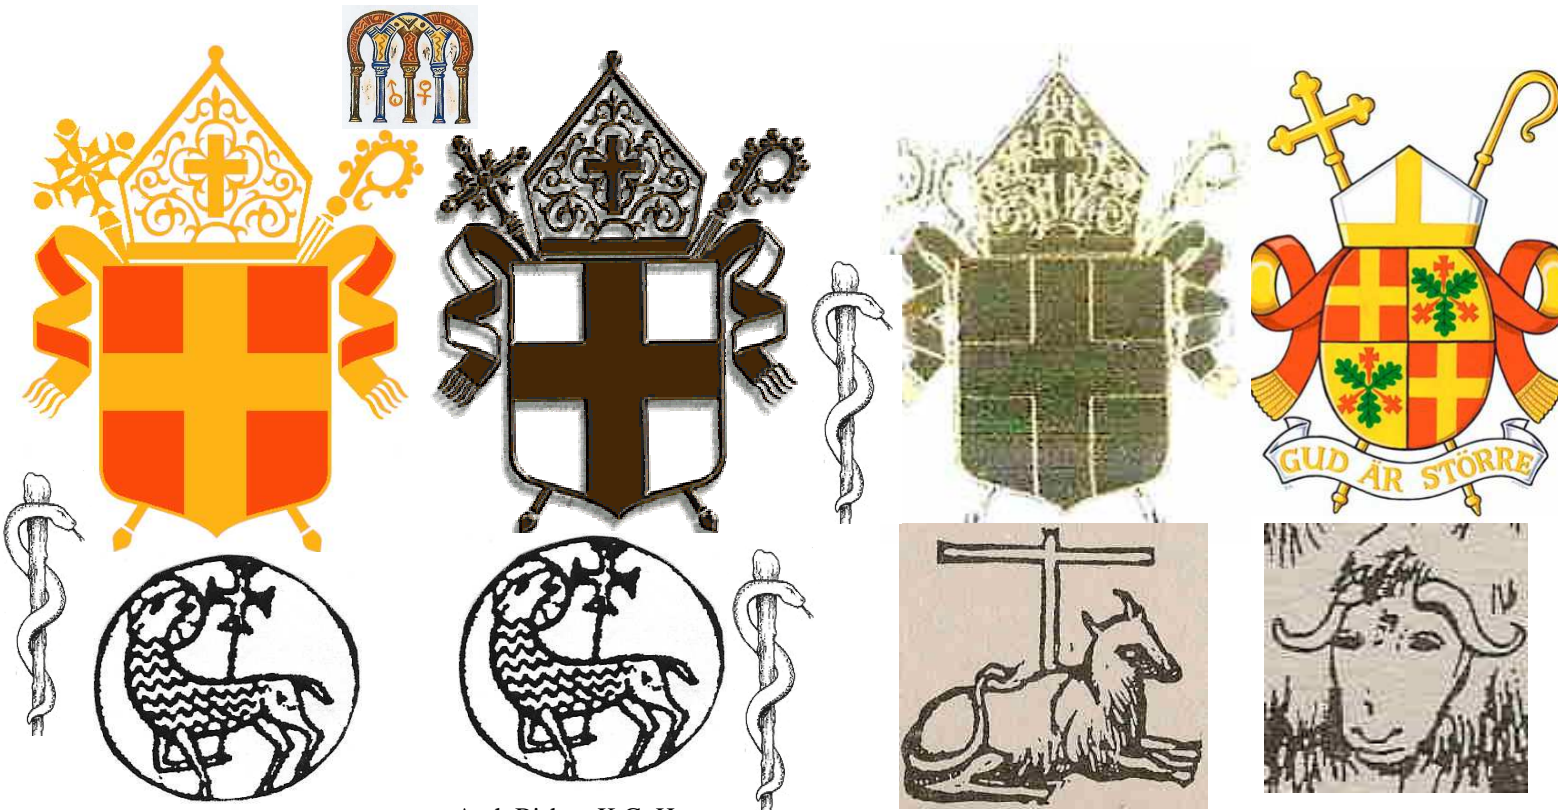

From 2007 to June 15, 2014, when she was received, she was bishop of the diocese of Lund. On October 15, 2013 Antje Jackelén was elected arch bishop of the Church of Sweden, the first woman to hold that office.

Antje Jackelén was received as arch bishop on June 15, 2014, on Trinity Sunday. She is the 70th arch bishop and the first woman.

She continues her predecessor's dark activities. PX = Pontifex maximus, high priest, and a symbol of Antichrist, the Bull God, Jesus Beelzebub, but in this case for the Ox. She manages Church of Sweden in the name of Antichrist. Note that PX is without Alpha&Omega.

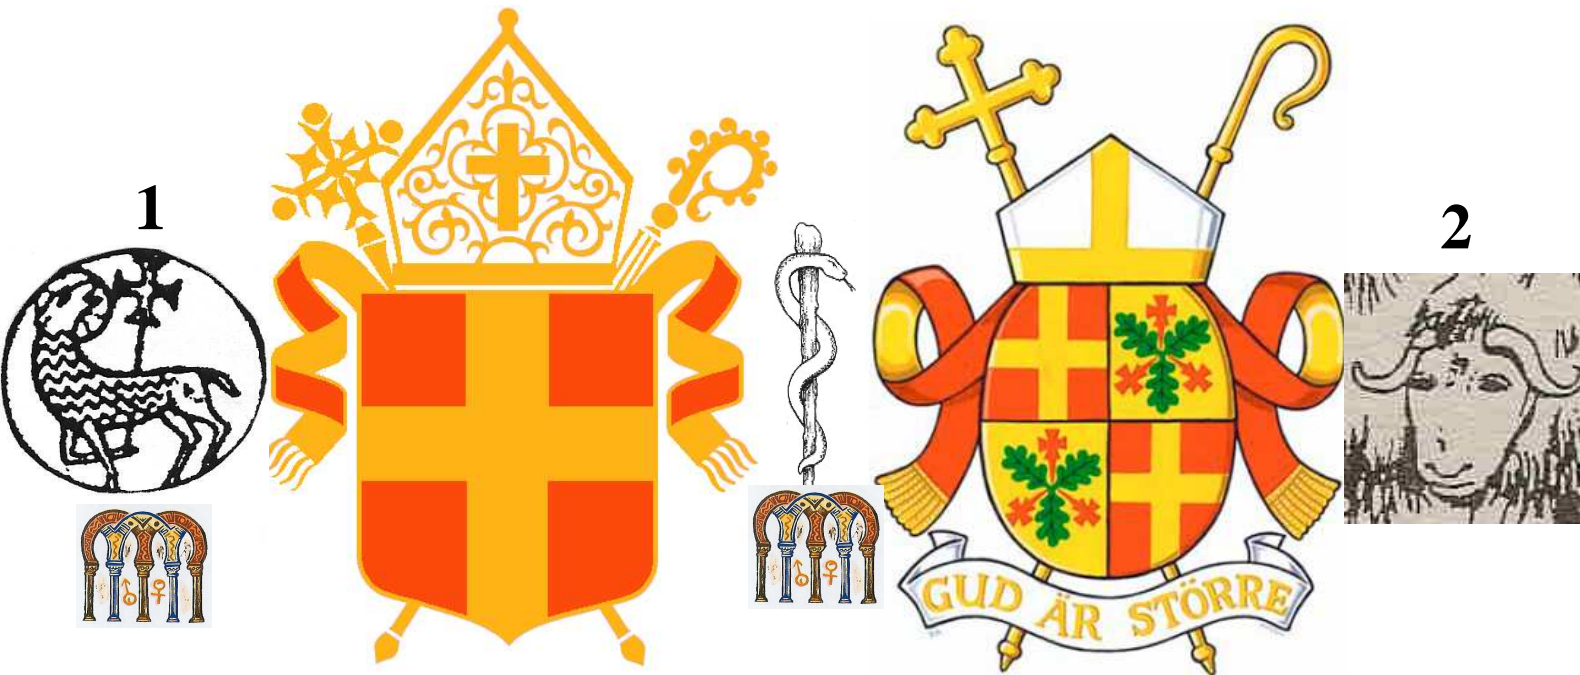

Arch Bishop Gunnar Weman 1993–1997

Arch Bishop K.G. Hammar 1997–2006

Arch Bishop Anders Wejryd 2006–2014

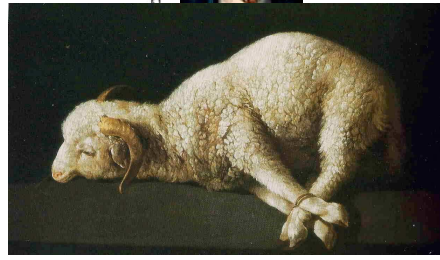

Arch Bishop Antje Jackelén 2014-

We can clearly see that the design of the arch bishops' coats of arms is broken from 2014 and onwards. The Church was gradually plunged into darkness from 1997 and from 2006 the Church is in total darkness. Black cross and black background.

An expressive coat of arms. In Picture 1 we see that that the arch bishop's coat of arms is light and thus the Church should also be light despite the fact that the Lion has been gone since 1971. Picture 2 also depicts a bright coat of arms, but the Church is still dark and the risk is that it will disappear into darkness. The new arch bishop tries to make the Church brighter using light colours, since an arch bishop's coat of arms should reflect the Church. The Bull is darkness itself but even he can disappear into that darkness and make way for the Ox to enter Church of Sweden, as God. Her motto is God is Greater. Yes, she is right, God is greater than she and Church of Sweden are, but not greater than Man. Man is the crown of creation, not God. If you are a human being you are greater than God. If you are an animal you are of minor importance. That is the law of the nature. There are good people and bad people. In the same way there are good and bad animals in a human body.

How did the Lamb enter the picture? Why does the Serpent call himself Lamb?

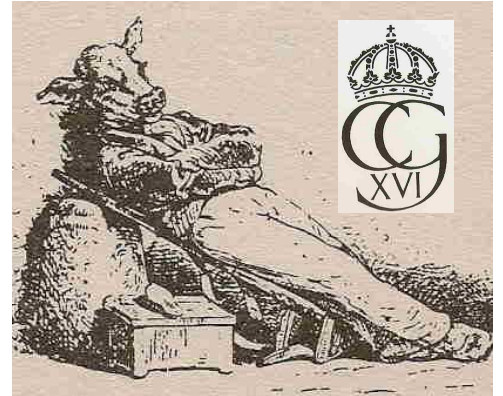

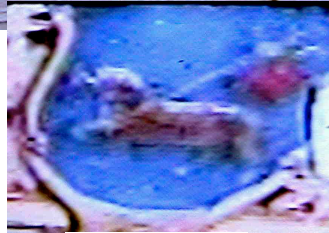

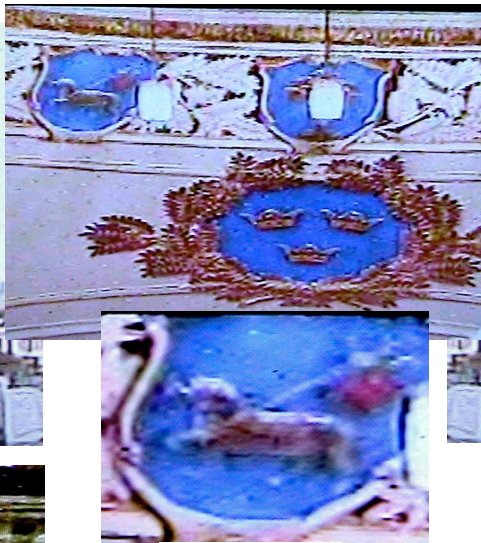

The Lamb

The Bull

My father's zodiac sign is Aries and we know that a ram's offspring is called a Lamb. The Serpent symbolically calls himself Lamb to demonstrate that the lamb belongs to Aries and is Aries' offspring. The calf is a bull's offspring and has nothing to do with Aries. Wise, is it not? The Lamb Christ R is ex-family, but not the Jesuit.

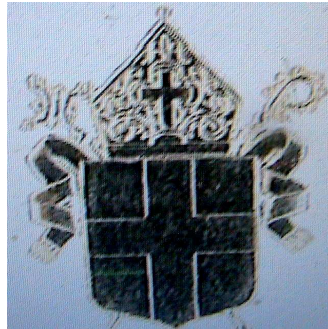

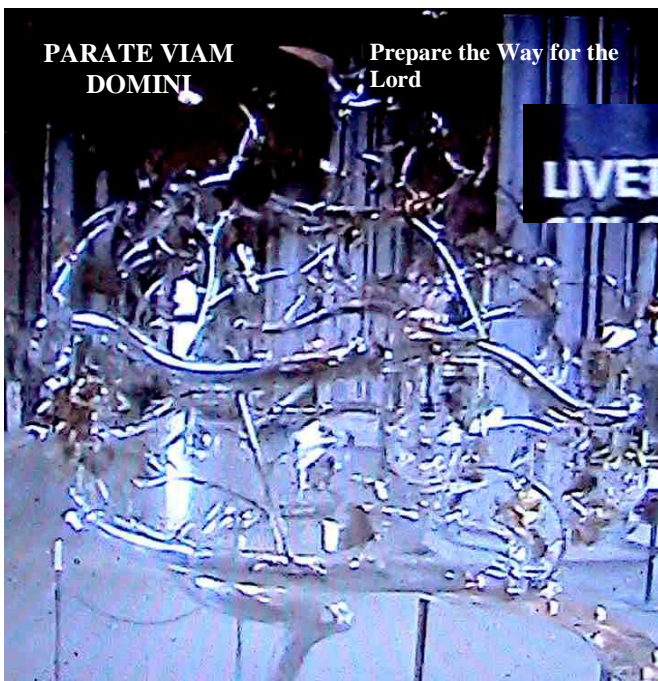

The Swedish Parliament. Inside, on the ceiling, we see the Lamb, outside the building is the Lion who was killed in 1971 and is a symbol of the monarchy. Number three, the Ox, is inside the castle and is a representative in Sweden of the Bull God. He is still on Queen Christina's (the Lamb's) throne. This is a complex equation. I do not want to be in his clothes.

In the middle of the 1970s the politicians favouring the monarchy were in power in Sweden. At that time the gates of hell opened in connection with my father's paternity issue. At the beginning of the 1990s we handled the estate inventory after the death of my good father. The pro-monarchy politicians were still in power. Finally, in 2007, things started to happen around me, again managed by pro-monarchy politicians. They directed heavy financial fire against me. Their goal was to make me disappear into "Christianity", into the secret world, to make it possible for the Jesuit to steal my family tree. As I have already mentioned, I do not fight Sweden as a nation. I fight the Swedish monarchy since it is my family's biggest and worst enemy together with Church of Sweden. I fight using knowledge and democracy, approved all over the world.

Knowledge

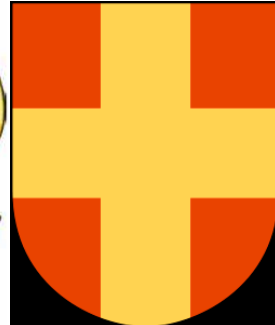

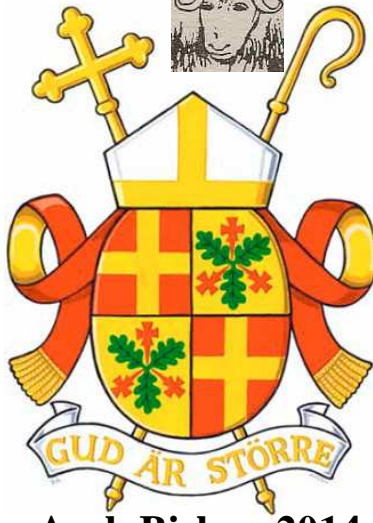

At the beginning of 2013, Church of Sweden started marketing Tree of Life as a dove, symbol of the Bull God. In other words: Osiris, the death deity suddenly appears in Church of Sweden even if everybody knows that an animal does not carry human life inside. The Swedish clergy have no idea about the meaning of the Tree of Life. It has nothing to do with religion and gods. One issue that is quite clear is that the Tree of Life cannot be replaced in our galaxy, in the Milky Way. Everybody in our galaxy knows that (also higher powers). Anyone who attacks the Tree of Life has cooked his or her goose. More info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, all texts about the black hole and at On the Road of Life.

Church of Sweden consists of 13 dioceses. Uppsala is the residence of both a bishop and the arch bishop. The dioceses of Lund, Linköping and Strängnäs, among others, are important episcopal residences in the 1,000-year-old Christian history of the Church. Note that the numbering above is mine connected to my text. All coats of arms are official and can be found at the web sites. The bishops' mottos are quotations either from the gospels or from Paul the Apostle's letters. We can see that number 11 and 12 support the Lamb to 100%, but the Lamb also appears in other coats of arms. The most important and most interesting coat of arms is number 13.

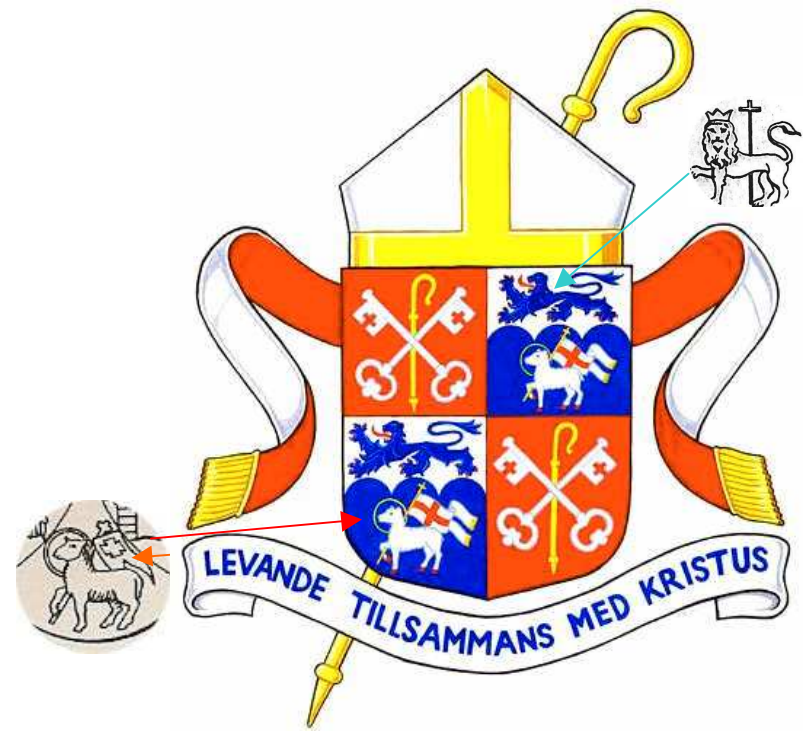

The Linköping coat of arms + keyhole in the zodiac sign of Aries.

Motto: Alive with Christ

Nicholas V, (1447–1455), Tommaso Parentucelli 210, 54. From the Meanness of Luna

Back to Pope Nicholas's personal coat of arms which depicts two crossed silver keys. The priests know that a silver key is a symbol of a woman, a mother of a child. Two intersecting silver keys are two intersecting, different mothers. Jewess Maria's family background was in this case quite different from that of Helena's in Hungary. Their ways of giving birth to and raise children were also different, their roads of life intersected. This meant, according to Pope Nicholas, that the paternity issue should be managed very careful and human. The pope knew that the paternity would not take place in Hungary, but in Sweden, yes, in Linköping.

Gregory IX, (1227–1241), Ugolino dei Conti di Segni 180,17, Bird of Ostia

Bishop Lars, the Diocese of Linköping, 1236 –1258 .

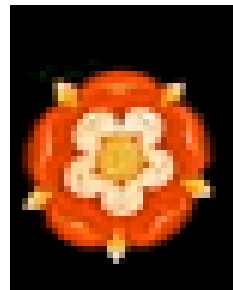

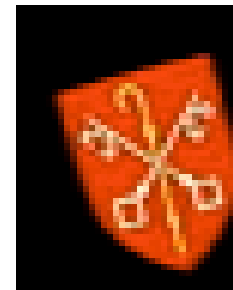

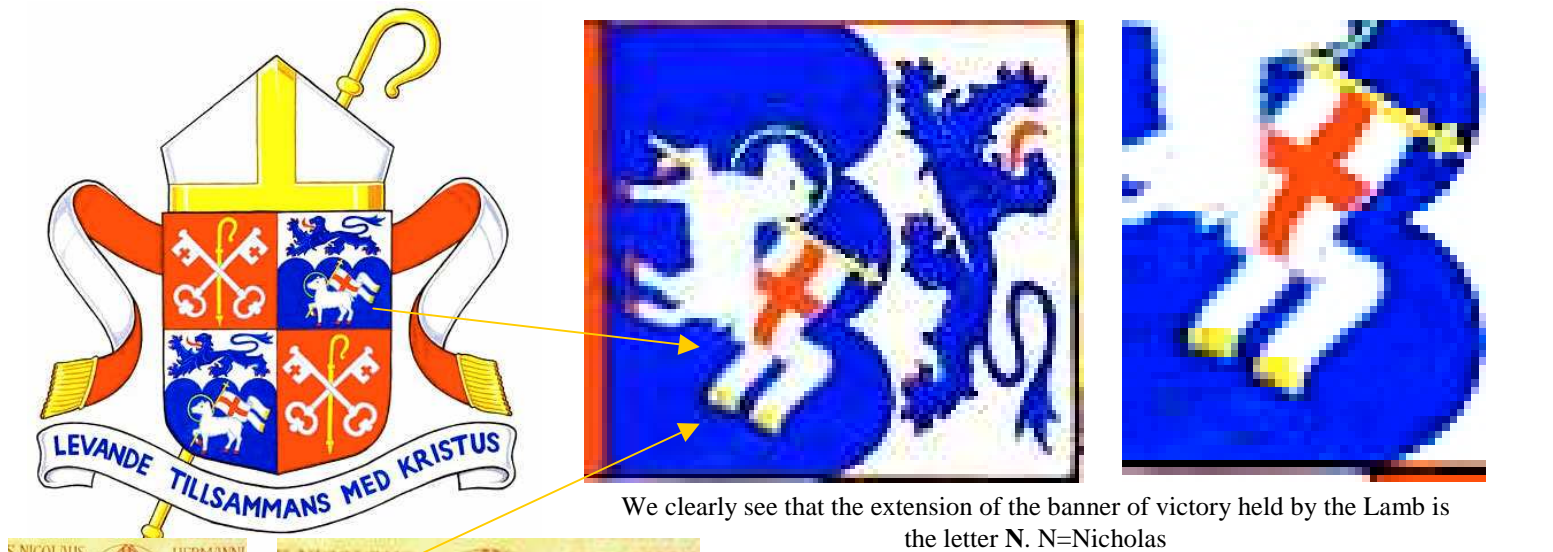

Rome. During his pontificate between 1227 and 1241, Pope Gregory IX, in a document to higher and lower clergy, encouraged everybody under the sign of the Cross via Bishop Lars to forcefully support the construction of the new, magnificent and expensive church (the cathedral) begun by Bishop Bengt in 1220-1236. The appeal came after the death of Arch Bishop Stefan of Sweden in 1181. The Lion, the Jewish boy, was born in Linköping in 1958 on Christmas Eve exactly at midnight. His mother was Jewess Maria.

There are two different paintings depicting Messiah above or behind the main altar. 1. One is an illustration of Jewess Mary's son Joseph Jr. When he was twelve years old he left Nazareth and went to India to study. He later returned to Nazareth. He lived in Canaan and other places and married Jewess Mary of Magdala. He was later on crucified and buried. 2. He, i.e. the Jewish boy Tibor E, was born in Linköping by Jewess Maria and was murdered as a twelve-year-old in Stockholm in 1971. The second painting depicts Jesus the Lamb, Queen Helena's son Izates II, who assumed Joseph Jr's identity and is said to have been resurrected. Now he was born in Hungary in 1948 by Helena, who was my father's cousin. He assumed Tibor E's identity and received a new name, Christer R, at the beginning of the 1970s.

Church of Sweden has made a big mistake. David was a Lion and the Jews never use Alfa&Omega as a symbol. The Davidian, Worldly Messiah's symbol is a Lion and a six-pointed star, Alfa&Omega is a symbol of the Lamb, in this context Christer R.

Church of Sweden is definitely a guilty part in my father's paternity issue via the Diocese of Linköping. The diocese knew about the murder of the Lion, the Jewish boy Tibor E. The diocese also knew about the change of identities, that the Lamb Christer took over the Lion's identity. On the bishop's coat of arms the Lamb is the victor with a banner of victory.

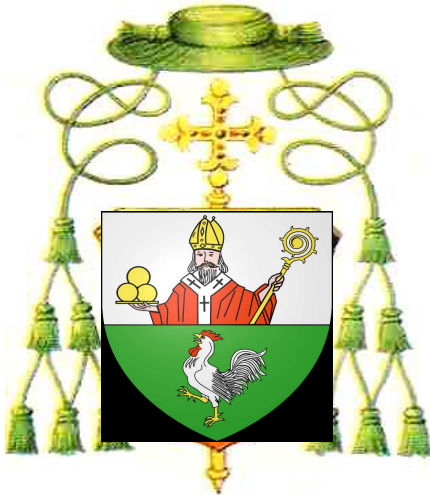

The Diocese of Linköping maintains that Saint Nicholas is its patron saint. Nicholas protects the diocese and manages the cathedral. Let us have a closer look at who Nicholas was and how he protects the diocese.

Nikolaus of Myra or Nicholas the Wonderworker, was born on March 15, 270, in Patara, later Arsinoe in Lycia. He died on December 6, 343 in Myra, Lycia. He was bishop of Myra in present-day Turkey. He is worshipped as a saint in the Catholic, East Orthodox and Oriental Orthodox churches, feasts on December 6. He is also known as Santa Claus.

Much of the information we have about Nicholas's life cannot be properly, historically evaluated, it has the character of legends even if his existence seems to be confirmed. His parents were Christians. The legend says that he was born with a saint-like personality characterized by a will for seclusion and silence. After having been ordained by a relative he went to Jerusalem but eventually returned to his home town where he became a bishop.

Above all Nicholas was known for his generosity and that he really tried to hide that he was the one who gave. When his parents died he gave the whole inheritance to the poor and he saved three daughters of an indebted man from prostitution by, during three consecutive nights, throwing a bag of gold at them. This story forms the background of today's Sinterklass, Santa Claus.

We also hear about Nicholas and the miracles he performed during his life. His most famous miracles are those when he, through his prayers, could help storm-ridden ships. It was also said about him that he could simultaneously be at several places. After his death he was at first buried in Myra, but his relics were transferred to Bari, Italy, during the Saracenes' assumption of power. Believers state that holy oil seeps from these relics. The oil is called Manna di San Nicola and is said to have wonder-working power. I understand that Nicholas, as early as that, was at a high level of knowledge. His contemporaries thought he performed miracles, but his deeds favoured good people. He was altogether against lies, criminality and wealth. He is said to have helped three individuals sentenced to death to be released.

Nicholas was the most respected priest and bishop in the history of Christianity.

Bishop Nicholas of Myra, 315-343

Nicholas V, (1447-1455), Tommaso Parentucelli 210,54. From the Meanness of Luna

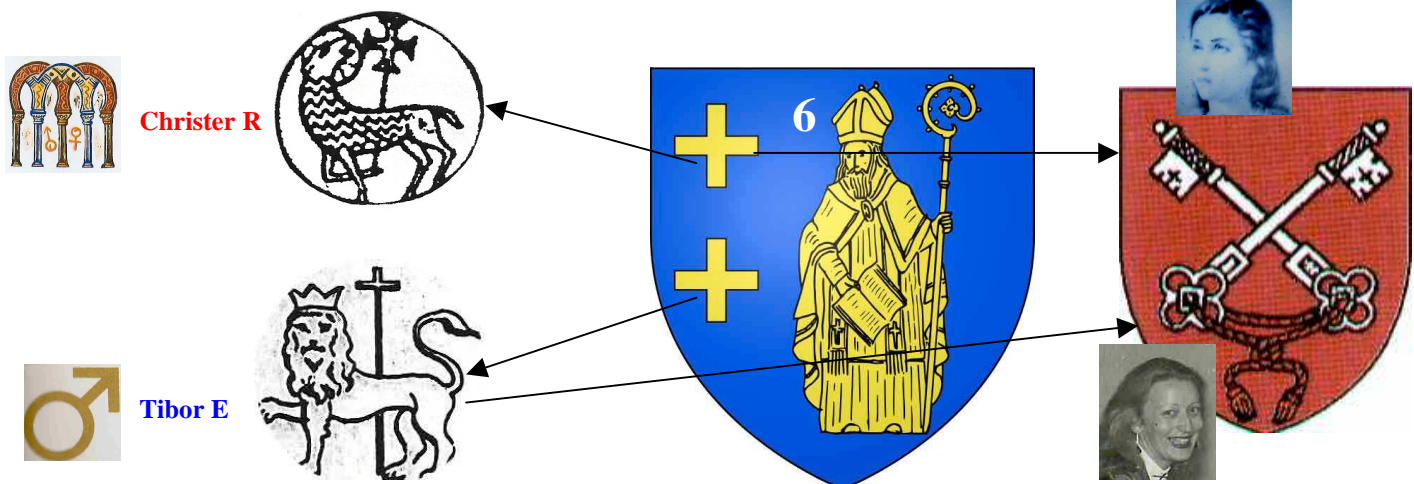

I can fairly safely maintain that Pope Nicholas V was a reincarnation of Bishop Nicholas of Myra. I think that Nicholas V was the greatest and most compassionate pope in the history of the Holy See. In Baja, my home town and place of birth, in St. Antonius Church, also called the Franciscan Church, the priest PP was a reincarnation of, among others, Bishop Nicholas and Pope Nicholas V.

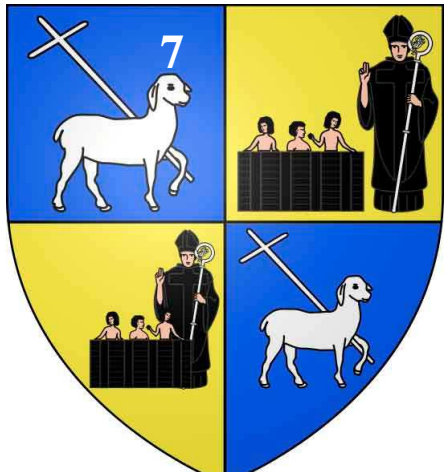

There are many coats of arms connected to Nicholas and they depict his activities as a bishop and a pope. Not least from his latest life in the hidden little town of Baja, where he was the priest PP in St. Antonius' congregation, where I was a choir boy. I have chosen some of his coats of arms which connect well to his last activities in St. Antonius Church. Picture 1 is a symbol of the blue and yellow little town of Baja and its Antonius Church. The boat is a symbol of the church. In September, 1964, in the vestry, I and the priest PP were alone and undisturbed. He told me what was waiting for me in the future, which assignments would be handed over to me. Pictures 2 and 3 depict a time in the future in a symbolic way: a small boat with a little lonely boy paddling away. PP the priest is behind him. The boat is in white water in the form of a crescent moon. The water is a symbol of a crowd of people. The paddling is connected to my father's paternity issue here in Sweden which was also coloured in blue and yellow. During the 70s we were three, in the 90s we were two. Now, at the end, I am the only paddler. Behind me is still PP the priest, my good father and many others. Pictures 4 and 5 are illustrations of this.

During the 70s, the king/OX totally crushed my father's paternity issue using murder, violence, terror, forgery of documents and false accusations against my father, all approved of by the Church of Sweden. Instead of conducting a dialogue with my father, which has always been the strength and security of the Church, terror and violence destroyed the lives of the whole family. The intersecting silver keys from Pope Nicholas V's pontificate are proofs of this. The king and Church of Sweden ignored the pope's warning and used violence, fiddling and fraud.

The Lamb, Jesus Christ
Christer R

The rooster is a symbol of France. Bernadotte came from France and the last king, Carl Gustaf XVI crushed Christianity. It seems as if they knew this in advance, as early as in the days of Nicholas.

The Bull, Jesus Beelzebub
The Jesuit

The Church and king lifted the Lamb from my father's paternity issue and without the Lamb's knowledge, plunged him into darkness. Picture 7 is an illustration of this. He was removed in darkness and was replaced by the Bull in 2007, picture 9. Pictures 10 and 12 are illustrations of blue and yellow Sweden. Within my father's paternity issue we see three women. One is Jewess Maria, the second one is the Black Madonna. Number three, at the centre, is the wealthy (Greek) Maria, mother of the Jesuit. She looks surprised when she knows about the result of the paternity issue. She lifts her arms and cries: "It cannot be true, he must be my son!" How did she end up in Sweden?

Back to Hungary, to 1951, when the Lamb was secretly baptized, as secretly as he was born. The state was initially not informed. Despite the fact that the Church did not reveal anything the state did not use violence against the local clergy and the family. A dialogue was initiated and they managed to stabilize the issue, but even today nobody says anything. We can from the arch bishop's coat of arms see that the message was extremely sensitive with three linked chains which depend on each other. If one chain falls, the other two will fall almost simultaneously. In a situation like that, the dialogue is an important part of the solution. In Sweden, in the royal family and the Church there is no human dialogue in an important situation like my father's paternity issue which is the largest and most important issue in the world. My father is the foundation, everything depends on him. In Sweden we are used to see power as God, the king secretly has all the power but lacks knowledge. – Biology is at the basis of my father's paternity issue, the king and the Church knew that my father was neither the father of the Lion Tibor E nor of the Lamb Christer R. When my father noticed that the bubble burst, the king and the Church should have started a dialogue with my father concerning the acute situation like they did in Hungary in the 1950s. But instead they resorted to violence, terror and brutality against my father and his family.

We know that biology is the most important starting point in many cases. The king of Sweden is said to be a Bernadotte descendant. But we can see from the pictures that biologically, he has nothing to do with the French Bernadotte family. It is quite clear. It is also possible, via a blood test and DNA, to confirm that he is not a member of the Bernadottes of France. In other words: he is not authorized to be part of the Swedish monarchy. This concretely means that the monarchy must be dissolved as soon as possible and be replaced by a republic. His days as head of state and king are over.

We assume that our opponents, i.e. the royal family and the Church do not have any valid documentation against my father. In practice there is no legal ground to start new court proceedings. Neither is the monarchy legal, a fake king has forced through my father's paternity issue to support the Church. This is Christianity. Something the Holy See and Pope Pius VII did not take into consideration is that the Bernadottes could not produce any descendants. Now, at the finishing line, the two last kings, Gustaf Adolf VI and Carl Gustaf XVI no longer members of the Bernadotte family. Napoleon knew about this when he approved of Bernadotte as the crown prince of Sweden. "The Reluctant Monarch" is thus a fake king and the Holy See should have taken a closer look at him before the issue reached the king. Now it is too late.

In 1810 the Parliament sold the monarchy to Prince Bernadotte for around 9 million francs.

There were two candidates for the secret vote. Both were of the Bernadotte family. That is also fiddling.

Baja, spring 1964. If I remember correctly it was a Wednesday afternoon, around three o'clock. It was rainy and windy, I were on our way to a chapel which had been rebuilt as a sports arena for basketball. On my way there I met some mates from school who were going to play soccer. They asked me if I wished to join them. I told them you could not play soccer in rain and that I did not want to play. They said they were going to play indoors."Indoors"? I asked. "There is no indoor soccer pitch in Baja," I went on. "No, I will not join you." "You will regret it", the boy who sat behind me in school said. He was also the son of one of the police chiefs. He showed me a tool-like key and said: "This is where we are going to play." "Well", I said. "Good luck!"

The next day, at eight o'clock in the morning, I was the last student to enter the classroom. They were all very silent, the female form teacher shattered in front of the class, behind her desk. She could hardly speak, a kind of fear reigned in the classroom. Before I sat down in my desk I asked the female form teacher if someone had died. "No", she said, shaking her head. Then she said that the headmaster would come and talk with and to the class. – I had no idea what had been going on, but if the headmaster was about to say something in a classroom in the middle of the week, then something terrible had happened. At last he came. He was also shattered and could hardly speak. "Yesterday afternoon something very bad happened. A gang from our school broke into the "Serbian Church" and destroyed everything inside. They have ruined the floor, smashed the main altar, paintings of Virgin Mary and Infant Jesus have been torn apart, and the old classical organ is completely out of order. The gang also played soccer in the ruined church.– When I heard that the gang had played soccer, I turned to the classmate who was behind me and looked at him. At the same time he kicked my foot under the desk, and I thought I had done the right thing, deciding not to come with them. The headmaster told us that the damages to the church were extensive, up to millions of forints. He prohibited my class from leaving the school before noon. He mentioned that the police would soon arrive and the student pointed out by the police had to pack his things and leave the classroom. – Incidentally, I can mention that they were all children of Communists, and the student who was the first to leave the classroom was the son of one of the chiefs of police.

On the playground, during the break, somebody called my name. It was a woman, sent by the parish priest to the school (which was around 100 metres from the church). She asked me to come to the church as soon as possible. I told her I would come in the afternoon, since we were not allowed to leave school before noon.

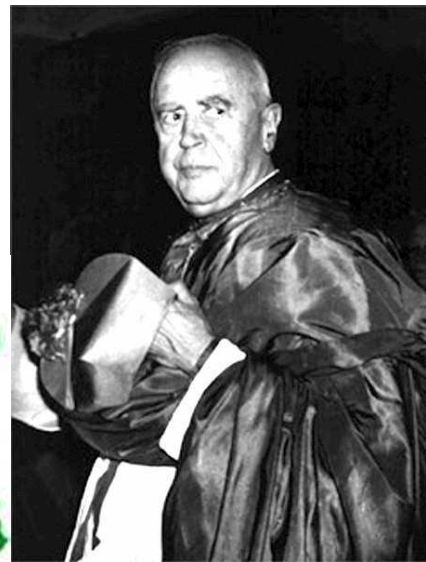

When I entered the church and the corridor where the five confessionals were in a row, one after the other, I saw the oldest priest, he was over 85 years old, alone in his confessional. The other four priests walked up and down, from one end of the corridor to the next and they were very nervous. No one said hello but as soon as I entered the corridor, the parish priest asked me, in a strange voice: "Where were you yesterday afternoon, what did you do yesterday afternoon?" I knew exactly what he was talking about. I answered that I had been playing basketball with boys and girls until 7.00 p.m.

I noticed immediately that the priests were relieved. They came up to me, all for of them and hugged me. The parish priest mentioned that they had heard about the incident the evening it had happened and rumours spread like wildfire. The worst thing about it was when they heard that the boys came from the boy's school and that my class was involved, they knew I went to that school. The parish priest also said that they almost panicked when he called the chief of police in the morning asked to see the class register. But the police said no and also refused to tell the priest whether I was involved or not. The only answer he got from the police was that he had to ask me in person.

Priest BA could never get over the vandalism in the Serbian Church, he said that all Christian churches stand on the same foundation. If you destroy the foundation, the church will fall. He meant the church was so destroyed inside that it could not be called a church any more. It was later on completely renovated and is today as it was before the vandalism.

Hamvas Endre, 1964-1969
Arch Bishop of Kalocsa

Hamvas Endre, 1964-1969
Arch Bishop of Kalocsa

I noticed the priests' natural reactions in connection with the incident in the Serbian Church. The church had been vandalized and I had been a choir boy there for almost 8 years. My family and relations were not known as people who vandalize churches. When I was about to leave the corridor, I saw the parish priest approach the monk BA and whisper that what they needed to do was to write a short report and send it to Kalocsa. Their last words for the evening were "Let's sleep calmly tonight." They said.

I know that all four of them stayed in the corridor after I had left the church. I do not know about the contents of the report, but the whole incident was, silently, an important event. The office of arch bishop of Kalocsa was vacant between 1961 and 1964 after the death of Arch Bishop Grösz in 1961. Arch Bishop Hamvas was officially appointed in mid-October, 1964, but there is a possibility that he was appointed earlier, during the spring of 1964.

I can add that my school mates who were involved bitterly regretted what they had done. They had no other plans than playing soccer there, everything else appeared so suddenly that they had not even understood what happened. They did not start to understand that until the evening. He who was in the desk behind me was severely beaten by his father, he was away from school for at least a month.

KALOCSA. Kalocsa, as I have already mentioned, was and still is the centre of Stephen's religious activities. The first arch bishop was Asztrik of Kalocsa, who crowned Stephen in the year 1000 in Székesfehérvár. Asztrik's remains have been found in Kalocsa, in the ground under the church.

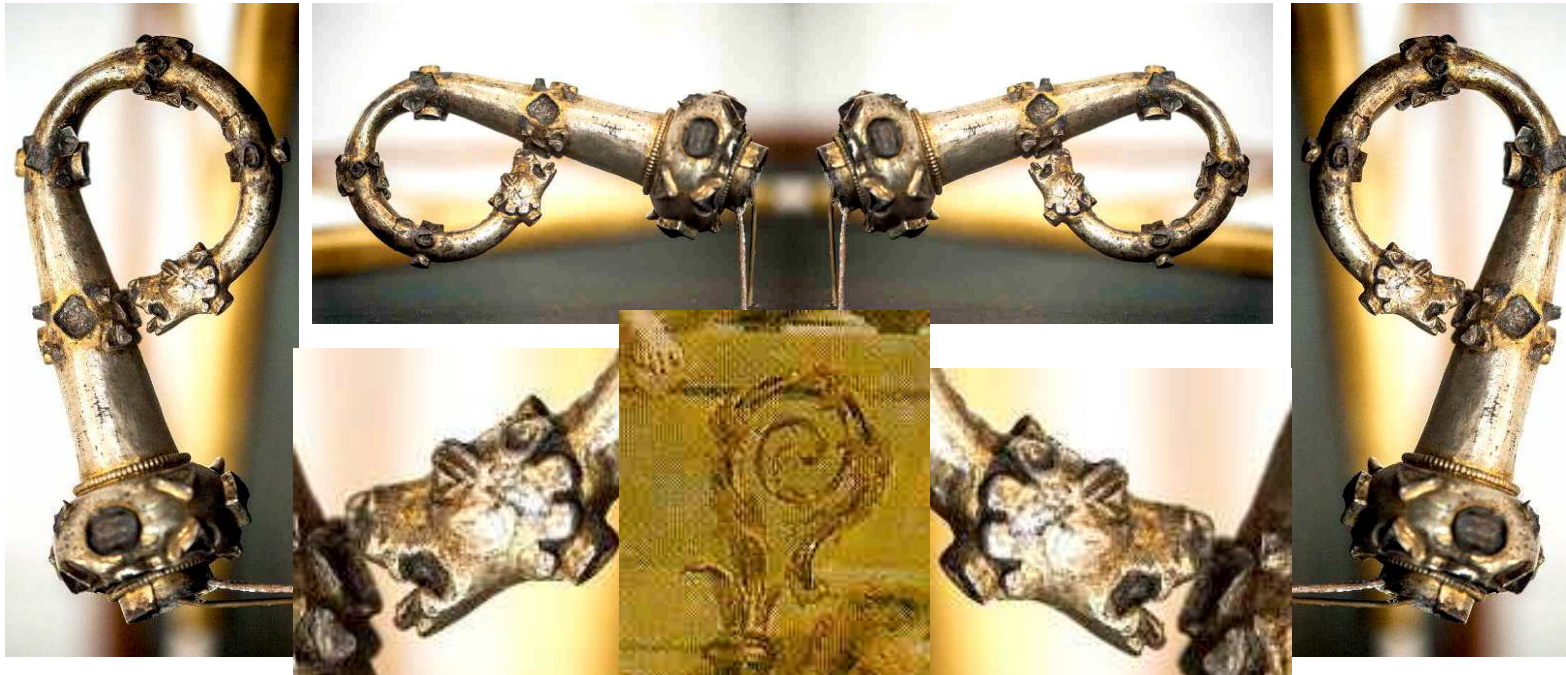

It was probably Stephen who appointed Asztrik to be the first bishop of Kalocsa 1002-1012.

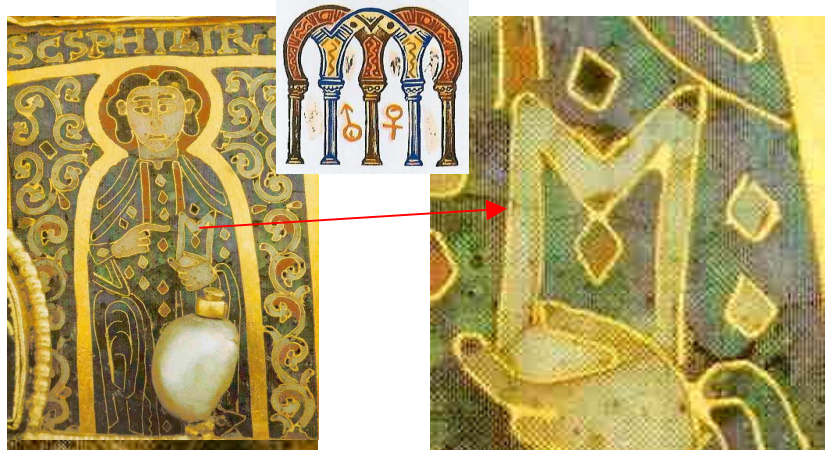

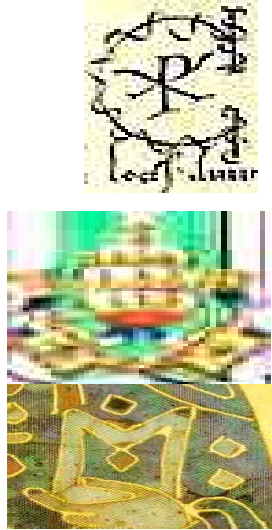

At the same time they found an object that is very interesting. It is a round object lifted up by Peter and Paul. It could be a foundation of a church or a religion. Between the men is a lamb-like animal which looks outward to contemplate the situation around the object. The Lamb as Christ – male gender.

The pictures illustrate Asztrik's crozier shaped as a serpent, the head of the serpent is fairly visible. He used this historical crozier at the coronation of Stephen in 1000. The crozier is now preserved in Kalocsa. The Serpent/Virgin – female gender.

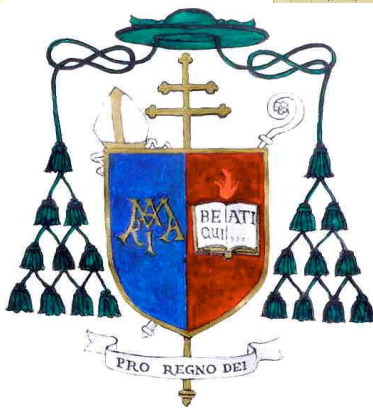

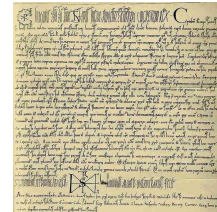

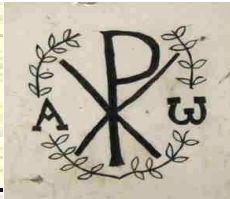

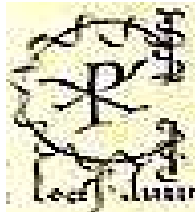

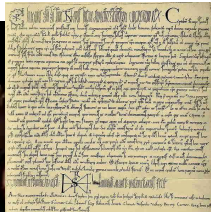

Above is the Crown of St. Stephen/István. We can clearly see the disciple Matthew holding an M in his left hand. This M radiates two messages. One is that Stephen was a virgin/hybrid, the other one is that M is the Roman figure for 1000. Stephen was crowned king in the year 1000 and that was the start of the 1000-year-realm of Jesus Christ, according to Revelation. That is today's Hungary. RM = Regnum Marianum = Realm of Maria/Stephen.

John XVI, 997-998, Johannes Philagathus

Sylvester II, 999-1003, Gerberto di Aurillac

Pope John XVI (a reincarnation of Matthew the disciple) appointed Stephen king of Hungary in a bloody coup against pagan Géza and his Empire. Stephen took over Vajk's identity and Pope Sylvester II (a reincarnation of, among others, Moses and Leo I) was pope when the year 1000 was left behind. That was when, according to Revelation, Jesus Christ's 1000-year realm started and the world knows that in 1000, only Stephen was elected king. This concretely means that Jesus/Izates II was reincarnated in Stephen.

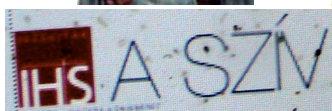

Asztrik, Ascherik, 1002-012
First arch bishop of Kalocsa

Bábel Balázs, 1999 –
90th bishop of Kalocsa

We know that Asztrik was one the priests close to Stephen. Can we say the same about the present arch bishop of Kalocsa?

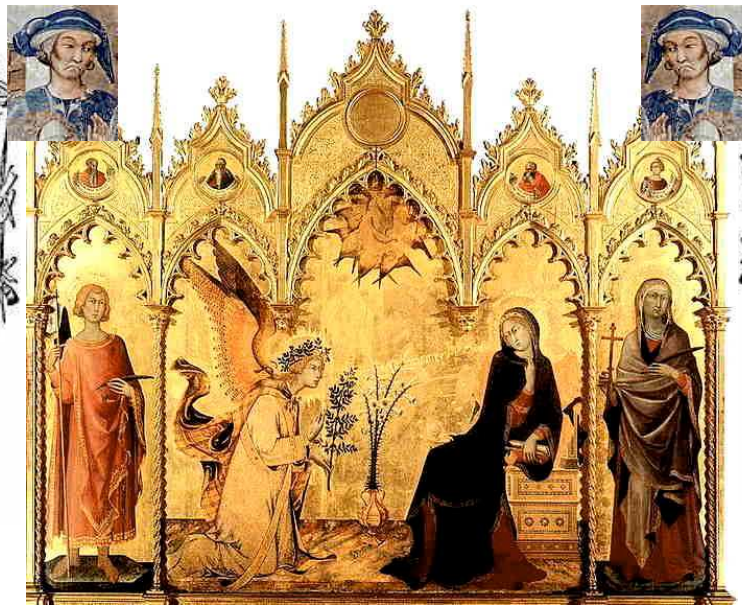

In Catholic Hungary Stephen means everything. But the flock of sheep has never seen Stephen as a Bull with the symbol IHS = red heart, Szív. Now the Hungarian church is dominated by the red heart, by IHS. Where is Stephen, the Lamb???

Simone Martini, 1284-1344

Simone Martini, 1284-1344

"Annunciation, two saints, Marys" 1333

A world-famous painting by Martini, 1333, depicts two angels and two Marys. In the (re-written) gospels there is only one Mary and one angel in connection with the start of the events.

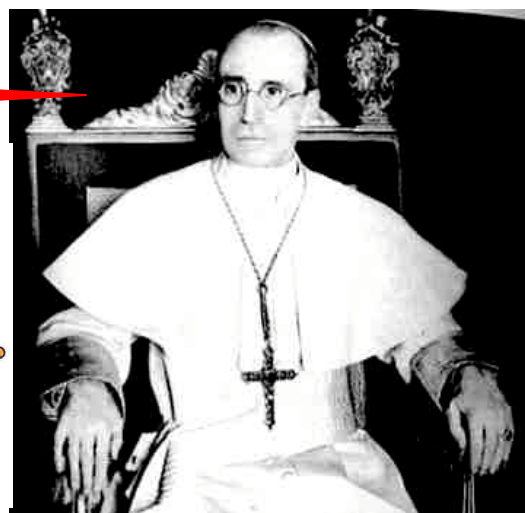

At first we see an angel who greets a woman, Mary. But this woman has a book in her left hand. The book signifies knowledge and the woman who then possessed knowledge was Helena, Julius Caesar's daughter. Talmud also describes her as an intelligent and knowledgeable woman. This is how she was known in Jerusalem at that time. Her son Izates II, later on Jesus, the Lamb, lived for knowledge. The angel is called Gabriel in the gospels but in Talmud his name is "Angel of Death." Today she was the daughter of vitéz Kemény Simon and she was the biological mother of the Lamb. Her secret name is "Black Madonna." In Sweden the Lamb received a new name, Christer R, after having been given the Lion's identity.

Above we can see an angel greeting a woman, Mary. This woman holds a cross in her right hand which means that her son was crucified. The woman is Jewess Mary, the son who was crucified was her son, David/Joseph Jr. The angel in this context would be Michael. Talmud tells us that she had paid a visit to the Angel of Death. She was the biological mother of the Lion of Judah. Today she was the biological mother of the Lion Tibor E, who was born in Linköping.

What emerges from the painting above is that the third Mary, the wealthy, Greek Mary, the mother of the Bull, Jesus Beelzebub, is missing. How did the painter Martini know that it was about two Messiahs and their mothers, Black Madonna and Jewess Mary? In those days Pope Gregory IX was at the centre of events, the pope who swam in secrets. Among other things, he wrote to the Diocese of Linköping about the construction of the new church. He personally knew Antonius of Padua and Francis of Assisi who were good friends. The pope knew exactly who they were, he knew about their human activities and also, in advance, about their future, now at the End of Time. Martini was born 43 years after the death of the pope and there were plenty of rumours and secrets leaking from the Holy See and the cardinals. It was possible for Martini, who had visited the Holy See in Avignon and Pope Benedict XII, to discuss secret issues.

As I have already mentioned, Pope Gregory IX was eventually reincarnated in Pius XII.

St. Antonius Church of Padua, Baja

Priest PP (1945-(dead))
An unobtrusive priest, not very active. Knowledge and compassion were important for him. Surrounded by women. A reincarnation of, among others, Bishop Nicholas of Myra and Pope Nicholas V.

Some plans from Gregory IX's pontificate were carried out by Pope Pius XII in the 1940s and 50s in the hidden, small town of Baja, among other places. Three of Christianity's real pillars were reincarnated and active in Baja, in St. Antonius Church of Padua. I have a very strong feeling that the Holy See in Rome knew about the existence in Baja of these three notable priests. PP was a remarkable priest, the only priest who openly took a stroll, arm in arm, with women. My father, too, told stories about him and his women. Nobody objected, everybody, even Kalocsa, knew and accepted. He was, as I have said several times, very beloved by the public. He was very serious, I almost never saw him laugh. My impression is that he knew in advance how it would end, the end of my father's paternity issue and the downfall of the whole Church. Therefore he retired and regretted his priesthood. I believe he was the greatest and most human priest in the history of priests.

The monk and priest BA was a happier fellow, you could even crack jokes together with him. He was interested in everything and the most curious priest of them all. He wanted to know everything about me, my family and the town of Baja. The worst side of him appeared in the confessional, it took a long time for me to free myself from that, I always tries to avoid him when it came to confession. Otherwise he was a beloved priest, knowledgeable, intelligent, well read, helpful, and friendly. He was the best teacher of Christianity and had a particular pedagogic capability for teaching the subject to other people. He, too, liked women, but in secrecy, and a bit younger. – He baptized the Lamb in silence and took the secret with him. He was proud and glad and nobody knew about the reasons for the secret joy which always radiated from him. Except for the Church. My memories of this priest are only good.

The parish priest was the next great priest, he baptized me in the autumn of 1949. I knew him very well as I did PP and BA. As I have already mentioned, he visited me (us) here in Stockholm in 1981. We had deep and high-level conversations about issues close to us, about our surroundings and about the Church in Baja and in Hungary. We also talked about Pope John Paul II and the Holy See (which he did not like) and Church of Sweden (he did not like that, either). During his stay with us, his past life was exposed before my eyes. He, too, liked women, but in silence. He also loved soccer. His two elder brothers then lived in Budapest and together with their sons they cheered on "Fradi", Ferencváros, their beloved soccer club. His youngest brother then lived in Baja. He was not as efficient in the confessional as BA, a confession always took longer with him. I did not have much to say, either.

The fourth priest, SJ, in Baja during the 1950s was also a great priest and was also a good teacher of Christianity. He was a very knowledgeable and beloved priest. Confessions with him took only a few seconds. The best priest for my confessions was the old priest (85+). He had a small hearing problem which quickened the confession.

All five priests I have mentioned above shared the following characteristics: they were against crime, fiddling, fraud, murder, forgery, change of identities, lying and destruction. I spent around 7-8 years with these priests despite the fact that I was not a believer, but I learnt a lot from them. I found them to be quite open towards me. They answered most of my questions and if they could not respond, they said they did not know, but they did not lie. I have to say that I was not very interested in the Church, but they were then the best provider of knowledge. I got protection, warmth and knowledge from these priests in St. Antonius Church of Padua in Baja, my home town. They were unique in the history of the Hungarian Church.

I can briefly mention that during my time as a choir boy, the church was always crowded during vespers on Sundays. The Antonius church (or the Church of the Monks) was the town's favourite church. Certain Communists also secretly frequented the church. They gathered in the corridor during vespers on Sundays, especially in winter. I saw and knew them all.

During the 1950s there was a Catholic magazine, "Katolikus Szó", "Catholic Word". Later, in the early 60s, came "Új Ember", "New Man". These two magazines were also sold in churches across Hungary. But in Baja, in our church, people were not very interested in these two magazines. They sold almost zero. The BA got the idea to have me standing at the exit of the church, after vesper, when people were about to leave. And that is what happened. Year after year I stood there with the magazines and always sold out. But I did not understand what "Új Ember" meant. I never read the magazine, I did not even leaf it through. I was completely uninterested and too immature to understand its message.

Synagogue/Library in Baja. A real model for the whole world.
Instead of destroying, add books!

During the 1990s I visited Baja a number of times. The first time I looked for the library at its old, original location where I visited it many times during my childhood. A Baja citizen told me that the library had been moved to the outskirts a couple of years earlier and was still there. Easy to find if you knew where to find the synagogue, it was rebuilt into a library. When I entered the library I did not believe my eyes. Well inside I met a new library, but the old synagogue was still there. The staff were very friendly, sympathetic and knowledgeable. – Many questions, many answers. I had some special questions to ask and I needed to get answers. I received my answers and got help every time I visited the library. I became a member and still am. I met the staff several times. One of them was a really capable woman, a poet, she gave me a book with her poems. I still keep the book as a souvenir of the Baja library. Her poems were very good.

Synagogue is a symbol of, among other things, knowledge. At the beginning it was used as a meeting-hall where the Jews solved their problems. Later on religion was introduced. Religion can also be used as a source of knowledge if you use it correctly. Here Baja is a model, where a combination of synagogue and books results in a library. You can also call it a "House of Knowledge." Library = House of Knowledge

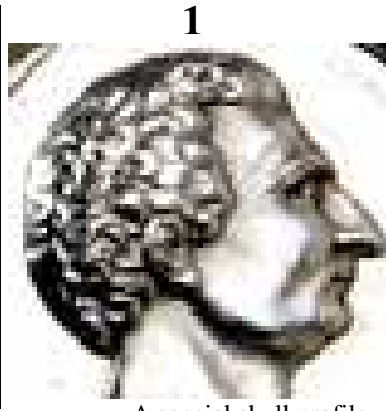

Now we can return to pages 85 and 86 above concerning Nicholas as patron saint of the diocese of Linköping. We can establish that there is no patron saint Nicholas for the diocese of Linköping. Nicholas did not take part in criminal activities and changes of identities, which Church of Sweden and the diocese do. Church of Sweden can neither rely on St Francis of Assisi, since he did not take part in the criminal activities pursued by Church of Sweden in connection with changes of identities. One thing is quite clear: the kind of Christianity taught by the priests in Baja was good, but Church of Sweden and the royal family have totally eradicated that from my and family. So Christianity, for me and my family, is today a criminal activity, so far protected by the Holy See.

If we then take a look at the king's background and mine, there are different starting points. When it comes to my background there is not only my family tree but also my town of birth, Baja, which in the 1930s to 60s was at the height of the history of Hungary and the Hungarian Church. My studies at Norra Real in Stockholm to become an engineer in 1970 are also important. Last but not least: my father and tutor.

The king's background: king and head of state without authorization, a fake king, connections with the underworld, mob activities, Son of Crime. Within Christianity it is an advantage to be criminal and a Son of Crime, especially in Church of Sweden. The Holy See allowed this Son of Crime to take decisions regarding my father's paternity issue and the Christian world need not be surprised when they see the result. You do not expect miracles from a criminal, even Napoleon knew that. The damages have now reached SEK 1 billion. The opposite party must pay.

Karl Johan XIV, 1818-1844
Motto: The Love of my People – my Reward, crowned

A special skull profile, missing with the descendants.

The progenitor's profile is characteristic and unique in the dynasty's history. He also has a strange posture of his head and the character of the nose cannot be seen in the descendants.

He bought the Swedish monarchy but he could not buy the descendants, especially the two last kings.

Oscar I, 1844-1859
Motto: Right and Truth

His skull profile is not similar to that of his father. It has a different character.

Oscar I looks like his father, but there is no trace of his father's unique characteristics. Someone in the Bernadotte family should be his biological father. The skull profile and the nose do not remind us of Karl Johan.

Karl XV, 1859-1872
Motto: By Law the Land Shall be Built

Skull profile and nose point to the father.

Oscar I's son. We can see that Karl XV was Oscar's biological son. Skull profile and nose character coincide with those of his father.

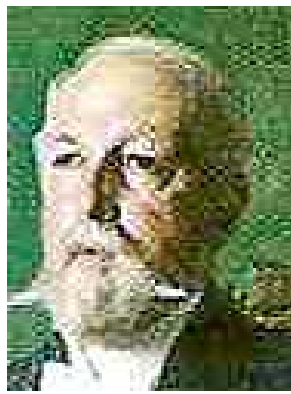

Oscar II, 1872-1907

Motto: The Welfare of Sweden

Skull profile and nose similar to those of the father and brother.

Gustaf V, 1907-1950

Motto: With the People for the Fatherland

Was not crowned

We can see fairly clearly that the brothers look like each other and that they have same father. These pictures are also documents. The last king to be crowned.

Gustaf V, son of Oscar II. He is a fairly good image of his father, also in profile. Nose similar to that of his father.

Gustaf Adolf VI, 1950-1973

Motto: Duty Above All

Not crowned

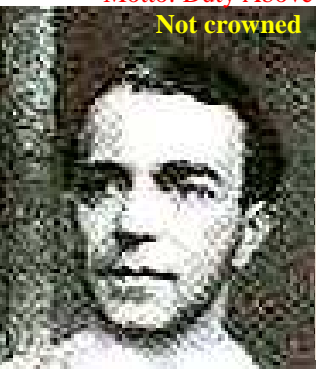

It is said that he was a homosexual, i.e. a female soul in a male body. He was attracted to men, not women, in spite of marriage. He refused coronation, a sign that he was the last king of the Bernadotte family.

Skull profile and nose remind us of Oscar I

Gustaf Adolf VI. His skull profile is not similar to that of Gustav V. The nose is also completely different. We can also establish that he does not look like Gustav V. Somebody else must be his biological father. In 1966 the king put my father's paternity issue under seal.

Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, 1906-1947

We clearly see that this skull profile is totally different, so is the form of the nose.

The pictures tell us that Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf is the son of Gustaf Adolf VI. Their skull profiles, their nose characteristics and looks coincide. Had he survived, he would have become Gustaf Adolf VII, and there are signs that my father's paternity issue would never have ended like it did.

Skull profile and nose similar to those of his father's.

This skull profile is nowhere to be found in the Bernadotte dynasty. He looks like his father and paternal grandfather but genetically he has nothing to do with the French Carl Johan XIV Bernadotte. He divorced Christianity without authorization.

Carl Gustaf XVI, 1973 - A square, brick-like skull profile, characteristic of this king.
Motto: For Sweden – With the Times – was not crowned

You do not need to be a professor or an expert to be able to see that King Gustaf V brought the Bernadotte dynasty with him to the grave. The monarchy should have been abolished as early as in 1950, after the death of King Gustaf V. There is a difference between being a biological son and a foster son, especially when we discuss monarchy and successor to the throne. We can fairly clearly see that that King Gustaf Adolf VI was a fake king who had nothing to do with the succession, like his grandson. The Parliament can today demand a DNA certificate which can certify that King Carl Gustaf XVI does not genetically belong to the Bernadotte royal family.

Bishops of Stockholm

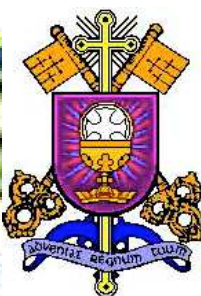

Since 2006, Bishop Anders Holmwall is the head of the diocese of the AAK^{*)}. He also takes part in the Conference of Bishops within the IOCC (Independent Old Catholic Church). Holmwall was ordained in January, 2006 with Arch Bishop Georg Le Mesurier as acting consecrator. This meant that the diocese was established in Europe as a member of the IOCC. Bishop Holmwall, who was born in 1962, has been an active priest for many years. He was ordained as a priest in 1987. Since people work for the AAK without any salary, Holmwall has during some periods of time not been an active priest. Since 2000 he has been active in St Francis' congregation in Segeltorp, south of Stockholm.

Independent Apostolic Church of the Holy Trinity

The Independent Old Catholic Church (AAK) is an old-Catholic Church in Sweden, without any connections with the Union of Utrecht. The AAK is a branch of Independent Old Catholic Church (IOCC), which is an old-Catholic Church establishment in the USA with its roots in the old-Catholic Church in Europe. The Apostolic Succession originally comes from the old-Catholic Church and later also from the Brasilian National Apostolic Catholic Church.

The Independent Old Catholic Church (AAK) and its church establishment in the USA with its roots in the old-Catholic Church in Europe. Trinity in this context are the "Lion, Lamb and Bull." In the USA it is all about the Bull, in Europe about the Lamb.

NB! In Christianity, the Trinity is "The Father, The Son and The Holy Spirit." If the conception "Lion, Lamb and the Bull" falls, Trinity will automatically follow suit.

Renewed coat of arms

The Carmelites

The bishop's coat of arms from 1998. Two main symbols are placed on the shield, the coat of arms radiates a clear message. To the right of the cross is a yellow crown, behind the crown a white sword with an ordinary handle against a blue background. The crown is a symbol of the monarchy, the sword symbolizes, among other things, knowledge and power. The Catholic Church in Sweden is very influential, can even make decisions concerning the royal family. It is an expressive part of the coat of arms. The silver-coloured sword is a symbol of the Lamb. To the left of the cross we can see a green branch with acorns against a yellow background. Below the branch hovers a yellow 6-pointed Star of David, a male symbol of the Sun, of David and the Jews. To the right of the branch is a green 6-pointed Star of David, a symbol of the Lamb, the one to the left is a symbol of the Bull. This is typical of the Carmelites. More info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 58-59. Below the green hat, on each side of the shield, are 6 green tassels (fiocchi), forming the figure eight (8). The figure 8 is also a symbol of the Lamb (used by Catholic bishops, arch bishops and cardinals). This coat of arms is a reflection of my father's paternity issue and Pope Benedict's pontificate. This is the bishop's main message to the public until 2013.

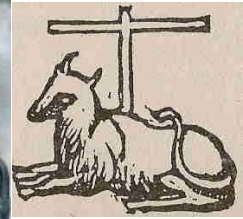

The bishop's coat of arms from 2013. We see a similar, yellow, royal crown against a blue background to the right of the cross. Behind the crown is a sword. A small piece of the tip of the sword is of silver, almost the whole silver-coloured sword above is gone. The handle of the sword also looks a bit mysterious, it reminds me of a film cassette we put into cameras long ago. Handle points downwards. How can we interpret this message? If we compare picture 1 with picture 3, we see that in picture 1 the size of the crown is about 50% of the size of the sword, or less. But in picture 3 it is the other way around, the crown is bigger than the sword, the sword is almost invisible and the handle points symbolically downwards. This may mean that the Holy See has turned its back on the royal family in Sweden. In other words: the Holy See repudiates the brutal and illegal handling of my father's paternity issue. This is the latest message from this coat of arms.

To the right of the branch hovers a green 6-pointed star, a symbol of the Lamb. To the left is another, green 6-pointed star, a symbol of the Bull. These two 6-pointed Stars of David are cleverly depicted as one 7-pointed star with a tail. The Lamb and the Bull are not Jews, because a 7-pointed star is not a Jewish symbol. At the election of a new pope on March 13, 2013, Pope Francis opened the world of Revelation with the figure 7, which is about the battle (of Hungary, for example) between the Lamb and the Bull.

Below the green hat, on each side of the shield, are 6 green tassels (fiocchi) forming three circles which are not the symbols of the Lamb or the Bull. We can understand that this bishop's coat of arms was created shortly after the papal election in 2013. More info at Man God and Science, pp 1-7.

The Lamb, Christer R (1971-2007)
My father's cousins' son, former second cousin

The Jesuit 2007 –
Very distant from the family and Hungary

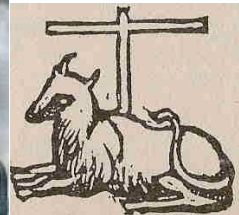

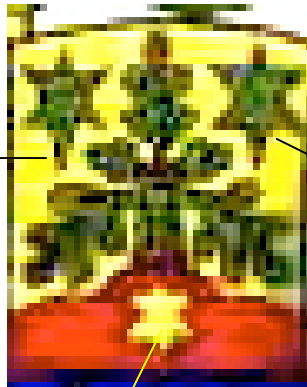

The Jewish boy Tibor E, (1958-1971)
My father's foster son

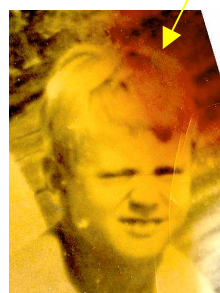

The starting-point was that the Jewish boy Tibor E was my father's biological son. After his murder Christer R took over the Jewish boy's identity without being aware of it. This made him Jewish, too. In 2007 he was also removed and the third individual, the Jesuit, also became Jewish when he assumed Christer R's false identity. This is why there are three 6-pointed stars on the coat of arms: a yellow (the original), and two dark, green Stars of David.

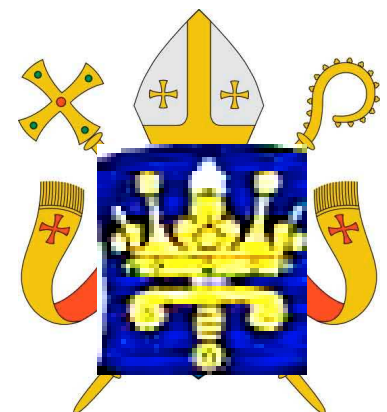

The Lamb, Christer R (1971-2007)
My father's cousins' son, former second cousin

The Jesuit 2007 –
Very distant from the family and Hungary

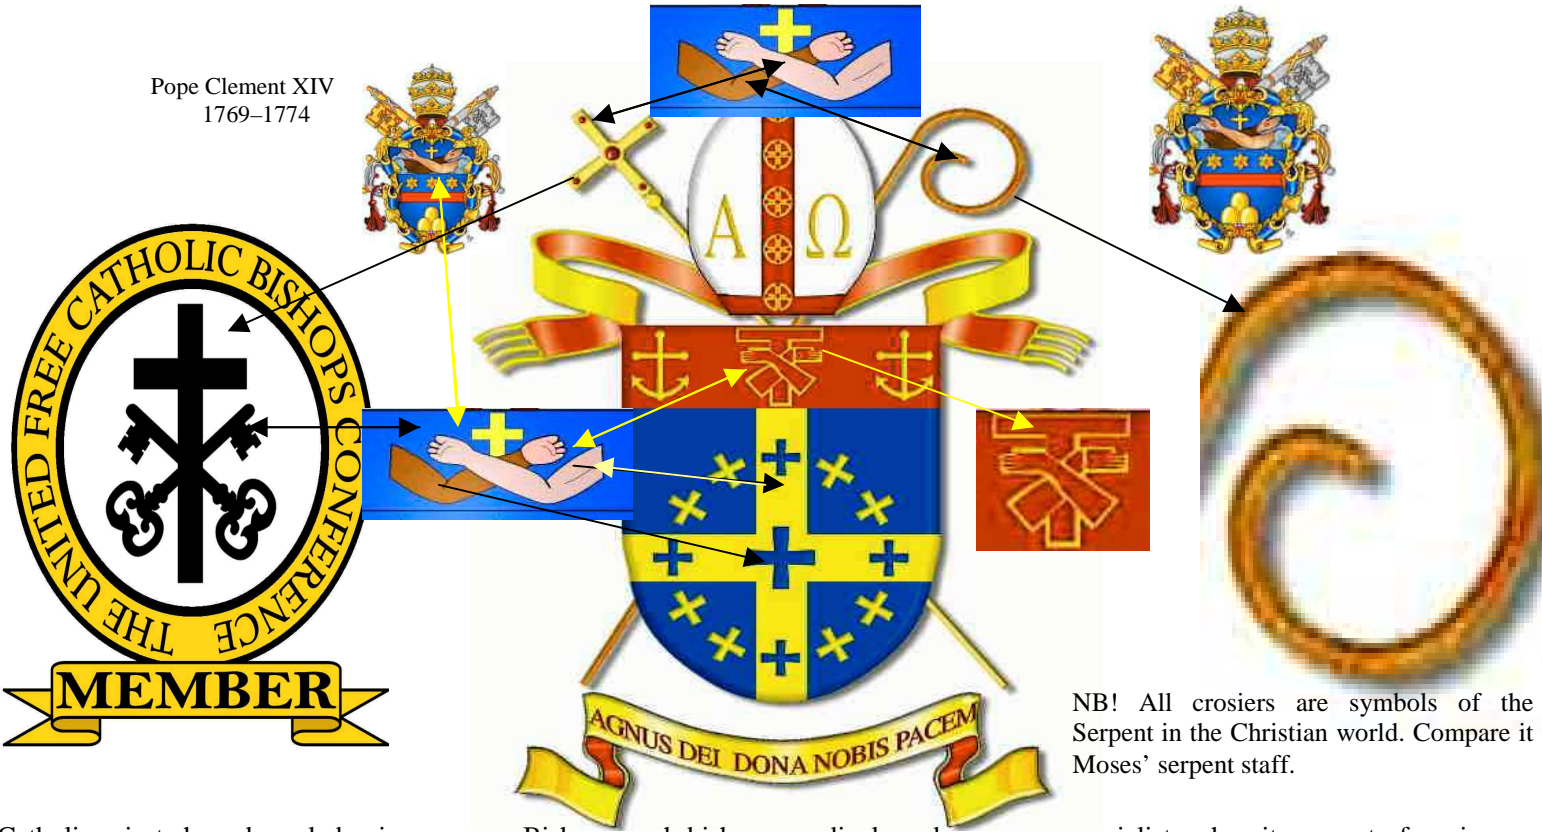

The Jewish boy Tibor E, (1958-1971)
My father's foster son

A short summary tells us that none of three individuals mentioned above was my father's biological son and he who managed the paternity issue in Sweden and was responsible did not have the proper regal competence. It is all a criminal failure without precedence in the history of the planet. Interfering in the life of a simple family, destroying it without any reason and crushing a religion without being authorized are the results today. This is in itself not new, it is just a renewal of the time in Palestine. The Holy See is the primary responsible party here, since it allowed the king to handle the paternity issue in a criminal manner without checking if my father really was Tibor E's biological father and without making sure that the king had the proper authorization. The problem arose as early as during Pope Pius VII's pontificate when it became clear that Bernadotte's son Oscar I was not a biological son and now, at The End of Time, it turns out that our contemporary king has nothing to do, biologically, with Bernadotte. This is the result when you work behind someone's back, in secrecy, in the dark without noticing that you yourself will fall into the trap of darkness. The gospels tell us that eventually "Satan will be his own Enemy" i.e. be cut into parts. This bishop's coat of arms can tell that story. Motto: "To the Praise of His Glory." – Praise and Glory to which God?

Pope Clement XIV

NB! All crociera are symbols of the Serpent in the Christian world. Compare it Moses' serpent staff.

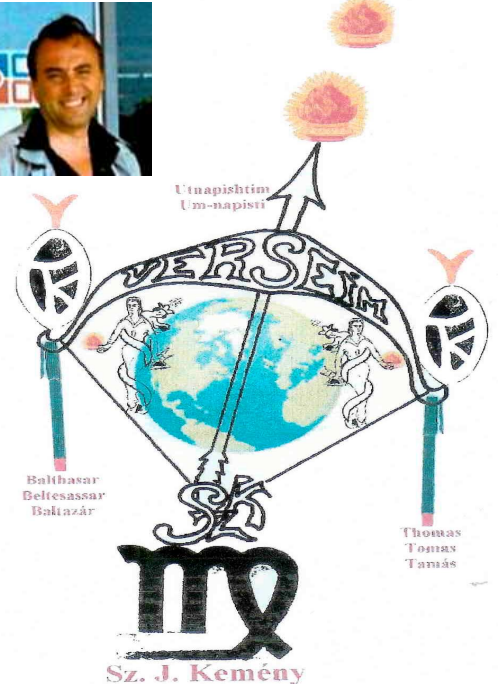

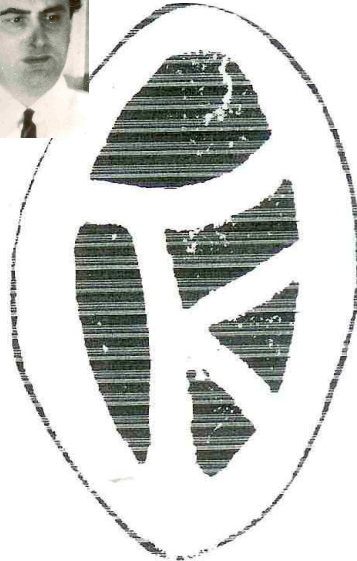

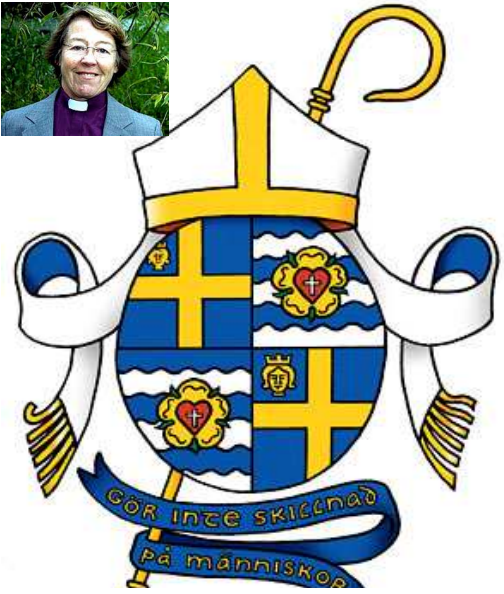

Catholic priests have knowledge in common. Bishops, arch bishops, cardinals and popes are specialists when it comes to focusing on knowledge on their own, personal coats of arms. Above we saw one of these coats of arms here in Stockholm. The next coat of arms also displays a higher level of knowledge, see above. Behind the mitre is a crociera in the form of a serpent. On the mitre we can clearly see A&O, Alfa&Omega. Everybody knows that that in religion, "A" is the beginning and "O" is the end. The end is already approaching, the end of life as well as of religion. Just below the mitre we see two anchored crosses, symbols of everything that will be stopped on this planet. Between the two anchored crosses against a red background are two crossed arms on a cross. One arm is naked, a symbol of him who was crucified and the other arm is a symbol of him who took over the crucified individual's identity and rose from the dead. Above the crossed arms is a yellow cross, the yellow colour is a symbol of, among other things, the Sun and Jews. – A large yellow cross against a blue background and a small blue cross against a yellow background (symbol of the arms in this context). On the Swedish colour are twelve (12) crosses – the figure 12 is a symbol of Jacob's 12 sons and the Lamb's 12 disciples, the 13th is the Lamb/Jesus himself. The message is that the End has come. Yes, and finally the Lamb who removes all sins of the world.

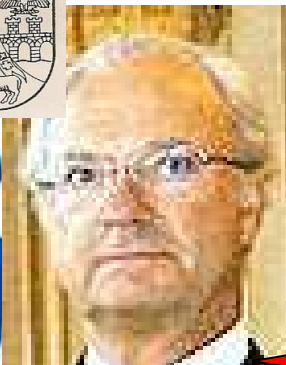

Here are two bishops' coats of arms among hundreds on the Internet for all the world to see. I ask myself how many people have understood the message spread by these two coats of arms. The message is history in combination with knowledge and is directed at people who think. The clergy still preach lies and fairytales to the flock of sheep. There are two groups of people: one who looks after signs and symbol and one who listens to lies. More info at The Sun at a Disadvantage, pp 71-74 and On the Road of Life.

Pope Francis I's coat of arms, 2013

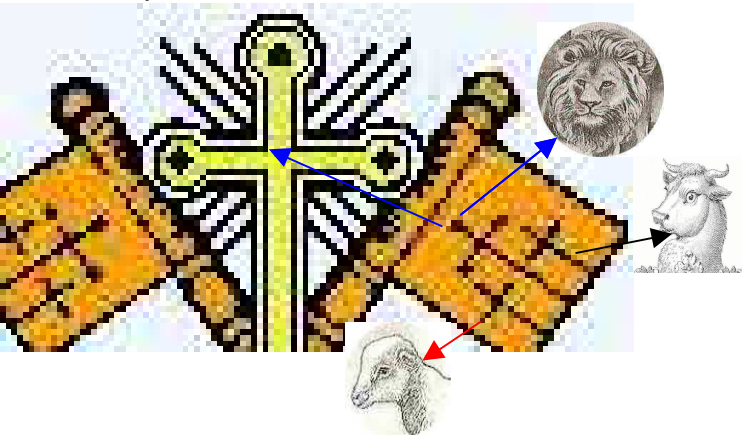

Pictures 1-4 depict the coats of arms of The Apostolic Old Catholic Church and of Popes John Paul II and Francis I. We can clearly see that the tiara in picture 2 (the monarchy) was replaced by a cross in picture 1 and 3 and with a mitre in picture 4. This is a transformation in the Christian world. The original crossed keys of silver and gold are gone from pictures 1 and 3 compared to pictures 2, 4 and 5. – The yellow colour is a symbol of the Sun (the Lion) and silver is a female symbol of the Moon (the Virgin/Lamb).

Two crossed orange-yellow keys is a male symbol of the Sun and the Lion. In this case there is only one Lion, the Jewish boy Tibor E.

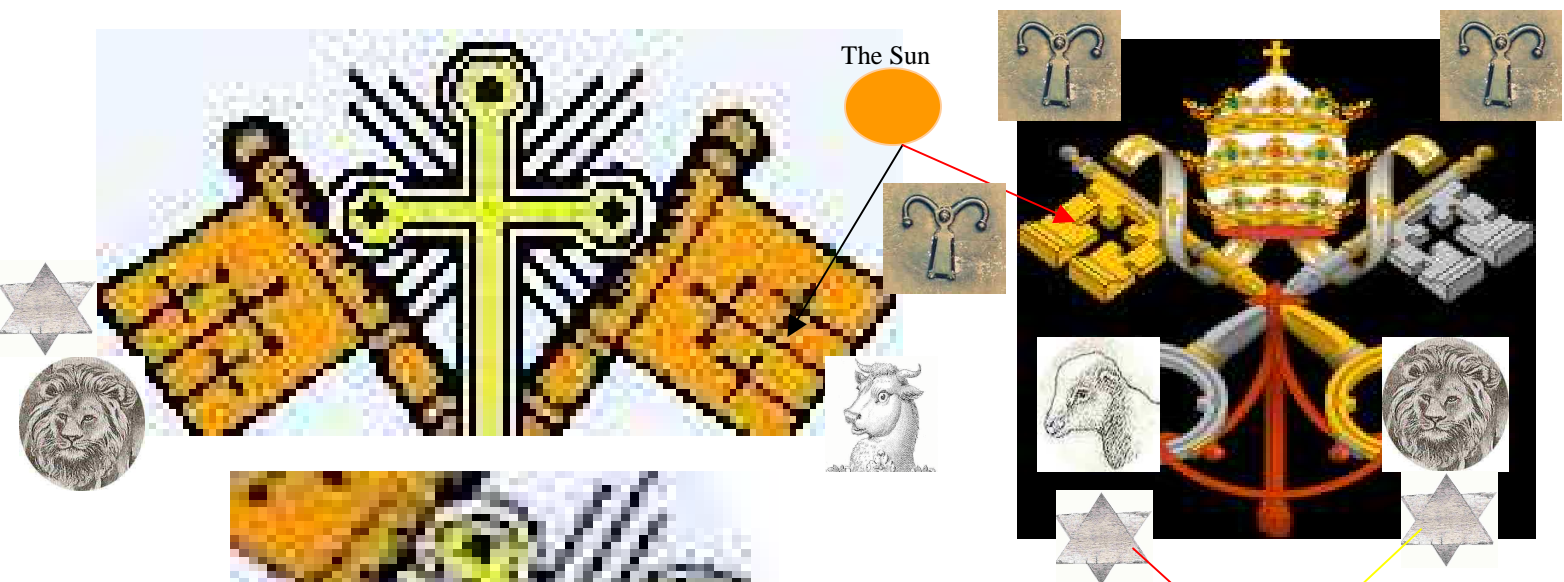

The crossed silver key, a female symbol, is gone and instead of that there is an orange-yellow key.

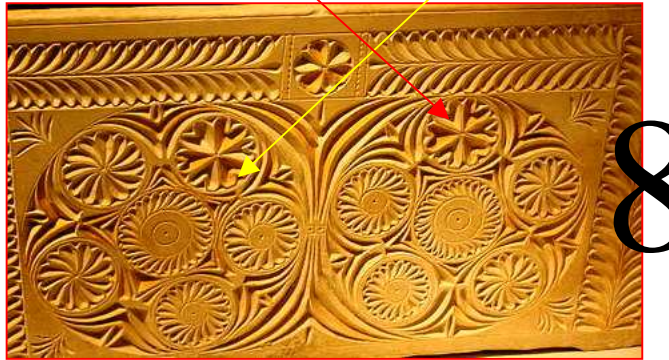

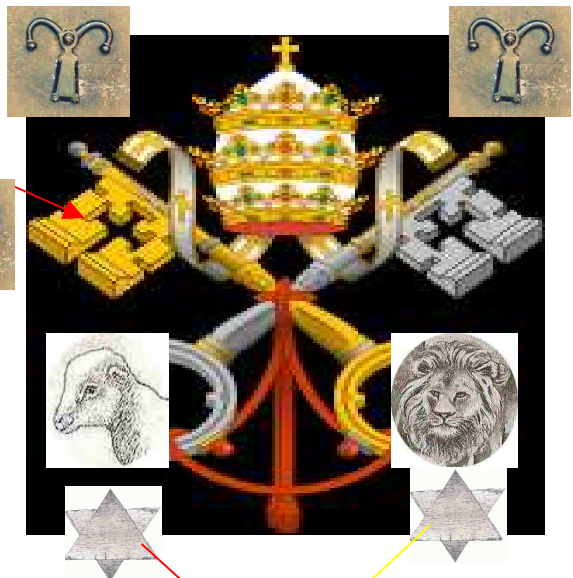

We usually believe that the key is a symbol of knowledge. The signs on the key are clearly visible, three black crosses. Here it means "Trinity". The Trinity was created in the Nicene Creed. Pope Sylvester I and Constantine the Great were present in 325. More info at Foundation Stone, pp 38-39.

The renewed Vatican coat of arms behind Pope Francis I is to the advantage the Bull, Jesus Beelzebub. We know that the pope is the Bull God's helping hand.

The Sun

The key is, as I have already mentioned, a symbol of knowledge. But a key also needs a matching keyhole. The keyhole here is my father's paternity issue and, in the form of the sign Aries this keyhole can be found as a symbol in the Diocese of Linköping. The Jewish boy, the Lion Tibor E, who was my father's foster son was born in Linköping on Christmas Eve, 1958, exactly at midnight.

This key also reflects Jerusalem in those days and proves that more than one person was involved in the crucifixion.— This is an expressive coat of arms, but, as I have said, not for the flock of sheep. — There is plenty of evidence concerning the crucifixion in Jerusalem. But you also need to know the signs which confirm the evidence.

The Lamb/Serpent converted to Judaism in ancient Palestine, but not now.

Lion of Judah

Motto: "Adveniat regnum tuum", "Thy Kingdom will Come".

This is a patriarchal coat of arms which hides a scientific message at a high level of knowledge. The background is yellow, a symbol of the Sun. We can see the Bible with the Alfa&Omega symbol, pointing to the End. On each side of the Bible are four church bells ringing in the End. This happened on March 13, 2013, during the last papal election of the Jesuit Francis. In the blue field is a horizontal figure 8, a symbol of the Lamb/Serpent which also coincides with Caiaphas's will. Next to the 8 is Heaven, the dark, red neutron star with its 7 planets, a number connected with Revelation. Furthest down on the coat of arms is a symbol of eternity. Bishop Glover is at a high level of competence.

SZELEPCSÉNYI

This coat of arms displays a juggling lion. It was not noticed by hundreds of thousands of eyes during hundreds of years. The coat of arms is on the Internet.

When I saw this coat of arms of an arch bishop for the first time I wondered who was behind it. I did that because the message is scientific and it is at a high level of knowledge.

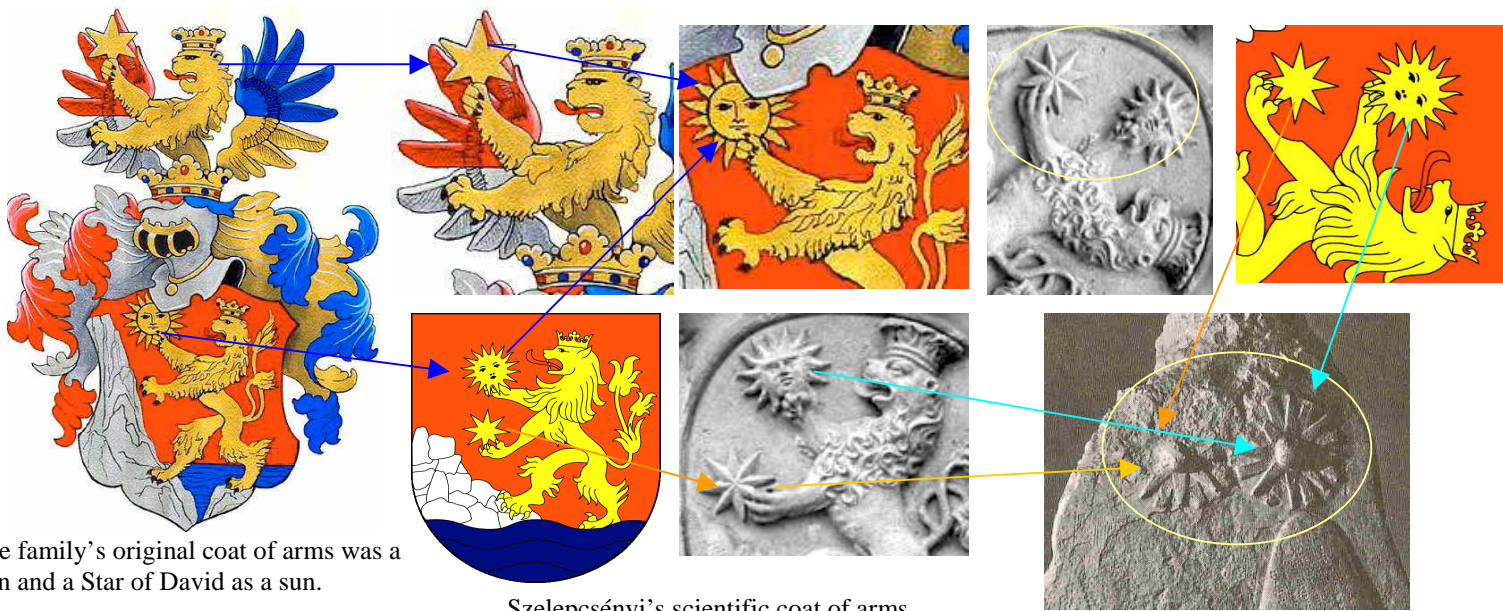

It soon turned out that it belonged to Szelepcsényi György, born in Aranyósmánót, near Szelepcsény, on April 24, 1595 by a spiritual but poor family. The Turks murdered his parents and the little boy György and his brother ended up with relatives.

When former Arch Bishop Pázmány Péter visited Szelepcsény he came upon this little boy and brought him with him. Then the little boy's dead straight career began. After having graduated from high school with the support of Pázmány, he came to Rome and Collegium Germanico-Hugalicum, where he studied philosophy and theology. – The family coat of arms from 1598 can be seen here. Let me analyze it.

1598

The family's original coat of arms was a lion and a Star of David as a sun.

Szelepcsényi's scientific coat of arms

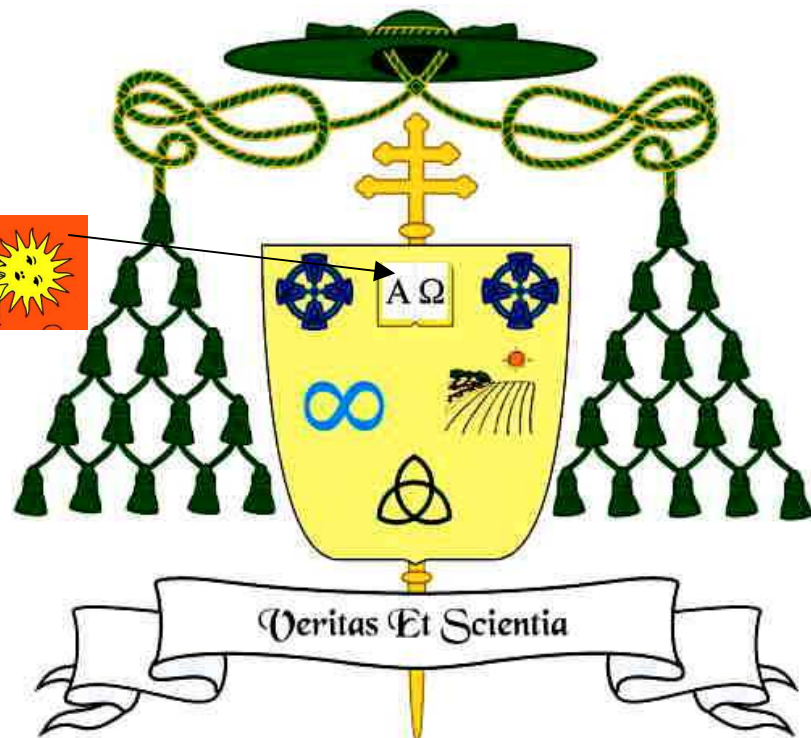

An old document from around BC 2400

We can clearly see that that one of the stars, the Star of David, is a symbol of the Sun, while the other one, the 8-pointed star, is a symbol of the Lamb/Virgin and the neutron star Nemesis. This combination of two suns or stars is in astronomy called a binary star system, documented as early as in Sumer.

This is what Arch Bishop Szelepcsényi's coat of arms is preaching. This was in 1666vapen, that is what I call knowledge...The weapon has an expressive message which astronomers of today should understand as time goes by. His personal coat of arms is a reflection of his level of knowledge. As far as I know, science and theology walked hand in hand in his life. More info at The Maya Calendar and Omega.

The message then, 1666, and now at the End of time....

The Rt. Revd. Bishop Adrian Glover OCR, OSJ,
Motto: "Veritas et Scientia"

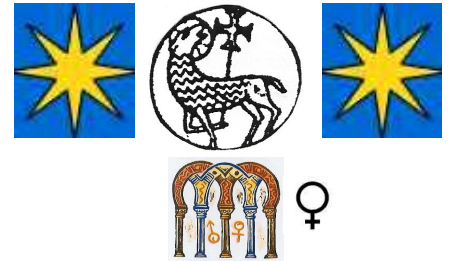

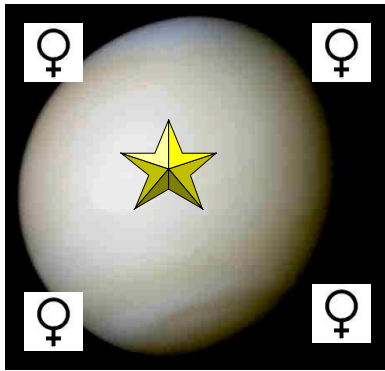

These two scientific coats of arms, among others, reflect the level of knowledge in the Catholic Church.

The 5-pointed Star

miserando atque eligendo

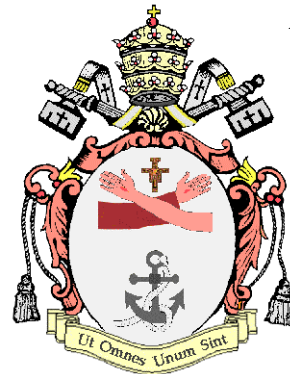

During 2000 years, the clergy of the Roman Catholic Church have mostly used the 6-pointed and 8-pointed stars in all their activities. More seldom, the 7-pointed and 5-pointed stars have been used. We are familiar with the connection between the 6-pointed and 8-pointed stars. – Pope Francis’s coat of arms displays both a 5-pointed and an 8-pointed star. Everybody knows there is a great difference between a 5-pointed and an 8-pointed star in this context. Let us analyze why the pope has a double entendre in his pontificate. – The 5-pointed star is a symbol of e.g. 5 continents, Man and the planet Venus.

We know that the Bull in a figurative sense is a male symbol. Why, then, does a man call himself Venus which is a female symbol? The only answer you can get is that the soul is female, the body male. Then there also features in the body, so-called homosexuality.

The Lamb/Serpent/Virgin is a hybrid, neither man nor woman, but can appear in both a male role, like the Sun, and as a woman, like Venus and the Moon.

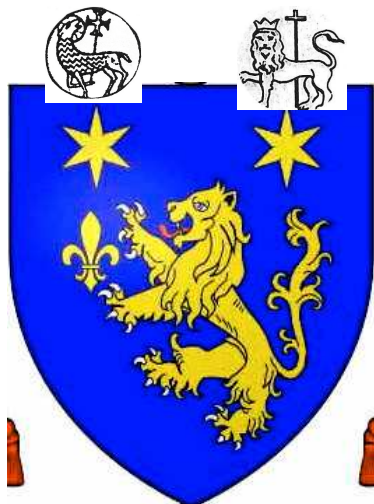

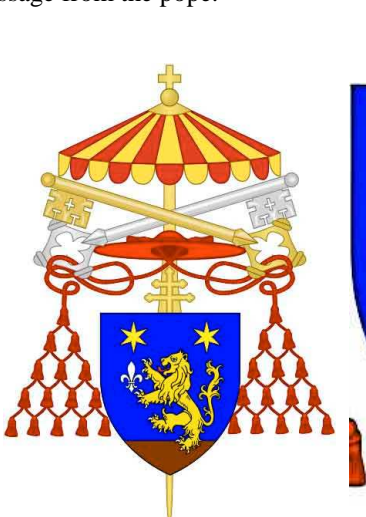

In Revelation Jesus says that he is the morning star Venus. If we take a closer look at how the Lamb is related to Venus, we directly understand that it can be a man, but at the same time it can be a woman, so the Lamb/Virgin call him/herself Venus. We can establish that a hybrid sexual organ is more like that of a woman than that of a man. On closer perusal of the relation between the Bull and Venus, we see that the body is male while the feelings are female. The male body, or sexual organs, cannot be called Venus even though the feelings are female. (Also the Bull Gilgamesh, according to history, had problems with women. In order to get rid of this problem a new Bull was created with a female soul in a male body called "Endiku", who later on became Gilgamesh's partner for life. Alexander the Great also had a male partner and there were rumours that also the Bull Jesus Beelzebub liked men)

Antipope Pius XIII, USA, has two intersecting silver keys on his personal coat of arms. One is a symbol of the Serpent, Virgin/Lamb, but,

Back to Pope Francis I's coat of arms. The 5-pointed star, which is bigger than the 8-pointed one, is a symbol of the Bull. The Bull is both Sun and Venus in this context and claims to be Son of Man. The 8-pointed star, smaller than the 5-pointed star, is a symbol of the Lamb/Virgin. Here it means that the Lamb/Virgin was removed from my father's paternity issue. This is the final message from the pope.

who is the other female crossed silver key? It could be the Bull, who else.....

This is Cardinal Masella's personal cardinal coat of arms reflecting high priest Caiaphas's will. This in turn coincides with my father's paternity issue between 1958 and 1971.

More info at The Fourth Pyramid which Disappeared, pp 46-62

Revelation clearly states that the beast/Bull copies the Lamb.

Jack-of-all-trades, carpenter Joseph, Pagan background

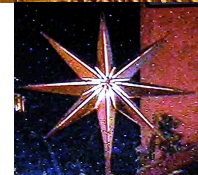

Reversed image = change of identities

The Jew in picture 1 was crucified and after the funeral the non-biological Jew in picture 2 took over his identity. A reversed image on an ossuary concretely means a change of identities, a clever and flexible sign.

Queen Helena and her son Izates II/Jesus
Converted to Judaism. Related to carpenter Joseph

Caiaphas's top-secret will on his ossuary is quite clear about the fact that there were only two persons in the Great Sanhedrin dealing with the fatherhood of Carpenter Joseph (the Lion and the Lamb). The third person, the Bull, did not exist. There was in this context no Trinity in those days.

Partner in Linköping

Jewess Maria E and her son Tibor E.

In a formal document dated in 1959 concerning fatherhood and maintenance there is nothing about the new-born baby boy. This makes it non-valid. This agreement, which my father did not about, was all the time used against him.

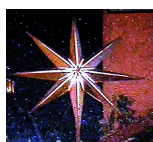

In 1966 the head of state and king set this paternity issue under seal. Genetically, the royal family are not authorized to uphold the Swedish monarchy.

Tibor E was on Christmas Eve, 1958, exactly at midnight, in Linköping. He was murdered in 1971 and was replaced by Christer R who took over his identity without really knowing anything about it. Tibor E's biological father was the woman's brother-in-law. In 2013 he was found, dumped in a grave in the Catholic congregation's graveyard, in a black plastic sack. More info at Prince of Ponte Corvo, or..., pp 50-57. Finally: Caiaphas's is also connected to my father's paternity issue..

Franciscus

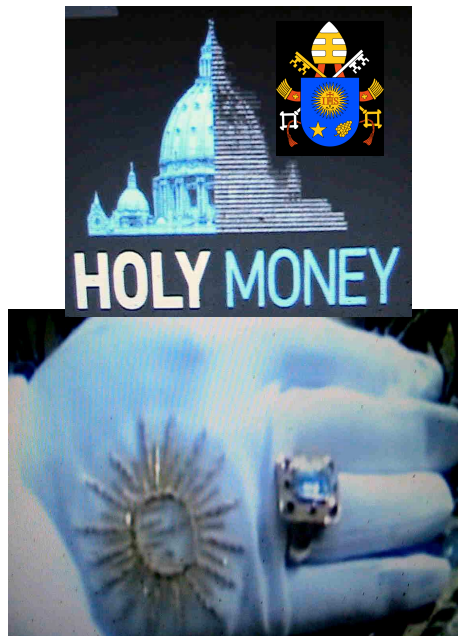

Francis 1, 2013-, Jorge Mario Bergoglio
268 112, Peter the Roman

Franciscus

The Jesuit and cardinal Bartolomeo Pacca was one of the most remarkable cardinals in the history of the Holy See. He was Pope Pius VII's closest cardinal and adviser. He was there when the pope was captured by Napoleon until Napoleon's death. Napoleon eradicated the Society of Jesus for good and the pope saw no reason to bring the Jesuits back to life. But it was Cardinal Pacca who finally could persuade Pius VII to re-establish the Society of Jesus. Cardinal Pacca was aware of the plans concerning Prince Bernadotte and probably well informed of the possible price for Bernadotte's candidature to the Swedish crown. More info at Prince of Ponte Corvo, or.., pp 10-32.

The Vatican's Last Motto: Money is the Devil's excrement

My understanding is that Cardinal Pacca was reincarnated as the Jesuit Jorge Mario Bergoglio, Pope Francis, to become the last pope according to St. Malachy's list. He is pope #112, called "Peter the Roman." The active pope is always responsible for the Church's activities. The same can be said about the head of state and king of Sweden, also about the Church of Sweden. During Pope John Paul's dark pontificate the Holy See was a loser. Pope Benedict XVI did not want to walk in his successor's footsteps. He chose to abdicate and left the sinking ship. The last pope is now the captain of this ship which can only be steered in one direction, downwards. There is no one to save the sinking ship, thanks to a featherbrain in the royal family. In the Vatican, on September 20 (my paternal grandfather's birthday), 2013, the pope said this about money: Money is the Devil's excrement. I completely agree with him. But he had no choice, he had to forward the Bull's message which soon will cut the Church/ship into two. It will end up under water, (symbolically, of course) but Church of Sweden will end up even deeper. At the last papal election, one of the cardinals said this in a brief interview: "of course our Church faces vast problems such as paedophiles, homosexuality and other negative issues. But they are not very big compared to something that is much worse." – One thing is very clear: the pope is authorized to manage his Church. The Swedish king cannot say the same, since he has no genetic connection to the Bernadottes anymore. The pope (if I am right) attended (as Cardinal Pacca) when Bernadotte grabbed the power in Sweden and now he will also be there when king will lose the monarchy in Sweden. In other words: he was there when the Bernadotte dynasty was founded and praised. Now, he will also watch the same dynasty being buried. Had the pope been able to foresee what awaits him, he would have said no to the papal office.

The Nazi period was a dark interlude in Europe. The name Adolf Hitler has been hooked in people's minds across the world. There are various pictures of Adolf Hitler circulating round the world but the persons in the pictures are different even if they look like each other. So much is clear. Who, in the pictures above, is Adolf Hitler? Who started the Second World War and who killed the Jews, the Romani and other innocent people? Is there anyone on this planet who can identify Adolf Hitler? See above. 100 years are not gone and to the world, all pictures are of Adolf Hitler. Who is who? 2,000 years have passed by and Christianity can still not officially prove who is Jesus Christ. The clergy still preach about a person, a saviour who has never. The pictures above still display one and the same name, even if they are different. We can ask ourselves what kind of world we live in.

Why was the Lamb/Virgin long-haired?

Izates II was a king with male appearance and most people in Jerusalem knew him. Bu the was not known as Messiah, since his origins were Jewish.

With the name Jesus, long hair and female appearance he could achieve his goal as Messiah. He had many enemies but as a woman he could deal with most obstacles and check-ups. Being a hybrid is an advantage in this case. In Revelation he calls himself "Venus", a female symbol.

The End of Time

Dan, 12:4 and 12:13

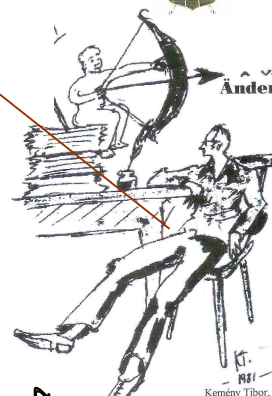

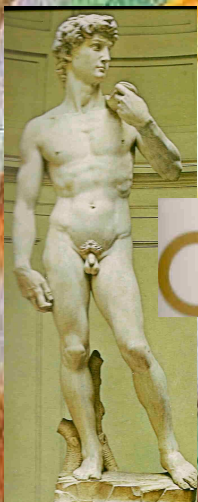

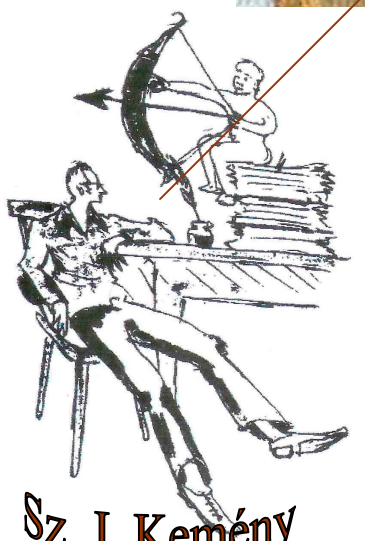

".../But you, Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book until the time of the end; many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall increase"

"But you, go your way till the end; for you shall rest, and will arise to your inheritance at the end of the days.. /...?"

Slutligen:

5, Jesus said: " Know what is in front of your face, and what is hidden from you will be disclosed to you. For there is nothing hidden that will not be revealed. – Jesus, too, wanted everything that is secret to appear on the surface to give knowledge to the world.

10. Jesus said: " I have cast fire upon the world, and look, I'm guarding it until it blazes". 16. Jesus said: "Perhaps people think that I have come to cast peace upon the world. They do not know that I have come to cast conflicts upon the earth: fire, sword, war."
